Spieser too was beaten by Pastrano, but since then scored a fifth round knockout over Willie Troy to become one of the top ten in the NBA ratings. He was favored also because he was far more impressive against Pastrano even in defeat, than was Young.

Spieser, 26-year old former Army lieutenant, said he believed he would "do okay" against his more experienced foe.

"I'm bigger than he is,' he said, "and I should be stronger, and have a little bit more speed. If I can hit him first and knock him off balance, he can't get back at me."

Both fighters figured to have no trouble making the contract limit of 167 pounds, give or take a pound and Spieser planned to hit the limit, 168.

Charlie Caldwell Was Sure He Could Make It The Day He Walked Into Yankee Dugout

By STEVE SNIDER
United Press Sports Writer

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP) — He was sure he could make it as a big league ball player that day in 1925 when he walked into the dugout of the New York Yankees.

But to his great disillusionment, the veteran players, even Babe Ruth, laughed at him. In those days, he said, they didn't think much of college players. So he gave up the idea of being a ball player and turned to coaching football. Baseball's loss was football's gain for he has brought his Alma Mater some of its greatet team.

He's the United Press Coach of the Week. Cheerful Charlie Caldwell of Princeton's Tigers who scored one of Saturday's most resounding upsets, 13-0 over Yale in one of those long-standing and bitter traditional battles.

Ace Passer Returns

Biggest factor in the triumph was the return to action of ace passer Royce Flippin, who might now be a prime candidate for All-America backfield honors had he not been hobbled most of the season by a knee injury.

But it was more than the return of Flippin that brought about the upset of Yale. Caldwell said he seldom had seen a team engender such spirit for a single game.

"We really were up for this one," he declared. "Those Yale fumbles weren't just accidents. Their boys didn't drop the ball in handling it. They were hit and hit hard by our linemen. That's what caused the fumbling."

Caldwell is hopeful now that Flippin will be in there "flippin' " again for Princeton's finale next Saturday against Dartmouth. For if the Tigers win that one they will clinch the Ivy League championship and close out the season with a record of seven victories against two defeats.

Caldwell No Pessimist

Caldwell, who isn't pessimistic like most coaches, thinks that Princeton won from Yale "because we were the better team."

Caldwell insisted that he made no special plans for Yale and that he arranged no special trick plays that Yale scouts might not have seen. He just "turned the boys loose" and they went out on an old fashioned single wing "whing dig."

"I'll say this—everybody knew it was a key game for us and there isn't one on our schedule that means more for us to win," he added.

As regards the Ivy title, Caldwell things "we have a fine chance to win it and we could even if we don't beat Dartmouth, that is if Harvard should beat Yale."

"But I'd rather do it our way than have to depend on any help from Harvard," he concluded.

Michigan, UCLA Could Clinch Rose Bowl Berths Saturday

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Michigan and UCLA will clinch Rose Bowl berths by winning their final conference games this Saturday, the football odds-men predicted today.

Both victories would carry league championships as well, and the oddsmakers also foresee titles being clinched this week by Princeton in the Ivy League and Oklahoma in the Big Seven. And they say Texas Christian and Pittsburgh will improve their chances of bowl bids by scoring victories.

Michigan was named only a six-point favorite over Ohio State in their battle for the Big Ten crown at Ann Arbor, Mich. An Ohio State upset would give the Buckeyes the league title — but would put Michigan State in the Rose Bowl since Ohio State is ineligible.

UCLA is favored by a more solid 10 points over Southern California in their nationally-televised game at Los Angeles. The Uclans might get the Pacific Coast Conference title and bowl bid even if they lose, because the odds-men figure second-place Oregon State as a six point underdog against traditional rival Oregon.

Orange Bowl Berth

Oklahoma, already assured of a berth in the Orange Bowl and now ranked the nation's No. 1 team, is a 24-point favorite over Nebraska in the game that will give the winner the Big Seven championship.

Princeton, which seized the Ivy League lead last week by beating Yale, is a 12-point favorite to capture the conference crown by beating Dartmouth this week. Should the Tigers stumble, second - place Yale is a 12-point favorite in its 72nd annual game against Harvard.

Texas Christian is a 14-point favorite over Rice, which would move the Horned Frogs within one victory of clinching the host, spot in the Cotton Bowl.

And Pittsburgh is a six-point favorite over Penn State. Reports from New Orleans are that Pitt now is a good bet to get an invitation to the Sugar Bowl, if it can win this final game.

Metropolitan Opera Opens 71st Season

NEW YORK (UP)—The Metropolitan Opera opened its 71st season Monday night in an atmosphere of nostalgic splendor with both the all-American cast and the audience performing according to the tradition of the famous old opera house.

Every seat was filled for the first night performance of Offenbach's "Les Contes d'Hoffmann (The Tales of Hoffmann)" and there were 280 standees.

Those who watched the opera from the $50 box and the $30 orchestra seats were dressed mostly in the finery of the first nighter—white tie, tails, silk, lace, mink, ermine, and diamonds. And the standees wore gray suits and street dresses.

The cast vied with the audience for attention with the sopranos, including Rise Stevens, Lucine Amara and Roberta Peters, favoring low-cut gowns.

But there were no television cameras to record the glitter of audience and cast.

Rudolf Bing, general manager of the Metropolitan, said he ruled against televising the performance because he did not want the effect of the new production spoiled by bright lights and television equipment.

The general tenor of the nostalgic tales of Hoffmann, and perhaps the lack of TV too, appeared to dampen hi-jinks that have marked opening night performances in the past.

Czech Native Expert On American History

NEW YORK (UP)—A native of Czechoslovakia who became an expert in American history while studying for his citizenship examinations, won $16,000 on a television program Tuesday night by answering questions about U.S. land purchases.

Steven Frolich said he would like to use any money he wins on the CBS television program "The 64,000 Question," to help bring displaced persons to this country.

He was given the dates of five historic land purchases made by the United States and asked to identify them.

He correctly said the Louisiana Purchase was made from France in 1803, Florida was purchased Spain in 1819, the Gadsden Purchase — of parts of New Mexico and Arizona — was from Mexico in 1853, Alaska from Russia in 1867 and the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1917.

Frolich, a 39-year-old seed salesman from Princeton, N.J., also correctly named each president at the time of each purchase although he was not asked to do so.

He returns next week to decide whether to keep the $16,000 or try for $32,000.

Cropping System Ideas Are Listed

LAFAYETTE, — Hoosier grain farmers should consider various factors when determining the best cropping system for their farms, advises Lynn Robertson, farm management specialist at Purdue University.

Although each farmer must determine the most profitable cropping practice for his individual farm, certain information and principals can be followed.

Robertson says Hoosier ean

Robertson says Hoosier and other cornbelt farmers can find helpful information in the new North Central regional publication No. 57, "Economics of Cropping Systems in the Cornbelt." Copies are available from the agricultural publications office at Purdue.

Relationship between crops — whether they complement, supplement, or compete with each other are discussed in the bulletin. These relationships and costs of production, along with prices for crops, determine which cropping system will net the highest return.

Other subjects discussed include the importance of crop market prices to the livestock farmer, economic aspects of the use of fertilizer, mechanical practices, new rotation techniques, plant population, and weed and insect control.

Sultan Ben Youssef Returns To Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef came back to Morocco today from two years in French-enforced exile and was greeted by thousands of wildly cheering Moroccans.

The four engines of the Sultan's DC6 airliner were drowned out by the roar of acclaim from the huge crowd massed at the airport.

Moroccans from all parts of the sprawling North African territory jammed this sun-drenched capital city to welcome the ruler France kicked off the throne because of his pro-nationalist sympathies.

Ben Youssef's banishment and replacement by his uncle, Sidi Mohammed Moulay Ben Arafa, provided the spark which touched off the explosion of nationalist agitation which wreaked death and destruction throughout Morocco and brought about the downfall of French governments.

During the 27 months Ben Youssef was in exile, mostly on the Indian Ocean island of Madagascar, more than 2,000 frenchmen and Moroccans were killed by bombs and bullets. Thousands of acres of farmland were put to the torch by extremists.

The nationalist movement forced France to adopt a new Moroccan policy. Ben Arafa was sent packing off into exile, the Moroccans were given their own government and a French promise of help in modernizig the country.

time or place for a new Big Four conference.

At the same time, the United States, Britain and France issued a joint declaration predicting that the result of the conference will be a "bitter disappointment" for the German people.

The declaration charged the Soviets with guilt for blocking German unity and pledged that the three Western powers would continue fighting for a reunified Germany.

Before the start of today's session, the West formally had rejected a last-minute Soviet proposal on European security. The West labeled it a move to wrest a propaganda victory from the conference.

The Western ministers had hoped to put this conference behind them and go home but Molotov came up with another proposal on European security and the West agreed to study it at the last plenary session this morning.

Even before they met, however, Dulles warned:

"It is, of course, I think, clear that the United States will not sign any security treaty with the Soviet Union in relation to Europe except as part of an arrangement for the unification of Germany in freedom."

And Molotov has made it equally clear he will not agree to the reunification of Germany.

Those two violently divergent viewpoints summed up every subject that arose at the Big Four conference since it began on Oct. 27. Failure to agree on security, Germany, disarmament, lifting the Iron Curtain and, in a series of unofficial meetings, on Communist arms to Egypt, marked every move.

Graham

old explosives expert who planted the bomb in his mother's suitcase, kissed her goodbye, and sent her to her death.

Graham's bond, set before the murder charge was drawn up by Keating Tuesday, is $100,000. United Air Lines President William Patterson signed the complaint which charges Graham with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54.

He will be arraigned before Judge Edward J. Keating on Thursday, and probably will not be allowed bond.

Graham's confession, made to the FBI Monday, has not been made public. Newsmen learned however that he confessed fashioning a bomb with a timing device and 25 sticks of dynamite, hid it in his mother's suitcase, and took it to Stapleton Air Field with her the night of Nov. 1.

Plane Departed Late

The plane was 35 minutes late in leaving Denver. It was only eight minutes and 35 miles north of the city when the dynamite blew the plane apart.

Graham bombed the plane to collect a share of his mother's $150,000 estate, and $37,500 worth of trip insurance he bought for $1.50 at the airport. But his mother did not sign the policy and it was worthless.

Captain Wright said Graham would give "no trouble" at the jail, and apparently has no intention of committing suicide. His shoe laces, his belt and his neck tie have been taken away from him, however, so he cannot hang himself.

Puzzled

TERRE HAUTE (UP) — The death of councilman-elect Charles Galloway, 60, today left city officials puzzled as to who will take his place on the council Jan. 1.

Galloway defeated Republican incumbent Walter Cook a week ago for a place on the nine-man city council. All council members are Democrats.

Officers Evaluate Potential Damage Of Future War

Information Gathered In Exercise Sagebrush

FORT POLK, La. (UP) — High Air Force officers began today to evaluate the potential destruction in a future war gathered from first day maneuvers of Exercise Sagebrush.

The operation, largest war games since World War II, opened Tuesday with jet bombers raining mock atomic destruction on 18 air bases in 10 states.

It took just 18 small jet bomoers to drop the equivalent of more than 350,000 tons of TNT on airfields.

For comparison, the Air Force dropped 467,000 tons of conventional explosives in the entire Korean War. It took 250,246 individual aircraft flights and the job was spread over three years.

The massive atomic assault launched by elements of the U.S. Tactical Air Command in Exercise Sagebrush was but a fraction of the nuclear explosive power available to the U.S. Strategic Air Command for prevention or winning of a global war.

TAC units assigned to the "aggressor" force lashed out from Texas bases at the U.S. forces' air baes from Virginia and Florida to Louisana and Arkansas.

"Aggressor" ground forces move forward in Louisiana behind a barrage from 280 mm. atomic cannon delivering thousands of ton of TNT equivalent.

No immediate assessment was available as to the damage done in the ferocious, surprise attack.

The first few hours of the exercise, which runs until Dec. 6, also revealed the almost impossible defense problems of an air commander attacked at short range without warning.

The B57 light jet bombers used by the aggressor went through the U.S. forces' other defense ring in a breeze, skimming in low where radar detection is tough.

They could then climb to high altitude to drop their bombs or use the low-level toss-bombing technique which enables a crew to put an A-bomb on a target and clear out unharmed.

Lightning Kills

New Castle. Mrs. John Ankrom, 19, was electrocuted when she became entangled in a television antenna and electrical wires blown down in a front yard. Her father, John Pratt, 56, was electrocuted when he went to her rescue.

The fatalities occurred in front of the Lowell Butler home. Authorities said the father and daughter apparently were watching TV at the neighbor's home.

Carlus Sprong, 31, Marion, was killed Tuesday night when he was struck by lightning while hunting in southwest Huntington County during the storm.

Authorities said Sprong's brother-in-law was shocked by the lightning bolt but went to a nearby farm house for aid. He was not hurt seriously.

The injured included eight in the Winchester area, nine in the Evansville area, and four in the Indianapolis area. Most were treated and released, but at least three still were hospitalized at mid-morning.

Extensive wind damage to homes was reported at Evansville, Gentryville, Tennyson, Lincoln City, Indianapolis, Lynn, Spartansburg and a rural area near Winchester.

Evacuations caused by floods were mostly in southern Marion County. But Anderson reported the White River over the flood stage.

"Giant Boiling Kettle"

All telephone and power lines connecting with Gentryville were down, but it was reported 15 buildings in that community were damaged when the high winds hit.

Evansville's chief damage area was a 10-block radius on the southeast side. At least four homes were demolished—roofs caved in and the walls collapsed.

"It sounded like a flight of planes coming in," George Brothers said. "I told my dog to lay down on the floor, and I hit the floor, too."

C.W. Belote, whose neighbor's home was destroyed, described the tornadic wind as sounding like "a giant boiling kettle."

Rolled Up in Rug

Next door to Belote, in the Robert Witham home, Ronald and Gary Witham were playing near a window. When the wind hit, it knocked an air conditioner out of the window, scooped up the boys and rolled them into the living room rug.

They rolled against a cement planter and were unhurt. Witham said his sons probably would have been blown away had they not struck the planter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tryon and their daughter, Shirley, 12, came home from church to find their home a shambles.

In the Evansville area, only Barbara Barchat, 13, Tennyson, remained hospitalized. Her right arm was cut when the wind struck her home.

Winds of up to 75 miles per hour struck the Evansville area at 10 p.m.

Three State Officials Agree Indiana Could Improve Safety Program, Differ On Method

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Three state officials, with opposing views on how to combat an upward trend in highway deaths, agreed today Indiana could improve its traffic safety program.

They were called on the carpet in a four-hour investigation Tuesday by a legislative commission which considers it "most serious" that the state's traffic toll is up seven per cent over last year.

State Police Supt. Frank Jessup admitted "differences of opinion" but said "they haven't hurt the traffic safety program at all."

Traffic Safety Director Joe Lingo had another version: "We haven't got the teamwork we need to get results. The department most lax . . . has been state police."

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Morris Carter said "our coordination could be more effective."

Disagree on Method

All three agreed Carter's staff should do a better job of examining new drivers for licenses and re-examining the accident-prone ones to get them off the roads.

Carter said he is handicapped because the 1955 Legislature defeated a bill to make driver examiners bi-partisan. As a result, he said, some political appointees take little interest in their jobs which leads to "disrespect" of the state system.

All agreed motorists whose licenses are suspended should be kept off the road. They disagreed on how to do it.

Lingo wanted police troopers assigned full-time to this duty. Carter agreed it was the best way to tackle the problem.

Jessup said he cannot spare that many men from highway patrol. Instead, he sends suspension lists to all trooper and ordered them to check suspended drivers on a part-time basis.

Lingo said there have been 66 more deaths so far in 1955 than at this time a year ago and 62 of those were in rural areas where state police are responsible. He said police should use radar to catch speeders.

This was one of the biggest disagreements between Lingo and Jessup. State police prefer an electrical timing device instead of radar bcause it is more accurate, cheaper and easier to operate, Jessup said. They will use radar if and when it is perfected.

Jessup also said rural and urban deaths have increased proportionately.

Lingo charged state police allowed a crash injury research program to slip. Jessup denied it—the program is as good as it ever was, he said.

Carter said police do not fill out accident forms adequately enough to trace responsibility in serious accidents.

Career Men Proposed

Lingo proposed the 1957 Legislature create a "department of public safety" with authority over the policies of the police and motor vehicles bureau. He said career men should be named to those jobs, not political appointees.

The commission will hear State Highway Chairman Virgil Smith later, then try to find a way to trim the highway toll.

Jessup said the best answer is better roads. Police now are patrolling more miles of highways and arresting more motorists than ever before, he said, but traffic is so congested the "incompetent" driver who slid by 10 years ago now crashes into another vehicle.

"There isn't enough room anymore to make a mistake on the highways," Jessup said.

The biggest single consumer of water in the United States is irrigation.

Police Believe Missing Boys Got Adventurous

4 Teenage Boys Missing From Homes

CHICAGO (UP)—Four 15-year-old boys were missing from homes in the Chicago area today, frightening their parents who remembered the unsolved slayings of three other boys a month ago.

But police believed that the boys may merely have got a little adventurous, and would show up at home with the expected drop in temperature accompanying a forecast cold wave.

The four have not been seen since about 3:30 p.m. CST Tuesday, when they left their homes in suburban Stickney. Th eoffice of Sheriff Joseph Lohman was notified, and was in charge of attempting to find them.

But the special city police detail investigating the month-old slaying of three boys, found mutilated in a forest preserve ditch two days after their deaths, had not been officially called into the latest disappearance. The Stickney boys were Stanley Mills, Philip Masconi, Robert Hale and William Lynch.

Still A Mystery

Meanwhile, Lt. James McMahon of the city police homicide squad resumed direction of a special detail which has been named to work on the slayings of Robert Peterson, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his Brother Anton, 11. Lt. Pat Deeley turned the job over to him before leaving on furlough.

Thus far, there has been not a shred of evidence to show that the slayings of the three occurred in the city of Chicago. There were no suspects in custody, and few clues to the slayer or slayers.

Protein And Vitamins In Your Oats Depends On Their Ancestors

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — For the same reason that your eyes are blue or brown, the oats in your oatmeal are high or low in their content of protein and vitamins.

That has been proven at Iowa State College in Ames, Iowa. Coupled with recent experiments elsewhere, it means there now is a theoretical possibility of selevtively breeding super-nutritional vegetables.

It's done regularly with animals. Selective breeding produces cows that give more milk, steers that are heavier with lean, juicy meat, hens that lay more eggs.

Oats Like Ancestors

Dr. K. J. Frey of Iowa and his associates demonstrated that oats are rich or poor in protein and vitamins because of the kind of ancestors they have.

Oats and other vegetables pass their characteristics along to their children the way animals do—through the genes in the chromosones of the germ cells. But it is a comparatively new discovery that the level of protein and vitamins is determined by genes in some vegetables.

There are two kinds of these genes, one kind which make for low protein content, another kind which makes for high protein contet. Frey's very important contribution was the demonstration that the genes making for high content can be "dominant", at least in oats.

Offspring Like Parent

Thus, by selecting one oat parent with the high protein level gene, oat breeders may produce oat offspring which are like the high protein parent. The present draw-back is that he was unable to determine whether the high protein gene was going to be dominant or recessive "until the cross had been tried."

But regarding the vitamins, riboflavin and niacin, his experiments indicated that the genes controlling their level in oats are dominant. He considered this "one of the most interesting and practical aspects" of his report to a technical journal of the American Chemical Society.

"It seems possible that oat varieties can be selected with a much higher niacin and riboflavin content than those now being grown," he said.

FILLED IN — The 1956 Community Chest of Whitley County has reached its goal of $19,855, Chest President Clarence Gall has announced. Painting In Red Feather Wednesday Signals Completion Of Community Chest Campaign

The Community Chest of Whitley County Red Feather was painted in Wednesday.

Chest President Clarence Gall, wielding the paint brush with Dave Spence and John D. Reiff looking on, filled in the Red Feather on the courthouse lawn. The action signified the completion of the Community Chest's goal of $19,855 in its 1955-56 campaign. Spence is general chairman of Columbia City and Reiff is general chairman for the townships.

The Chest president said pledges totaling $870.75 from throughout the county are figured in the goal-making figure.

Breakdown of the gifts, by areas, showed: Columbia City, $10,838; Churubusco and Blue Lake, $1,857; South Whitley, $2,494; schools, $685; Smith Township, $332; Washington, $342; Tri-Lakes, $363; Etna-Troy, $350; Thorncreek, $147; Jefferson $405; Richland, $336; Columbia, $363; Union, $391; Cleveland, $557, and Loon Lake, $92.

Gall said yesterday, "There are still a few more volunteer workers to turn in their results, but the amount will be small and will not greatly change the results already recorded."

He publicly thanked all those who donated their time and efforts to make the campaign a success with more than 500 persons in Whitley County having taken part in the campaign.

"The Community Chest Board of Directors is proud of the response given by the residents of Whitley County," Gall stated. "We had," he said, "a goal this year about 10 per cent higher than any previous goal, but the people willingly met the obligation."

Agencies due to benefit from the Chest include Opportunity School, Anthony Wayne Council and Whitley County Boy Scouts, Whitley County Girl Scouts, Whitley County Cancer Society, Salvation Army, Whitley County Red Cross, Northeastern Indiana Heart Fund, Brotherhood of the Blind and United Service Organizations.

A complete report on the campaign will be made at a Board of Directors meeting planned for later in the month at a date to be announced, Gall said.

Loyalty Pledge May Be Adopted By Democrats

To Settle Dispute Between Northern, Southern Democrats

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)The Democratic National Committee today was expected to adopt a compromise "loyalty" pledge imposing the choice of the party's 1956 presidential convention on all delegates

The proposal had the backing of Democratic National Chairman Paul M Butler, who said he would recommend its approval.

Butler predicted the committee would approve the proposal, which is designed to settle a major dispute between Northern and Southern Democrats

Under the plan, the seating of a conventio delegate would "constitute a pledge by the party's leaders of that state that the convention nominee will be placed on the ballot."

The new proposal was regarded as a compromise between the two points of view and was drawn up

Assailant Fails In Try To Kill Iran's Premier

Throws Pistol In Despair

TEHRAN, Iran (UP)—A would-be assassin failed in an attempt to shoot and kill Iranian Premier Hussuun Ala today. But he slightly injured the premier in the neck when he threw his pistol at the premier in despair.

The assailant was arrested immediately.

Ala appeared unperturbed by the incident. He had a cup of tea before going to a hospital and permitting doctors to dress his superficial wound.

Then he called a cabinet meeting for tonight to discuss tightening his personal security measures, while police questioned his attacker.

Gen. Alavi Moghadem, chief of police, confirmed that Ala was not shot, as some reports erroneously said. Moghadem said Ala was nicked by the pistol itself when the would-be killer threw it at him.

The would-be assassin was identified as Moaffarali Zolgghadr, a

Cold Wave Lashes Midwest With Icy Blasts Of Gale-Force Winds

By UNITED PRESS

A vast cold wave lashed the Midwest with icy, gale-force winds and bit deep into the heart of the Southland today.

The worst blast hit Michigan, where gale-force 70-mile-per-hour winds accounted for the death of two Detroit men. One was killed when the wind toppled a 30-foot wall on him, and the other perished when a sheet of steel was blown on him while he was working on a construction scaffold.

Scores of hunters were feared stranded in the state's snow-blanketed northern woods and state legislators meeting in a special session at Lansing Wednesday night were unable to drive out of the city. The high winds stranded 50 freighters at the mouth of Lake Erie and Great Lakes shipping was virtually halted.

Gale force winds also lashed Chicago, injuring three persons, and in Wisconsin four hunters were reported missing after the winds whipped peaceful Green Bay and Lake Winneconne into a frenzy. The Green Bay sheriff reported "the water's practically left the bay."

Heavy Snow in Minnesota

In Minnesota, 400 pieces of equipment were called out to clear northern highways of 8 to 10 inches of wind-whipped snow, while flash floods added to the misery in Ohio and Indiana.

The Miami River swirled up near Dayton, Ohio, after 2.87 inches of rain, forcing the evacuation of residents in three housing developments. The river kept rising at the rate of 9 inches an hour and rescue units were alerted for major evacuations.

In central and southern Indiana more tha 4 inches of rain sent flash floods swirling across highways, washed out bridges, and forced evacuations south of Indianapolis and Franklin. Patients were moved from the lower floors at Johnson County Hospital and water

Chamber Offers Factory Office Facilities, Aid

The offer of its office facilities and aid was made about 2 a.m. today by the Chamber of Commerce to the Fibre Form, Inc., when Woodfin Jones, chamber secretary, visited the scene of the local plant's fire.

The offer of the business organization's office facilities in the city hall and any aid in finding floor space for rehabilitation on machinery and equipment, also storage facilities, was made to Robert M. Brennan, manager of the Fibre Form, both by Mr. Jones and David Walter, president of the Chamber.

It appeared today that a portion of the light plant may be made available to the local industry for work in repair and rehabilitation of equipment, damaged when fire seriously damaged its plant on South Main street.

Temporarily, at least, Fibre Form offices will be at the Ion Capacitor plant.

U. S. May Be Willing To Meet Israel's Request

For Defensive Weapons At Bargain Prices

WASHINGTON (UP)The United States may be willing to meet Israel's request for defensive weapons at bargain prices, administration sources hinted today.

They said three months ago the United States would have rejected any Israeli request for arms at discount prices. But the multi-million-dollar Soviet bloc arms shipment to Egypt has placed a whole new complexion on the question, officials said.

Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban formally presented the United States with a list of anti-jet, anti-submarine and other defense weapons. He told reporters Israel wants them at "the most lenient price and credit" terms.

Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Hussein promptly warned the State Department that sale of weapons to Israel might touch off an "arms race." He said Egypt "may be compelled" to buy more weapons from Communist nations or "wherever we can get them."

The United States immediately began studying the Israeli request despite Hussein's warning. The weapons list soon will be referred to the Defense Department for its consideration and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will be sure to study it soon after his arrival from Geneva today.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson told a news conference Wednesday the United States has ample stocks of any weapons Israel might need.

Officials stressed that the Israeli request will be put to a number of "tough tests" before any final American decision. The United States wants to be doubly sure the requested arms will be used only for defensive purposes.

The United States also wants to know the size of the arms shipment to Egypt to determine whether the Communist weapons will tip the military balance in the Middle East heavily to the Arab world.

Another factor will be whether Israel accepts United Nations proposals to end sporadic but bloody fighting along the Israeli-Egyptian border.

New Vaccine Safety Testing ProcedureReady

Public Health Service Announces

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—The U.S. Public Health Service today unveiled new production and safety testing procedures for polio vaccine which should put manufacture of safe vaccine on "an assembly line basis."

Dr. Jonas Salk, appearing with a panel of polio experts at the 83rd annual meeting of the American Public Health Assn. said that under the new procedures, including much more effective safety testing, "we should get (safe) consistency in lot after lot."

Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, U.S. surgeon general, said manufacturers were in "various stages of readiness" and that some already were operating under the procedures set forth in the interim report released today by the Public Health Service's technical committee on polio vaccine.

Additionally, he said, elimination of manufacturers' uncertainty over such debated topics as use of the virulent "Mahoney" virus strain will provide a further impetus to production.

He declined, however, to estimate probable supplies for the 1956 polio year.

The Mahoney strain will stay, at least so far as vaccine available to combat next summer's polio is concerned. The experts said, in effect, that inactivation of the virus, of whatever strain, is the safety key, rather than virulence of the strain. A search for a less virulent strain with equal or better immunizing stability and other important characteristics will continue, however.

Several changes in manufacturing procedures and safety tests were outlined in the report. The basic element, cheele said, was "exact timing of repeated filtration." Changes also were ordered in timing and other phases of tissue culture and monkey tests.

alk said the changes amounted to submitting each batch of vaccine to a "calculated amount of over-treatment" to create a bonus "margin of safety," against any lingering virus that conceivably might remain.

Recommends Churubusco As Sectional Site

Chamber Of Commerce Adopts Resolution

The Columbia City Chamber of Commerce, through a resolution adopted by its Board of Directors has recommended Churubusco as a site for one of Indiana's 64 sectional basketball tournaments in the 1956 Indiana High School Athletic Association tourney.

Pledging its backing to such an event, the Chamber pointed out in its resolution that Whitley county has not had a sectional basketball tourney since 1937. The resolution said the Churubusco gym, now nearing completion, will provide average facilities for the annual tourney.

The first basketball game in the gym is expected to be played early in December, but Churubusco school officials have not as yet announced a date.

The Chamber Board took its action on the basis of the invitation extended by Churubusco school officials to the IHSAA to hold a sectional in Whitley county.

Copies of the resolution have been sent to L. V. Phillips, IHSAA commissioner, members of the IHSAA Board of Control and principals of schools in Whitley county.

Following is the resolution:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, there has not been a sectional basketball tournament held in Whitley County since 1937;

AND WHEREAS, Whitley County high school basketball teams have been sent to five different sectional basketball tournaments in recent years;

AND WHEREAS, Whitley County high school basketball would definitely benefit by having a sectional held in the county;

AND WHEREAS, above average facilities for the holding of a sectional basketball tournament will be available at Churubusco (Smith Township, Whitley County) for the 1956 Indiana High School Athletic Association basketball tournament;

AND WHEREAS, the Churubusco High School gym will provide a regulation basketball floor, complete dressing room facilities, ample parking space, the largest seating capacity of any gym in seven Northeastern Indiana counties;

AND WHEREAS, the Churubusco school principal, trustee and athletic department have extended an invitation to the Indiana High School Athletic Association to hold a sectional tournament at Churubusco in 1956;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Columbia City Chamber of Commerce recommends Churubusco as one of the sixty-four sectional sites in Indiana for the 1956 Indiana High School Athletic Association basketball tournament.

The Columbia City Chamber of Commerce pledges its support and assistance to Churubusco and the Indiana High School Athletic Association for holding a sectional basketball tournament at Churubusco in 1956.

Ike Tackles Stern Problems In Small Office

Problems Of Taxes, Government Spending, Geneva Conference

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower tackled some of his administration's sternest problems today from a small office in the Getysburg Post Office.

In near freezing weather, the smiling chief executive walked into his new office to plunge into the problems of the Geneva conference, government spending, and taxes.

His first conference was with Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks. They discussed the state of the national economy—and from the evidence of latest government reports were to find it happily booming.

Sees Dulles Today

Next to call after Weeks was Budget Director Rowland Hughes who brought a rough estimate of the fiscal 1957 budget—an estimate that would give some idea whether taxes can be cut next year.

The major meeting of the day however, was scheduled for this afternoon at the Eisenhower farm when the President gets his first-hand report on the disappointing Geneva Big Four foreign ministers meeting from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He was scheduled to see the President at 4 p.m.

Before going to the office, the President underwent an extensive medical examination by Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, White House physician, and Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, the heart specialist from Walter Reed Hospital in Washington.

The examination included an electro-cardiagram and certain tests involving blood chemistry to check on his prothrombin (blood clotting) rate. Results of the tests will be announced later.

Battle Blaze 5 Hours; Pennsy's Traffic Halted

Payroll Of 40 Is Affected; 40 MPH Wind Fans Blaze

Columbia City was subjected to its second disastrous industrial fire in 6 months when the Fibre Form factory at 700 South Main street was partially destroyed early today.

Pending adjustment of the fire loss which the management today was unable to estimate, a payroll of 40 found themselves jobless. It appeared to unofficial observers that the loss would be between $15,000 and $25,000.

The fire swept through the main one-story cement block building about 70 feet wide and 50 feet deep, from west to east. An attached quonset structure to the rear used for spraying and baking radio and loud speaker cones, escaped with little damage, also a boiler room detached from the main structure.

Discovered After Midnight

The fire was discovered about 12:20 a.m. by a passing motorist who turned in the fire alarm. Before the inferno which developed in the cement block building could be checked, it had consumed or damaged nearly every piece of equipment in the basement and first floor.

From the building, along the south side of the Pennsylvania railroad's main line tracks on the west side of Main street, flames leaped an estimated 100 feet into the air. Smoke and heat caused disruption of all rail traffic for two hours and it became necessary for police to re-route traffic on the two main highways, U.S. Highway 30 and state road 9, from 12:30 a.m. until 5:30 a.m.

In fighting the blaze one fireman, Harry Staley, was slightly injured. He suffered a sprained ankle. None was overcome by smoke nor was hurt by collapse of the floor or falling equipment inside the structure.

Cause Not Determined

Cause of the fire remained undetermined today. It was theorized that it might have started from one of the drying ovens located near the west end of the building.

When the fire department arrived the firemen saw the flames through the west windows. One of these had been broken out from the heat and water was trained through the opening. As the fire swept from west to east, fanned by wind gusts from 35 to 40 miles an hour, an explosion resulted. Before the fire could be contained the floor collapsed at the west end of the structure and the blaze ate its way to the south side of the building through openings in a concrete block wall which separates the south side of the floor space from the main structure.

Two Fire Departments

Both local fire departments fought the blaze from 12:20 to 5:30 a.m. The Columbia City fire truck pumped from the hydrant at Swihart and Main streets while the Four Townships pumper hook-

Ohio Doctors Report New Blood Test For Detection Of Cancer

WASHINGTON (UP) — Three Ohio doctors report they have developed a new blood test for detecting cancer which has proved at least 90 per cent accurate in more than 1,700 cases.

The test is based on thickening of blood plasma. It can disclose evidence of early cancer as well as hidden types of the disease, the report said.

The studies were made by Drs. James A. Quinn, Stanley A. Katz and Arthur E. Rappaport of the department of pathology and laboratories of the Youngstown Hospital Assn., Youngstown, Ohio.

Their findings were reported Wednesday in the current issue of the American Journal of Clinical Pathology.

The National Cancer Institute, a government agency, announced here that it has reached no conclusions on the test. But it said it is now evaluating the report.

by a special committee headed by Stephen A Mitchell, former national chairman

The loyalty issue caused a major party split in 1948, when "Dixiecrat" states refused to place Harry S. Truman on their ballots. In 1952, some Southern states dodged a rule that delegates are obliged to support a nominee they voted for. They simply didn't vote.

Butler conceded that the new plan depends on the "good faith" of state party leaders.

Three Vice-Chairmen

The chairman was also scheduled to recommend the appointment of three vice-chairmen to represent Democrat state governors, senators, and representatives on the national committee

It was reported that Butler would recommend Gov. Robert W. Mey-Mansfield of Montana, and Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

All three men are regarded as backers of Adlai E. Stevenson.

Stevenson, the party's 1952 candidate, will climax the current Democratic meeting Saturday when he addresses a huge $100-a-plate fund-raising banquet.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, both regarded as possible candidates, also will speak.

Fire

ed onto the fire hydrant at the Gulf filling station at the corner of Main and Chicago streets. Hose lines were laid under the railroad tracks from the Main-Chicago street intersection over which U.S. 30 traffic passes.

A residence owned by the Fibre Form, standing but four or five feet south of the factory building, was saved by the firemen who kept a wall of water sprayed from their hose lines between the two buildings. Tenants residing in the house are the Forrest Coxes. Most of their furnishings were removed from the home as a precautionary measure and taken to storage.

Signal Tower Scorched

The flames, fanned by the strong wind, scorched the railroad signal and watchman's tower at the Main street crossing. This is located on the south side of the tracks but a few feet from the northeast corner of the Fibre Form building. By training hoses on the tower it was saved, although the railroad signal crew supervised by Richard Allen had to cut the cables leading from the control boxes nearby.

Signals along the tracks were out of service and crossing protection through the night had to be maintained manually. Both section men and signal men, the section crews supervised by James Manago and Claud Cullers, directed the rail workers job of protecting and repairing the Pennsy equipment. The watchman's tower is not occupied after 10 p.m. Automatic blinkers serve to protect the crossing late at night.

Traffic on the railroad was halted for about two hours. When the heat lessened and smoke diminished, trains were allowed to pass. A pole supporting signal cables between the control boxes and the watch tower was charred by the heat.

Factory Closed for Night

About an hour before the fire alarm, the Fibre Form plant was closed for the night. There was no watchman in the building, according to Robert M. Brennan, plant manager.

Whether the building, purchased by Fibre Form from Ralph Widdifield some eight years ago, could be repaired, had not been definitely determined today. Its replacement cost would be around $25,000, observers today believed.

All firemen and fire truck drivers were alerted and summoned when the extent of the blaze was determined. All four fire truck drivers, the 12 members of the Columbia City fire department and as many from the Four Townships organization responded.

The fire fighters soon were covered with water which froze on their protective clothing. A glaze of ice developed around the building and extended across the railroad.

The Cox family brewed coffee for the firemen and hot coffee was sent to them three or four times by their wives and people in the neighborhood. Appreciation from both fire departments for this service was made today by Fire Chief Russell Wolfe.

Damaged Jan. 27

The Fibre Form plant was extensively damaged by fire last Jan. 27. The January fire originated in the quonset building behind the cement block building at an electric heat treating oven where speaker cones were dried after being coated with lacquer thinner. This fire spread to the cement block building. At that time the roof of the residence where the Cox family lives, was burned but not too extensively. The residence again caught fire last May 5, when the Whitley Products plant on the south side of the Pennsylvania tracks east of Line street was destroyed by fire at a cost of four lives.

Police Detour Traffic

City and state police stationed themselves at points along state road 9 and U.S. Highway 30 last night to re-route traffic. Highway 30 traffic was routed over Hanna and Ohio streets so as not to interfere with hose lines which crossed the traffic artery at Main and Chicago streets. State road 9 traffic was routed across the county bridge from Main street to Line street thence into the downtown section.

Save Office Records

Essential office records, kept in a fireproof Mosler safe, were intact after the blaze.

Offices of the company, owned by Robert M. Brennan and his brother, Barry, together with their father, Joseph, resident of Cleveland, Ohio, were moved today to the Ion Capacitor plant under the same family management. This plant is nearby on the site of the former police radio station.

Until insurance adjustors complete their appraisal of damage no estimate can be made of the fire loss, according to Robert Brennan. This may take several weeks.

French National Assembly Ready To Approve Bill

PARIS (UP)—The French National Assembly indicated today it was ready to approve a thrice-rejected election bill to send Frenchmen to the polls early in January and end three weeks of near crisis in the government.

The National Assembly agreed by a vote of 311-286 to reconsider a senate - approved election bill providing for voting by districts.

The action sends the bill back to the assembly's election committee. But there seems little doubt that the lower chamber was at last prepared to adopt the voting system it has rejected three times before.

Fires Kill 23 Persons In Indiana Homes During Last Month, Sends 1955 Total Soaring

By HAL MAERTZ
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Fires killed 23 persons in their Indiana homes during the last month, despite the fact the winter blaze-hazard season barely has started.

The one-month fire fatality toll sent the year's death total soaring toward a figure which probably will be comparable to the 146 home fire deaths recorded in 1953 and 146 again in 1954.

A breakdown of the figures for the one-month period from Oct. 15 through Nov. 15 revealed that 15 of the victims were children under 11 years of age and only eight were adults.

Eleven of the children were under 6 years old and five of the eight adults were 50 or over.

The Frail, the Small

It points up the fact that the most likely victims of a home fire are those too frail or too small to fend for themselves.

The worst fire, in terms of the number of deaths, took place on Oct. 20 at Noblesville where five small children died in a blaze blamed on an overheated stove.

On Nov. 2 a fire at a farm home near Nappanee killed an Amish farmer and three of his sons. Cause of the fire was an exploding stove.

Another fire Oct. 18 at South Bend killed three small girls. The blaze was caused by a space heater.

The latest in the series of multiple death fires took place Tuesday at Kendallville where two small boys were burned to death and their sister was burned critically. Again the cause was blamed on a faulty fuel oil heater.

10 In Five Days

Ten of the 23 deaths during the period occurred between Nov. 1 and Nov. 5, a time when the first cold weather of the season caused many Hoosiers to use heating stoves for the first time.

Several other fires during the period were discovered before anyone was injured seriously or killed.

Notable was a fire discovered in a Connersville hospital on Oct. 15. Firemen fought the blaze for two hours before it was brought under control. None of the 65 patients was injured.

At Indianapolis, twenty-three firemen were overcome by smoke and several were hospitalized while fighting a fire believed to be caused by a heating system.

In addition to the loss of life, an undetermined amount of property went up in smoke. Many persons were crippled or disfigured.

Prospectors Ready To Begin Land Rush

GILLETTE, Wyo. (UP)—More than 300 half-frozen uranium prospectors huddled around fires early today on the borders of the desolate Pumpkin Buttes area to begin a land rush which could erupt into frontier days violence.

By federal decree, 46,440 acres of public land around Pumpkin Buttes will be open for staking mining claims at 11 a.m. CST.

Beyond that, the legal picture is badly snarled.

Wyoming authorities feared that claim-jumping disputes might be settled on the spot with fists or guns.

Highway Patrol Capt. R.O. Galloway had eight patrol cars in the area to reinforce Campbell County Sheriff Ted Holderman. Both were frankly worried that the prospectors would prove too much for the officers.

Ranchers in the area, who hold grazing leases on 38,620 acres of the land, threatened to protect their interests with rifles last spring. So the land rush was postponed until today, when the range is snow-swept and barren of grass.

The temperature dropped below zero during the night, but between 300 and 400 prospectors braved the cold in sleeping bags and the shelter of pickup trucks to be ready for the rush.

Whether there is any appreciable amount of uranium in the Pumpkin Buttes country is not known. Some experts have said the land has "fabulous" potential value. Others said it was "worthless."

House Collaoses

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UP) — Fifteen persons were reported killed early today when a five-story apartment house collapsed because it was undermined by torrential rains.

Thirty-six hours of non-stop rain flooded the lower floors of many houses and some of the Istanbul streets flowed like rivers.

Hunters Lose Fox And Pack Of Hounds

FAVERSHAM, England (UP) — The 40 hunters of the Tinckham hunt galloped off after their hounds Wednesday in hot pursuit of a fox.

A few moments later the hunters had lost not only the fox but their entire pack of hounds. They disappeared without a sound. For three hours the hunters rushed around before they found the pack.

"Most extraordinary," said official huntsman Pat Thatcher, who has been in the game for 26 years.

Had the dogs found the fox and perhaps eaten same? Or had they gone over to the side of the fox to tweek the hunters? What were they doing? Where were they hiding?

"I don't know," said Thatcher, "They seemed happy enough."

Teenager Dies In Fire, Attempting To Save Others

CHICAGO (UP) — A brother, sister, and baby girl were killed early today when fire swept their home and their bodies were brought to the hospital where their mother was on duty as a nurse.

The dead were identified as Louis Koller, 19, his sister, Betty Ann, 15, and their 4-month-old half-sister, Catherine Eileen Killips.

Jack Killips 46, the stepfather of the two older children and father of the youngest, was severely burned and was in critical condition at the Little Company of Mary Hospital, where his wife is a nurse.

The three younger persons were all killed by smoke inhalation. Philip Koller, 14, the only person to escape the fire, told police that his older brother had died trying to save the others.

Mercury Hits Skids

Temperatures plunged towards expected lows of 10 above in the Midwest and skidded 11 degrees in 15 minutes at Atlanta, Ga. At Warrior, Ala., the mercury went from 81 to 56 in an hour late Wednesday and Tuscaloosa, Ala., reported a 60-minute plunge from 79 to 60.

It was the first major cold wave of the season and came on the heels of record-breaking Indian summer weather. Temperatures have dropped 40 to 50 degrees in one day's time in the Midwest, while in the Southeast it was still warm enough Wednesday to break records at Greensboro, N.C., and Richmond, Va.

The wintry weather spread far to the west and in California's Sierra Nevadas two men and a bulldozer plowed through 42 inches of snow and a howling blizzard searching for a missing logging contractor.

The contractor, 45-year-old Arnet B. Ausoey, had hiked into isolated mountain country to retrieve a bulldozer. He left without snowshoes and 30 inches of snow fell in the area after his departure.

Arraignment Of John Graham Delayed 11 Days

By JOHN MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP)— The arraignment of John Gilbert Graham on charges of murdering his mother in the airliner bomb plot crash that killed 44 persons was delayed for 11 days today until he can secure "adequate counsel."

District Judge James M. Noland of Durango, Colo., before whom the 23-year-old confessed saboteur appeared today, granted the continuance at the request of Graham's temporary attorney, J. R. Strickland.

The proceeding before Noland, sitting in place of District Judge Edward J. Keating, lasted only five minutes.

Strickland requested the continuance until Graham can secure "adequate counsel" to represent him. Strickland had taken the case last Monday only on a temporary basis.

Noland told Graham that he "should immediately arrange to obtain counsel" in time for the arraignment Nov. 28.

Strickland first asked for a 30-day continuance but Dist. Atty Bert Keating, who will prosecute Graham for the death of his mother, Mrs. Daisie King, 54, objected to a continuance of that duration.

Graham maintained his sullen appearance during the brief court proceedings after which Graham was returned to county jail.

Local High School Teams To Play Basketball Friday

All local high school basketball teams will play games on Friday.

Columbia City will go to Huntington for their second game of the season. The Eagles lost to Pierceton Tuesday. Principal Max Gandy is reminding all Columbia City season ticket holders that their tickets are good for admission to the Huntington game.

This will be the opening game for the Huntington Vikings coached by Ivan (Kaiser) Wilhelm, a former player in the '40's with the Norsemen. This is his first year as Huntington coach.

Coach Wilhelm has a 14-man varsity squad composed entirely of juniors and seniors.

Seniors from last year are Jack Flaugher, Kenny Law, Art Musselman and Mark Floyd.

The remainder of the team include Larry Handwork, Dick Mitchell, Dick Chalfant, Bill Mitchell, Scott Hosler, Walt Hunnicutt, Charley Johnson, Lee Baker, Jack Weller and Jim Myers.

Height is no problem in the Viking camp. Musselman and Johnson stand 6-3, Law and Chalfant 6-2, and Handwork 6-1.

County Teams

Coesse will play their fourth game Friday at Harlan. The Indians won their first three games against Larwill, Churubusco and Jefferson Center.

The South Whitley Bulldogs will play their fourth game at Jefferson Center Friday. They won their first three games against Huntington township, Huntertown and Larwill.

Jefferson Center had lost to Bippus and Coesse.

The Larwill Trojans will play their fourth game at Urbana. They lost to Arcola, Coesse and South Whitley.

The Churubusco Eagles will play their third game against Roanoke at Churubusco. They lost to Coesse and Wolf Lake.

Wolf Lake will play Riverdale at Albion Saturday.

Campbell Thinking Of Bettering Record

BOULDER CITY, Nev. (UP)—British speedboat king Donald Campbell today already was thinking about trying to better the new world's record mark of 216.2 miles an hour he set Wednesday in the jet-propelled Bluebird II.

"But I'd rather not talk too much about that now," he said, adding another try would have to wait until next year.

In A Stew

PRINCETON, N.J. (UP) — Paul Miller, 52, a cook, found himself in real stew Wednesday night.

Miller faces charges of drunken driving, leaving the scene of an accident, driving on a permit without a licensed driver accompanying him, driving on an expired permit, not having a driver's license, not wearing corrective glasses and going the wrong way on a one-way street.

Spieser Scores TKO Over Young

CHICAGO (UP)—Light heavyweight Chuck Spieser had only one target today, a rematch with third ranked Willie Pastrano, after his convincing second round technical knockout of Paddy Young in the Chicago Stadium television fight.

"I don't know where we'll make it," Spieser's manager, Hec Knowles, said. "Maybe New Orleans. But we'll fight him anywhere we can get him and see how it comes out."

Spieser lost a 10-round decision to the 20-year-old Pastrano earlier this year, but both the fighter and most of the 1,411 observers rated the Detroit, Mich. scrapper "greatly improved" on his performance against Young.

"I've got confidence," Spieser explained. "It used to bother me a little, maybe unconsciously, to be fighting some of these guys. Why, I used to see Young fight when I was in college and (Willie) Troy too.

"But beating Troy gave me confidence and Young was just another fighter. He hit me a pretty good left hook, but that was all."

Young was lucky he connected with the left hook, in the first round, and the blow didn't seem to phase Spieser. He floored the New Yorker, who suffered his 12th defeat in 4 pro bouts, four times before the battle was ended with a technical knockout finish at 2:45 of the second.

Spieser put Young on the deck with a left hook in the first round and in the second session floored him three times before Referee Frank Gilmer stopped the brawl. Twice Young went down as the result of right hand punches and the third time after a left and a right.

Young, who said he was "too slow" in 168 pounds, said he was "going back to fighting middleweights." He appeared flabby in the ring.

Spieser weighed 171 for the brawl, and he said he felt "just right" at that poundage.

Rockets Win From Montreal Canadiens

By UNITED PRESS

Who said Maurice (Rocket) Richard is slowing up?

Now in his 14th season in the National Hockey League, the Rocket won another game for the Montreal Canadiens Wednesday night when his third period goal sunk the Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-2, before 14,005 fans at Toronto.

The Leafs entered the final period with a 2-1 lead, but rookie Claude Provost tied the score with a goal at 6:46 and then Richard converted a pass from his brother, Henri, with five minutes remaining for the winner.

The Canadiens now have gone unbeaten in their last nine games and hold a six-point lead over the second-place New York Rangers who wound up in a 3-3 tie with the Detroit Red Wings in Wednesday night's other game.

Ted Lindsay's goal at 18:05 of the final period earned the Red Wings a standoff against the Rangers before 9,06 fans at New York. Wally Hergesheimer's second goal of the game had put the Rangers ahead earlier in the period and they looked like sure winners until Lindsay crashed through for the equalizer.

Gordie Howe also scored twice for Detroit, while the other New York goal was turned in by rookie Jean Guy Gendron.

Loses Fight

DETROIT (UP)—Frank Cline, 46, was fined $5 because he lost a fight with a revolving door.

Cline tried to exit through a revolving door Wednesday and collapsed from exhaustion after pushing for 10 minutes. Police carried him off and charged him with being drunk and disorderly.

Cassady And Dawson Dominate Statistics

CHICAGO (UP) — Ohio State's Howard (Hopalong) Cassady and Purdue's Len Dawson dominated individual Big Ten statistics today heading into the last game of the 1955 season.

Cassady set the pace in rushing with 565 yards, in scoring with 60 points and in kickoff returns with an average of 28.8 yards. Dawson was first in passing with 818 yards gained and a completion percentage of .568 and in total offense with 796 yards.

Purdue's end Bob Khoenle was the leader in pass receiving with 17 catches for 15 yards, while Wisconsin's Pat Levenhagen was first in pass interceptions with four for 112 yards returned.

In punting Minnesota's Kelvin Kliber was first with a 44.5 yard average. Wisconsin's Jim Miller was the leader in punt returns with a 15.8 yard average.

Michigan and Ohio State, who scrap Saturday for the conference title, were the leaders in team statistics. The Wolverines were first in defense and Ohio State in offense.

Reds Edge Bisons

By UNITED PRESS

If and when the New York Rangers need replacements, they have three former players waiting for calls at Providence in the American Hockey League.

Aldo Guidolin, an ex-Ranger forward who was shipped to Providence to learn how to be a defenseman, turned in the winning goal Wednesday night as the Reds edged the Buffalo Bisons, 5-4.

Two other former New Yorkers also helped set up Providence's victory. Camille Henry picked up a first period score, while Billy Mc Creary assisted on another goal.

Ex-Ranger players also figured prominently in the scoring as Hershey tied Cleveland, 2-2. Steve Kraftcheck and Jackie Gordon tallied for Cleveland, while Dunc Fisher had one goal and one assist for the Bears.

Omit Soup

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UP)—Two home economists at Douglass College for women gave the following Thanksgiving dinner advice today:

"Throw out the soup course... about all the course accomplishes ayway is to dirty more dishes and rob valuable capacity. . .serve juice or wine in the living room so guests may attack the turkey promptly on being served."

Marv Berschet Replaces Jim Norman

WASHINGTON (UP) — Marv Berschet, 215-pound former Illinois lineman who was given a job in the Washington Redskins' front office when he failed to win a regular berth during spring training, was placed on the active list today to replace injured guard Jim Norman. Norman will be operated on for a cyst next week and will be sidelined for the remainder of the National Football League season.

Letter To Santa

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UP)—The post office today reported its first 1955 letter to Santa Claus from four-year-old Susan Morris.

Susan asked for "some clothes for me and my doll baby. . .and an Easter egg."

Thanksgiving Tradition Goes Modern

TURKEY holds the foremost place for succulent supremacy in many a home this time of year. This bird is another American first . . . and it's a gift from the New World to the Old.

Our European neighbors had never put a hungry tooth to a juicy turkey drumstick until their missionaries landed on our shores. The Jesuits liked these native-American birds so much . . . they took them back home to France. To this day "Jesuit" is to all Frenchmen the familiar name for turkey.

When the pilgrims wanted turkey for Thanksgiving they had to brave snow storms and scalping Indians to shoot a few wild birds. Fortunately that's all past history now! Today your turkey hunting expedition is no more than a safari to the nearest grocery store.

There you'll find everything from whole frozen turkeys to prepared turkey dishes. Look in the grocer's freezer . . . pick out some frozen turkey pies . . . and bag the easiest turkey luncheon you ever served!

These frozen turkey pies are in aluminum pie pans that hold a generous 8-ounce serving. A smooth turkey gravy generous with moist chunks of turkey, is garnished with bits of pimiento and green pepper. A flaky crust holds this savory filling. Only 45 minutes in a 425° F. oven does them up brown!

For an easy Thanksgiving luncheon, that's guaranteed to make you thankful — for the convenience of frozen foods, rely on this menu:

Soviet Leaders LeaveMoscowFor Southeast Asia

Including Visits To India And Burma

MOSCOW (UP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev left today by plane for a three-week swing through Southeast Asia, including state visits to India and Burma.

The Soviet leaders and their party took off from Moscow airport in two Ilyushkin 14 transport planes. They are scheduled to stop first at Tashkent, one of the oldest cities in Central Asia, before continuing to New Delhi where the government of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru was reported to have prepared an elaborate state welcome for their arrival Friday.

A small group of Eastern diplomats was at the airport to see the Soviet leaders off. No Western diplomats were present — even Swedish Ambassador Rolf Sohlman, dean of the diplomatic corps, begged off because of the hour.

Soviet officials at the airport included First Deputy Premiers Anastas I. Mikoyan and Maxim Z. Zaburov.

Newsmen were kept some distance from the planes and were unable to identify members of the party accompanying Bulganin and Khrushchev. (The Moscow radio said they included Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Culture Minister N. A. Mikhailov, Gen. A. I. Serov, chairman of the state ministers of foreign trade and security committee, and deputy agriculture.)

Nehru and Bulganin scheduled the Russians' two week visit. The only one formal meeting during two state leaders will meet on Nov. 30. just before the Russians leave for Burma.

Red China Says Three Americans Have Been Freed

TOKYO (UP)—Communist China's Peiping radio said today that three more American civilains have been released from Red jails and will be "deported."

The Peiping Radio broadcast identified the three Americans as Mrs. Homer V. Bradshaw, Marcellus White and Justin Garvey.

The broadcast said:

"Judicial authorities of the People's Republic of China have announced the release of an American criminal, Mrs. Homer V. Bradshaw, who was previously out on bail for medical attention.

"The release of two other American criminals, Macellus White and Justin Garvey, has been announced and their deportation ordered."

The names of all three were included on a list of 17 Americans whose freedom was demanded Nov. 10 by the United States in repatriation talks with the Chinese Reds in Geneva.

Mrs. Bradshaw, the former Wilda Hockenberry, is the wife of Dr. Homer V. Bradshaw, Presbyterian missionary. Her home address was listed as New York City.

White and Garvey are Roman Catholic priests. The Rev. Martin Vincent Garvey (Father Justin) is listed as from Union City, N.J. The Rev. Marcellus White is from Waltham, Mass.

There was some initial confusion on the names because they were broadcast by a Chinese announcer and repeated in English by a Japanese monitor. The confusion was cleared up when Peiping Radic made an English language broadcast.

Assailant

35-year-old painter. He was suspected of being a Moslem fanatic of the Fadayin Islam, possibly angered by Iran's decision to join the Western - sponsored Baghdad Pact.

He lurked with a throng inside Tehran mosque when Ala and his aides entered to pray at a memorial service.

Suddenly Zolghadr stepped forward and levelled a pistol at the premier.

Two police officers flanking the prime minister saw the gun at the same moment and leaped for it.

A shot rang out. But officers had struck the assailant's hand and the bullet wept wild.

Zolghadr, who was standing within point - blank range of Ala, slammed the pistol against the prime minister's neck just as the police and bystanders swarmed upon him.

A trickle of blood flowed down Ala's neck.

The crowd surged around the attacker. Officers hurried him off to police headquarters for questioning.

NEW YORK (UP)—About 50 patrons of a coffee shop carried out a fast evacuation Tuesday when a fire broke out in a grease duct.

Firemen put the blaze out in short order but none of the patrons returned to pay their bills, the proprietor said.

LOOK AT THE BIRDIE—Not exactly a dirty bird, but kind of earthy, is this potato sculptured by nature to look like a bird. It was found by Jesse Bedwell, above, while digging potatoes on his grandmother's farm outside Shelburn, Ind. The only thing Bedwell, 25, added to complete the similarity was the paper wings.

Airplane, Carrying 74 Persons, Crashes In Snow Storm; 27 Dead

By JOHN R. LONG
United Press Staff Correspondent

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—A non-scheduled DC4 airplane, carrying 74 persons including 66 soldiers returning home from the Orient, exploded and crashed into a house on the south edge of Seattle during a light snow storm early today.

Coroner John P. Brill Jr. said there were 27 dead and 47 survivors.

Three cases were known to be critical, although many of the survivors were "walking patients."

Several passengers said an explosion preceded the crash and law enforcement officers were investigating the possibility of sabotage.

Several of the bodies were discovered 10 blocks from the crash site.

Among the survivors were the wife and three children of former Flying Tiger Lines pilot Earl McGrath, of Miami, Fla. McGrath could not be found although he was aboard the plane.

McGrath had recently left the Flying Tiger Lines and was "deadheading" with his family to Miami where he was to go to work with Air Coach Transport Inc. The Air Coach firm is the operating company of the Peninsula Air Transport Co., which owned the ill-fated plane.

Hospitalized in good condition were McGrath's 28-year-old wife, Virginia, and their children, Richard, 8, Tom, 5, and Mary, 6.

The survivors also included a mother and five children who were in the house.

The plane was piloted by William McDougal. Fred Hall, the first officer, and a steward named Adams also were aboard.

Deputy Sheriff Donald Peterson was the first man to reach the crash scene.

"I rushed to the wreckage and began hauling bodies out," he said. "They were screaming and there was nothing I could do about it."

Pfc. Robert Fischer, one of the soldiers aboard, said the plane's engine began acting up shortly after takeoff.

"It made a weird sound," he said. "Then there was a flash. I remembered afterwards that the flash came just before we hit.

"It lookd like the plane had cracked wide open. There was a big hole in it and I went out there. I just stood around and didn't know what to do."

The four-engine plane crashed shortly after takeoff. It was en route to Billings, Mont., its first stop, and points east. The soldiers

Useable Clothing To Be Collected Thanksgiving Week

St. Paul of the Cross Hall, 311 S. Line street, will again be used as the collection center for the annual Thanksgiving Week Clothing Collection from November 20 to 26.

The 1955 drive is a one-week appeal for usable clothing, blankets and shoes for free distribution to the needy overseas without regard to race, creed or color. Those who wish to contribute should bring the articles to the hall any day except Thursday from 9:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m.

This appeal is being made to every family in the community because there is hardly a person who cannot spare at least one garment for a needy person overseas. Any wearable garment, any usable blankets and any pair of practical shoes in good repair will be gladly received. All types of men's and children's shoes can be utilized as well as boots, overshoes, galoshes, rubbers, etc. All types of practical women's shoes can be used but high heeled pumps or evening shoes serve little purpose among refugees overseas. Men's clothing and work shoes, blankets, sheets, men's and women's underwear, clothing for children and infants and all types of socks and stockings are of especial value. With the approach of winter, warm clothing is especially needed. The recent disasters, such as hurricanes, typhoons, and floods, have accentuated the intensity of the need.

Once again, this Thnaksgiving week, on behalf of the poor in forty-one countries, an appeal is made to your generosity and compassion to share what you can spare for the very many who have so very little.

Report Profits Of Corporations Head For Record

Farmers' Net Income 10 Per Cent Below 1954

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government reported today that corporation profits are headed for a new all-time high. In contrast, farmers' net income this year will be about 10 per cent below last year.

The corporation profit estimate came from President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers. It boomed administration hopes for balancing the fedral budgt and balancing the federal budget and cutting taxes in 1956.

For the first nine months of this year, corporation profits were rocketing along at an annual rate of $42,600,000,000.

But the decline in farm income emphasized the administration's difficulties with a problem that has become about the biggest issue now in the coming presidential election campaign.

The Agriculture Department predicted that the farmers' taxable net income for 1955 will be about $10,600,000,000 - $1,200,000,000 below last year.

Prospects for 1956 point to some further decline.

Actually, farmers' cash receipts so far this year have been about 4 per cent below a year ago. But higher production expenses are expected to shave the net taxable income to 10 per cent.

The council's report estimated the third quarter — the July-September period — soared to an annual rate of $44,000,000,000. This boosted the profits for the first nine months to an annual rate of $$42,600,000,000 - $ 2,000,000,000 more than the administration figured on only last August.

The administration meanwhile kept a firm hand on the nation's expanding credit. The six federal reserve banks raised their interest rats today from 2 to 2½ per cent. This is a move which tends to curb borrowing.

An additional $100,000,000 more than the administration expected in August will pour into the Treasury in the form of taxes. This would go a long ways toward cutting down the deficit which, in August, was estimated at $1,700,000,000.

Rescuers Rush ToWreckageAtop High Mountain

Believed To Be That Of Military Plane

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) — The Air Force today rushed rescuers to wreckage atop towering Mt. Charleston believed to be that of a large military plane that disappeared on a "secret" flight with 74 persons aboard.

The missing aircraft, reported to be a C54 military transport, was believed headed for a super-secret atomic energy commission installation at the nearby Nevada proving grounds and may have carried atomic scientists or other important officials.

An Army rescue team in a specially-equipped truck left in the pre-dawn darkness to race 27 miles northwest of here to the 11,910-foot peak, observation point for past atomic test blasts. Two Air Force planes spotted the wreckage Thursday after the transport had been overdue at its undisclosed destination for several hours. It was not known if there were any survivors.

Officers at nearby Nellis Air Force Base said two air rescue planes, flown to Las Vegas from March Air Force base in Riverside, Calif., would take off at dawn to drop two medics by parachute at the scene of the wreckage. They said helicopters also would be dispatched.

The missing plane, which left Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank, Calif., early Thursday, was believed headed for Groom Lake, a top-secret base for a joint AEC-Air Force installation under construction about 115 miles northwest of here. The plane is based at Norton Air Force Base, Calif.

It was not known when the rescue party might reach the wreckage.

Five persons were hurt, two of them seriously, at 8:30 p.m. Thursday northwest of Lorane when the cars operated by Edward L. Anderson, R 6, and Dloyd Deubner, R 2, crashed head-on.

Injured critically were:

Miss Patricia King, aged 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley King of R 6, who received a broken left femur (thigh), internal injuries, numerous cuts and bruises. According to her physician today her condition was regarded as fair.

Miss Bonnie Cox, aged 16, daughter of Mrs. Maggie Cox, 214 Collins street, possible internal injuries, suffering from shock, cuts and bruises. Her condition also is regarded as fair.

Hospital Patients

Both the King and Cox girls are patients at the Whitley County Hospital.

Also a patient at the same hospital as the result of injuries received in the crash are Price Reimer, 18, son of Paul Reimer, R 1, and Dloyd Deubner, 17, of R 2, son of Mrs. Clarence Deubner, Churubusco teacher.

Reimer suffered a broken left collar bone and is suffering from shock. The Deubner youth received multiple cuts, lacerations and abrasions, and a possible head injury.

Edward Anderson, aged 39, was treated at the hospital last night for minor injuries and then released. He was cut and bruised but x-rays revealed no fractures.

Mr. Anderson, driving his 1947 Chevrolet car, was northbound on the narrow county road. The Deubner youth, was southbound, going over a hill in his 1953 Chevrolet car. The King and Cox girls, also Reimer, were passengers in Deubner's car. Deubner told State Policeman Wallace Manrow of Warsaw, who investigated the crash, that he was traveling about 50 miles an hour down the center of the narrow road and failed to see the Anderson in time to avoid the crash. The cars collided head-on.

Cold Takes Toll; Fears Rise For StrandedHunters

Blowing Snow Storm Blankets Northwest

By UNITED PRESS

Fears rose for stranded hunters in the frozen Midwest today and a blowing snow storm blanketed the Pacific Northwest.

A non-scheduled airplane carrying 74 persons crashed in a light snow storm soon after taking off from ice-covered Boeing Field at Seattle, Wash., early. Authorities said at least 27 persons were killed.

To the east, another wintry storm had caused at least seven deaths and it was feared that the death toll might rise to 10 in Michigan alone.

The known dead included two duck hunters who froze to death in icy Michigan quicksand, two men killed by high winds in Detroit, and a 12-year-old boy whose body was found in a Spooner, Wis., snow drift.

Indiana Man Freezes

In addition, a traffic accident on a snow-slicked street in Buffalo, N.Y., killed one person and an 80-year-old Knox, Ind., man froze to death when his stove went out during the night.

Six more hunters were feared dead in snow-covered northern Michigan, including a party of three professional golfers and an Illinois country club manager whose overturned boat was found in an icy lake. New search parties set out to hunt for the men today.

More search parties brought 16 duck hunters from the frozen wastes of Wisconsin's Green Bay and Horicon marshes. Four of the hunters had shivered in sub-zero temperature for 24 hours with only canvas windbreaks for protection.

Heavy Snows in West

In the Pacific Northwest, Seattle was covered by six inches of snow and the storm reached blizzard proportions at Portland, Ore.

Hundreds of Seattle workers gave up trying to reach their suburban homes and found refuge in hotels instead. At Portland, elevators stalled between floors in downtown buildings and a power failure darkened some buildings for half an hour.

The new storm marched quickly through eastern Washington, eastern Oregon, and northern Idaho, There was 15 to 20 inches of new show in the mountains.

Temperatures were rising slowly from sub-zero levels in the northern Rockies and Plains, although it was still 14 below at Havre, Mont., and 11 below at Cut Bank, Mont.

President Will Keep Trying For Peaceful Answer

Despite Russia's Tactics At Geneva

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Reporter

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower will keep "plugging and plugging" for a peaceful solution of world problems despite Russia's blocking tactics at Geneva, a high official in a position to know Mr. Eisenhower's views said today.

The official is familiar with conclusions reached by the President and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in their discussion Thursday of the Geneva conference.

Mr. Eisenhower acknowledged privately that the foreign ministers conference was disappointing in its failure to produce agreements between Russia and the West on major differences, the official said. But the President is determined to continue his quest for a durable peace and feels there must be further efforts to work out a solution to world problems with Russia.

Report To Nation

Dulles planned to confer with Mr. Eisenhower again this morning to get final presidential approval for the report he will give the nation tonight via radio and television on the Geneva meeting.

The President also had appointments today at his temporary office in the Gettysburg post office building with Dillon Anderson, his special assistant on National Security Council matters and with Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy commission.

Flying from Washington to Gettysburg with Strauss will be Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and an old friend of the President who will be a weekend house guest of the Eisenhowers.

Hoover Attends Session

The President's discussion with Dulles Thursday on the Geneva conference lasted one hour and 20 minutes. Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., met with them.

While Dulles reportedly admitted to the President that the Geneva meeting fell far short of what the Big Four at "the summit" in July envisioned, the secretary was not without hope for the future. He rejected the idea that the Geneva stalemate means full-scale resumption of the so-called cold war, and according to good information, believes that by constant, future and patient negotiation, the Soviet Union might come around to a workable peace plan with the West, particularly involving the unification of Germany.

He also was reported to feel another Big Four meeting will be held eventually. The date will depend on future developments.

Shinzo Ohki Gives Demonstration Before Home Economics Class

Shinzo Ohki, of the Oriental Show U Co., gave a demonstration on the preparation of "Chop Suey" before the senior home economics students at the Columbia City Joint high school this morning.

The chop suey with pork and noodles with sauce and rice was prepared and served and the dishes washed in the 55 minute class period.

Mr. Ohki demonstrated the cooking of rice to make the grains separate without forming a paste. He first washed the rice in cold water to remove the loose starch. Equal amounts of rice and water are boiled together for four minutes and then the heat is turned as low as possible and the rice absorbs the water. He gave the class small cook books with recipes for the chop suey he demonstrated.

Graham Denies He Time-Bombed Ill-Fated Plane

Hints Mother May Have Set Off Explosive

By JOHN MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENEVR (UP) — John Gilbert Graham denied in county jail late Thursday that he time-bombed a United Air Lines DC6B and hinted that his mother — one of the 44 victims of the crash — might have set off the explosive herself in a suicide

In a copyrighted story, Al Nakkula, a Rocky Mountain News reporter, quoted the 23-year-old suspect as saying he signed a written FBI confession because "they told me they were going to put my wife in jail and I'd better get it straightened out myself."

Graham said FBI agents started questioning him at about noon last Sunday and "didn't stop until I signed a confession about 4 a.m. the next morning."

When asked if he put a "present or a bundle of dynamite" in his mother's luggage, Graham replied:

"I didn't put anything in her luggage. I only bought some straps to put around the luggage . . . the hinges on the suitcase were breaking. I don't want to discuss the present."

Then Nakkula asked: "Did you have a premonition of your mother's death before you had been formally notified of it?".

Mother Called Friends

To this question Graham replied: "I didn't, she had. She called everybody she could think of before she left."

Graham said his mother, Mrs. Daisie King, had been ill and was hospitalized twice last summer and was "sort of depressed or nervous since Mr. King died last year." King was the woman's second-husband and Graham's step father.

"I don't have any theories as to the cause of the crash or what happened," Graham said when pressed for an explanation concern-

Big Cedar Scene Of Tragedy When Boat Overturns

Bernie Huffman And Mason Dalton Rescued By Paul Hoover

The body of Keith Eugene Huffman, 25, who drowned in Big Cedar Lake about 5:30 p.m. Thursday, was recovered at 10:10 a.m. Friday, two hours after dragging operations were resumed. Huffman resided at 517 East Jackson street and was a route driver for the Perfection Biscuit Company, Fort Wayne.

Searchers worked until almost 11 o'clock Thursday night in their attempt to locate the body, then resumed the search at 8:00 a.m. today.

Huffman drowned when the boat he occupied with his father, Bernie Huffman, 49, and his wife's uncle, Mason Dalton, aged 20, upset as they were letting out their net preparatory to casting for whitefish.

The body was removed to the Hollingsworth Memorial Chapel with permission of Dr. J. R. Roth, coroner, as soon as it was brought by boat to state road 102 a short distance north of the Cedar Grille.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Hollingsworth Memorial Chapel, the Rev. Graham L. Kleespie of Grace Lutheran church, officiating. Friends will be received after 10:00 a.m. Saturday at the chapel.

The body was located in about 25 feet of water at a point believed exactly where the boat upset. Depth of the lake in this vicinity, about 150 feet off the point of Big Cedar lake, varies from 25 to 35 feet. The body was snagged first by Sheriff Galen Adair, who, together with Conservation Officer John Washburn, Lloyd Smith and Deputy Sheriff Cal Watkins, worked from an Indiana Conservation Department boat.

Two Republican Governors Have BeenHeard From On Subject Of PresidentialNomination

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two Republican governors have just been heard from on the subject of the 1956 GOP presidential nomination.

One governor hopes Mr. Eisenhower will not run again. The other hopes he does. What they had to say adds up to considerable support for the idea that Mr. Eisenhower is the GOP's indispensable man, after all.

Governor No. 1 was Utah's J. Bracken Lee. Lee is for Sen. William F. Knowland of California for the Republican presidential nomination. He said health considerations should forbid Mr. Eisenhower running again.

What he had to say is cited here as evidence of a real division within the Republican Party. He repudiated Eisenhower's foreign and domestic policies, especially on ground of failing to reduce government spending sufficiently. The governor said the Republican administration was conducting giveaway programs begun by the Democrats. He wants farm subsidies discontinued.

Magazine Favors Knowland

If that is not sufficient evidence of trouble on the Republican front, there is the material in a new weekly publication, "The National Review." The first issue laid down strategy by which conservative Republicans hope to nominate Knowland for president.

Knowland evidently is willing. He had a story in the magazine titled "Peace With Honor," assailing Eisenhower administration foreign policy. He wrote that foreign policy would be a big issue in next year's campaign. Magazine publisher is William F. Buckley Jr., who with Associate Editor L. Brent Bozell was co-author of a

Richard Morsches To Appear With Band At Halftime Of Game

Richard R. Morsches, co-drum major of the Michigan State University marching band, will make what is probably his farewell appearance in front of the band at the Michigan State-Marquette football game Saturday.

A senior, Morsches will have a featured role as the three MSU baton twirlers open the band's show at halftime. The game will be the last of the season for the marching band unless a Rose Bowl bid materializes. Such a trip would be the second for Morsches in three years.

Son of Paul J. Morsches Sr., 313 North Main street, Dick Morsches has had other thrills as drum major. He has appeared with the band on several occasions in his home state, the most recent the season-opening game at Bloomington this year. He directed the band in an Indianapolis concert on that trip. Morsches has been with the band for three years. The past two years he has alternated weeks as drum major with Archie Patton Jr., another award winning twirler from Mt. Morris, Mich.

THE TRUCK DRIVER

Most of us, at one time or another, have found ourselves going through the frustrating experience of finding ourselves driving behind a truck or trailer on a long, narrow road. Most likely the truck is running along at 35 or 45 mile-an-hour clip and we're anixous to get out of that pocket and let 'er rip.

At such times we take a dim view of what we call the "crawling" antics of these motor transports. But when we sit down and think it over, we realize the tremendous job that is being done every day in the year by the 10,000,000 trucks and trailers licensed in the U.S.

Americans are strange critters. In one breath we snort and rave against anyone who clutters up our roads. In the next we boast about the vast economic system we have set up in this country — the finest way of life ever devised by any civilization in the history of man.

The trucks we sometimes fret about - when we think about it - help transport the staff of our lives across the vast network that is the arterial system of the nation. And how many of us have been safely piloted through the fog by the lights on the truck of an experienced driver?

This is Truck Transportation Week, a period dedicated to the more than 7,000,000 men and women who earn their livings, directly or indirectly, through the trucking industry. Indiana claims 210,000 of that number.

New Sociology Course At North Manchester

NORTH MANCHESTER —A new sociology course, entitled "Rural Cultures in the Modern World," has been added to the Manchester college curriculum, announced Dr. Donald Royer. This class will be offered for four hours of credit during the winter term only.

The course will deal with the sociological development of religious groups like the Church of the Brethren, Mennonites, etc., which have had rural origins and which are still associated with rural life. Secondly, the course will be concerned with attempts to maintain the rural values of these groups in the industrialized urban society which exists today.

This class is open to anyone, but is especially recommended for those who are interested in the ministry.

Hostess For Foreign Students Duty Of International Hostess

Will you be an International Hostess on Thanksgiving Day? This is the request being made by Mrs. Park Huffman of South Whitley, Whitley county, international hostess chairman, of the Indiana Federation of Clubs.

You can help pave the road to International Understanding by inviting one or several International College students to your home to be your guest for Thanksgiving dinner. If you do wish to entertain those foreign students, who are from Fort Wayne colleges, you are urged to contact Mrs. Park Huffman, of South Whitley, not later than November 20.

President Eisenhower speaking to the World Council of Churches Assembly, on International Affairs, last year in Evanston, Illinois, stated "The campaign for a just and lasting peace desperately needs the lifting and transforming power that comes from men and women, the world over, responding to their highest allegiances and to their best motives."

"I believe that you, members of this World Council of Churches and spiritual leaders of a great world organization together with your brethren of other faiths, can lead the way. The goal should be nothing short of inviting every single person in every single country in the world who believes in the power of a Supreme Being to join in a mighty simultaneous, intense act of faith. The act of faith might take the form of a personal prayer by the hundreds of millions of persons delivered simultaneously and fervenly for the devotion, wisdom, and stamina to work unceasingly for a just and lasting peace."

The national president of the General Federation of Womens clubs, Mrs. Theadore S. Chapman, earnestly hopes for the cooperation of the millions of members in the Federation of Clubs in this country.

You can help pave the road to International Understanding by showing these friends the grass roots of America by interperting the American Way of Life to them.

Report Canned Goods Still Good After Blast

FRENCH LICK, Ind. (UP)—Should an atomic attack come, and you survive, chances are your canned food will still be good eating, a canning official's report indicated today.

George B. Morrill Jr., president of the National Canners Assn., said Thursday atomic bomb tests showed that canned goods recovered after the blast were safe to eat.

Morrill spoke at a meeting of the Indiana Canners Assn.

"The nuclear tests of 25,000 samples of canned food in tin and glass containers, conducted last spring in Nevada, have demonstrated that . . . canned foods are a safe and protective form of food . . . under the new type of warfare of this day and age," Morrill said.

Canned foods about three-fourths of a mile from the atomic blast were found free of radioactivity, he said.

Kefauver Backers Challenge Belief Adlai Commands Lead For PresidentialNomination

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — Backers of Sen. Estes Kefauver today denied that Adlai E. Stevenson is forging a commanding lead for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

A. Bradley Eben, convention manager in Kefauver's unsuccessful bid for the 1952 nomination, said Stevenson's strategists "are trying to create the atmosphere of a stampede."

"He's not nearly as strong as they pretend him to be and I believe he can be caught," Eben said. "that is, if he is in front—nobody has made an effort to catch him yet."

Eben, a Chicago lawyer, was interviewed in a hotel suite engaged as headquarters for the "Kefauver Planning Committee" during the three-day meeting of national Democratic leaders here.

Kefauver and New York Gov. Averell Harriman, another possible candidate for the presidential nomination, both were due to arrive late today for the political doings.

Leaders To Speak

Kefauver, Harriman, Stevenson and former President Truman will address a $100-a-plate dinner meeting Saturday night.

Eben, chairman of the Kefauver committee, said the group was "ready to spring into action when and if" the Tennesseean announces he is a candidate. The lawyer said he expects Kefauver to make his decision known "within 30 days."

He predicted that "If Estes runs for the nomination he will get it, because all elements of the party will ultimately realize, if they are not now aware of it, that he is the candidate who would be the surest to defeat any Republican."

In a one-day meeting Thursday, the national committee ruled out any "loyalty oath" for delegates to next year's nominating convention. It decided to rely on state organizations to send delegates of "good faith" and on existing rules to keep out "notorious people."

The approved set of rules was drawn up by a special committee headed by Stephen A. Mitchell, former national chairman. He made it plain that he considered Gov Allan Shivers of Texas among the "notorious people."

Mitchell Draws Rules

Shivers, who bolted the party ticket in 1952, said in Austin, Tex., that his right to attend the convention will probably be challenged by a "bunch of wild-eyed pinks." He also implied he will support President Eisenhower again if he should seek re-election on the GOP ticket.

The national committee also named three new vice-chairmen, all of them regarded as pro-Stevenson. They are Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, and Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey.

CHICAGO (UP) — Talkative barbers today started a whispering campaign — for a good cause.

Secretary-Treasurer Frank Aliotta said members of the Masters Barbers Association of Chicago have been instructed to whisper into the ears of their customers: "Make every day a safe driving day."

Finemeter

OWOSSO Mich., (UP) — Police officials said today they are working on plans for an automatic "finemeter" for parking violators.

They said overtime parkers will be able to insert their tickets into meters with dollar bills and avoid trips to the station.

Debts

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (UP) — Vernon Moran, a retired Army sergeant, asked for a longer hitch in jail Thursday when a judge sentenced him to 16 months for forgery.

"I could use a little more," Moran said, explaining it would be nice to spend about two years in jail while his Army pension pays off his debts.

Judge Scott McDonald ruled Moran would have to be a good soldier and serve the shorter sentence.

Huffman

moved by the grappling hooks, they were unable to hook securely enough to raise it to the surface. About a half-hour later the grappling hook held by Indiana State Trooper Robert Lane of the Ligonier barracks, raised the body. Lane, together with Trooper Eugene Reese of the barracks, and State Policeman James Lewinski of Churubusco, were dragging the lake from an Indiana State Police boat.

Net Snags; Loses Balance

Huffman lost his life when the boat from which he, his father and Dalton, a local resident, were releasing their net, overturned when the net snagged the rear of the boat. Huffman was standing in the rear of the boat trying to manage the net, when it caught on the boat corner and overturned the craft, throwing the occupants out.

All three wore 'foul weather' gear over their clothing. When the body was recovered this morning it was found that Huffman had succeeded in removing his boots. A hunting vest which he wore carried a number of shells, adding weight to his clothing.

The two who were saved owed their lives to Paul Hoover, resident on the north shore of Big Cedar. He went to their aid with his boat and brought them to shore. Due to being immersed in the 34-degree water, they were hurried to the Whitley County Hospital but were later released after being treated for exposure and shock.

The boat from which the Huffmans and Dalton were netting, started to point down in the water, Bernie Huffman said. However with Dalton's aid he clung to the rear of the boat until Hoover came to their rescue. The younger Huffman, who did not get to grasp the boat, apparently was pulled under by his heavy clothing.

Thorncreek Township Native

Keith E. Huffman was a native of Thorncreek township born on Aug. 22, 1930. He is survived by his wife, Grace; two children, Cathie Lyn, aged 3, and Philip Keith, aged 16 months. Also surviving are the father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Huffman, North Manchester; the stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dalton, Columbia township; and one brother, Jack Huffman now serving with the U.S. Navy.

Huffman was a World War II veteran. He was a member of the Medical Reserve Corps and the IOOF lodge. During the late war he spent 18 months in Berlin.

His marriage to Grace Dalton occurred June 29, 1951. He had spent his entire life in this community except for the two years during which he was in the military service.

His father, until two years ago, was a Whitley county resident. He took employment at the Peabody Seating company plant in North Manchester two years ago and moved his residence to North Manchester.

Fished Off Lake Point

The lake tragedy occurred about 150 feet off the narrows point of Big Cedar lake, west of the lake center. The Hoover home, near the Link boat landing on the north side of the lake, is about 400 feet from the point where the boat overturned.

A stake protruding from the water near the point where they began to play out their net in attempt to catch whitefish, marked the beginning of the dragging operations. Huffman's body was raised from the lake about 20 feet east of the stake.

Portable searchlights aided the searchers last night. Among others who aided in the dragging of the lake bottom Thursday night were Don Zumbrun and State Policeman Norman Pierce.

was estimated at $600 while that to Anderson's car was estimated at $200.

Charges of driving on the wrong side of the road were filed last night by State Policeman Manrow against Deubner. Providing Deubner is able, a hearing on the charge will be conducted Monday by Justice of Peace Ira Webber.

The crash occurred near the Delbert Wrights. The injured were carried to the Wright home from which they later were transported to the hospital here in the Smith and Sons ambulance.

Car Hits Culvert

About 5:30 p.m. Thursday the Chevrolet station wagon of Charles White, local auto license manager, was damaged to the extent of approximately $600 when it struck the steel culvert on the county farm road near the county infirmary. White was driving westbound when the front corner of his vehicle struck the culvert. His car overturned but he escaped with minor injuries. Eugene Gregory, who happened upon the accident, brought White to a local physician's office. From there he was removed in the Hollingsworth ambulance to the Whitley County Hospital for examination.

Restored Sultan Takes Up Formal RelationWithU.S.

When American Envoy Conveys Ike's Greetings

RABAT, Morocco (UP) — Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef takes up formal relations with the United States government today when an American envoy conveys greetings and congratulatios from President Eisenhower.

Ben Youssef, who returned only Wednesday after two years in French - enforced exile, today marked the 28th anniversary of his original ascension to the throne. It was a day of wild rejoicing for Moroccans.

Mr. Eisenhower's message will be delivered to the Sultan by U.S. Minister Julius C. Holmes. Holmes, who is accredited as U.S. "diplomatic agent" to French Morocco, is flying here from his headquarters in Tangier. He will meet also with French Resident General Andre Dubois.

Holmes' visit was regarded here as significant. Earlier this week the Sultan pointedly remarked that the leases of three strategic U.S. air bases in Morocco had been negotiated with the French and not with the Moroccans.

Holmes visited Rabat in the past to confer with the French authorities. But he studiously avoided calling on Mohammed ben Moulay Arafa, who was the sultan during Youssef's exile.

Arafa was put on the throne by the French after they deposed Youssef for his pro - Nationalist sympathies. He bowed out under the French program to restore peace to Morocco and is now living in exile in Tangier.

Security forces took precautionary measures against any possible disorders by jubilant Moroccans celebrating the return of Yousef and the anniversary of "the feast of the throne."

Only two incidents have marred the homecoming celebrations. A regional chief was shot and killed by terrorists at Rhouna, near Rabat, and a Moroccan policeman was beaten in a Casablança sidestreet.

book defending Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

The conservative rebellion against Mr. Eisenhower sparked by Lee, McCarthy, Knowland and others was a political dud after it undertook an organizational meeting in Chicago some months ago. Bozell conceded in his strategy discussion that the anti - Eisenhower movement was embalmed until the President's heart attack achieved a miraculous restoration.

All of the foregoing is evidence of a real party split—as real as the division in the Democratic Party. The Republican breach would close instantly with announcement that Mr. Eisenhower would be a second term candidate. The right wing would fold.

Hall Favors Eisenhower

Governor No. 2 is Fred Hall of Kansas. He told National Republican Club diners in New York this week that the Republican Party is in a bad way for several reasons:

1. Too many Republicans oppose Mr. Eisenhower's philosophy and program.

2. The party is turning away the support of millions of Americans, especially those on the farms and in labor unions.

Hall said it must get in step with the President and realize that there is no longer any vote-appeal in extreme conservatism. The American choice, he said, is not now between conservative and progressive ideas but between progressive ideas and ideas which are far more radical.

Hall said Mr. Eisenhower would lick any opponent put against him if he is a candidate next year. Bozell, for the conservatives, conceded that their movement was alive only because the President was ill. It all adds up to admission from both sides that only Mr. Eisenhower would be a sure bet to win for the Republicans next time.

Steamship Coated With 250 Tons Of Ice

GARY, Ind. (UP)—A Pittsburg steamship was coated with 250 tons of ice when it docked at Gary Thursday.

The ice, formed on the way to the U.S. Steel harbor, was 18 inches thick on the deck. The ship was carrying 17,360 tons of iron ore.

Capt. L.J. Brissette, Bay City, Mich., a veteran of 40 years on the lakes, said winds were stronger than 75 miles an hour and the worst he had seen on Lake Michigan.

Mighty Big

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—A pretty Air Force wife from California has learned that names are confusing and Texas is a mighty big place.

Mrs. Don Weaver, San Jose, Calif., wanted to go to Brownfield in West Texas. When she got off the bus she found out she was in Brownsville at the southern tip of Texas, more than 600 miles away.

Purdue University entomologists warn homeowners to spray plants before moving them indoors for the winter. A good general purpose insecticide such as nicotine, sulphate, or malathion can be used. Use one teaspoonful of nicotine sulphate or two teaspoonsfuls of malathion per gallon of water. A spraying now will prevent pest problems later in the winter.

More Than 250,000 Fans To Turn Out For PCC Team Games

By HAL WOOD
United Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Come rain, snow or high water, more than 250,000 (one quarter of a million, mind you) fans, will turn out for football games involving Pacific Coast Conference teams on Saturday.

Not because there is anything of major importance at stake — but because of a little item called tradition.

The oldest game is at Eugene, Ore., where Oregon and Oregon State tangle for the 59th ime. They'll have 25,000 in the stands.

Then comes California vs Stanford, meeting for the 57th conflict before 90,000 at Stanford.

Of course, Washington and Washington State will be at it for the 48th time before about 35,000.

Bruins Vs Trojans

And then, among the johnny-come-latelys, Southern California tangles with UCLA for the 25th time before 101,000 in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Idaho, the "half-sister" in the conference, steps outside the loop competition for its traditional foe, Montana University, for the 39th time, before about 10,000 fans at Moscow.

UCLA alreaay nas cuncned a tie for the PCC championship — even if it loses to Southern California. On top of that, Coach Red Sanders' club must be considered a cinch to go to the Rose Bowl. The Bruins and their Sam (First Down) Brown have lost only one game this year—to Maryland. They are 10-point favorites to beat the Trojans and if they do they will have undisputed possession of the PCC title for the second year in a row.

Beavers Vs Webfeet

Oregon State has a chance to tie for the crown by beating Oregon, but UCLA already has trounced the Beavers and the Bruins appear the logical choice for the Rose Bowl bid. Southern California would have to upset UCLA to give the Beavers a share in the title.

California, suffering from its worst season in eight years, will be trying to keep a victory string intact against Stanford. The Golden Bears haven't lost a game to the Indians since Pappy Waldorf came to Strawberry Canyon.

Washington is a 15-point favorite to whip a Washington State team that has won only one game all year, while tying two others.

Idaho, winner of only one contest all season, should beat the Montana club that is playing in a slightly lower classification.

Knicks Trounce Pistons 110-88

By UNITED PRESS

The Syracuse Nationals were officially presented with the championship trophy, but the Philadelphia Warriors finally got Tom Gola into the lineup, and that could be a lot more important in the current National Basketball Association race.

The Nats were awarded the trophy symbolic of their win in last year's playoffs before Thursday night's game at Syracuse, in which they rallied to beat Minneapolis, 105-91.

Gola, the former college "Player of the Year" from La Salle College who suffered a broken hand a month before the season started, made his NBA debut by playing 24 minutes in the Warriors' 106-92 victory over Boston at Philadelphia.

Showing little signs of rust after missing the team's first four games, he scored 10 points on three baskets and four free throws, nabbed seven rebounds, and played well defensively.

Joe Graboski took scoring honors for the Warriors with 21 points, although Bill Sharman of Boston took game honors with 23.

The Nationals, trailing 79-77 with nine minutes left, went ahead on two straight baskets by Adolph Schayes and never were headed. Schayes led all scorers with 25 points, 13 of them in pacing that last-period surge. Big Clyde Lovellette of the Lakers was held to his lowest total of the season, 10 points, by the guarding of Earl Lloyd and John Kerr.

In the only other game played Thursday night, the New York Knickerbockers trounced the Fort Wayne Pistons, 110-88, at Syracuse for their fifth win in six starts to lead the Eastern Division. Skinny Ray Felix tallied 24 points and Jim Baechtold 22 for the Knicks, while George Yardley had 22 for Fort Wayne.

Missouri AAU To Hear Santee's Appeal Of Track Suspension

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP) — America's fastest miler will appeal his permanent suspension from AAU sponsored track events here Sunday.

Wes Santee, former University of Kansas ace who has come within a whisker of the four-minute mile on several occasions, will appear in person before the Missouri Valley AAU board of managers if he can find transportation here from his Marine base at Quantico, Va.

Santee's suspension over expenses for his participation in three California track meets last May could wreck his chances to run in the Olympics in Australia next year

If the appeal to the Missouri Valley AAU fails, Santee can appeal to the national AAU at its convention in Louisville, Ky., Dec. 1-4.

Lined up behind the Ashland, Kan., runner were Santee's former coach, Bill Easton of Kansas University, and Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan).

Easton termed the suspension of the cocky star "not a very fair and sportsmanlike proposition," and charged the AAU brought the rule "out of hiding" in the Santee case. He said the circumstances in the Kansas miler's case were not different from "thousands of others" involving top athletes. He blamed track meet promoters for part of the difficulty.

Easton also blamed the AAU, whose amounts for expenses "are not adequate in comparison with present day costs."

Sen. Carlson wired the AAU that his personal investigation of Santee's expense vouchers showed they seemed to be filled out "honestly, completely and correctly."

Pastrano-Rowan 10-Rounder Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Willie (Hot) Pastrano of New Orleans, a former farm boy who became the ring's dancing master and second-ranking light-heavyweight contender, makes his first start as a heavyweight tonight against Joey Rowan of Phoenixville, Pa., at Madison Square Garden.

This nationally televised and broadcast ten-rounder, young Pastrano's New York debut, should provide a test for his future, now that he has outgrown the 175-pound division.

Heavyweight Rowan, 21, is a good puncher who knocked out 13 of his 33 opponents. This year he knocked out Bert Whitehurst in one round and held explosive Bob Satterfield to a draw.

Willie and Irish Joey got special dispensations from the New York Boxing Commission to fight tonight. It permitted Pastrano to schedule a bout for 10 rounds although he will not be 20 years old until Nov. 27.

And it let Rowan sign his own contract for the fight while manager Carmen Graziano was under fire. The Pennsylvania Commission revoked Graziano's license Thursday.

Willie, who hails from New Orleans but now lives in Miami, is favored at 3-1 because of his speed and agility. His left jab and his fancy footwork were primarily responsible for 33 victories in 41 bouts. A comparatively light puncher, he knocked out only eight.

Each will be risking an unbeaten streak tonight — Pastrano 13, and Rowan, nine.

Ray Robinson Works Indoors

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (UP) —Ray Robinson, former middleweight champion who meets current titleholder Carl (Bobo) Olson in a championship bout at Chicago, Dec. 19, will work indoors today and probably will wind up his training here within a week. Robinson said he will fly out to Chicago about 10 days before the bout to finish training there.

John Roberts Leads Field Of 10 Players In Medal Play Tourney

PINEHURST, N.C. (UP) — Defending champion John W. Roberts of Columbus, Ohio, led a field of 10 players today as the 25th annual Southern Seniors Golf championship got underway.

The 54-hole medal play tournament will continue through Sunday.

The 25th anniversary celebration got underway Thursday with a preliminary 18-hole better ball of pair tournament.

C. G. Crockett of Williamston, N.C., and John R. Rice of Buchanan, Va., took low gross honors in the event with a score of 70. R. B. Arthur and T. A. Johnson of Greensboro were low net winners with a score of 63.

Four teams tied at 66 and played off today for the remaining two low net prizes.

Teams which tied were Harvey Olson and Joe C. Osplac kof Detroit; L. W. Ramsey of Newcastle, Ind., and C. R. Steadman of Kingsport, Tenn.; Oliver L. Clarke and W. E. Norville Jr., of Chattanooga; and Morton Bright of Coral Gables, Fla., and Don L. Lambert of St. Louis.

Charley Conerly May See Limited Duty

NEW YORK (UP)—Charley Conerly, the New York Giants' No. 1 quarterback, may see only limited duty against the Philadelphia Eagles Sunday because of a charley horse high up on his right thigh. Conerly has been taking treatments all week but the leg still has not loosened up. If he is unable to start, then the signal-calling assignment will go to Don Heinrich.

FCA Has No New Rule Changes In Mind

NEW YORK (UP) — The Football Coaches Association rules committee has "no new rule changes in mind" and feels that the present code "is as good as we could hope to have," Lou Little of Columbia, the committee chairman, reported Thursday.

Little said there has been little agitation for any changes in the rules of football this season.

Perhaps the biggest demand for any rules action, he said, has been for the placing of a curb on false starts, more commonly known as the "sucker shift."

The more liberal substitution rule adopted before the present season is "universally liked," Little said.

Little said there was only a smattering of agitation for a return to the two - platoon system, placing the goal posts on the goal lines and for permitting players to run with opponents' fumble recoveries. But he said these rules were not likely to be adopted.

GARY, Ind. (UP) — Reece (Goose) Tatum, the former star clown of the Harlem Globe Trotters basketball team, is in trouble with the law over $7,000 in alimony he allegedly owes his ex-wife.

Tatum spent the night in jail here Wednesday night after playing with the Harlem Magicians in South Bend. He appeared in court Thursday and was released on $5,000 bond for reappearance Feb. 20. Judge Anthony Roszkowski also ordered Tatum to pay his divorced wife, Nona, of Gary, $60 a week pending final action.

Tatum, confronted with photographers, grinned and talked basketball.

Good And Bad News On Balance Sheet

By CHARLES M. MCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef of Morocco returned in triumph after two years' banishment by France. He was ousted because of his pro-nationalist leanings. Now he is prepared to cooperate in a program of home rule. Morocco now has its own government and France has promised to build it up economically and modernize it.

2. Agreement seemed nearing on admission to the United Nations of countries long denied membership as the result of disputes between West and East. Italy, Japan, Spain and Austria are included. The one remaining stumbling block, among 18 applicants, was Outer Mongolia. The United States objected strongly to its admission, on the ground that it is not a nation but a Soviet satellite created by the Kremlin from an area which really belongs to China.

3. The United States was reported to be considering a big loan to India as a means of defeating Soviet Russia's determined campaign of penetration. It would be a loan, not a gift.

The Bad

1. The "spirit of Geneva," born last July at the meeting of the Big Four heads of government, died at the Big Four foreign ministers' conference which grew out of it. The foreign ministers failed to reach agreement on any of the issues referred to them by President Eisenhower and his fellow "summit" leaders. These issues were European security and German reunification, disarmament and development of friendly contacts between West and East.

2. Israel rejected a British offer of mediation in the dangerous Palestine dispute because it implied territorial concessions to the Arab countries. Israel at the same time asked the United States to sell it weapons to offset those Egypt is buying from Communist Czechoslovakia.

3. The situation in Argentina, in the wake of the overthrow of dictator Juan D. Peron, became troubled. Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi was forced out of office by his fellow army leaders. The labor unions, which had supported Peron, called a general strike which was really a revolt against the government. It was only partly effective. But the government seized the headquarters of th General Confedration of Labor and arrested hundreds of union leaders.

In spite of the millions of dollars spent by the U.S. in exploring the Antarctic continent, no move has ever been made to caim any portion of Antarctica.

Around The Clock: Around The World!

BONN, Germany (UP)—A West German Socialist leader today demanded direct negotiations with Communist Eest Germany to promote reunification of the divided direct negotiations with Communist Eest Germany to promote reunification of the divided nation.

Carlo Schmid, Socialist foreign policy expert, accompanied Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to Moscow in September. As foreign affairs spokesman for West Germany's second largest party, his statement emphasized the widening gap among the parties here following the failure of the Geneva foreign ministers conference.

Even the Paris agreements linking the Federal Republic to Western defense must be reconsidered if reunification is to be achieved, the Socialist deputy said in a radio speech.

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UP) —Labor and management representatives worked today to avoid the first major strike in the vital Ruhr iron and steel producing industry in 28 years.

Negotiators failed Thursday night to settle their differences in a five-hour mediation session. But union leaders representing 165,000 workers postponed until Monday a final decision on whether to call a strike.

PARIS (UP) — Pierre Danjon, Paris observatory director, said today the "flying saucer" which swept across French skies Thursday was actually a meteor, "but what a meteor."

"It was without doubt the most magnificent aerolite I have ever seen in all my career," he said. Appearence of the meteor started rumors that a flying saucer had sped across the sky.

"It was a wonderful color of emerald green and extremely bright," Danjon said.

BREMERHAVEN, Germany (UP) — A navy petty officer who gave up a good assignment and his present and future leave time to adopt a German child was on his way home to the United States with his family today.

Chief Aviation Machinist's Mate Benjamin Brown of San Isidro, Calif., his wife Joan and their nine-month-old adopted son, Christopher, boarded the naval transport General Hodges Thursday.

The Browns, childless in 10 years of marriage, spent their time in Frankfurt going through the adoption process. Brown used up 67 days of leave time, including 37 days of time borrowed from the end of his next hitch.

Rome (UP)—Education Minister Paolo Rossi leaves Sunday for an official visit to the United States which Rome newspapers hailed as further evidence of Italy's growing pretige in America.

The visit was arranged by the U.S. State Department and the Boston "Salute to Rome" committee.

Rossi, 55, will fly to New York and proceed immediately to Washington talks with U.S. administration officials and leaders of cultural life.

Air Force Hires Scientists For Voice Experiment

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP) — Scientific tests have put people who talk through their noses and people who can't talk through their noses in the same boat. They're both very hard to understand and ought to be barred from taking part in important voice communications.

Three scientists of Ohio State University had been hired by the Air Force to do the experimenting. The Air Force naturally is interested in giving its radio voice communications the greatest possible clarity.

The normal voice produces speech by using "a series of coupled resonators"—namely, the cavities of the mouth, the nose, the larynx, and the pharynx, said Henry M. Moser, John J. Dreher, and Sol Adler. Not one can be short-circuited out of the coupling without muddying speech.

Heavy Head Cold

They were particularly emphatic about the person who can't use his nasal cavity as one of his resonators for his words because he has a heavy cold.

Nose-talking is all right and even required by some languages other than English, particularly French. It seems to thin out speech, they said, but they weren't concerned with that. Their concern was intelligibility, and nose-talking definitely is "detrimental" to it.

They took six Americans who speak either "eastern" or "general American" dialects and had them record long lists of two-digit numbers. Some of these speakers were nose-talkers, some used all their resonators in proper balance—and some had head colds.

Their recordings were re-recorded, mixed in with carfully controlled amounts of meaningless noise. Then 11 students at Ohio State University who had had some training in distinguishing among noises heard altogether were clamped with headphones and asked to tell what the speakers were saying.

Milder Noise Levels

By and large, the nose-talker was even less intelligible than the speaker with the head cold, except at the milder noise levels.

They acknowledged that scientists are not in agreement on what effect "hypernasility" has upon the intelligibility of speech.

Nor do scientists agree on what "hyponasility"—too little nose resonance—does to intelligibility. The Ohio scientists were trying to settle these disagreements but they emphasized that their findings applied to two-digit numbers, since two-digit numbers were all they experimented with.

Horticulturists at Purdue University advise home gardeners to clean, rust proof, and store garden tools for the winter. Insecticides, fertilizer, and garden seed should be stored safely to prevent loss.

Missionary, Recently Released From Red China Prison, Writes Her Version Of Ordeal

Editor's note: Dorothy Middleton, a 42-year-old independent missionary is one of the American women recently released by the Chinese Communists after years of imprisonment. For almost four years Miss Middleton was confined on a second floor without being permitted to set foot on the ground outside or look out of a window. The following is her own version of the ordeal.

By DOROTHY MIDDLETON
Written for UNITED PRESS

BRISTOL, Wis. (UP) — I was born in Mallard, Iowa, May 14, 1913. I was graduated from the Spirit Lake, Iowa, High School in 1932 and from Northwestern Bible School in 1940. The Lord had called me to serve him in China soon after my conversion at 12 years of age.

I went to work with the Rev. and Mrs. Warren Winters in the leprosarium and orphanage in Kwangtung, China, in 1947.

Early in 1951 soldiers appeared at the orphanage. Mrs. Winter, two of their Chinese adopted daughters and I were forced to go to Linhsien. We were placed in the hospital along with other foreigners and Chinese workers of the hospital. The Rev. Winter had been placed in jail 10 days before.

On April 29, I was allowed to go back to Saamkong to pack up some clothes and bedding. I said goodby to the twin Chinese girls whom I had taken from a foundling home when they were 2 days old and who were as dear to me as if they were my own. On April 30, Dr. and Mrs. Homer Bradshaw, Miss Sarah Perkins and I were taken to Kukkong. Mrs. Winter had been taken to Canton earlier.

In Solitary Confinement

We spent nine months in this jail. We were locked in separate rooms but were allowed to talk to each other. Miss Perkins encouraged us by helping us memorize Psalm 46 a verse of which says, "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."

His word is true. I have proved it.

On Jan. 19, 1952, we were taken to Canton and put in the women's section of the penitentiary, which was on the second floor. For three years and eight months I did not get down to the ground. My room was 6 feet by 11 feet and there were three Chinese with me in this room.

Our bedoards were laid on the floor. We were given one sawhorse to stand on so we could close the window in case of rain. The door was bolted and we were not to look out the window or the little openings in the door.

As time went on the Chinese were moved out and I was in solitary confinement. From time to time I would have a Chinese girl with me for a short time.

My first questioning was on May 1, 1952. I was told that I was a spy and the usual punishment for a spy was death, but if I would confess, the government would be lenient with me and forgive me. If I did not confess I would get life imprisonment.

Memorized New Testment

They questioned me several times in the next few months. Each time I was sent back to my cell and told to think it over and change my mind. I was given Communist literature to help me do this.

In April, 1954, I asked for and received my New Testament. After that I spent many hours reading and memorizing the most precious book in the world.

On Sept. 11, 1955, I was taken to court for trial. The only question I was asked was my name, age and occupation. Different officials then read statements in Chinese charging me with inefficiency in my work. On the 19th an official came and told me to pack. On the 20th Miss Perkins and I were escorted to the border.

Free—what a glorious word! What a wonderful feeling!

I had been afraid to write my family all the time I was in prison for fear the Communists would convert it to propaganda. The first they heard of me was when the United Press in Chicago called at midnight with news of my impending release, even before I knew about it.

Russia Continues To Funnel Arms Into Middle East

Despite Warnings By United States

WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia is going ahead with its campaign of funneling arms into the Middle East despite U.S. warnings and it may lead to a new war, diplomatic reports said today.

Informed sources said Secretary of State John Foster Dulles tried but failed to win from Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov a commitment to stop future arms shipments into the explosive Middle East.

Informed sources said Molotov made no promises to stop the shipments. Instead, the poker-faced old diplomat told Dulles the Czech deal was purely commercial with no political motivation and that he did not expect it to lead to trouble.

The Arab world continued its intensive campaign to bar Israel from getting arms or a security guarantee from the United States. Syrian Ambassador Farid Zeineddine warned the United States Thursday that an American security guarantee to Israel could lead to war in the Middle East.

Israel is seeking both weapons and a formal security guarantee from the United States on grounds they are needed to safeguard her from her Arab enemies.

The United States is reluctant to agree to the security arrangement. It feels Israel is adequately protected now by the 1950 U.S.-British-French declaration which pledges action to prevent threatened border violations.

The United States however, is considering a list of arms Israel wants to buy at bargain prices. If the United States decides the sale is wise, it could make it easy for Israel to finance the transaction.

Informed sources believe no decision will be forthcoming on the Israeli request until after Christmas.

ing the explosives that ripped the plane apart in flight and set it hurtling to the ground.

Reconstructed parts of the blast-torn plane will be used in Graham's murder trial. He allegedly admitted dynamiting the airliner to collect $37,500 insurance money on his mother.

Graham, who was granted an 11-day stay of arraignment Thursday to secure "adequate counsel," was calm and confident when he appeared before District Judge James M. Nolan of Durango.

Graham, asked Judge Noland for a 30-day stay of arraignment but his request was promptly turned down.

Late Thursday, district attorney Bert Keating disclosed that he was virtually certain Mrs. King had signed the $37,500 insurance policy and made her son the beneficiary.

The district attorney said Mutual of Omaha, which owned the vending machine from which Mrs. King's policies were purchased, sent him six policy forms. Two of them, he said, were blank; one apparently was signed by Mrs. King and made out for the $37,500; another was made for the same amount but not signed by Mrs. King, and two were made out to Mrs. King's sister, Mrs. Helen Smith of St. Genevieve, Mo., and to her daughter, Mrs. Helen Hablutzel of Anchorage, Alaska.

Keating said the company would not pay off on the policies made out to Graham, and had not decided whether to honor the ones made out to the sister and daughter.

The craft hit two trees and then crashed into the dwelling. An unidentified woman rushed into the house and single-handedly saved three children, according to sheriff's deputies.

The two children and their father aboard the plane were also among the survivors.

Dr. Jonas Salk Named Man Of The Year By News Executives

NEW YORK (UP)—The nation's radio news executives have named Dr. Jonas Salk as the man of the year. Princess Margaret was voted the most newsworthy woman of the year.

They made their selections in a poll conducted by United Press among its almost 1,700 radio news wire clients.

President Eisenhower, who has won the poll in three previous years, ran Dr. Salk a close second. Konrad Adenauer was third and Adlai Stevenson fourth.

Princess Margaret dominated the field in the voting in the women's field. Clare Boothe Luce, the U.S. Ambassador to Italy, was second with one-sixth the votes olled by Margaret. Mrs. Eisenhower, who won the poll two years ago, was third.

Sizeable votes also were polled by Oveta Culp Hobby, former secretary of health, education and welfare; Florence Chadwick, who established a new channel swim record during the year, and Academy Award winner Grace Kelly.

One news editor voted for Hurricane Connie.

Rash Of Plane Crashes Comes On Heels Of 2 Major Air Disasters

By UNITED PRESS

A rash of plane crashes came on the heels of two major air disasters and it was feared today that at least 45 persons had been killed in a space of 24 hours.

The known dead included 27 persons who perished in the crash of a non-scheduled DC4 at Seattle, Wash., Friday and three persons who were killed when a $25,000 private plane went down later near Greenville, Tex.

Those feared dead were 14 persons aboard an Air Force transport which crashed into jagged Mt. Charleston in Nevada and the pilot of an F86 jet which smashed and burned near Newark, Ohio, Friday night.

Meanwhile, a large unidentified plane was reported in distress Friday night over mountainous country near Mt. Holly Springs, Pa. There was no report of a crash but the area is sparsely populated and it was feared the plane might have been a passenger-carrying airliner.

Stormy weather played a key role in all of the smashups. A light snowstorm was in progress when the DC4 crashed at Seattle and officials said the pilot of the ill-fated Air Force transport apparently lost his bearings in another snowstorm when his plane cracked up Thursday.

A snowstorm was also racing at Newark when two jet planes crashed, although the pilot of one parachuted safely. In Texas, the private plane crash was tentatively blamed on icing.

Twelve Major Disasters

The Seattle smashup brought to 383 the number of persons who have been killed in 12 major air disasters this year. In addition, the Civil Aeronautics Board said that the 191 persons who have been killed in domestic airline crashes since July 1 is greater than the total registered in any of the past three years.

Survivors of the Seattle tragedy said it was a "miracle" that any of the 74 persons escaped. The plane, carrying 66 homeward-bound soldiers, crashed and exploded within a minute after taking off from an icy runway. Twenty-six of the soldiers were numbered among the victims.

The cause of the smashup was not yet determined, but survivors said one of the engines "started to scream" just before the plane went down.

In Nevada, an Arctic rescue squad, clambering over Mt. Charleston's jagged rocks, got to within three miles of the downed air transport before bedding in for the night.

But the squad messaged back that icy winds and snow were holding it up and it would be another two days before it could reach the

Blast Demolishes Sigma Chi House OnButlerCampus

Student Pinned In Wreckage For Nearly Two Hours

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — An explosion demolished the Sigma Chi fraternity house on the Butler University campus here today, injuring five students and pinning one of them in the wreckage for early two hours.

Hoagland Elliott, 20, Indianapolis, was trapped beneath a pile of debris and taken to a hospital suffering only from severe bruises.

The other injured were treatd at a hospital and released. They were identified as John Rouse, Carmel; Thomas Kahn, Cleveland, Ohio; Richard Owens, Chicago, and John Harrell, Unionville.

An undetermined number of other fraternity members, students and guests were in a third-floor dormitory when the blast shook the $100,000 building. They were unhurt.

Among them was Ray Craft, a star member of the Milan High School 1954 state championship basketball team.

Cause of the explosion was sought. Fraternity members said a new hot water heater was installed Friday and gas company workers who investigated a complaint later in the day that there was no hot water found a defective switch.

Elliott was pinned beneath a chest of drawers which firemen said shielded him from other wreckage. The explosion hurled drapes, clothing and other furnishings into trees and wires near the house.

President Rests At Gettysburg From Hard Week

Neighbors Mark Anniversary Of Gettysburg Address

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower, resting from his hardest work week since his Sept 24 heart attack, spent a quiet Saturday today in the company of congenial friends.

Many of his neighbors marked the day— the 92nd anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address— by going to the nearby Civil War battlefield to hear Lincoln's address repeated from the very spot where he delivered it.

Hardly two miles away, on the fringe of the historic battlefield, the President rested. With him were several friends, including Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, an old and intimate friend who succeeded Mr. Eisenhower as chief of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe.

Gruenther, a famed bridge player, had hardly arrived at the President's farm Friday before he and Mr. Eisenhower, himself a talented bridged player, dug up a deck of cards and began a game.

It was the first time Mr. Eisenhower had played bridge since he was stricken on his vacation in

Pat Munroe Asks Congress To Ban Barriers

On News About Our Government Agencies

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)— Capital correspondent Pat Munroe told Congress today it should tear down its own news barrier before assailing secrecy in the government's executive agencies.

"I submit that members of Congress should clean up their own mess first," said Munroe, correspondent for a number of newspapers and chairman or a self-governing committee of newsmen accredited to the congressional press galleries.

Munroe filed his statement for inclusion in the printed record of recent hearings by a House subcommittee investigating complaints that government agencies sometimes bottle up news.

William K. Hutchinson, chief of the Washington Bureau of the International News Service, told the subcommittee INS recommends establishment of an impartial council to set standards for official restrictions on government news.

Statement For Record

Hutchinson, in a statement for the subcommittee's record, said his news agency does not believe the question of what is to be kept secret can be left in peacetime entirely to the government's discrtion.

"The danger seems evident that if agencies and representatives of decision on what may or may not be published, this right of decision may be abused, intentionally or otherwise, for political or private reasons," Hutchinson said.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif), has taken the position it has no jurisdiction to investigate news restrictions by Congress. It was set up specifically to invetigate information policies of the executive agencies.

Munroe, filing with the subcommittee a statement prepared for delivery earlier before a journalism group at the University of North Carolina, maintained however that Congress sets the pace for the executive agencies.

Correction Before Criticism

"If Congress corrects its own failings in this field of news, then it will be in a position to criticize the bureaucrat who may want to cover up," Munroe aserted.

As an example of the congressional cover-up Munroe cited secrecy which he said surrounds details of official junketing by Members of Congress.

He also criticized the handling of congressional payrolls. Senate payrolls are not made public, he said.

Two American Priests Set Free By Red China

Held In Solitary Confinement 2 Years

it.

By WENDELL MERICK
United Press Staff Correspondent

HONG KONG (UP)—Two American priests charged with spying and held in solitary confinement for two years by the Chinese Communists were set free today.

The Rev. Marcellus White of (4 Bemis Ave.) Waltham, Mass., broke under the strain of his long confinement and wept for joy as he and the Rev. Martin Vincent Garvey of (1901 West St.) Union City, N.J. crossed the border to freedom.

Release of the two Roman Catholic priests of the Passionist Order brought to 22 the number of Americans freed from Red China since talks between U.S. and Communist Chinese envoys started at Geneva last Aug. 1. At least 15 others still are held.

Both described their "trials" last Oct. 29 as a "mockery" of justice. Garvey said the Reds charged him with resisting the revolution, cooperating with the Nationalists and spying, and threatened to execute him if he did not confess.

Accused Of Passing Information

White said he was accused of passing economic and military information to other priests.

The Reds also had promised to release Mrs. Homer V. Bradshaw of (156 5th Ave.) New York, wife of a Presbyterian missionary also in Red China, but she did not appear at the border today.

The two priests said they did not see her on the train that brought them from Canton to the border. Mrs. Laura Lau, American wife of a Chinese missionary who was freed last week, said Mrs. Bradhaw was very ill and "barely alive" when he left.

White and Garvey appeared in reasonably good health although thin and pale from their long imprisonment. They were greeted at the border by U.S. ice VConsul Robert Aylward, Father Anthony Moloney and British officials.

White said he was arrested in 1952 and kept in prison until he was finally tried last Oct. 29. He said he was sentenced to four years and released in advance for "good conduct."

Arrested In 1952

Garvey said he was arrested in 1951 and "told my crime was so serious I could be executed and if I did not confess I would be sent to Peiping and an instrument would be applied."

He did not elaborate but he apparently meant his head would have been cut off.

Garvey was tried the same day as White, sentenced to five years and let off for good behavior.

They said the Reds claimed the FBI and the U.S. State Department had trained them for spy work.

The priests said they had been held in the same prison in cells about 50 feet apart but had not seen each other until Thursday. They will stay at the Maryknoll Mission in Hong Kong until they leave for the United States.

Was A Former Mayor Of Columbia City

Frank Meitzler
(during term as Mayor)

Frank Meitzler, 82, retired Columbia City druggist and former mayor, died at 5:50 Friday afternoon at the Whitley County Hospital following a second severe heart attack. Mr. Meitzler has been in failing health since 1940 when it was first discovered that he was having trouble with his heart, and during the past year his health failed more rapidly. Early Friday morning he suffered a severe heart attack which was followed by a second one at approixmately 11:00 a.m. He was taken by ambulance to the hospital but failed to rally.

He was a native and life-long resident of Columbia City, and was born January 31, 1873, a son of William and Elizabeth Desheimmer Meitzler. No End In Sight To Westinghouse Month-Old Strike

No Date Set For Resuming Talks

NEW YORK (UP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers resumed their "propaganda war" today with still no end in sight to a month-old strike of 44,000 Westinghouse workers.

A seven-day attempt to end the strike by negotiating on the "neutral ground" of New York ended in failure Friday night and no date was set for the resumption of company-union talks. The two sides had agreed to refrain from public comment during the week of talks in New York.

Union President James B. Carey charged that "Westinghouse Vice President Robert Blasier said he would have to go to Pittsburgh to see what problems he has there, but he does not know if there are any problems and he does not know how long the problems he finds, if any, will delay the meeting."

Wanted Talks To Continue

The union, which said it wanted to continue meeting in New York daily until a settlement is reached charged Westinghouse with stalling.

Blasier said that "after two months of negotiations and one month of strike, the IUE-CIO leaders still have not even discussed or considered the five-year wage and benefit offer by Westinghouse in the union-management negotiating sessions."

Westinghouse said its five-year contract offer was "equal in value" to a five-year settlement the union recently reached with Genral Electric Corp. but the union termed the Westinghouse offer "inferior."

Company Levels Charges

The company said the union is trying to limit its "right to make time studies."

Federal Mediator John Murray, who led the week-long talks, said no agreement was reached and no plans had been made for the time or place of anothe rmeeting. He said the question of another meeting would be "discussed next Monday."

The union went on strike at 30 plants Oct. 17. It has rejected a proposed contract providing graduated increases totaling a minimum of 23½ cents an hour. Present average wages are $2.10 an hour.

Plants affected are located in Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Maryland and California.

Professor Thomas McCraken of Loyola University also addressed the group, during the seminar session. His subject was about partnership taxes.

Season's First Blanket Of Snow Covers Indiana

Closes Unique Weather Week

By UNITED PRESS

The season's first blanket of snow, ranging in depth up to five inches, covered Indiana from head to toe today.

The snowstorm came as one of Hoosierland's most unique weather weeks closed after hail and high water, flood, tornadoes and gales which caused at least five deaths.

Five inches of snow was on the ground at Knightstown and Wabash.

The snow piled up to a depth of four and one-half inches, unofficially, at Lafayette, four inches in the Chicago area and three inches at Indianapolis, South Bend and Fort Wayne by daybreak.

Hazardous driving conditions were created on highways and streets. But predictions of the weather bureau called for temperatures to warm up to a little above freezing today and the 40s Sunday, promising a quick end to slippery and slushy motoring.

This was a week of extremes. Last Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the mercury swept into the 80s and high 70s throughout the state, breaking November records and spawning fierce storms which were blamed for three deaths.

Tornadoes hit in several communities and gales and violent thunderstorms in others, damaging more than 150 homes and injuring a score of persons. Rainfall poured up to five inches of precipitation on many areas and caused flash floods that damaged roperty to the tune of hundreds of thousands of dollars and forced many families to flee rising waters which inundated their homes.

Less than 48 hours later, the mercury dipped only a dozen or so degrees above zero and at least two persons died from exposure.

The snow began falling Friday night, gently covering the countryside as temperatures hovered a degree or two below freezing. It was expected to change to rain in the southern two-thirds of the state by afternoon and taper off by nightfall.

Dulles Relays Ike's Message To The World

Answer To Failure At Geneva Conference

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) —President Eisenhower assured the world Friday night that "no setback, no obstacle" will deter the United States from striving for the "shining goal of peace."

This was the President's answer to the failure of the Geneva foreign ministers conference to settle outstanding differences between the West and Russia.

Mr. Eisenhower's message was relayed to the American people and to the world by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in a nationwide radio-TV report on the Geneva meeting.

Dulles blamed Russia point-blank for the fact that "no positive results were achieved" at Geneva. He said this lack of achievement means that the "cold war in the sense of peaceful competition between East and West will inevitably go on."

Dulles said Mr. Eisenhower fully endorsed his evaluation of the Geneva talks. The President, meeting with Dulle in Gettysburg Friday, went over the secretary's speech in advance word by word, making some penciled changes.

President Turned To Dulles

Dulles said that as he left the President, Mr. Eisenhower turned to him and said:

"I know that no setback, no obstacle to progress will ever deter this government and our people from the great effort to establish a just and durable peace.

"Success may be long in coming,

Stevenson, Kefauver, Harriman To Address $100-A-Plate Fund-Raising Dinner Tonight

B TOMy NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHIAGO (UP)— Adlai E. Stevenson makes his first speech as a candidate for the presidency tonight before 2,500 of the nation's top Democrats.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York— the men most likley to give Stevenson a fight for the presidential nomination— will also address the $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the International Amphitheater.

Former President Truman was another speaker. But Stevenson, the first avowed presidential candidate in either party, was the star attraction.

His aides predicted his speech would set the tone of his campaign and prove to the top brass of his party that he is a fighting candidate.

Stevenson will probably repeat attacks he has already made on the Eisenhower administration, including charges of bluff and indecision in foreign policy ad inability to stop falling farm prices at home.

However, his aides said, the tone of the 1952 candidate's attack will be far sharper now that he is off and running for the White House again.

The big meeting tonight is the climax of a four-day pow-wow of top Democratic leaders.

Stevenson grabbed the spotlight even before the meetings began by announcing his candidacy Tuesday. Talk of his camping plans and of his possible strength a a candidate dominated the subsequent meetings of the Democratic National Committee.

Kefauver and Harriman got into the act when they arrived late Friday, with the Tennessean promptly charging that the national committee has "tried to help" Stevenson.

The alleged assistance occurred "sometime in the summertime," when the national committee sent telegrams signed by Stevenson and urging party leaders to work hard, Kefauver charged.

Kefauver Doubts Propriety

"I'm not complaining about it, I just don't think it's proper," he

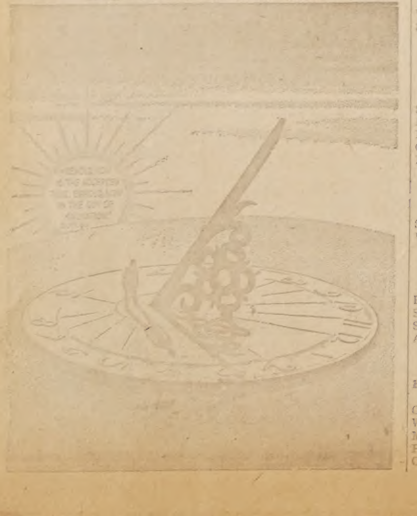
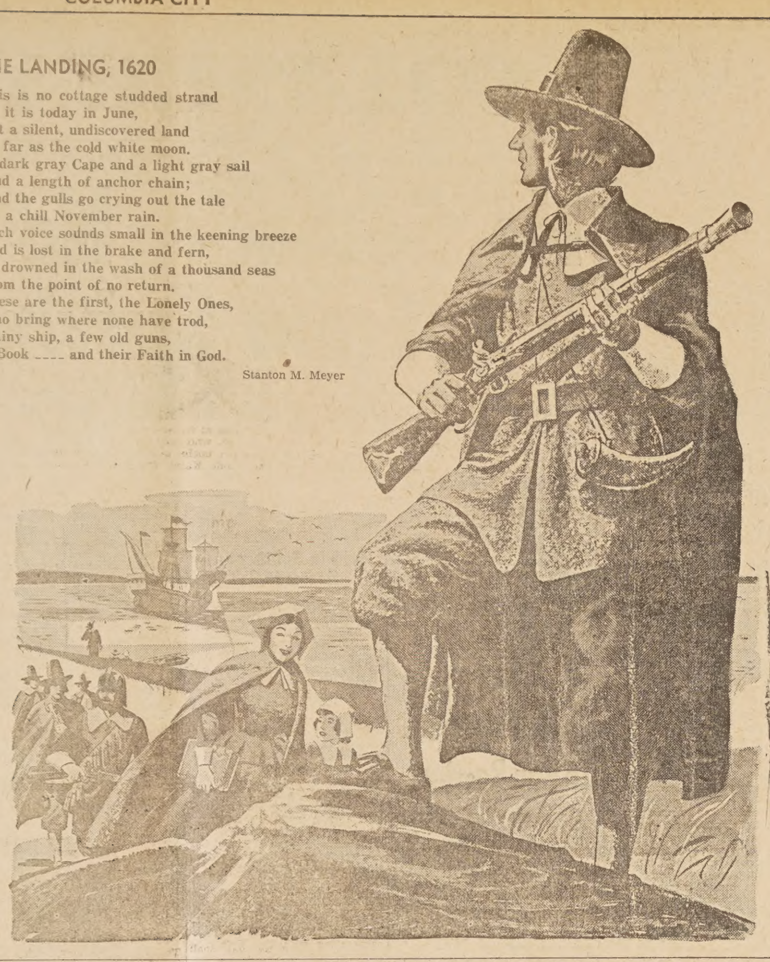
"WHILE IT IS DAY: THE NIGHT COMETH..." JOHN 9:4





THE LANDING, 1620

This is no cottage studded strand
As it is today in June,
But a silent, undiscovered land
As far as the cold white moon.
A dark gray Cape and a light gray sail
And a length of anchor chain;
And the gulls go crying out the tale
To a chill November rain.
Each voice sounds small in the keening breeze
And is lost in the brake and fern,
Or drowned in the wash of a thousand seas
From the point of no return.
These are the first, the Lonely Ones,
Who bring where none have trod,
A tiny ship, a few old guns,
A Book ---- and their Faith in God.

Thanksgiving

By CLARENCE HAWKES
The Blind Poet of Hadley, Mass.
(Written for United Press)

In opulence we meet this year;
Our Lord has blessed the land
And gathered round the board of cheer
With bow'd heads let us stand.
Amidst our blessings let us see
That there is food for all
And gratitude in every way
Abide with us Thanksgiving Day.

We voice Thy praise and give Thee love
For all Thy blessings from above;
For life and home and native land
And all for which our people stand.
We thank Thee, Lord, that through the year
With all its hardships and its fear,
You helped, O Lord, show us the way;
We thank Thee for Thanksgiving Day.

Our fathers' God and God of ours,
God of the grain, the fruit and flowers;
God of the summer and the spring
Who taught our hearts like birds to sing,
We thank Thee, God, at this great feast
For care of man and bird and beast.
So we today with thoughts sublime
Give praise to Him, Thanksgiving time.

Churches Join In Nation's Thanksgiving Share-Our-Surplus

NEW YORK — Sharing their spirit of Thanksgiving with all the world, millions of Protestant Americans of all denominations will join in individual church and community observances during Thanksgiving Week in nationwide demonstration of their gratitude to God for his blessings and for their privilege of sharing their abundance with hungry and destitute peoples in other lands.

Dedicated to the Share-Our-Surplus program of major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations, through which great stores of our national stocks of surplus food are distributed free to needy peoples abroad, these special Thanksgiving Season services will unite millions of Americans in great cities and lowly villages in simultaneous witness of Christian love and the brotherhood of man.

A National Capital Service of Thanksgiving at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in Washington, D.C. Sunday will springboard the Thanksgiving Season observances.

Thanksgiving Day Pilgrims, Indians Sat Down Together; Festivities Lasted For Days

NEW YORK (UP) — The first Thanksgiving Day, when the Pilgrims and the Indians sat down at Plymouth to a feast of wild turkey and the fruits of a good harvest, wasn't really a Thanksgiving.

Acutally it wasn't even a day — the affair lasted a week by some accounts, three days by others.

With a good harvest in the fall of 1621, Gov. William Bradford called for a "Day of Festival" but without mentioning thanksgiving. According to the historian, H. S. J. Sickel, the "day" expanded spontaneously into a "week of feasting and revelry, not religious in character."

Even though it was not so designated, the first Pilgrim festival in America actually was a feast of Thanksgiving. During the previous winter half the colonists had died and the rest had existed during the summer on semi-starvation rations. Then, as Edward Winslow wrote to a friend in England, the Pilgrims found in autumn:

"Our corne did prouve well and God be praysed we had a good increase of Indian corne, and our Barly indifferent good, but our Pease not worth the gathering."

Plenty of Indians

To prepare for the festival, Gov. Bradford sent four men on a fowling expedition which was highly successful—and a good thing, too, because King Massassoit turned up for the feast with 90 braves, instead of the few the Pilgrims had expected when they invited him. However, the Indians did a little hunting on their own and contributed five deer to the occasion. So the 55 Pilgrims and the 90 Indians sat down to a real feast.

On the menu were turkeys, ducks, geese, venison, lobster, eels, clams, oysters and fish. For beverages they had the Pilgrims' first wine, made from New England grapes, and beer, which has been described as the Pilgrims' 'almost universal beverage." They had, in fact, brought beer with them on the Mayflower. John Alden, who later married Priscilla, was brought along as a barrelmaker.

The Indians taught them to make popcorn balls by shaking the corn over a fire in earthen jars and then pouring maple syrup over the popped kernels. Indian pudding — cornmeal and molasses boiled in a bag— is still a favored New England dessert.

After a couple of days of feasting the affair took on some of the aspects of a Fourth of July celetration, what with Captain Miles Standish marching his soldiers up and down and firing blank volleys to the amazement of the Indians, who also were intrigued by the Pilgrims' bugles.

Idea Spread

Other festivals followed in later years and the idea spread through other colonies but they were all celebrations of an informal nature. It was not until 1676 — 56 years after the "first Thanksgiving" — that a formal proclamation was issued by the Council of Charlestown, Mass., to set aside a day for public thanksgiving—and that day was not in November but June 29.

George Washington proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 26, a Thanksgiving Day in 1789 and issued another Thanksgiving proclamation in 1795 but that was followed by a long gap until President James Madison set apart a day of Thanksgiving at the close of the War of 1812.

Not until Abraham Lincoln appointed the fourth Thursday of November, 1864, as a day of Thanksgiving did it become an annual national holiday. Up to that time some Southern states had opposed observance of such a day on the ground that it was a relic of Puritan bigotry.

Jesus and the Gospel

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

JUST before I began to write today I had been reading in the New York Times Book Review an article about the scrolls discovered in recent years in the caves of the Dead Sea. The scrolls date from 200 B C. They relate to the Essenes, an ascetic Jewish group, concerning which there has always been much speculation about any connection with the life and teaching of Jesus.

I recall much discussion of this in my student days, and I formed then a strong impression that the strict asceticism and ritual of the Essenes had little to do with the attitude and teaching of Jesus.

For Jesus, decidedly, was not an ascetic. If he commended and exemplified a strict and exacting rule of life, it was a rule based and founded in love, the love of God, and brotherly love. He described himself as having "come eating and drinking" (Luke 7:34); He mingled freely with the "common people," who heard Him gladly; He attended a wedding feast, and was entertained in homes. As for ritual and strict observance that had no moral or spiritual reality, He said that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

The article to which I have referred is an extensive review by Frank M. Cross, Jr., of McCormack Theological Seminary, of Edmund Wilson's book, The Scrolls From the Dead Sea. Both author and reviewer are agreed that the scrolls have deep importance in relation to both the Old and New Testaments, but they are obviously in disagreement as to the significance of the scrolls.

At this point I leave the matter to the scholars, but I am disposed to suggest what seems to me a plain, practical, if somewhat simplified view of Jesus and the Gospel. I confess that I'm blessed, or cursed, with a very nonspeculative mind. I take much in hope and trust.

My strong, practical faith is in the Jesus of the teachings and the Parables—especially the Parables which elucidate the teachnig. In them is contained the very essence of the Gospel, as in the Parable of the Prodigal Son, the Parable of the Lost Piece of Silver, the Lost Sheep, etc.

It may be that there are sources, and parallels, of the Parables of Jesus of which I am not aware. But I have always supposed that these were the simple and original revelations of Jesus Himself, with no source from Essenes or any other sect. However, the profound influence of the highest teaching of the Old Testament is obvious in the New, and in all that Jesus taught.

With profound admiration for St. Paul, moreover, I am disposed to set his prayers, doxologies, and the Thirteenth of First Corinthians, over against the discussions and arguments that have led to such discussions and arguments as have occupied a large place in the history of the church to the neglect of much that marked the Apostle as the great disciple and imitator of His Master.

This is my ground of faith, and my Christianity. It may be simple, but it seems to me adequate.

Powers of God

Lesson for November 20, 1955

JESUS no doubt did many ordinary things, such as paying his bills and eating his breakfast. It may well be that he "never did an ordinary thing in an ordinary way." (How would he pay you what he owed for lumber for his carpenter shop? How would he be as a breakfast companion?) But it is also true by all the records that he did some extraordinary things, so extraordinary in fact that no one word could quite describe them. The Gospel writers, all of whom of course used Greek, used sometimes a word meaning "Sign," sometimes one meaning "wonder, miracle," and sometimes one that means "power." The same Greek words is translated in different ways. For example: the Greek word "dynamis" (power) is translated in the old King James version "power" in Luke 5:17, "virtue" in 6:19, "mighty works" in 10:13, "miracles" in Acts 2:22.

Dr. Foreman

No Show-off

You can get into all kinds of stupid and endless arguments over the "miracles" of the New Testament. They are not always labeled as such, or labeled with any word. The Gospels will just tell what Jesus did, and let the reader draw his own conclusions. What they all agree on is that Jesus performed acts of power which no one else could match. He did these things as naturally as you would pick a blackberry —as naturally but perhaps not so easily. As he himself expressed it, he could perceive "power" going out of him. (Luke 8:46, R.S.V.) However hard it may be to understand Jesus' miracles, we can confidently say three things about them. One is that he did not do them "just to be doing them." They were never aimless, or at random. Further, they never had the aim of showing off. To the end of his days Jesus was beset by demands from the Pharisees and others, to show a "sign from heaven." One of his early temptations was to cast himself down from a pinnacle of the Temple and expect God or his angels to see that he did not get hurt in the fall. But he did not yield to that temptation.

Never Too Much

Another striking fact about his miracles is that he never wasted power. He never did what others could do. When he fed the five thousand, he got the people to sit down in orderly fashion and got his disciples to help distribute the food. One would suppose it would have been just as easy for him to arrange for every person present to find a loaf and a fish suddenly in his hand; but Jesus did not work that way. Or again, after the tremendous miracle of restoring to life the little daughter of Jairus, Jesus—instead of producing lunch for her himself by a miracle—gives orders to the family to get the little girl something to eat. When he healed the paralytic, he told him to pick up his pallet and go home.

He Went About Doing Good

Simon Peter, who was far more impressed by Jesus' miracles than by what he said, summed up a great deal when he said that Jesus, endowed with divine power, "went about doing good." (Acts 10:38.) Our Lord's acts of power were always done for the help of other persons. This is the great distinction between Christ's miracles and those done, or allegedly done, by magic. Your typical magic-worker makes a doll and sticks pins in it, hoping by this means to inflict pain or death on some one. Whether or not magic is anything real, magic is malicious by intention. Jesus' miracles on the contrary were never malicious, but the exact opposite—they were acts of goodness and generous help. Jesus never called up genies out of bottles, he never created fire-breathing dragons, he never produced potions of love or death. All his miracles simply restored health, life, strength, gave food to the hungry, eyes to the blind . . . yes, and good news to the poor. For in listing for John the Baptist's benefit the acts of power he was doing, he names as climax not the raising of the dead, but the coming of good news to the poor. That is a miracle we still too seldom see!

A Thanksgiving theme marked the devotions conducted by Mrs. Clarence Jackson. Seventeen members attended the meeting held at the church. The lesson topic "Our Thanksgiving Heritage" was presented by Mrs. Therol Black and Mrs. Nile Schrader gave a reading titled "Thanksgiving Albun."

Mrs. Therol Black, Mrs. Nile Schrader and Miss Chloe Mowrey, who had birthdays in November, brought articles that were auctioned off during the afternoon, Mrs. E. L. Grant acting as auctioneer.

The committee served doughnuts and coffee.

Rebecca Circle Holds November Meeting At The Church

Rents Hall, Hires Band To Celebrate Her 80th Birthday

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP) — None of this "quiet family gathering" stuff for Mrs. Ira M. Burnham's 80th birthday Sunday.

Her son rented a hall, recruited entertainment and invited hundreds of guests.

Walter Burnham said he got the idea last February when his mother slipped in the kitchen of her home and broke her leg. Burnham remembered his mother had commented that sometime they ought to celebrate a birthday in the fashion of 75 or 80 years ago—"rent a hall and hire a band."

So Burnham, of the Indiana University dean of students office, promised his mother she would celebrate her 80th birthday in the university's Alumni Hall. To prove he meant it, he rented the hall immediately.

But he figured I.U.'s "Marching Hundred" was too big for the hall, so he gathered campus talent for entertainment.

"The idea was so flamboyant it was slightly ridiculous," Burnham said. "But it showed mother someone had faith she would be up again."

The psychological trick worked. Now Mrs. Burnham is up with the aid of a walker. However, Mrs. Burnham isn't one to remain inactive long anyway, as her past 32 years in Bloomington indicate.

As an active clubwoman she belonged to the Order of Eastern Star, Rebekah Lodge, Legion Auxiliary, Daughters of Union Veterans, Mothers of World War II, Cowama Club, Grandmothers Club, Homemakers Home Demonstration Club and Borrowed Time Club. She is a member of the First Baptist Church.

"I've got to be careful and be sure I'm well for Sunday's party," Mrs. Burnham said.

BELOVED

In fancy I can see the garden gate
Is open, you are there to gather flowers
And pause before the day shall grow too late;
And I am your beloved all the hours!
O come, let us go forth in memory:
And when I find you, we will go apart
Within that hour, and you will talk to me;
O my beloved, you will place your heart
So near my own embracing me in love.
The ages cannot quench such love, and lo!
If even floods should come from heaven above
The highest hills that man should see, I know—
I know, as long as God will give me breath,
That love is strong, yes, stronger than is death.

OLD HOME PLACE
(Rondel)

The children are gone from the nursery door.
The house stands alone in a strange kind of hush.
The grounds are invaded by untended brush,
And the little brown thrush isn't there any more.

Lying fallen and dead on the ragged brown floor,
Is the tree that o'er shadowed your wakening blush.
The children are gone from the nursery door.
The house stands alone in a strange kind of hush.

Through a saddening heart, the fond memories pour,
And I hold back the tears that in spite of me gush
From eyes that would welcome a little brown thrush
And the gay childish voices that thrilled me before.
The Children are gone from the nursery door.

So I leave to it's past, what I cannot restore,
And sadly I stroll down a weed hidden lane,
To an old rendesvous, a forgotten domain,
That I cannot resist the urge to explore.

The echoes of gay childish voices of yore
Seem to beat on the ear with a fading refrain,
So I leave to the past what I cannot restore
And sadly stroll down a week hidden lane.

And the far away voices seem to implore
Me to go from their midst and cease to profane
With my sadness, a world that I cannot regain.
"We are gone, we are no longer yours to adore."
So I leave to the past what I cannot restore.

AN OLD LOVE

I paused tonight and listened,
And I started forth to meet
For I thought I heard you whistle
With the old familiar trill.

And time for a space, stood still
I could almost feel your presence,
The sound of your footsteps coming,
Through the leaves on Chauncey Street.

But Autumn stood on my doorstep,
A hussy with painted lips,
And prodded the wounds of an old old love,
With painted finger-tips.

MEDITATION

I wandered in my garden
In a sort of dreamy mood,
Incapable of fathoming
This alien attitude.
But the flowers understood it,
And nodded as I passed,
And in sympathy a vagrant breeze,
Sighed audibly, — "Alas"!
G. Daily

TO A MAN IN A PLAID SHIRT

I saw security walk across the clean cut furrow,
In a plaid shirt, open at the throat.
In outstretched hands he held the promise of the future.
Blue jeans, he wore, and scorned an over-coat.
The fields belonged to him. The pregnant power of nature
Bent all her efforts for his benefit,
Straining with force against the sharp pain of seasons
To build her issue, and deliver it.
Like waves of heat against the sky in summer, -strength
Seemed to flow from earth into his veins.
My heart still sees him walk across the meadow.
He's gone now, but the land he loved remains.

IF YOU WOULD SERVE GOD

If you would serve your lowly God,
Don't try it all alone;
A solitary love of good
Is not a corner-stone.

First find a friend or make one
And lead him to the throne.
Instead of one; there will be two Whom He will call His own.

When two hearts work for one great cause
Then life will take a turn
Despair will bloom with fresh young hope
And every soul sincerely burn.

If you would really serve Him well,
Then sing His praise aloud.
Don't try to serve Him all alone,
But bring along a crowd.
Mildred Perl Van Horn

EBULLITION

The anchors of my faith at last
Are bending in the gale,
I am determined to hold fast,
For truth can never fail.

When storms and tempests bend the soul,
And the despair is great
With heaviness and blackest night,
Although I bend, I shall not break!

I know God's truth is right:

For peace will steady in a storm,
And angels will not hide
The love and hope that never die
When souls of men are tried!

wreckage. Meanwhile, officials said there were no signs of life around the stricken plane.

The transport was on a routine flight from Burbank, Calif., to Groom Dry Lake in Nevada and carried Air Force personnel and civilian employes engaged in secret work with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Search Parties Out

Meanwhile, more search parties spread across snowy farmlands north of Newark and the rugged country around Mt. Holly Springs in a hunt for more possible air crash victims.

The missing jet pilot, whose identity was not revealed, was part of a flight of four planes on a cross-country practice mission from Grandview, Mo., to Lockbourne Air Force Base near Newark. Two of the planes apparently overshot the air field and crashed. Lt. Russell A. Thoburn of Colerian, Ohio, escaped, but the other pilot was believed to have gone down with his plane.

In Pennsylvania, Civil Defense spotters reported a large "ghost plane" which was apparently in distress 25 miles north of Gettyburg, where President Eisenhower is recovering from a heart attack. Witnesses said they saw a flare in the sky and an official said "it's tough up in those hills—if a plane did drop there it's possible nobody would have heard it."

The Texas smashup killed T. H. Parham, 51, a prominent Dallas real estate man, along with his 37-year old wife and the pilot of the five-place Cessna 195, J. M. (Chick) Craig.

Inmates of a nearby orphan home said they saw the plane explode, but investigators reported there was no indication of a blast. Icing probably caused the crash, they said.

Vikings Get Hot In Last Period To Beat Eagles

The Huntington Vikings steamed to a high pitch in the final quarter of their game with the Columbia City Eagles Friday night and overcame a 10-point disadvantage to win in a thriller, 64-61. The game was played on the Huntington floor, and it was the first game of the season for the Vikings.

After a see-saw fight during the first half, the Eagles pulled away to a 47-37 lead at the end of the third period, and it looked as if a win was in store for Columbia City. However, in the fourth quarter, the Vikings hit 10 of 11 shots from the field and jerked the nets on seven of seven free throws. The Eagles were unable to match that shooting and unable to stop it and lost by three points. Trailing 62-59 with about 30 seconds left, Deutsch sank a long shot for a 62-61 count, which kept the fans on their feet during the waning seconds. Law ended the scoring wi tha lay-up shot for Huntington just as the final gun barked.

Chalfant Influence

Dick Chalfant, forward, was a strong influence in the Viking win, as he scored eight points in the final period, and six in the last four minutes. With four minutes left in the game, the Eagles were still holding on to a lead, which had been chewed down to just five points, 57-52. But Chalfant hit two straight shots from the field for a 57-56 score, which stood until only 2:14 were left in the game. On a tip play at the Columbia City foul circle, Law batted a long one down court which Chalfant scooped up and drove under his basket with a two-point lay-up that put Huntington ahead 58-57.

As the situation steadily looked blacker, Schwartz fouled out of the game, and his personal gave Law a chance at the charity stripe. The Huntington center capitalized on the opportunity and sank both shots for a 60-57 score. Bridge hit from the corner for Columbia City, and it was 60-59, but Carpenter drew his fifth personal, and Flaugher stepped to the free throw line and sank two shots for a 62-59 count, with 1:18 left. After considerable working of the ball, Deutsch hit a long one, but Huntington then hung onto the ball till time ran out.

Carpenter Hits Well

During the first half of the game, it was Carpenter who kept the Eagles in the game, as he hit the amazingly high percentage of 7 out of 12 shots from the field. He also sank four of four free throws for 18 points in the first half. In the second half, Woodham carried the bulk of the scoring for the Eagles, hitting 12 of his 18 total.

Dan Martin moved into the Eagle starting lineup last night and played a full game. Coach Johnson substituted very little, sending in Deutsch for Schwartz in the second period, and again late in the final quarter when Schwartz fouled out. The only other substitution made was Smith when Carpenter fouled out. The four other starters foi C.C. were Woodham, Carpenter, Schwartz, and Bridge.

Huntington also won the preliminary game, 34-29. The Eagle reserves led at the end of the first two quarters, 7-6 and 18-16, but at the three-quarter point, Huntington held a 30-20 advantage as the Eagles scored only two points in the period. This was the turning point although the local reserves outscored Huntington in the last period, they had lagged too far behind in the third period to catch up.

Coach Art Lewis Receives Threat

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UP)—Old muskets, rifles and other hillbilly firearms, usually standard items of costume for Mountaineer weekend festivities here, were barred today with one exception from West Virginia's football stadium by state police.

The precaution was taken because of a threatening letter received by Coach Art Lewis Thursday.

It was learned that similar threatening letters also were received by Coaches Jim Tatum of Maryland and Bill Murray of Duke. All three said "something terrible" would happen to the coaches and their teams if they were victorious in today's games.

Banned As Precaution

State Police Cpl. W. B. Snodgrass said the "usual number of law enforcement officers" would be available for the West Virginia-Syracuse game here and that they would keep a watchful eye for any suspicious characters. He said the firearms were banned as a precautionary measure.

Team mascot Fred Patterson, however, will be allowed to carry his long-barrelled, old-fashioned mountain rifle while parading up and down the sidelines.

The letters, all postmarked Newark, N.J., were received by the coaches this week.

Lewis was inclined to pass his off as a joke, but when other athletic department officials took it more seriously he turned it over to state police.

Cpl. Snodgrass said he in turn had passed the letter on to the FBI for further investigation.

Thought It Was A Crank

Tatum said he did not say anything about his letter "because I thought it was just a crank."

"I still think it's a crank," he added.

Tatum declined to reveal the letter's wording, but indicated it read about the same as the one received by Lewis. Maryland plays George Washington today.

Murray said his letter threatened violence if the Blue Devils defeat Wake Forest "by more than six points."

"What we can't understand is why they made it six points," Duke said. "The way Murray has been worrying this week he would settle for a one-point victory."

Most Perennial Powers' Opening Nights Are Easy Victories; Fort Wayne North Sweats

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Get out those adding machines, boys, the Flying Tigers of Indianapolis Attucks are still running their opposition into the ground!

Indiana's high school basketball champions inaugurated a new season Friday night, burying Fort Wayne Central, 81-41, before 6,500 Coliseum fans in the Summit City.

Such other perennial powers as Muncie Central, Kokomo, Logansport, Lafayette, and Terre Haute Gerstmeyer also turned in easy opening-night victories, but 1955 state finalist Fort Wayne North had to "sweat" before outlasting Auburn.

Attucks made it 14 in a row over two seasons, hitting a redshot .500 from the field on 31 of 62 attempts as Oscar Robertson, the only hold-over starter from last year's 30-1 club, swished in 31 points.

32-24 at Half

The Tigers led only 32-24 at the half, but used a court press in the third period and ran off with the game.

Muncie, also beaten but once during the regular season last time, was slow building up steam against Winchester, but once 6-8 junior center Ted Sterrett, making his debut as a varsity player, got used to the idea, the Bearcats were off and running and finished easily, 66-40.

Muncie led at the half, 28-20, but trailed at the first stop, 9-8.

Kokomo's Jerry Christie caged 22 points, 12 in the fourth period, to pace a 62-50 win over Wabash; lanky Dalen Showalter with 34 piloted talented Logansport to a 79-59 rout over Winamac (the Berries have four starters back) Lafayette beat Lebanon, 46 - 40, while Gerstmeyer unloaded on Rookville, 81 - 63, Ronnie Green and sophomore Charley Hall hitting 39 points.

Seymour, Shelbyville and Connersville, all of the South Central Conference, also won handily. Seymour made it two in a row, burying Mitchell, 74-50, as Bode Hill canned 30 points and Danny Thomas chipped in 21; Shelby opened with a 69-51 win over Silver Creek. Connersville, the only crew to beat Attucks last year, opened with a 59-44 decision over Liberty.

Southport Shades Franklin

Southport needed an overtime to shade SCC rival Franklin, 69-63. Tom Bennett looped in 27 points for the Cardinals, including 15 consecutive free throws.

Upstate, Chesterton, unbeaten in regular season play last year, made it 23 in a row (excluding state tourney), beating Gary Wirt, 56-46.

Washington - Clay spoiled South Bend Adams' debut, 50-41, Paul Tenny scoring for 26 points. Goshen whipped New Paris, 52-43, while Rich Wright and his Nappanee club beat Warsaw, 73-63, in another opener.

In other top games, New Castle rolled over Greenfield, 68 - 55; Marion trounced Eastern, 63 - 55, and Frankfort took the measure of Zionsville, 70-64.

South Whitley Has Fourth Win

The South Whitley Bulldogs scored their fourth win of the season Friday night at Jefferson Center making them undefeated so far this season. The final score was 55-47. With the half time score of 35-33 the Bulldogs pulled away from their opponents for a lead of eight points at the close of the game. Easterday was high scoring man for the Bulldogs with 21 points. Evans with 15, was second high. Butcher of Jefferson Center with 22 points was high scoring man of the game.

South Whitley also won the preliminary game by a score of 34-27.

Holiday Time-Saver: Make Extra Cake Mix

MADISON, Wis. —(UP) If you mix your own holiday cakes and cookies, take a tip from industry and go at it in a big way.

Flora Hanning, University of Wisconsin home economist, said you will save up to three-fourths of the preparation time in assembling equipment, ingredients, sifting and measuring by making the mix for as many as six cakes at one time and storing what you don't need immediately.

She recommended making a "master mix" of flour, salt, baking powder and fat, which will be ready for cookies, cakes, puddings or quick breads. All that is needed is addition of the required liquids, and they are ready to bake.

The mix not being used immediately should be stored in a tight container in a cool, dry place. If you use regular lard instead of hydrogenated fat such as solid vegetable shortening, keep the mix in the refrigerator.

Open Sheds Aid Calf Production

LAFAYETTE - Hoosier dairymen should consider open sheds for raising dairy calves. This recommendation comes from dairy specialists at Purdue University.

They point to research by Washington State College which shows that disease losses were practically eliminated when calves were housed in properly constructed open sheds. Calves housed in open sheds showed more vigor than those raised in conventional barn quarters. In addition, loose housing is inexpensive, requires a minimum of maintenance, and saves labor.

Not just any kind of loose housing will do, however. The open side should face the southeast, south, or southwest, away from the prevailing winds, and the opening should be not more than five feet high. The sides, ends, and ceiling must be solidly constructed to prevent drafts.

Other pertinent facts about open sheds for dairy calves are contained in two publications from Purdue University, DH-48, "Loose Housing for Calves," and DH-49, "Results of Loose Housing for Calves." Free copies are available from county agricultural agents or from the office of agricultural publications at Purdue.

said. "I don't think the committee should plug for one particular person.'

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler hurried to Kefauver and told him to his face that nothing of the sort had happened since he took over the chairmanship last January.

Kefauver replied that the incidents happened while Butler's predecessor, the pro-Stevenson Stephen A. Mitchell, held the post. He did not explain why he referred to "the summertime," when Butler was in office.

Kefauver also announced he would reveal his plans Dec. 16 or 17 and, if he decides to become a candidate, would be interested in squaring off against Stevenson in the March 20 Minnesota primary.

Harriman held his fire until a news conference scheduled for Sunday. But he told reporters that reports that he would either announce as a presidential candidate or throw his support to Stevenson at the Chicago meeting is the "most fanciful speculation."

Piped Water Will Save Time In Care Of Poultry Flock

LAFAYETTE;—A Purdue University extension poultryman,Dave D. Jackson, says that carrying feed and water to laying hens can become a time consuming chore.

Considerable time can be saved in caring for the farm flock if a feed storage bin is installed and water is piped to the laying house, Jackson declares.

One hundred hens will consume about 6 tons of feed and 9 tons of water each year which adds up to a lot of weight when carried to the poultry house from some distant location on the farm.

Jackson says the feed should be stored in or near the pen where it is to be used. A feed storage bin can be built in the pen and filled from the outside of the built in the pen and filled from the outside of the building directly from a truck.

Even though carrying water is an endless job many Hoosier flocks are still watered in this manner. Now that plastic water pipe is available, a line can be run to the poultry house and an automatic water fountain installed.

Freezing can be prevented by the use of an electric heating cable. An automatic waterer requires almost no attention after it is installed. Cleaning and rinsing is required only as a sanitary precaution.

"What's an easier way to supply 45 tons of water to a flock of 500 hens during the laying year than to pipe it?" Jackson asks.

Attending the farm poultry flock can be easier if the feeding and watering arrangement is properly designed.

BIRTHDAYS OF THE PRESIDENTS

By Robert C. Preble President, Encyclopaedia Britannica

James A. Garfield (born Nov. 19, 1831) rose from humble beginnings in an Ohio log cabin to become a Civil War general, Senator and President — only to die of an assassin's bullet within six months of his assuming the Presidency. Next to William Harrison, who died in office after serving only one month, Garfield's term was the shortest of any of the Presidents.

Garfield left home at the age of 16 to become a helper on a canal boat, driving the horses along the towpath and acting as deckhand. He saved his money and later entered William College, from which he was graduated with high honors in 1856. The year after graduation he became principal of Hiram College, and in 1861 became a lawyer. He was among the first to volunteer in the Union Army, and served with such distinction that he rose to the rank of major general. It was at Lincoln's suggestion that he resigned his commission to serve politically.

He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1863, and to the Senate in 1880, the same year the Republicans nominated him for President. He was elected in March 1881 and was fatally wounded July 2, 1881, while enroute to a Williams College commencement. He died September 19.

Dulles

but there is no temporal force so capable of helping achieve it as the strength, the might, the spirit of 165 million free Americans.

"In striving toward this shining goal, this country will never admit defeat."

Dulles detailed his three-week battle at Geneva to get Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov "to negotiate seriously" and make good on previous Soviet promises to work for real peace. He said this effort had failed. But he did not see this as a step toward general war.

Unwillingness To Pay

The main trouble at Geneva, as Dulles saw it, was Russia's "unwillingnes to pay the price" for peace. He said the Red leaders were tough because the "spirit of Geneva" set last July by the Big Four "Summit" meeting had threatened serious repercussions in their satellite camp.

Dulles' speech brought charges from two Democratic senators that the administration lacks leadership and imagination in conducting U.S. foreign policy.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, said after Dulles' report that U.S. policy should be reappraised.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) called Dulles' speech "a sad confession that the Geneva hopes have faded." The address, he said, "offers no program of our leadership."

Dulles made these key points in his assessment of the foreign minister meeting:

Confidence Set Back

"Spirit of Geneva"— By refusing to negotiate on German unification, Soviet leaders "have seriously set back the growth of any confidence the free world can justifiably place in Soviet promises. But he said the Reds avoided their former Stalinist resort to "threats and invective. . . (and) in that respect the spirit of Geneva still survives."

War Risks— The latest Geneva conference did "nothing" to change Mr. Eisenhower's estimate that the July Big Four meeting had made war less likely— "so that aspect of the Geneva spirit also remains."

Cold War— It will go on "in the sense of peaceful competition between East and West." Russia will continue its efforts "by means short of war" to make Communism prevail.

Defense Programs— "No," the United States will not have to radically alter its defense and mutual security programs. "Our security programs. . . are designed to meet the peril as long as it may continue. We are on. . . a long haul basis.

The Future— The Geneva failure does not mean the end of East-West negotiations. It would be "foolish," however, to try new talks until conditions change. The best way to make them change is to confront the Soviet "realists" with stalwart Allied unity.

Chicago Trips Won By Indiana 4-H'ers

Carolyn Brown

Terry R. Moses

Herman Robbins

Treva Pullen

IMPRESSIVE records in the 1955 Clothing, Girls' Record, Soil and Water Conservation, and Tractor programs, have won all-expense trips to the 34th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27-Dec. 1, for four Indiana 4-H Club members.

Carolyn Brown of Fillmore, is the 1955 state Girls' Record winner. Her outstanding achievement in home economics projects has won for her a trip to the Club Congress, provided by Montgomery Ward.

During her eight years in 4-H Club work, the 18-year-old 4-H'er carried a wide variety of projects including clothing, food, preservation, food preparation, and frozen foods.

Her outstanding achievements are: completed 40 garments; canned 1,068 qts. of foods; and froze 1,200 lbs. of meat and 194½ qts. of fruits and vegetables.

She was winner of an achievement trip to Washington, D. C.

The State 4-H Tractor program winner is Terry R. Moses of Frankfort, who has been a 4-H Club member for six years. His trip to Chicago is provided by Standard Oil Foundation, Inc., Chicago.

Through this program, which emphasizes care—not repair, Terry kept tractor repairs to a minimum. Terry won in all divisions of the tractor driving contests. Studying the tractor project in his 4-H Club taught him the fundamentals of operating and servicing a tractor. He learned how to keep down the cost of replacement parts, fuel and the loss of man hours, through a careful inspection program.

Terry also carried swine, beef, poultry, garden, corn, soy beans and Junior Leadership projects.

He is a member of the Kirklin Hoosier Farmers 4-H Club, led by Joe Mill.

• • • •

The work of Herman Robbins, of Charlottesville, in conserving soil and water, has brought him state honors in the 4-H Soil and Water Conservation program. His award is an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, provided by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company.

In his nine years of 4-H, Herman learned that planting on contour and strip cropping helped hold the soil in place. He learned the value of dead vegetation and leaves in adding humus to the soil. He planted trees to hold the top soil, and learned the value of fertilization.

Herman's other projects are dairy, garden, swine, entomology, forestry and wildlife. He won honors on his exhibits at fairs. Herman is a member of the Booster 4-H Club of Rush County led by Lee Patton.

• • • •

Indiana's 1955 4-H Clothing champion is Treva Pullen, of Walton. The 18-year-old 4-H'er has made 185 garments in her club career. She will be the guest of Coats & Clark Inc. at the Club Congress.

Treva made a wide variety of apparel, ranging from hats and stoles to formal dresses. She is a junior leader and member of the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club led by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Pullen. She received top honors on a formal dress she exhibited at the Cass County Fair. Treva used all of the new tailoring techniques on a Forstman wool fleece full length coat that she made in her ninth year. In the county 4-H dress revue she was chosen as one of the honor girls in her division.

Tradition

NEW YORK (UP)—James Jones, 40, will follow a long-standing tradition next Thursday — eating Thanksgiving dinner in the city jail.

Jones Friday was ordered held for the Court of Special Sessions on a charge of stealing a 12-pound ham from a delivery truck. His record showed he already has spent 11 Thanksgivings in the city jail.

Multiple Farrowing Of Swine Suggested

LAFAYETTE: — Dick Hollandbeck, Purdue University extension swine specialist, says a steady supply of hogs for the market throughout the year is the goal of the National Swine Growers Council which has recommended that farmers develop a multiple farrowing program of hog production.

Hollandbeck believes farmers will find it convenient to farrow two groups of sows twice a year, with farrowing dates set 90 days apart.

One of the greatest advantages to this system would be more orderly selling of hogs with less of the seasonal price fluctuations commonly due to extremely heavy market runs. Such a practice would also level the sow market since sow supplies now vary from as much as 50 percent to as little as 5 percent of the total receipts, depending on the season.

Multiple farrowing will have production advantages in addition to the removal of market price risks. Small groups of sows farrowing at intervals will make more efficient use of farrowing and feeding equipment, and produce market hogs more uniform in size. Time and labor needed to care for the hogs will also be distributed more evenly.

Seasonal Variation In Hog Marketing Can Be Eliminated

LAFAYETTE;—An even distribution in the number of hogs marketed daily will prevent seasonal surpluses and shortages that now occur, Dick Hollandbeck, Purdue University extension swine specialist, has reported.

Hollandbeck and the National Swine Grower's Council agree that a steady flow of hogs to market is needed to provide more stable prices for farmers and permit more efficient use of labor by the packer.

Farmers should "top out" their market hogs by selling, each week the hogs that have reached 200 pounds of weight. This will help to avoid heavy, market-breaking runs, and will reduce the extra lard problem that comes with the heavy-weight market hog.

The Purdue specialist points out that the live, handyweight market hog is a perishable product, just as is the tasty pork that he yields. Both farmer and processor must, thus, sell the product at its best.

Around The Clock: Around The World!

By UNITED PRESS

LONDON (UP) — Another in Princess Margaret's rapidly dwindling group of eligible boy friends announced today he is going to marry someone else.

Lord Porchester, known to the princess and her friends as "Porchy," announced his engagement to an English girl living in the United States.

She is Miss Jean Wallop of Big Horn, Wyo. They are to be married next year in New York, according to the announcement.

WOODFORD, England (UP) — Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, now just a member of Parliament, returned to the political arena Friday night and said it was "very enjoyable" to have had a rest.

Churchill, returning from a two-month vacation on the French Riviera, made his first political speech since last May's general elections.

While pounding the Socialist opposition, he took time out to observe that "when one lays down power and responsibility all sorts of other things fall away at the same time."

MANILA (UP)— Member nations of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization are planning to hold a joint armed forces maneuver, it was disclosed today.

Two members of the Philippines delegation to the SEATO military planners conference in Honolulu, who returned home Friday night, said the maneuver would be held in preparation for the formation of a collective armed force to combat Communism in the treaty area.

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schneider arrived here today on their 17,000-mile jeep ride from Circle City, Alaska, which began in June, 1954.

The couple plans to continue south to Magellan Strait and then turn back north through Argentina on the inter-American ride.

BELLEAU WOOD, France (UP) —Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., commandant of the United States Marine Corps, Friday dedicated a plaque at the Aisen-Marne Military Cemetery to the memory of the 4,000 Marines killed in action here in World War I.

Men of the 2nd Marine Division at Camp Lejeune, N.C. contributed the plaque which was designed by Felix de Weldon, who created the Iwo Jima Marine flag-raising monument in Washington.

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UP) —A government announcement indicated today West Germany will pass the United Kingdom as the biggest European steel producer for the first time.

West Germany's iron and steel mills in the first 10 months of this year exceeded last year's record production, the government said. Production of iron and steel will reach 21 million tons, up 25 per cent over 1954, if the same rate is continued, the announcement said.

Indiana Football Players Don't Need Huddle

TAMA, Ia. — (UP) Dick Bunting, Tama High School football coach, decided the time had arrived when he could spring his surprise.

His team led Montezuma High School, 14-0, so he sent in the 11 Indian boys on his squad from the Tama Indian Reservation.

Almost immediately the Indians scored two touchdowns. Knowing the Montezuma players couldn't understand them, they called their plays in their Indian language without going into a huddle.

Referee Bob Neighbors found it a bit puzzling also because when he talked to them about penalty options, they replied in Indian. Neighbors wasn't sure they could speak English, but they can.

President

Colorado almost two months ago.

Playing with Mr. Eisenhower and Gruenther were George E. Allen another intimate friend of the President, who owns a nearby farm, and Alton W. Jones, head of the Cities Service Co.

Earlier, Mr. Eisenhower was brought up to date on atomic developments by Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission and put polishing touches on the report Secretary of State John Foster Dulles made to the nation Friday night on the recently completed Geneva conference.

Two days of conferences with Dulles were the highlights of the President's work week. It was a week in which Mr. Eisenhower returned for the first time to his desk— transferred to a tiny office in the Gettysburg post office— to conduct government business.

It was also a week in which the President had ample opportunity to look over his farm and the many improvements that have been added since he last was here in August.

With sunny skies in prospect, Mr. Eisenhower was sure to take walks about his estate this weekend. His physicians have encouraged such walks in the fresh air to build his strength.

He was sure, in any event, of long conversations and animated bridge sessions so long as Gruenther was his guest. Gruenther will stay through Sunday, returning thereafter to his post at Paris.

Purdue Will Test Soil Samples Now

LAFAYETTE, —Hoosier farmers are advised by Purdue University agronomists to check on soil fertility levels and determine fertilizer needs for next year's crops as soon as possible.

Accurate soil samples can be taken with ease by the landowner with tools already at hand. A soil sample is a representative part of a field which is used in chemical testing.

Soil tests determine what is needed to supply next season's crops with mineral plant foods required for optimum growth. Purdue specialists believe they have some of the best equipment available to make these tests.

Purdue's soil laboratory tests samples for acidity (pH), lime requirements, available phosphate, and available potash. Results are reported to farmers and are used to recommend the proper kind of fertilizer for a particular crop as well as the amount of lime needed.

Tests at Purdue are available to all Hoosier farmers at a cost of 50 cents per sample. This service charge covers cost of testing, reporting, and making recommendations. If the soil is tested once each round of rotation, or every 4 years as suggested by agronomist, the cost is 1½ cents per acre a year.

Thousands of Indiana farmers agree that Purdue soil tests have proved invaluable in the most profitable use of fertilizer and lime in their soil improvement programs.

After the needs of the soil are determined, farmers should buy fertilizer on the basis of the available plant food it contains. Intelligent buying of fertilizer consists of seeing that the fertilizer is labeled and then buying on the basis of the label. Any other basis is "blind buying." The label should be carefully read and farmers should avoid buying fertilizer in which the analysis is not definitely stated.

Short Courses Set At Purdue

LAFAYETTE,—Three eight-week courses in agriculture will be offered at Purdue University from January 3 to February 24, V. C. Freeman associate dean of the school of agriculture, has announced.

Freeman reported that these training programs in general agriculture, animal husbandry, and dairy production are designed for young farmers who wish to make agriculture a life vocation but are unable to take a regular four-year college course.

No tuition is charged to residents of Indiana. Total cost for Indiana students, including room, board, and incidental expenses, will range from $145 to $175.

Applicants for admission must be at least 18 years of age and have a good common school education. However, persons 20 years of age or older who have had practical experience on the farm or in other agricultural work, will derive the greatest benefit from winter course training, Freeman stated.

A certificate will be granted to those who satisfactorily complete their eight-weeks plan of study.

The general agriculture course will include studies in field machinery, farm organization and records, marketing farm products field crops, soil management, feeds and feeding, insects and parasites, orchard and garden crops, and farm poultry flocks.

Additional information can be obtained from the country extension agent or by writing to V. C. Freeman at Purdue.

Iraq Tells Partners In Baghdad Pact She Stands Behind Pledge

To Aid Any Arab State Subjected To Aggression

By Israeli Despite Any Other Agreement

BAGHDAD, Iraw (UP) — Iraq told her four partners in the Baghdad Pact today that she still stands firmly behind her pledge to aid any Arab state "subjected to Israeli aggression."

Premier Nouri El Said made it clear at the opening session of the first pact conference that Iraq will maintain strong Arab ties despite any agreements it makes on mutual defense along the southern flank of Russia.

American observers were on hand to symbolize United States' support of the pact, which is designed to resist Russian expansion in the Middle East and formulate a possible solution to the Arab-Israeli border crisis.

Nouri emphasized in his welcoming address that Iraq still maintains her obligations to the Arab collective security pact.

Iraq, he said, "will not hesitate to use her resources and assistance for any Arab country subjected to Israeli aggression."

Nouri spoke before the foreign ministers of Britain, Turkey, Pakistan and Iran.

Iraq said it hoped the United States would become a member of the organization "soon."

The alliance of Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Pakistan and Britain plugs the holes in a Western defense arc

Ike Shifts Base Of His Operations From Farm To Mountain Retreat

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower shifts his base of operations today from his farm to his nearby mountain retreat for policy conferences with the major figures of his administration.

Helicopter - borne members of the cabinet and of the National Security Council planned to drop down at Camp David, the President's hideaway in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains, for sessions with the Chief Executive this afternoon and Tuesday.

Mr. Eisenhower — recuperating nicely from his heart attack — was to drive the 22 miles to the secluded and closely-guarded camp while his chief lieutenants were being whirred through the air from Washington in three Air Force "flying banana" helicopters.

The meeting of the National Security Council, the top - level advisory body on defense and foreign policy, came first.

Cabinet Session Tuesday

His session with the cabinet will be held Tuesday.

To prepare himself for the National Security Council session, the President scheduled a private conference in Gettysburg earlier today with Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon who has been presiding at cabinet and council meetings during Mr. Eisenhower's illness, flew back from a Florida vacation to attend the two sessions.

Besides the regular members of the security council — Mr. Eisenhower, Nixon, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming — a score of other govern-

4 Accidents Result In Property Damage, No One Is Injured

Three accidents Saturday and one accident Sunday resulted in damages to seven vehicles involved, but no one was injured.

Damages estimated at $500 to both vehicles resulted from an accident Saturday about 9:30 a.m. at the South Whitley cemetery.

David Grossman, 19, and Erwin Mitchell, both of South Whitley, were headed west on road 14,. According to the report, Mitchell passed Gross and cut back into the traffic lane; Gross swerved to the left to avoid the Mitchell car and off onto the berm on the south side and back off the north berm clipping the Mitchell car. Shrubbery along the cemetery was torn up. The road was covered with slush and snow.

The accident was investigated by J. G. Geiger of the Ligonier post.

A '50 Nash, driven by Bruno Belbutoski, 52, of 1822 Lawndale, Fort Wayne was damaged Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in South Whitley. The accident occurred on State street at the Matson Grocery corner.

Jack A. Pentecost, 21, R 3, North Manchester, driving a '55 Fork milk truck headed south, had stopped to make a delivery at the grocery, located at the northeast corner of the intersection. Pulling away from the store he attempted to make a right turn to the west and collided with the car driven by Belbutoski. Damages to the Belbutoski car were estimated at $125.

Pentecost was charged in Columbia City court with the failure to yield the right of way.

George L. Leininger, 25, R 2, Churubusco, driving a '50 Buick, lost control of the car when the wheels dropped off the pavement edge on the icy roads Saturday morning at the county road intersection with 205 just east of Collins. The car skidded sideways down a bank and turned over on the top. He was riding alone and was not injured. Damages to the car were estimated at $300.

The last two accidents were investigated by Norman Pierce of the Ligonier Police Post.

A traffic accident involving damages to two cars occurred Sunday about 3:00 p.m. at the corner of Van Buren and Madison street.

A car driven by Kenneth Schaefer, 40, R 7, received damages estimated at $250 to the radiator and front of the car. Damages to the rear bumper and back of the car driven by Herbert Dial, 44, R 5, Fort Wayne, were estimated at $100.

Death Strikes In Wholesale Lots Sunday

Kills 21 Persons In Three Accidents

By UNITED PRESS

Death struck in wholesale lots, killing 21 persons in three highway accidents Sunday.

One of the smashups killed 10 persons, and the others six and five. Most of the victims were on Sunday outings.

The worst highway massacre was near Dixon, Neb., where a tire blew on a car carrying six teenagers from a church party Sunday night. Their auto careened headon into a car carrying four musicians to a dance date.

All 10 persons were killed. One of the boys was thrown upon the highway, while the bodies of the other five were found in the shattered car. The musicians' car burst into flames and it was hours before their charred bodies could be identified.

Six Teenagers Killed

Sheriff Sam Curry identified the dead boys as Ronald Nobbe, Terry Book, Gary Stark, Robert Rakow, Rodney Hanks, and Richard Rahn, all of Martinsburg, Neb. Nobbe was identified as the driver, but the boys' ages were not immediately known.

The musicians were James E. Martelle, 30, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Jack Renn, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Lou Case, Rock Island Ill.; and Don Sheffield, 26, St. Johnsbury, Vt. They were members of the 12-piece Jimmy Palmers dance band and were en route to play at a Norfolk, Neb., dance.

Near Forreston, Ill., meanwhile, six persons were killed in a car-train crash, and five died in a headon smashup near Princeton, Mo.

Army, Air Force Are Feuding Over Results Of Tests

In Which Nike Dueled Matador

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army and Air Force are feuding over the results of secret guided missle tests in which the Army's Nike dueled the Air Force's Matador.

The tests were held to determine the effectiveness of the 1,600 mile-an-hour Nike against modern jet bombers. That much - publicized missile was pitted against an Air Force Matador jet bomber missile with a speed of 600 miles an hour.

The Nike knocked down at least one Matador — two by Army claims — but missed on several other shots in aerial duels last month at White Sands, N.M., proving grounds.

The Matador was chosen as the target because it is, in effect, a pilotless fighter - bomber with the speed but not the size of present jet bombers.

But the inconclusiveness of the tests only added new fire to a long-standing controversy between the two services.

The Air Force account of the test is that the Nike scored one kill and missed on several other shots. The Army said it missed on four test firings held last month, but scored kills on both of two shots fired early this month.

The stage for the long-heralded duel was set nearly three years ago when the Army unveild th Nike with claims it was so good "it is almost impossible for them to miss a target." The unveiling was accompanied by pictures showing the Nike knocking a World War II B17 bomber out of the sky.

Since then, the Army has installed Nike battalions around most of the nation's major cities and industrial centers.

$50,000 Expansion Program Planned For Riley Hospital

A $50,000. program to expand facilities for the care of steadily increasing numbers of out-patients at James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for children has been approved by the Riley Memorial Association Board of Governors.

The term "out-patients" refers to children who receive treatment in one of the specialized clinics at Riley hospital on the Indiana University Medical Center, but who are not admitted to the hospital as bed patients. In the past year approximately 9,300 such children from every Indiana county made more than 29,000. visits to Riley clinics, which was the greatest number in the 30-year history of the hospital.

Perry W. Lesh, president of the Riley board, said the board approved use of funds from gifts and bequests made for the benefit of Riley hospital for expansion.

The expansion program will more than double the number of patients who can be served daily in the large Arthur C. Newby clinic at Riley. Plans also will make possible a greater variety of services available on any one day and in that way reduce the number of visits necessary for some patients.

Sultan Convenes Conference With His Top Advisers

To Work Out Cabinet To Restore Order

RABAT, Morocco (UP)— Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef today rushed formation of a strong government to halt revengeful mobs reported sweeping through Moroccan cities in an orgy of violence against the sultan's opponents.

The sultan hurriedly convened a conference of his top advisers at the heavily guarded imperial palace to work out a nationalist-backed cabinet that would restore order.

French Authorities were not involved and no official casualty figures were available. But 15 persons were known to have been killed by mobs in Rabat, Fez and Marrakesch. Scores of others were reported wounded.

Many of the mobs were directed against supporters of ex-Sultan Moulay Ben Arafa who ruled the country during the two years Ben Youssef was exiled by the French to Madagascar.

Sultan Plans Tour

The sultan announced he would leave this week on a nation-wide peacemaking tour, visiting major towns and country areas to exhort Moroccans to rally behind his throne.

Informed sources said the sultan confirmed Si Fatmi ben Slimane as premier-designate of the future government which will negotiate "independence within inter-dependence" with France.

French officials were less concerned by the explosion of violence against the former Ben Arafa sympathizers than by the growing rivalry between the two main nationalist movements— the Istiqlal and the Democratic Party of Independence (PDI).

They said no stable government could be formed as long as the rivalry exists.

French Stand Aside

The French Army and police, unless attacked, were no longer intervening during the mass ceremonies. The sultan has only a small unit of guards in the palace, and elsewhere public order was in the hands of uniformed nationalist youth groups.

Only minor incidents involving European civilians have been reported. American personnel at the big U.S. air bases in Morocco have not been involved in the riots.

The Moroccan violence was touched off Saturday when the caliph of Fez was lynched inside the sultan's own palace, stabbed to death by a crowd enraged because he had supported Ben Arafa.

Search Parties Resume The Hunt For Ghost Plane

Believed Down In Rugged Mountains In Pennsylvania

ARLICSLE, Pa. (UP)— Search parties today resumed their hunt for a "ghost plane" believed down in the rugged mountains north of President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm.

The search by some 200 civil defense workers and volunteers in the desolate mountain terrain was postponed at 2:30 a.m. because of darkness and extreme cold.

A woman plane spotter reported a "large plane" in distress Friday night and said she saw a flash and heard what she thought was a crash.

A summer resort caretaker also reported hearing a plane flying very low and apparently in trouble.

Two sailors passing through the mountains later reported seeing a yellow signal flare.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly reported sighting a second yellow fare Sunday night and the search shifted south of Dilsburg, Pa.

Dale Murphy, Cumberland County civil defense director, said the hunt was narrowed to a triangular section covering some 10 miles of treacherous mountain terrain blanketed b yabout five inches of snow.

The area is about 20 miles north of the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg.

Harrisburg State Airport said no airliners were known missing or overdue and all military aircraft were accounted for.

The First Day Of December Will Be Observed As Safe Driving Day Throughout The Nation

The first day of December will be observed throughout the nation as S-D Day. That's the "Safe-Driving" day when every community in the United States, including Columbia City will do its best to go 24 hours without a traffic death.

When asked what each driver could do to help keep S-D Day accident free, Don Alexander, Chairman of the Columbia City Jaycee Safety Committee said, "A safe driver drives defensively. Now, the average car owner may never have heard of defensive driving, but it's a well-known term to those professional drivers who rack up thousands of miles of accident free driving each year.

"The defensive driver acts as though he is always under attack. His 'enemies' are careless motorists, careless pedestrians and unsafe traffic conditions. The defensive driver makes allowance for these highway culprits. He avoids accidents by anticipating and allowing for the hazards created by the unsafe acts of others and by adverse traffic and weather conditions."

Mr. Alexander asked every driver in Columbia City to check himself to see whether he is driving defensively. The defensive driver can answer "yes" to all the following questions:

Do you drive so that you are never surprised by the actions of other motorists or pedestrians?

At intersections do you make sure no one is approaching from your right or left even though you may have the right of way?

Do you constantly check your rear-view mirror to see what's happening behind you?

Do you watch for pedestrians

Supreme Court May Act On Security Risks Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Supreme Court may act today on a challenge to the present govenchallenge to the present government program of firing security risks in both sensitive and nonsensitive posts.

The case was brought by Kenrick M. Cole, who was ousted as a New York food and drug inpsector in 1953. He argues that the government only has the power to move against security risks in policy-making positions or jobs with access to secrets.

The high court is scheduled at its business session to decide whether to review Cole's contentions or to reject his appeal.

The Good News

Dr. Foreman

THERE is no such thing as the Christian religion, except in human beings. There is no such thing as the growth of Christianity, unless it grows in people. So how does Christianity spread? Only by one way: people who are Christians must win people who are not Christians. People who know Jesus Christ must introduce other people to him. The church has a word for this: it is called Evangelism. Anybody who thinks he doesn't believe in evangelism is really saying that he doesn't care whether there are any new Christians or not. He is saying (though perhaps without realizing it) that what he calls his "faith" is not worth talking about, or recommending to any one else.

Preaching and Bringing—

Our rather technical word "Gospel" means simply "Good News." That is what it is called in the New Testament. Not good advice, or good answers to philosophers' riddles; just good news—about God, about Jesus, about destiny. Luke gives us some interesting and valuable hints about how this Good News was broadcast in Jesus' own time and by his direction. One is in three words (Luke 8:1): Jesus came "preaching and bringing" the good news of the kingdom of God. The Gospel is not something just for talk. A tape-recorder can give out a sermon; but a tape-recorder cannot be a preacher of the Gospel. A minister who preaches on Sunday and disappears the rest of the week (if such there be) may be preaching the Gospel but he is not bringing it. Jesus lived by what he preached. The good news can be told by a clever tongue; but it can be brought only by a consecrated life. What would be thought of a grocery store where, if you went in, you would see only empty shelves, and a flock of clerks who would buttonhole you and tell you all about the wonderful groceries — that aren't there! And what can one think of a church where all you can find out about the love of God is just talk, and nobody brings the Gospel? The Gospel can't be brought in a little parcel you can tuck under your arm like a prayer-book. It has to be brought in a man-sized package, a live sample. After a few months you can buy a "demonstrator" car or tractor cheap; but a "demonstrator" Christian is beyond price.

Seed and Soils

You would think that if we could only get Jesus Christ in person, as he was in Galilee, into our church, we could convert everybody. Well, he didn't. No one ever brought or preached the Gospel better than he; but he did not meet with 100% success. He gave a reason for this that any farmer or gardener can understand. Preaching the Gospel is like sowing seed, he said. Sometimes when you look at two fields you may find it hard to believe that the same seed was sown in both; but so it was. The difference is in the soils. In Hutchinson, Kansas, there is a grain elevator with a capacity of ten million bushels of wheat. Every bushel in the hundreds of bins can be traced back to the area where it grew. On the wall in the testing-laboratory of that elevator there is a map of Kansas, county by county; and the kind of wheat each county is producing, this year, is marked there. The same seed wheat, in different counties or in different parts of the same county, may have different protein content or vary in number of bushels to the acre. So some people are better Gospel-soil than others.

To Preach and to Heal

When Jesus sent out his disciples to preach, he sent them to heal too. Health is the church's business. Whatever affects man's health of body, mind or soul, that is the church's affair. When she preaches and brings the Gospel, she has no right to say, "What we preach is only for your soul." The good news about God has transformed whole communities, it has changed the world for women, for children, for slaves, for downtrodden minorities. A gospel which is only for souls is not the Gospel Jesus preached and brought.

Racial Advisers See Opening In Last Stronghold

WASHINGTON (UP)Racial advisers in the Defense Department today hailed the desegregation of the Maryland National Guard as an opening wedge in the "last stronghold" of military segregation.

These officials told the United Press they were 'surprised and delighted" at Maryland Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin's order Sunday to end racial separation of Maryland guard units promptly.

This is the first National Guard organization to be integrated south of the Mason-Dixon line. State-controlled National Guard outfits are segregated in all other Southern states, and in several Northern states. The federally - controlled armed services are integrated.

McKeldin, a Republican, instructed Maryland Adj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord to "initiate without delay all such steps as are necessary to bring an end to racial segregation" in the Maryland guard.

Reckord said he will issue the necessary orders today for immediate elimination of three separate Negro units among the state's 80 or more guard units.

I don't think we'll have any trouble," he told a reporter.

An Electric Shop Owner Says Graham Worked For Him

DENVER (UP)—A Denver electric shop owner revealed today that John Gilbert Graham, 23, the accused airliner bomb plotter, worked for him six days last month to learn about electricity.

Graham confessed to the FBI, but later denied that he placed a dynamite bomb in his mother's luggage before she boarded the United Air Lines DC6B in Denver. Graham is charged with the first-degree murder of his mother, Mrs. Daisey King, 54, who was killed with 43 others in the explosion aboard the Portland-bound plane on Nov. 1.

The Rocky Mountain News, in a copyright story, said today that Damon Ward, owner of an electric shop in Denver, hired Graham on Oct. 10. Ward said Graham wanted the job for some "needed (electrical) experience." Graham worked six days and never came back."

Graham will be arraigned Nov. 28 in Denver District Court.

Political Pace Quickens Today In Wake Of Adlai's Speech For Presidential Nomination

WASHINGTON (UP) — The political pace quickened today in the wake of Adlai E. Stevenson's kickoff speech for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Stevenson "cut out quite a task for himself" by criticizing the administration's economic and foreign policies. Hall said the administration had scored its most "positive accomplishments" in thee field.

But Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler expressed confidence that Stevenson's speech at a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago Saturday would win the Democrats some votes.

Butler said Stevenson called for a "moderate" and "liberal' program as against GOP efforts in behalf of the "special interests."

"Dinner-Circuit Politics"

The White House at Gettysburg, Pa., dismissed the speech as dinner-circuit politics. Said Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty: "He probably had to say something for $100 a plate."

Hall said Stevenson was talking "bunk." "We note that he has taken up Harry Truman's line on special interests, but is silent on the corrupt forces that infested the Fair Deal."

Hall said Stevenson "will get absolutely nowhere" by attacking an administration "that has an all-time record of 65 million americans working at the best jobs they ever had." He also said "the people have had enough" of the "Truman-Acheson" foreign policy.

Americans for Democratic Action accused the administration of relying on "prosperity' to scale down public services in order to cut taxes "for a favored few." It accused the administration of inaction on behalf of low-income families.

Butler made it clear that the Democrats will campaign against the record of the Eisenhower administration regardless of who is the GOP candidate.

Appearing on a television program, he had a kind word for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and firmly denied he is prejudiced against Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn). Both are potential Stevenson rivals for the Democratic nomination.

Marie Dionne Reported To Be In Precarious Condition

MONTREAL (UP) — Marie Dionne the frailest of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets, was reported today to be in "very precarious condition" with pernicious anemia at a church-operated hospital. But hospital officials denied she was there.

Unconfirmed reports said the 21-year-old girl who left the cloisters of a Quebec City convent Wednesday for the second time in 16 months entered the Notre Dame De L'Esperance Hospital Saturday.

It was believed Marie's family ordered a news blackout on her condition. Nuns at the hospital where Cecile and Yvonne, two of her sisters, are training to be nurses, agreed to withhold news of her admission there. A switchboard operator refused to put through calls to Cecile or Yvonne.

It became known over the weekend that Marie — who took the name of Sister Marie-Rachel when she became a novice in the convent —was staying at the hospital.

In Callender, Ont., Oliva Dionne, her father said "I don't think she will ever return to the convent."

Marie originally entered the order Nov. 3, 1953. She left the convent for the first time in July, 1954, because of "poor health, loss of appetite and extreme homesickness" and stayed at the family home in Callender.

New Cold Wave In Northern Plains

By UNITED PRESS

A new cold wave spilled into the northern Plains from Canada today and hurricane force winds pounded the nation's first Texas tower off the Cape Cod coast.

The cold air mass dumped temperatures 22 degrees to near zero at International Falls, Minn., and Grand Forks, N.D. Meanwhile, a new snow storm was brewing for Colorado, Wyoming, and western Nebraska.

In the Atlantic Ocean, 35-foot waves battered the Texas tower erected 110 miles off Cape Cod's southeastern tip. Thirty-seven Air Force technicians and observers assigned to the early warning radar signal station were stranded for the fourth straight day.

Officials said "there's no telling just when they'll get off."

The East got a taste of wintry weather over the weekend, with Youngstown, Ohio, measuring 6 inches of snow and 2-4 inches of snow covering parts of New York state and New England.

Mrs. Leiter and King were killed Sunday at 2:30 p.m. as two cars collided at a country road intersection near Albion.

Mrs. Leiter's husband, Ray, 24, is in critical condition. He was taken to the Luckey hospital, Wolf Lake, and was transferred to St. Joseph hospital in Fort Wayne Sunday night.

Windows Of Homes Of 3 Non-Strikers Have Been Shot Out

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—Windows of the homes of three non-striking Perfect Circle Corp. employes were shot out during the night.

But all was quiet at the company's foundry today and strikers made no attempt to prevent workers from entering the plant.

The broken windows came on the heels of a demonstration Saturday in which strikers circled the foundry in cars in an effort to prevent non-strikers from entering.

Plant supervisors Gerald Harvey told police the windows in his Sulphur Springs home were shattered sometime Sunday night.

Windows were also shot out at the homes of two non-striking workers in New Castle.

CIO United Auto Workers have been on strike at the plant since last July 25. A gun battle between strikers and non-strikers Oct. 5 wounded nine persons and caused Governor Craig to invoke martial law. The last of 1,000 National Guard troops left the area four days ago.

Shattered windows, rock-throwing and auto blockades of the plant entrances preceded the Oct. 5 riot over a period of weeks.

Vatican Press Says Pope Saw Vision Of Christ

VATICAN CITY (UP) — The Vatican press office said officially today that Pope Pius XII saw a vision of Christ during his serious illness last December.

Luciano Casimirri, head of the press office, said he had been authorized to confirm the report, first published last Saturday by the Italian weekly magazine Oggi (Today.)

The Oggi article, which the press office confirmed, said:

"The Holy Father is absolutely positive that he saw Jesus. It was not a dream; he was fully awake and lucid at that moment."

Vatican quarters said the Pope therefore became the first person in the 2,000-year history of the Roman Catholic Church to have reported seeing a vision of Christ himself.

Others before the present pontiff had seen visions of the Virgin Mary, the Holy Eucharist and the bleeding heart of Jesus.

This was the second vision of the pontiff, who is now 79 years old, The first was five years ago during the Roman Catholic Holy Year of 1950.

Police Waiting For Tongay's Surrender

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Police waited today for the surrender of swimming instructor Russell Tongay, who escaped from a Florida prison guard while serving a sentence for the high dive death of his 5-year-old "Aquatot" daughter.

Tongay escaped last week while receiving treatment for a lung ailment at Marine Hospital in New Orleans. He had been granted the special prison leave by the Florida Pardon Board.

The brawny ex-Coast Guardsman had been sentenced to a 10-year prison term for manslaughter in the death of his daughter, Kathy who died of injuries after a 33-foot exhibition dive.

The 38-year-old fugitive telephoned his "best friend" William Burrell Jr., Coral Gables, Fla., Sunday.

Burrell said Tongay told him he had suffered amnesia since his his escape and "didn't remember anything until yesterday." He said Tongay claimed he was in Los Angeles to obtain medical care but would surrender today.

Tongay, 38, was a controversial figure even before his daughter's death because of his reported "exploitation" of Kathy and her brother, Bubba, as the "Aquatots."

Man Charged With Wild Jail Escape, Faked Heart Attack

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Leroy C. Allen, 56, was charged today with a wild jail escape in which he faked a heart attack, slipped out of his shackles at General Hospital, and commandeered a car with a knife at the driver's throat.

Allen complained of heart seizures to a turnkey at Marion County Jail Sunday. He was taken to the hospital and treated, but escaped within minutes.

Two doctors gave chase in their cars as Allen commandeered a car driven by Robert E. Burns, 51. He threatened Burns with a homemade knife at his throat. Police cars finally forced the car to the curb with guns drawn.

Allen, whose prison record dates to 1917, surrendered without further resistance. He said he stole a spoon in jail Saturday and honed it into a razor-sharp knife by scraping it on his cell floor.

Allen said he released the irons on his legs at the hospital by placing a strip from a matchbook cover into an opening.

"Nothing to it," he said, "I've been doing it for years."

Special Daily Tally On Traffic Deaths

WASHINGTON (UP) — The 48 states began a special daily tally of traffic fatalities today in a campaign to prevent death on the nation's highways.

The campaign will last three weeks and will be highlighted by "Safe Driving Day" on Dec. 1. At that time an all-out effort will be made to go through a 24-hour period without a single traffic fatality. This is the second year for the campaign.

President Eisenhower, his committee for traffic safety, and more than 200 national organizations have endorsed "S-D Day."

Last year's S-D Day, Dec. 1, fell far short of the no-death goal. A total of 81 persons were fatally injured on Dec. 1, 1954. During the three-week period encompassed by the 1954 campaign the traffic toll was 2,144.

Strauss Says Russia Winning War Of Classrooms

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (UP) — Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission warned today that the United States faces possible disaster because Russia is winning the "cold war of the classrooms."

Strauss called for immediate action to match Russia's stepped-up program of training engineers and scientists. The "already dangerous" situation could become "disastrous' 'within less than a decade he said.

In a speech prepared for the sixth institute of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation, Strauss said:

"Between 1950 and 1960, which may be the most critical decade of our national existence, Russia is expected to produce 1,200,000 trained engineers and scientists, against our 900,000."

He said the United States currently is about event with the Soviets in the number of trained scientists and engineers and probably has more top-notch men.

But, he said, "the emphasis which the Soviets are placing on science . . . presents a real and growing challenge to us, and to the free world."

If there is to be another world war, Strauss said it "will almost certainly be lost by the country with the fewest resources in trained manpower."

He said the United States requires from 45,000 to 50,000 new trained engineers every year and is getting half that number. Last year's June crop was around 23,000, Strauss said, while Russia at the same time produced 53,000.

Can Put Letters In Your Christmas Packages This Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—You can put letters in your Christmas packages this year without having to pay the regular postage rate for whole parcel.

The Post Office Department announced today a new "combination' mail service that makes it possible for the first time in history to include a letter or message inside a fourth-class (parcel- post) package or inside a copy of a publication mailed under second class mail entry.

The new service starts next Monday, Nov. 28, on a 60-day trial basis. All you have to do is indicate on the outside of the package that a letter is enclosed. Then you pay the regular postage rat for the parcel, plus an extra 3 cent stamp for the letter.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said the new system should spell the end of the familiar phrase, "We are sending under separate cover."

Mounted Posse Returns Bodies Of Crash Victims

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)— A mounted posse today returned the bodies of 14 persons killed in the crash of an Air Force C54 transport plane atop towering Mt. Charleston to nearby Ellis Air Force Base.

The bodies were brought down from the snow-capped mountain by a sheriff's posse of 17 men on horseback. The posse said four of the bodies were found burned inside the plane and the remainder had been thrown in front of the plane by the impact of the crash.

Three rescue parties reached the wreckage of the plane Sunday and verified that all 14 of the military and civilian personnel aboard had perished.

The rescue team identified the plane, found near the peak of the two-mile high mountain, as the aircraft which had been missing since Thursday morning on a flight from Burbank, Calif., to the Atomic Energy Commission's atomic test site here.

The plane, which smashed into the mountain Thursday morning, carried five Air Force personnel and nine civilians.

curving thousands of miles around Russia from the Arctic Ocean through NATO to the Philippines through the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO).

The United States, though not a member, will have close political and military ties with the group which forms the "northern tier" of defenses along the southern border of Russia. Turkey and Iran have common frontiers with Russia.

Today's meeting was expected to be largely one of organization. But Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes hinted the group may try to settle the dispute between Israel and its Arab neighbors. Other important decisions may be taken, for Iraq is an Arab state and two others, Lebanon and Jordan, were watching with interest and may join later.

One of the first problems facing the pact nations was the attempts by Russia to extend its influence into the Middle East. Western observers believed the pact might be able to halt this expansion.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan flew in from London Sunday for the meeting. The United States was represented by official "observers," Ambassador Waldemar Gallman, Adm. John Cassady, commander-in-chief of U.S. naval forces in the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean, and Brig. Gen. Forrest Caraway.

The pact gains additional strength because of the way members interlock. Britain and Turkey are members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Turkey also has ties with Greece and Yugoslavia. Pakistan belongs to the Southeast Asia organization.

The Baghdad Pact brings into the alliance 120 million persons, which makes it the largest Moslem military bloc in the world.

Morse Complains Of Lack Of Funds To Aid Our Farmers

WASHINGTON (UP) — Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse complained today that Congress failed to provide enough money for the administration's program to aid low-income farm families.

President Eisenhower, he said, will ask Congress again next year "to provide modest funds so that we can move forward with basic recommendations." Morse made the statement to a joint congressional economic subcommittee studying the problem of low-income families.

The nation's "very low incomes . . . are concentrated in agriculture," Morse said. For instance, he said that in 1950 some 1½ million farm families received less than $1,000 in cash income.

The Democratic Congress this year voted to spend more, over-all, on farm programs than the administration requested. But it slashed sharply the administration's request for funds for a low-income farm program which was submitted late in the session.

Congress approved only $350,000 of the $4,320,000 sought in cash appropriations and only $15,000,000 of the $30,000,000 loan authirization sought for the Farmers Home Administration. Morse noted that Congress also failed to authorize FHA loans to part-time farmers.

"The lack of the funds requested has prevented our moving forward with all the services we had planned," Morse said.

The administration's program called for rural development "pilot programs" in 50 counties, involving special extension work, and research. It also called for a step-up in the Labor Department's program for finding job opportunities for low-income farmers.

D.B. Varner, vice president of Michigan State University, suggested that Congress consider the possibility of "subsidizing in some way the movement of industry into depressed and under - employed agricultural areas" to open up job opportunities.

Bowie; and presidential aides Sherman Adams, Joseph M. Dodge, Nelson Rockefeller, Dillon Anderson, and Col. Andrew Goodpaster.

Mr. Eisenhower was reported in fine shape for the meetings. He has conferred individually with most members of both groups since Sept. 24 heart attack but has not attended a full session of either.

Renews Issue Over Government Aid To Parochial Schools

WASHINGTON (UP) — An old controversy over government aid to parochial schools flared anew today.

The U.S. Catholic hierarchy joined the issue with a 2,500-word statement asserting the "full right" of church-operated schools "to be considered and dealt with as components of the American educational system."

The strongly worded statement was issued by 208 Catholic cardinals, archbishops and bishops at the conclusion of their annual three-day meeting here Saturday.

The prelates did not ask for direct support of parochial schools with tax funds. But they said student attending "private and church related schools" have a clear right "to benefit from those measures, grants or aids which are manifestly designed for the health, safety and welfare of American youth, irrespective of the school attended."

The statement came just a week before the long-scheduled White House Conference on Education. The question of federal aid to public and private schools is expected to be a main topic for discussion at the conference, starting here next Monday.

The stand taken by the hierarchy promptly drew fire from Glenn L Archer, executive secretary of the organization, Protestants and other Americans united for separation of church and state. He charged that Catholic leaders are "beginning a drive for all-out government financial support of their institutions."

Japan Broadens Her Government

TOKYO (UP) — The government resigned today to clear the way for Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama to form a more powerful cabinet that will include the newly created Liberal - Democratic Party.

Broadening of the government to bring in some former Liberals was expected to stiffen Japan's front against Communist peace blandishments and strengthen the policy of friendship and cooperation with the free world.

Hatoyama picked up the resignations of his cabinet ministers at a morning meeting.

The new cabinet was expected to be completed this afternoon.

When the Liberals decided to merge with the Democrats to form a single conservative party last week they agreed that Hatoyama would continue as prime minister until spring when Liberal leader Taketora Ogata will take over.

A special Diet session Tuesday will be convoked to elect a new prime minister. Hatoyama's election was a foregone conclusion because the Liberal - Democrats hold 299 seats in the 467-member lower house.

Michigan State, UCLA And Texas Christian Campuses Ring With Bowl Bid Celebrations

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

The Michigan State, UCLA and Texas Christian campuses rang today with joyous celebrations of bowl bids, while seven teams still hopeful of getting invited to play somewhere Jan. 2 girded themselves for this week's games that will decide their fate.

Michigan State became the Big Ten's Rose Bowl team by "remote control" when Michigan muffed the berth in losing to Ohio State, 17-0.

ULCA nailed down the spot as Pacific Coast conference representative by drubbing Southern California, 17-7. The Uclans also got the PCC title, but the Big Ten crown went to Ohio State.

That makes the rose carnival at Pasadena, Calif., the second major bowl to complete its lineup, since the Orange Bowl already had matched Oklahoma and Maryland.

Texas Christian became the Southwest Conference's host team for the Cotton Bowl by crushing Rice, 35-0. The Horned Frogs may not win the league title, but pacemaking Texas A&M is eneligible for the bowl because it's under conference probation.

These clinchings leave three major bowl berths to be filled— the visiting team in the Cotton Bowl and both teams in the Sugar Bowl. They are expected to be filled from the following: Auburn, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Pittsburgh, Miami of Ohio, Navy, and Army.

The first three are scrapping for the Southeastern Conference championship which Mississippi can clinch by beating Missisippi State this aturday. However, insiders figure Ole Miss is more likely to go to the Cotton Bowl with either Auburn or Georgia Tech playing host in the Sugar.

The winner of the Army-Navy service classic, which will be nationally televised on Saturday, is almost certain to get a bid to one of these two, and perhaps both.

Pittsburgh ended its season with a 7-3 record by routing Penn State, 20-0, and Miami of Ohio hopes to conclude a perfect 9-0 season on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, by beating Cincinnati

Eight Straight Crown

Last Saturday's action also saw Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team in the ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches, wrap up its eighth straight undisputed Big Seven champioship by crushing Nebraska, 41-0, the Sooners' 28th straight victory and their 54th straight league game without a loss. And Princeton clinches the Ivy League championship by a 6-3 win over Dartmouth as second-place Yale trounced Harvard, 21-7.

In addition to the Southeastern Conference title, the Southwest, Skyline, Missouri Valley, and Border crowns will be decided this week.

In the Southwest, the Texas Aggies can clinch by beating Texas Thursday, but a loss would let TCU win the title by beating SMU Saturday. In the Misouri Valley, Wichita can finish in a tie with Detroit for first place by beating Tulsa Thursday. In the Skyline, Wyoming can finish in a tie with Colorado A&M by beating Denver Thursday. And in the Border, Arizona (Tempe) St., can clinch by beating Arizona Saturday.

The final week is a big one for those traditional games. Thanksgiving Day will be Pennsylvania-Cornell and Utah-Utah State, while Saturday brings Holy Cross-Boston College, Southern California-Notre Dame, Louisiana St-Tulane, Oklahoma-Oklahoma A&M, and Georgia Tech-Georgia.

Nationals Defeat High-Flying Hawks

By UNITED PRESS

Brighter days seem ahead for the Syracuse Nationals, defending champions of the National Basketball Association now mired in last place, because key men Adolph Schayes and Paul Seymour are starting to click.

Schayes and Seymour combined for 45 points Saturday in a losing effort but Sunday their efforts started to pay off in an 84-80 victory over the high-flying St. Louis Hawks.

It was only the second loss in five starts for St. Louis, both to the Nats. And Schayes and Seymour were the men who turned 'em back when Hawks, trailing from the start, twice challenged for the lead. St. Louis moved within one point at 42-41 in the third period, but Schayes sank a three-pointer and set up two quick baskets. The Hawks pulled up to 75-74 with five minutes left, but Schayes and Seymour sank free throws and Red Rocha added a basket to stem the assault.

Schayles 13 to lead the Nats, although Chuck Share of St. Louis took game honors with 20. It was the first game the Hawks played without scoring ace Frank Selvy, who enters the Army today.

In other Sunday games, the Rochester Royals beat Minneapolis, 104-96, and the New York Knicks downed Fort Wayne in overtime, 119-115.

Rookie Maurice Stokes continued his fine play for Rochester with 25 points as the Royals built up a 16-point lead in the third period and breezed. Clyde Lovellette led the Lakers with 21 points.

The Knicks trailed by 10 points after three periods but Jim Baechtold's free throw with 42 seconds left tied the score. In the overtime, Dick McGuire of the Knicks and Max Zaslofsky of the Pistons staged a scoring duel with McGuire's three-point play with 1:14 remaining the clincher. Harry Gallatin had 25 points for the Knicks and Larry Foust had 30 for Fort Wayne.

Fiore Is Favored Over Rinzi Nocero

NEW YORK (UP)—Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn, a financially independent ex-welterweight contender, returns to the ring tonight after a 13-month lay-off for a TV 10-rounder with middleweight Rinzi Nocero of Brooklyn at St. Nicholas Arena.

Because he had saved his earnings from 70 professional fights and invested them wisely, 26-year old Fiore was able to take the long lay-off and let his often-cut brows heal properly.

Tonight left-hooker Carmine resumes his campaign for a shot at the 147-pound title and he is favored at 8-5 to beat Nocero. He is confident there will be no blood about his eyes tonight, although face cuts caused him to be stopped eight times during his career.

In his last bout on Oct. 29, 1954, he was stopped in the seventh round by Vince Martinez of Madison Square Garden because his right brow was bleeding profusely. Martinez of Patterson, N.J., is now the fourth-ranking contender.

Fiore's 47-18-5 record includes 18 knockouts.

Middleweight Nocero, 24, has had but 29 fights because an Army hitch curtailed his activities. However, he is a dangerous opponent for a fighter who cuts easily because he's a "club fighter" who uses head-down bulling tactics. His 26-3-0 list includes only eight knockouts.

Reds Beat Hornets

By UNITED PRESS

The Providence Reds, who won only 21 games last year, already have gained 11 triumphs this season and today lead the American Hockey League race by six points.

The Reds, who signed a working agreement with the New York Rangers during the off season, choked off the Pittsburgh Hornets' bid to pick up ground by defeating the Pennsylvanians, 5-3, Sunday night. Led by former Rangers Camille Henry (one goal and two assists), Aldo Guidolin and Bill McCreary, Providence scored three times in the final period.

The Hornets, who had moved up steadily from last to second in the last two weeks, now are tied for the runnerup spot with the Cleveland Barons and Buffalo Bisons.

The Bisons, paced by Ken Wharram (one goal and four assists), Charlie Blair (two goals and three assists) and Pete Conacher (two goals and one assist) clobbered the Springfield Indians, 8-3, in Sunday's only other game.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) —Golden Gibson, 43, considered giving up cigarette today.

Gibson said when he reached into his pocket for a cigarette Sunday without looking he took out a two-inch firecracker and lit it.

The all-yellow banana is at the best stage of ripeness for use as an infant food and in baking.

Mizell Wins

HAVANA, Cuba, (UP)— Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, who'll be back with the St. Louis Cardinals next season after a hitch in the Army, gained his fifth win in the Cuban Winter League Sunday while striking out 10 batters. Mizell, who now has struck out 75 batters in 61 innings, pitches for Havana, which beat Almendares, 3-1.

Canadiens Wallop New York Rangers

By UNITED PRESS

The National Hockey League leading Montreal Canadiens had an unbeaten string of 11 games today but will have to play without star Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion for three to five weeks.

The Canadiens, who walloped the second-place New York Rangers, 6-1, Saturday night in Montreal, had to go all out to gain a 1-1 tie with the pesky New Yorkers before a standing-room-only crowd of 15,358 Sunday night.

Geoffrion, who suffered a shoulder separation earlier in the season which kept him on the sidelines for a month, received the same kind of injury Sunday night after slamming into the boards behind the New York cage late in the final period. X-rays taken at a New York hospital revealed the injury.

In another outbreak of tie games, the Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings battled to a 1-1 deadlock in Chicago, while the Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs wound up in a similar 1-1 tie at Boston.

Montreal leads New York by eight points, Boston and Chicago are tied for third place, another two points farther back, Detroit is in fifth place, another point back and Toronto is last, two points back of Detroit in the standings.

Wally Hergesheimer netted New York's goal in the first period, but Doug Harvey gained the equalizer for Montreal in the middle period.

Real Chevrefils scored Detroit's goal six minutes after Hec Lalande had given Chicago a 1-0 lead in the opening period, while Leo Labine got a lucky first period goal for Boston when the disc deflected off his stick. Tod Sloan evened matters, however, by netting Toronto's goal in the middle period.

Chartreuse Pup

CHICAGO (UP) — Queenie, a black, white and brown bird dog had a litter of seven puppies and the first six followed the same color pattern.

Owner John Bednarczyk said "something got fouled up" on the seventh puppy. It came out bright chartreuse.

About 41.7 per cent of Michigan factory workers are employed by the auto industry.

School Teams Play Basketball Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday

Larwill, Churubusco and Jefferson Center high school basketball teams will play Tuesday evening games, South Whitley and Wolf Lake Wednesday evening and Columbia City Friday evening this week.

The Larwill Trojans will meet the Churubusco Eagles at Larwill Tuesday. The Eagles have had three losses to Coesse, Wolf Lake and Roanoke. The Trojans have lost three and won one.

The Coesse Indians defeated Larwill by a score of 41-26 and the Indians defeated the Eagles by a score of 59-43, so the teams should be pretty evenly matched.

The Jefferson Center Tigers will play Union Center there.

The South Whitley Bulldogs, the only undefeated team in Whitley county, will meet the North Manchester Trojans Wednesday night at South Whitley. The Bulldogs defeated Huntington township, Huntertown, Larwill and Jefferson Center.

The Wolf Lake Wolves will play at Albion Wednesday night.

Columbia City will play their first home game against Kendallville Friday evening at Marhall Memorial Hall.

Around The Clock: Around The World!

By UNITED PRESS

BERLIN (UP)— West Berlin Mayor Otto Suhr told Berliners in his semi-monthly radio broadcast Sunday that the Western Allies will protect the city from any Communist moves.

The Socialist malor forecast Communist "pinpricks" but said these would be nothing to a city that has gone through "so many difficult situations in 10 years of the cold war."

"We are thankful to the Western allied foreign ministers that at the end of the unsuccessful Geneva conference they once more announced emphatically and explicitly the continued interest of their governments in the maintenance of the security and welfare of Berlin," he said.

MANILA (UP)— Seventeen persons were killed in traffic accidents Sunday— final day of safety and accident prevention week. The dead included 14 persons killed when two passenger buses were wrecked as they raced on a concrete bridge. Twenty-two other persons were injured, six seriously.

PARIS (UP)— The nationalized Air France Company announced it was resuming flights to London today. Air traffic has been paralyzed for two weeks by a strike of round workers and weather specialists on the airfields. Air France said it would operate either from Orly or from the military field of Bretigny.

TOBRUK, Libya (UP)— Four hundred former members of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps gathered in this dusty port Sunday to honor the memory of Germans who fell in the North African campaigns of World War II.

It was the first such ceremony since the end of the war. The 400, located through various veterans organizations in West Germany, were flown here at West German government expense with their wives and children.

CRANMORE, County Galway, Ireland (UP)— The 300 residents of this tiny village got their pint of porter at the old price of 17 cents today after boycotting all six pubs in the area.

Porter drinkers began walking four miles to the village of Clarengridge when local pub owners raised prices a penny a pint Wednesday. One by one the local pub owners restored the old price and residents did their drinking at their old haunts.

SENDAI, Japan (UP)—The Honest John rocket launcher will be test fired Nov. 29 on Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost island, the U.S. Army announced today.

It will be the second time the weapon, capable of carrying an atomic warhead, will be fired since it arrived in Japan Aug. 22. The practice projectile will be filled with concrete.

Cub Scouts

Life, top leaders trained, increase in membership and 100 per cent attendance at the district round table.

Again this year on November 14 the cub pack received the citation of honor for outstanding scouting achievements.

On November 6 the den mothers, the scoutmaster and his assistant attended a leadership training session held at the YMCA. This is the third year some of the leaders of the pack have attended this session. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Watson were on the faculty for the training period in charge of handicraft. There were approximately 300 people who attended.

Cub scouting is building a greater tie between parents and boys in this city, giving the boys training that builds character and teaching them to create, work and play with other boys in their neighborhood.

Den mothers and committee members spend an average of 200 hours per month working with these boys, age eight to 11 years.

At the Scout-O-Rama at the Fort Wayne Coliseum in April, the cub pack received the president's award, the highest award, for their booth and display of wood burning put on in live action.

All the cub pack meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month and are open to the public. They are planning to have open house in the near future. Watch your paper for the announcement. Come and see Pack 3082 of Columbia City in action.

Stevenson

with Stevenson's praise of "moderation."

Stevenson called moderation "the spirit of the times," but warned against confusing moderation with stagnation. Harriman told a Sunday news conference that "the word 'moderation' is not in the Democratic dictionary."

"The Democratic Party is not moderately for labor, not moderately for the small businessman, not moderately for any one such group," Harriman said. "We are for them all the way."

Harriman, who is expected to blister the Eisenhower foreign policy in a Seattle, Wash., speech tonight, also said he doesn't join Stevenson in believing United Nations patrols should guard the Israel border.

Stevenson also drew fire from Republicans. Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty shrugged off Stevenson's attack on GOP foreign policy as routine politics. And GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Stevenson talked "bunk."

Presidential Assistant Harold E Stassen, said Stevenson's foreign policy criticisms have "puzzled and perplexed" European leaders.

The Stevenson camp could draw comfort from former President Truman's statement that the Saturday night address was "the best New Deal speech I ever heard him (Stevenson) make."

Circuit Court Notes

The case brought against Jay Jackson for non-support was tried before the judge of the circuit court Friday and he was given a suspended sentence to the Indiana State Farm for a period of five years, conditioned upon his good behavior and upon his paying to his wife the sum of $30.00 per week beginning November 26 until further order of the court.

In the case of Charlene L. Henning against Harold Lee Henning by the agreement of the parties the defendant has been ordered by the court to pay to the plaintiff $35.00 per week beginning November 19 for support of their two minor children and plaintiff's attorney fees while case is pending.

In the case of J. Clifford Blanchard agains Mona Jean Blanchard by oral motion of the plaintiff the case has been dismissed at plaintiff's costs.

The administrator has filed and the court has approved the final report in the estate of Willis Rhoads.

Six Followers Of Beria Have Been Shot In Big Blood Purge

For Carrying Out Plots By Head Of Secret Police

Two Others Sentenced To 25 Years In Prison

LONDON (UP)—Soviet Russia disclosed today that six followers of the late Lavrenti P. Beria have been shot in the biggest known blood purge of the supposedly tranquil Bulganin-Khrushchev regime.

Tiflis Radio announced that six former police officials in Beria's home state of Georgia were executed for carrying out plots by the executed secret police head, covering up his misdeeds and framing his enemies.

In addition two others were sentenced to prison terms of 25 years, a broadcast from Tiflis, capital of the Georgia republic, reported.

It was the biggest purge since Beria himself was fired as Soviet secret police chief early in the reign of Georgi Malenkov and shot in December of 1953 for allegedly plotting against Malenkov's government and the Soviet communist system.

Last December four Beria accomplices were shot in a follow-up purge sweeping Georgia—hotbed of Beria men and home of both Beria and the late Josef Stalin.

But after Malenkov resigned in February, a new era of bloodless tranquility seemed to dawn in Russia under Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev. Today's Tiflis Radio broadcast abruptly squashed any theories that blood purges went out with Malenkov.

Rather the new Georgia trials served clear notice that Bulganin and Khrushchev join Malenkov in considering conspiracy with Beria to be a shooting offense.

The broadcast did not make clear whether the eight newly-purged Beria men were convicted for old activitfes, or whether they may have been carrying on the strong man's activities after his death.

"The military board found that Beria entrusted the accused with the execution of such criminal acts which were most important to him," the broadcast said cryptically.

Among the executed men were the top secret police officials of Georgia during or immediately after the Stalin dynasty.

MEET "EUGENIE"—She's a 180-pound dugong, considered by marine biologists to be among the rarest of sea-going mammals. Eugenie was rushed to the Steinhart Aquarium in San Francisco, Calif., after being caught in the western Pacific. The dugong, known popularly as a "seacow," is the catch of Dr. Robert Harry, Stanford University marine biologist. Dr. Harry is shown introducing Eugenie to newsmen.

United States Will Reject Israel's Urgent Plea For Security Pact

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States will reject — at least for the present — Israel's urgent plea for a security pact with this country, diplomats said today.

Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett issued a public appeal for the treaty Monday in an address before the National Press Club.

But diplomats said the United States now considers the 1950 U.S.-British-French declaration on the Middle East adequate protection for the Jewish state against possible attack from her Arab neighbors. That declaration said the three would take action consistent with their United Nations obligations to prevent border violations.

Sharett said the 1950 declaration "purported to guarantee against violent encroachment" of Arab-Israeli borders.

"It is this guarantee that now stands urgently in need of an unequivocal and emphatic reaffirmation by means of a security treaty," he said.

"The buttressing of Israel's security would not only meet the present emergency but would, by discouraging counsels of aggression, pave the way for lasting peace."

The United States meantime is working to get both parties in the bitter Middle Eastern controversy to work out an arrangement settling boundaries. When permanent boundaries are agreed upon, the United States will be willing to join a treaty guaranteeing them.

Sharett left the door open a crack to meeting U.S. proposals for agreeing on boundaries when he indicated Israel may be willing to make some minor border adjustments. But he flatly ruled out any major territorial concessions to the Arab Nations.

Suspicious

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Citizens National Bank guard E. R. Swenson said he noticed Richard Sauer, 44, acting suspiciously in the bank lobby Monday and asked Sauer what he was doing.

"You'd better call the FBI and police," Swenson quoted Sauer, "I was just about to hold up your bank."

Police, who arrested Sauer on suspicion of bank robbery, said they found in his pocket a toy plastic gun with "Dragnet' stamped on one side and "Badge 714" on the other side.

Hospital Patient

Mrs. Lester Arnold was taken from her home in Coesse to the Whitley County Hospital Monday morning in the J. A. DeMoney and Son ambulance. Mrs. Arnold fell at her home and received injuries to her left shoulder.

Oak Grove Church Of God

Don't you just love the season of Thanksgiving! I do. Football talk, turkey, the smell of hot mince pies, seeing children's delight in going to Grandmother's house as dads and mothers visit with uncles, aunts, cousins, and troubles are forgotten for a day. It's the Americanism in us — a tradition, a custom, an ecstasy.

We are told that our forefathers brought with them on the Mayflower a furniture maker. However, after they arrived in America, he was so busy making caskets that he had not time to build furniture. Those were rugged days. Yet, in the midst of those loses sustained, they declared a day of Thanksgiving in the bitter cold New England winter. The Pilgrim, with the Bible in his right hand and a rifle over his left shoulder, went to his crude sanctuary to praise God for his few blessings.

We still have our rifle. Twentieth Century model-the cobalt bomb. Let's n otforget the Bible; we have it too!

People in many lands today are not concerned whether their TV is a twenty one or twenty-four inch, if they are driving a '55 of '56 automobile; they are praying for a crust of berad to relive the gnawing pangs of hunger.

Did you ask to be born in America? Have you counted your blessings? Have you thanked God? As you go to your Thanksgiving table, which will be loaded with delicacies, I suggest you take time to read one of the following: Psalms 65, 66, or 118. Thank Him from whom all blessings flow. It is God who has crowned the year with goodness.

Dr. William Bryan Dies At Age 95

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UP) — Hoosierland mourned today the loss of Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president emeritus of Indiana University, who died in his campus home 10 days after his 95th birth anniversary.

Services will be held in the presidential home on campus at 11 a.m. CST Wednesday. Burial will be made in Crown Hill cemetery at Indianapolis.

Bryan's name was almost as familiar as that of the university itself. He was born Nov. 11, 1860, only two miles from the campus where he enrolled in the early 1880s and spent most of his long life.

He was the fourth oldest graduate of the university and the oldest living alumnus to have won an athletic letter. Bryan played baseball.

Bryan, after his college graduation, worked his way up in the faculty to the position of president in 1902. He served in that capacity 35 years, retiring in 1937. His successor was Dr. Herman B Wells, who still is president.

Bryan retired to a home on the campus and helped care for his invalid wife, Charlotte, who died in 1948.

Bryan retained an active interest in the school and educational affairs until shortly before he died. His health failed steadily during the last year but his condition did not become critical until after his 95th birth anniversary.

Youth Admtis Firing Shot That Killed Policeman

Climax Of Wild Holdup Spree

HENDERSON, Ky. (UP) —An 18-year-old Fayetteville, Ark., youth has admitted he fired the shot that killed a policeman as the climax of a wild holdup spree that started in Southern Indiana Sunday night.

Sergeant Wyatt Patrick of the Arkansas State Police said Benjamin C. Sittons signed a statement admitting he shot officer Jack Ranier.

Sittons was captured near Jonesboro, Ark., Monday. He waived extradition and was slated to be taken from Craighead County, Ark., jail to Henderson sometime today.

The arrest of Sittons ended a five-state dragnet set by state police and FBI agents to catch three men believed involved in the crime wave.

Joe Pearman, 18, Fayetteville, was capturd at Henderson shortly after the shooting and Charles Winger, 18, Wichita, Kan., was caught at Evansville, Ind.

Pearman held on a murder charge, admitted being with Sittons when he killed the 24-year-old law officer at a used car parking lot.

Winger admitted being with the two men, but said he separated from them before the shooting.

According to police, the three bandits broke into several Indiana filling stations before they were spotted by Indiana state police at Fort Branch, Ind.

Troopers Dan Oakes and William Sharer chased the men in a running gun battle which ended when the men abandoned their car and escaped is a stolen farm truck.

Ranier and another officer spotted the truck in Henderson and attempted to question the occupants. The officers were met by a fusilade of shots which killed Ranier.

Brazil Deputies Say Filho Unfit To Resume Office

Alert State Troops For An Emergency

By JUAN DE ONIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — The lower house early today declared ailing President Joao Cafe Filho unfit to resume office and state troops were alerted for any emergency in Brazil's second major crisis in two weeks.

Cafe was under virtual house arrest in his swank apartment in the Copacabana sector of Rio de Janeiro. Troops surrounded his house waiting for him to leave so he could be "invited" to go to the war ministry for questioning.

Cafe, under treatment for a mild heart attack for several weeks, precipitated the crisis Monday when he announced his intention to take back his job.

Troops bolstered by tanks and guns took up strategic positions throughout the capital. Two heavy cruisers moved into Guanabara Bay and anchored just offshore without explanation. The Navy is regarded as pro-Cafe.

Army leaders were said to have vetoed Cafe's return to power because they feel he is too close to the Navy, the Air Force and the National Democratic Union Party groups which the Army believes are trying to prevent president-elect Jusselino Kubitschek from being inaugurated Jan. 3.

The Brazilian crisis two weeks ago stemmed from the same thing. The army ousted Acting President Carlos Luz — a friend of Cafe's — and replaced him with Nereu Ramos, president of the Senate. Ramos was confirmed by Congress and the army said it was acting to prevent a coup against Kubitschek.

The streets were almost deserted. Troops controlled city traffic and forced all vehicles excpt small buses of all main thoroughfares. Censorship was reimposed as it had been during the previous crisis. Troops dug trenches and piled up sandbag fortifications.

The Social Democratic Party which supported Kubitschek in the Oct. 3 elections teamed with other parties to introduce a motion to prevent Cafe from assuming the presidency. The National Democratic Union fought the motion, claiming its approval "would open the way to military dictatorship" in Brazil.

Two Candidates At Churubusco Ask For Recount

William C. Veazey and Nile Egolf, two democratic candidates defeated in the November 8 election for trustees of the first and second ward for Churubusco, have filed a petition asking for a recount.

Their republican opponents were Cecil F. Allman and Abraham D. Nestel. In the final counting of the votes Veazey received 169 votes and Allman received 173, giving Allman a majority of four votes. In the counting of the votes Egolf received 164 votes and Nestel received 173, giving Nestel a majority of nine votes.

The petitioners state in their petition that they believe through a mistake or fraud the votes cast for the offices at the election were not correctly counted and returned and are asking for a recount. The petition was filed in the circuit court November 21.

That Explains It

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (UP) — Five Tlahica Indians hired as extras for a movie being filmed near here had a ready explanation for their appearance at another film company's location.

The extras said the matzo ball soup and gefulte fish served on the Richard Widmark - Jane Greer "Run for the Sun" location was better than the Mexican dishes offered for lunch on that of Robbetter than the Mexican dishes offered for lunch on the set of Robert Mitchum's "Bandido."

Wild Crash Kills Indiana's 1000th Traffic Victim

As Officials Buckle Down For Year-End Campaign

By UNITED PRESS

A wild crash in which a speeding car bounced off a truck and smashed into a house claimed Indiana's 1,000th 1955 traffic victim late Monday as state officials buckled down for a year-end safety campaign.

Charles Parmer, 21, Fort Wayne, was killed when his car ran a stop sign at Allen County's intersection of Woodburn Road and Ind. 101. State Police said the car careened 237 feet into a school parking lot after hitting the truck, plunged 50 feet farther and struck a cement post, flipped over and smashed 75 feet across a front yard into the porch of a nearby home.

Damage to the house was estimated at $1,000. The truck driver, Donald Hissong, 29, Woodburn, was not hurt. Parmer died of a skull fracture, possible broken neck, two broken arms and a broken hip.

The 1,000th death came as the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee launched an intensive safety education program to continue through December 10th. Focal point will be National Safe Driving Day Dec. 1.

It came more than three weeks earlier than in 1954. The 1,000th death that year occurred ironically on S-D Day—Dec. 15.

The total 1954 toll was 1,077, and unless this year's death rate is kept less than two a day for the remaining 40 day of the year, the 1955 toll will beat it with room to spare.

23-Year-Old Unwed Mother Sentenced To Life Imprisonment

PERU, Ind. (UP)—A 23-year-old unwed mother was sentenced to life imprisonment Monday for the murder of her three newborn sons.

The indictment on which Miss Flora Maxine Barnett was sentenced charged her with the strangulation death of Arthur Barnett on July 24, 1954. Two other indictments charging her with the death of sons in 1951 and 1953 were dismissed.

Miss Barnett admitted giving birth to the babies in the bathroom at the home of her uncle, Ray Warren. She said she disposed of the bodies by burning them on a trash pile.

A fourth son, born prematurely, is in satisfactory condition in an Indianapolis hospital.

Warren, named by Miss Barnett as the father of the children, is out on $1,000 bail on a sodomy charge. No date has been set for his trial.

Miss Barnett was composed when she appeared before Judge Henry S. Bailey in Miami Circuit Court for sentencing. She later broke down and wept in the arms of her mother.

Ike, Cabinet Discuss National, World Problems

In Rustic Mountain Lodge

THURMONT, Md. (UP)—President Eisenhower met with his Cabinet in a rustic mountain lodge today to discuss some of the national and world problems that have piled up since his heart attack Sept. 24.

The unusual Cabinet session was the first which Mr. Eisenhower has attended since he was stricken. It was called to order in a 30-by-15 foot frame cabin at Camp David, the President's Catoctin Mountain retreat. Many of the officials attending the session were flown here from Washington by helicopter.

Cabinet discussions are always secret, but it was evident that the subjects considered today included Mr. Eisenhower's State of the Union message to Congress next January, and problems at the United Nations.

Before entering the Cabinet meeting, Mr. Eisenhower disclosed, in a conversation with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and United Nations Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., that he has been concerned about France's recent walkout from the U.N.

Mr. Eisenhower, who arrived here from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm Monday to preside over a meeting of the National Security Council, was accompanied by Dulles and Lodge as he walked from his sleeping lodge to Laurel Lodge, site of the Cabinet meeting.

Dulles and Lodge were explaining that France walked out of the U.N. after the General Assembly voted to investigate the Algerian situation despite French protests that it is an internal affair of France.

Mr. Eisenhower appeared concerned as Lodge and Dulles talked.

"They just walked out, did they?" the President asked earnestly.

The three stopped their conversation as they neared newsmen waiting at the lodge.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty was asked about published reports that Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother had interceded to block demands by Republicans for Secretary of Ariculture Ezra Benson's resignation. Hagerty said he knew nothing of any such action by the President's brother.

Asked whether a previous White House statement that Mr. Eisenhower had not requested and would not accept Benson's resignation still stands, Hagerty said, "of course."

Benson himself said he knew nothing of any intervention by Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University and one of President Eisenhower's most trusted advisers.

Hatoyama Wins Post As Japan's Prime Minister

Forms New Government After His Reelection

TOKYO, (UP) Ichiro Hatoyama was re-elected prime minister of Japan by parliament today and promptly formed a new government with the Japanese conservative political forces united behind him.

The 72-year-old Hatoyama won the post over Socialist Party leader Mosaburo Suzuki by a vote of 288 to 150 in the House of Representatives, and by 149 to 64 in the upper House of Councillors. It was the third time Hatoyama has been named prime minister since his political comeback a year ago.

Hatoyama promptly announced the formation of a cabinet made up of leaders of the Liberal-Democratic Party, born only a week ago by the merger of the Liberal and Democratic parties. The cabinet included 10 former Democrats and seven former Liberals.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, 68, the one-legged diplomat who signed Japan's surrender aboard the USS Missouri in 1945, was retained as deputy premier and foreign minister. He was one of six holdovers from Hatoyama's former government.

The prime minister said he would continue his foreign policy of "peace" and strive to improve domestic conditions. He said he also hoped, among other things, to revise Japan's postwar constitution.

"I believe firmly the time has come for our nation to become a truly independent nation," Hatoyama said.

GOP Conservatives Discuss Ways To Keep Contest Open Pending Ike's Announcement

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republican conservatives are discussing ways to keep the 1956 GOP presidential contest wide open until President Eisenhower announces his political plans.

They fear that if Mr. Eisenhower decides not to run again and then delays his announcement the GOP left with little choice but to nominate whoever is favored by the President or his principal party supporters.

A highly - placed Republican told the United Press Monday that he knows the subject is being discussed. But he added that he is unaware that any organized plan is being developed.

He said sponsors of any such plan are extremely wary of launching it as long as they think Mr. Eisenhower possibly might seek a second term.

Want Early Announcement

If Mr. Eisenhower should withdraw because of his heart attack two months ago, some Republicans, such as Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland, want the announcement early enough to give other potential candidates time for a pre-convention campaign.

On the other hand, the all-out Eisenhower partisans have protested against putting pressure on the President for an early decision. There has been a recent upsurge of hope among these Republicans that he will run again.

Discussions of ways to keep the contest open, pending an announcement by the President, has centered on the proposed entry of "favorite son" candidates from a number of states. However, the prospective favorite sons are reluctant to step out as long as Mr. Eisenhower's plans are unknown.

First AFL-CIO Convention

Meanwhile, the newly - merged AFL-CIO said in a special announcement that it has invited both Mr. Eisenhower and Democratic presidential aspirant Adlai E. Stevenson to address its first convention in New York next month.

In 1952, both the AFL and CIO endorsed Stevenson, who campaigned on a pledge to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law in favor of new labor legislation. Mr. Eisenhower campaigned for Taft-Hartley modification rather than repeal.

The AFL-CIO, whose convention opens Dec. 5, said Stevenson agreed to speak on Thursday Dec. 8. The White House, it said, has indicated that because of his illness the President "will send a special message — instead of appearing personally."

THANKSGIVING 1955

All too often the historic origins of our days of national celebration are clouded by the commercial manifestations of the era, and it behooves us to remind ourselves of the ideals of our forefathers that inspired their observance.

The Day of Thanksgiving carried much more significance to the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock than the day of the turkey feast, the big game, the department store parade.

Having escaped the oppressions and tyrannies of the old world, braved the arrows of the hostile tribes on new shores, endured the hardships of a new clime, these hardy pioneers set aside a day to raise their prayers of Thanksgiving to an Almighty God in everlasting gratitude for their new Freedom.

Prayers of Thanksgiving by a few people are as essential today as they were then—and even more so. With all our free institutions, we are surrounded by oppressions still, and the Indian arrow and the flintlock are replaced by the thermo-nuclear weapons capable of total destruction. Space, time, and the hearts of men are the wildernesses we must conquer today.

In viewing the world around us, should we be any less grateful than the Pilgrim Fathers? Let us express to the Almighty our eternal Thanksgiving for a free press, one of the basic of all freedoms—the right to inform and to be informed freely, without censorship or government or other control or censure.

Surely, this is an inherent right of free men. The Pilgrims voiced their thanks for freedom because they fought for it. Let us pray in this day with thanksgiving for their fight—and our fight to preserve the same freedoms.

Supreme Court To Decide If Ike Overstepped Power

WASINGTON (UP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to decide whether President Eisenhower over stepped his authority two years ago in extending the security program to all government employes.

Kenrick M. Cole, ousted New York food and drug inspector, brought a case to the high court contending that Mr. Eisenhower was bound by a 1950 law to authorize security dismissals only for workers in position which have a bearing on national defene.

The court will rule on Cole's case later this term.

Cole argued that there was no justification for labeling him a security risk when he was fired since he was not in a position to reveal secrets or influence policy.

The government argued that term of the law were broad enough to give the President power to blanket all government workers under the program.

Queen Maggie Captured; Tried To See Children

Wanted For More Than 100 Stickups

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO UP) — Shapely "Queen Maggie" O'Connor, glamor girl of Chicago's underworld and its most wanted criminal, was captured Monday night because she couldn't stay away from her children.

The bandit queen, wanted for more than 100 stickups, was arrested as she tried to visit her three children at her sister's apartment.

She told police that she had left a safe refuge in Galveston, Tex., and returned to Chicago Sunday because she wanted to see her three little girls again. They are 11, 7 and 5 years old.

The 30-year-old "Queen Maggie" was unarmed and accepted arrest with a wisecrack. When Detective Charles Fitzgerald mentioned two identifying moles under her nose, she snapped "those aren't moles—they're beauty marks."

Coy on Capture

Fitzgerald had been on Maggie's trail for months, but she expressed coy surprise that he recognized her because she had put on a little weight.

The 11 p.m. arrest in front of a Near North Side fruit stand ended one of the strangest and most hard-pressed hunts in Chicago police history.

"Queen Maggie" had gone on a two-year crime spree following her release from serving a year's term on a narcotics charge. Police said she bossed one of the city's slickest stickup gangs, often standing on the sidelines during robberies to shout orders to her male followers.

Police Commissioner Timothy O'Connor called her "one of the most sharp-witted women we have ever dealt with" and placed her at the top of the city's list of most wanted criminals.

Husband in Prison

"Queen Maggie," the wife of a convict serving time in Stateville Penitentiary, thus became the most sought for woman in Chicago since Mary Collins, the "kiss of death" girl of the Roaring 20s. Mary's talent was fingering victims for gangsters' guns by kissing them.

Maggie's alleged crimes included a staggering string of robberies and burglaries, including a $3,000 currency exchange stickup and a $100,000 jewelry store robbery. She was also wanted in connection with at least one murder and two bank robberies and was suspected of being a major heroin "pusher."

But, although members of gang were picked up, "Queen M gie" eluded arrest. One of most successful tricks was to shape and dye her hair after eac major job.

Harriman Heads For Oregon, Talks Like Candidate

Continues To Vow He Is Not At This Time

By B. J. MCFARLAND
United Press Staff Correspondent

SEATTLE (UP)—Averell Harriman, governor of New York, headed for Oregon today talking like a presidential candidate but continuing to vow he is not at this time.

Harriman lit into the Eisenhower administration's foreign policy in an address before a Democratic rally here Monday night.

He said in his Oregon visit he would lend the full weight of his support to the reelection of Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), the Republican who turned Democratic after Mr. Eisenhower's election.

Harriman said he would make a major address covering the Pacific Northwest's most vital resource — hydroelectric power—at a Democratic rally and dinner in Milwaukie, Ore., tonight.

In his Seattle speech Monday, Harriman called the administration's foreign policy a "classic in the history of bungling."

Experiments And Slogans

He accused the Republicans of conducting a program of foreign relations based on "ill-conceived experiments" and "flashy slogans."

The result, he said, has been three years of "incompetence and short-sightedness" with great gaps between "official words and official actions."

Harriman said "we Democrats" will be talking about many issues during the next 12 months, including Republican policy regarding farm prices, development of natural resources, labor, big business, housing and "Dixon - Yateism."

Harriman charged that "national policies are confused and uncertain" because "for a generation the Republican Party has been split on foreign policy."

Foreign Policy Unity

"The Democrats long ago achieved unity on the fundamentals of foreign policy," he said. "Not so the Republicans."

The New Yorker traced the present administration's disunity to events preceding the election of President Eisenhower.

"The old guard isolationists wrung from Mr. Eisenhower basic compromises on foreign policy," he said. "First he appeased Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio. Then he tried to appease Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin who redoubled his public demonstrations of contempt.

"Then the President tried to appease Sen. William Knowland, who rewarded him by leading the opposition against the foreign policies of the President."

The result, Harriman said, has "been three years of incompetence and short-sightedness" starting with the "spy unleashing of Chiang Kai - shek" and "irresponsible statements about massive retaliation."

How To Prepare Perfect Turkey

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Here are some tips from govenment food experts on how to cook the "perfect turkey" for Thanksgiving day:

First, select the right size bird for the number of persons you plan to serve—four to 10 servings will take four to eight pounds of bird; 10 to 20 servings, eight to 12 pounds of bird. Remember second helpings count up.

Also be sure to allow two to four days thawing for a large whole frozen bird; one to two days for smaller bird.

On The day, salt the inside of the turkey, stuff (a 6 to 12 pound bird needs two to three quarts of stuffing), and fold the neck skin back, fastening to the backbone with a poultry pin.

Fold the wing tips over the neck skin. Put poultry pins across the body cavity opening, lace across with string, and wrap the string several times around the tail and ends of legs and tie.

Use low oven heat (325 degrees) and plan the roasting time so that the turkey will be done 20 to 30 minutes before serving. Department of Agriculture home economist says the "rest" helps to make the meat juicy and carving easy, and gives cook time to make the gravy.

No Water

Place the bird on a rack in a shallow pan. Do not add water; and do not cover the pan. Place a "tent" of aluminum foil or a piece of thick cloth moistened with fat on top of the turkey. If the skin dries out, baste with pan drippings or melted fat several times during roasting. If the upper breast tends to burn, protect it with a small cloth pad wet frequently with cold water.

Start heavy birds breast down and turn when half done. Smaller birds do well without turning. When roasting is half done or two-thirds done, cut the string to release the legs—the bird cooks better, looks better, the experts said.

Cooking time for a 4 to 8 pound bird is 3 to 4½ hours; 6 to 12 pound birds, 3½ to 5 hours; 12 to 16 pound bird, 5 to 6 hours; 16 to 20 pound bird, 6 to 7½ hours.

The bird is done and delectable when the leg joints move easily and flesh on the legs is soft and pliable when pressed with the fingers.

Sarah Hale's Pen Helped To Found Thanksgiving Day

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (UP) — A woman—Mrs. Sarah J. Hale—gets credit in the history books for the annual national observance of Thanksgiving Day on the last Thursday in November.

Mrs. Hale, editor of Godey's Lady's Book, for 20 years urged that Thanksgiving be celebrated nationally on a uniform date, the last Thursday in November.

Besides her editorials in the once powerful women's magazine, Mrs. Hale made her annual plea in letters to presidents Fillmore, Pierce, Buchanan and Lincoln as well as to state governors.

It was her last editorial, in September, 1863, that bore fruit. President Lincoln the following month proclaimed the last Thursday in November as a day of national thanksgiving and "invited" citizens everywhere to observe it.

Lincoln Not First

It has been a regular observance ever since, although in 1939 President Roosevelt proclaimed the third instead of the fourth Thursday to give merchants a longer sales period between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Some governors refused to go along with the change. And in 1942, by joint resolution of Congress, the nation returned to the fourth Thursday observance.

President Lincoln's proclamation wasn't the first, however.

George Washington issued the first presidential one in 1789 for the nation to give thanks for the successful conclusion of the Revolutionary War and the adoption of the new Constitution.

Sporadic Proclamations

Furthermore, Samuel Adams headed a group of New Englanders, familiar with days of thanks proclaimed by Pilgrim leaders, which was responsible for an annual congressional Thanksgiving Day proclamation from 1777 to 1783. But proclamations for days of thanks, by either Congress or president, were sporadic after that date.

Lincoln himself called for days of Thanksgiving in 1862 and 1863. But in both years he urged Americans to give thanks "at their next weekly assembly for worship" and the thanks and prayers were mainly for Union victories in the Civil war and for "Divine majesty—to subdue the anger which has produced and so long sustained a needless and cruel rebellion."

Lincoln's proclamation in 1863 began with the now traditional reference to "these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come..."

Holiday Turkey, Some Trimmings Will Cost More

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Your Thanksgiving dinner probably will cost "a shade more" this year than last, with the price of the turkey itself causing most of the gain.

With many vegetables prices up also, the bargains of the traditional feast will be sweet potatoes, white potatoes, grapes, dates, raisins, rice, milk and dairy products and plentiful cranberries.

Keeping in mind these Department of Agriculture forecasts, this may be the year to desert the small bird for a hefty one—in more abundant supply—to get your best food buy.

Late Crop

Or, save money by serving a plentiful ham or beef roast as the main course, if you can bring yourself to do without the traditional turkey.

Agriculture department specialist Richard C. Larkin explained that this year's total turkey crop is about four per cent smaller than 1954's; the supply of light, family-size birds alone is down about 15 per cent.

As a result, turkey prices early in November were running about three to four cents a pound higher than a year earlier. Larkin expected the price increase to hold, but noted these two hopeful signs:

This year's crop is later than usual—the biggest turkey supplies will hit markets just at the time of heaviest Thanksgiving and Christmas buying.

Some Vegetables Up

Chain stores often carry turkey as a "loss leader" and might consider a lower price on the birds at Thanksgiving to bring in more customers.

Larkin suggested purchase of heavier birds—16 pounds or more—because the price margin between light and heavier birds is a "little wider" than usual.

He added that beef and pork products are plentiful supply — pork, so much so that the government plans to buy up some pork products to give farm hog prices a boost.

Carrots, celery, onions, cauliflower are among the vegetables showing higher prices than a year ago. Most of the canned vegetable packs are down in size this year but big carryovers from a year ago are helping to keep prices "reasonable."

Recipe For Using Turkey Leftovers

NEW YORK — (UP) — Turkey for the Thanksgiving feast means the inevitable leftovers. But they need not be soup or hash.

Corn bread turkey sandwiches are an extra-delicious dish to use up the remains of the bird. The chopped, cooked meat is served between squares of corn bread, and then topped with a hot mushroom sauce. Use your favorite corn bread recipe, and prepare the squares ahead of serving time if desired.

To make the topping you will need: 4 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 1 cup of finely chopped cooked turkey, 1 can of (10½ ounce) of cream of mushroom soup; ¾ cup of milk, 1 teaspoon of salt, and 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Combine half the chopped eggs, all the turkey, half the mushroom soup, 1-4 cup of the milk, the salt and pepper. Fill corn bread squares with the turkey mixture, sandwich style. Heat in a cooky sheet in moderate over (375 degrees) for about 15 minutes.

In the meantime, combine remaining eggs, mushroom soup and milk in a saucepan. Heat and then spoon on the squares. Serve immediately. For a gourmet touch, sprinkle the squares with blue cheese. Makes 6 servings.

Conservation Of Soil And Water Offers Challenge

ROCKVILLE, Ind. (UP) — Soil and water conservation is one of mankind's most challenging programs for survival, Lt. Gov. Harold Handley said Monday night.

He told Indiana soil conservation supervisors at a Turkey Run State Park meeting humans have wasted water and soil "for too many years" and their realization of the importance of conserving them is "tardy."

"America's consumption of water has doubled in the last 50 years. It will double again in the next 25," Handley said. "If we do not have sufficient fertile soil and sufficient water we will rapidly decline as a nation."

He praised the 1955 General Assembly for creating a water resources study commission to tackle the problem.

Turkey Still Reigns As Thanksgiving King

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (UP) —The traditional turkey, roasted to a golden brown, still is the number one attraction on the nation's holiday dinner tables.

Other main dishes, from roast beef to roast chicken, have made inroads. But the Department of Agriculture says turkey remains "king" at Thanksgiving and Christmas. This year, there are more turkeys than ever before and they cost about five cents less a pound.

The department said some housewives are tempted by the lower prices and ample supplies of most red meats and chickens. Others seek, just for the sake of variety, a menu change from the turkey which has become the tradition of the festive board.

Some Store Birds

Many off-season sales of the birds at reduced prices have enabled consumers to buy and store the birds in home freezers — all ready to shove in the oven come holiday eating time. While there are no figures on the seasonality of consumption, there are figures which bear out the continued seasonal pattern of farmers' marketing.

From 1937 to this year, the percentage of the turkey crop marketed in November has fallen from 38 to 30.2 per cent. Marketings in December have dipped from 36 to 19.6 per cent. Annual per capita consumption figures also show an increase in off-season turkey eating. In 1930., Americans ate only about 1.5 pounds of turkey — just about enough to take care of two sittings — Thanksgiving and Christmas. Last year, the rate climbed to 4.4 pounds per person.

Here Is Why

Here's the reason off-season eating has increased without much loss to traditional holiday feasts.

Since 1930 total production has almost tripled—rising from 222,000,000 pounds to 702,000,000 pounds last year. This year's out-put is expected to hit a new high, up 9 per cent from 1953.

Sooners Will Seek Impressive Victory Over Oklahoma A & M to Solidify Claim To Title

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Oklahoma's split-T powerhouse picked up increased support as the No. 1 college football team in the United Press ratings today with one week left to decide the mythical national championship.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners now seek an impressive victory over Oklahoma A & M in their season finale next Saturday to solidify their claim to the national title. If successful, it will mark their claim to the national title. If successful, it will mark the second time in the past five years that Oklahoma wins the top honor.

Twenty-two of the 35 leading coaches who comprise the United Press rating board picked the Sooners as the No. 1 team this week. Second - ranked Michigan State attracted six first - place votes; Maryland and UCLA, which ranked third and fourth, respectively, each had three first-place votes and seventh-ranked Texas Christian received one.

Ohio State's 17-0 upset victory over Michigan produced the biggest shakeup in this week's top 10. The result boosted the Buckeyes two notches to the No. 6 ranking behind Notre Dame. Michigan, which led the rating for four weeks this season, dropped out of the top 10 for the first time.

Following Texas Christian, which retained the No. 7 rating, came Texas A & M, Georgia Tech and Navy, each advancing one place from last week. The Midshipmen returned to the top 10 after an absence of two weeks, weekend.

The Rose and Orange bowls thus have corraled this week's first four teams. Oklahoma and Maryland wil meet in the Orange Bowl, while Michigan State and UCLA are headed for the Rose Bowl.

The Sooners, who retained the top spot for the third week in a row, widened their lead over Michigan State from 15 to 34 points. Oklahoma's first-place vote total was four more than last week. Wilkinson's Marauders extended their winning streak to 28 and clinched their 10th consecutive Big Seven championship with a 41-0 triumph over Nebraska.

With points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th places, here is how the top 10 lined up: Oklahoma 317; Michigan State 283; Maryland 268; UCLA 245; Notre Dame 210; Ohio State 171; Texas Christian 152; Texas A & M 85; Georgia Tech 79; Navy 31. UCLA and Notre Dame exchanged the rankings they held last week.

Auburn advanced one notch to head the "second 10" teams, followed in order by Michigan, Pittsburgh and Stanford. West Virginia and Mississippi were tied for 15th place; Washington and Duke shared the No. 17 ranking; and Southern California and Iowa tied for 19th place.

Pistons To Play Royals, Hawks

FORT WAYNE, — A Thanksgiving Night date with their oldest rivals, the Rochester Royals, and a Sunday night date with the St. Louis Hawks, current leaders of the Western Division of the National Basketball Association, confront the Fort Wayne Pistons this week.

Stranded in the cellar with a 1-6 record, the Pistons are hampered by the loss of three front court men, Mel Hutchins, who has an injured arch in his left foot; Bob Houbregs, who has a sprained back muscle, and rookie Johnny Horan, who has a sprained ankle.

The Pistons' put up a courageous battle against New York Sunday night before losing, 119-115, in an overtime, yeilding to the fresh troops of the Knicks who now have won nine straight from the Fort Wayne club.

Coach Charley Eckman remained optimistic about his club's chances in the race. He said, "If we continue to play basketball as well as we played this weekend, we'll win plenty of games. The breaks are bound to start coming our way."

Carmine Fiore Wins Over Nocero

NEW YORK, UP) — Welterweight Carmine Fiore of Brooklyn, back in action with a "new face" and an improved right hand, will get another TV fight at St. Nicholas Arena on Dec. 19 because of Monday night's victory over middleweight Rinzy Nocero.

"Thirteen months rest gave me a new face," said left-hooker Fiore today. "It never cut once. Not even a scratch around my eyes."

Swarthy, broad - shouldered Carmine, who won a unanimous 10-round decision over fellow-Brooklynite Nocero at St. Nick's, will be back in the same ring four weeks hence with Danny Giovanelli, also of Brooklyn.

Fiore was happy about his face because face-cuts in the past had caused him to suffer eight technical knockout. After his last kayo by Vince Martinez on Oct. 29, 1954, he took a long rest to let time and the sun heal his wounds properly.

Twenty-six-year old Carmine, favored at 9-5, weighed 149¾ pounds to Nocero's 155½. His left hooks beat bigger Rinzy, but the hardest punch of the fight was Carmine's right to the chin that buckled Rinzy's knees in the sixth round. Nocero is 24.

The official rounds vote favored Fiore 5-4-1, 6-4, 6-4. The United Press had it 6-4.

It was Carmine's 48th victory in 71 fights and Nocero's fourth defeat in 30.

The Dec. 19th fight with Giovanelli will be a return bout. Carmine outpointed him on Sept. 11, 1953.

Around The World! Around The Clock:

By UNITED PRESS

MONTE CARLO, Monaco UP)—Bachelor Prince Rainier III of Monaco intends to start on his long-delayed visit to the United States early next month, members of his entourage said today.

Palace sources said Rainier plans to devote much of his time studying automobile production.

These sources said the handsome 32-year-old prince's trip was not a wife-hunting expedition. The prince recently admitted in an unusual broadcast to the citizens of his tiny principality that the question of getting married has been causing him some concern.

PARIS (UP) — A years-long controversy between city authorities and traditionalists over the gas lights along the famed Champs Elysees was settled by compromise today.

For years, city authorities have been demanding that the gas lamps be replaced by modern electric devices. Equally loud have been the demands by the lovers of old Paris that the gas lamps must stay.

Under the compromise, the Champs - Elysees will get the latest streamlined fluorescent illumination. At the same time, the old gas lights were classified as historical monuments and must not be moved.

VIENNA (UP) — Communist Czechoslovakia will publish a novel by a non communist American author for the first time, the Prague daily newspaper Lidova Demokracie announced today.

The newspaper said Ernest Hemingway's "Old Man and the Sea" will be printed next year by the state-owned National Printing Co.

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UP)—Ceremonies here Monday marked the 150th anniversary of the birth of the French engineer Ferdinand de Lesseps who failed in his attempts to dig the Panama Canal.

Pierre de Lesseps, 47, grandson of the engineer who previously had succeeded with the Suez Canal, was here for the occasion.

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP) — Hundreds of families were reported homeless today in Bogota and two other areas of Colombia because of floods brought on by heavy rains.

Families were evacuated from low-lying districts of Bogota and 14 towns along the Magdalena River, Colombia's main waterway.

LONDON (UP) — Radio Moscow said Monday that the Soviet Union will begin construction of the "world's largest" hydro - electric power station on the Angara River in Siberia next year.

The new power project will be part of the next five - year plan, the broadcast monitored in London said.

Table DecorTo Eat As Well As Admire

NEW YORK —(UP)— Use fruits and autumn vegetables to make a holiday centerpiece the guest can eat as well as admire.

Here are some suggestions:

In the center of a large, round tray, stand a tall red candle (make the candle stand firmly by warming the base and pressing it into a few drops of melted wax). Surround the candle with a row of washed autumn leaves. Heap polished eating apples around the candle. Add a large cluster of blue grapes and one of the seedless green grapes.

Or, select a wide, sprawling basket or basket tray. Arrange golden gourds in the center. Add a cluster of grapes on the leaves at one end; at the other end, a few polished apples, blue plums and late pears. Garnish any blank spaces with walnuts, pecans and almonds, cracked but left in their shells.

When apples are part of a centerpiece, it's a good idea to pass a tray of cheese with the coffee. Provide small fruit plates and fruit knives. The combination makes a fine finish for any holiday dinner, even after the mince pie.

For Holiday Leftovers

NEW YORK— (UP) Next time there's leftover chicken (or turkey) combine it with rice in this easy casserole. You will need 1 cup diced, cooked chicken; 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup; 3 cups cooked rice (5-ounce package of pre-cooked rice); ½ cup milk; 1 cup cooked peas; 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento; and buttered bread crumbs. Blend the soup and milk. Stir in the cooked rice, chicken, peas and pimiento. Pour into a 1½ quart casserole and top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 minutes, or until hot. Yield, 6 servings.

South Whitley Woman To Appear In Handel's 'Messiah'

The magnificent oratorio, "Messiah," by George Frederick Handel, will be performed by the 85-voice chorus of the Fort Wayne Lutheran Choral Society Sunday, December 4, at the Scottish Rite Auditorium, 411 West Berry street, Fort Wayne, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Arthur L. Harley of South Whitley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. O. Germann and head dietician at the Fort Wayne Lutheran hospital will be among those participating in Choral Society when they present the "Messiah."

According to music critics, there is no other story so sublimely beautiful and so full of meaning as the story of the birth, life, death, and resurrection of Christ. The first part portrays the longing of the world for its Redeemer. The second part describes the suffering of "The Messiah," closing with the victory over the grave and ascension to heaven, which is expressed in the great choral number, "The Hallelujah Chorus."

The Fort Wayne Bible College 100-voice "Messiah" chorus will also present Handel's oratorio the "Messiah," Sunday, December 11, in Founders Memorial auditorium on their campus at 2:30 p.m. The performance, which is a traditional event of the college during the Christmas season will be under the direction of Lansing Bulgin, director of the school of music and assistant professor of music.

The program will include the most well-known portions of the "Messiah."

Lovers Quarrel Leads To Suitor Killing Hostess

Then Taking His Own Life

SEATTLE (UP) — An unfinished love letter found in the pages of a book "How To Sell Yourself" today told why a spurned suitor shot and killed a United Air Line hostess and then took his own life.

"Dear Sally — You're probably right. I'm not the man for you" the letter read in part.

It was found in the luggage of Robert D. Clendenin, 26, a New York brokerage worker, who killed stewardess Sally Shedd, 25, Seattle, before 40 horrified passengers aboard the plane.

Clendenin later took his own life.

Miss Miriam K. Garland, another stewardess on the plane, told of the details of the shooting which climaxed a tempetuous romance.

Miss Garland said she was shocked when she saw Clendenin stride up the gangway Monday.

"I keep feeling that I could have prevented it — if I just had shoved her off the plane the minute I saw him," she said.

Spoke A Few Words

"I thought he was going to plead with her again," she said. "They spoke a few words. Then he grabbed her roughly and pulled her back as though he was going to pull her off the plane.

"He then pulled her down into a seat, when I saw a gun in his hand. . . .I was standing about four feet away. He had an ugly look on his face and seemed in a terrible rage.

"He fired three shots at her in rapid succession. He then ran to the doorway looking at us and covering us. I moved to follow and he turned at the door and said 'don't follow and keep away.

"Then he started down the stairs and the Air Force lieutenant ran out and threw him down the stairs."

The lieutenant was Norman Sout of Portland, Ore., Clendenin ran about 25 paces and fired a shot into his neck. He ran another 25 paces behind a tractor and fired a second bullet into his head.

Miss Shedd was pronounced dead on arrival at Renton Hospital. Clendenin died about three hours and 20 minutes later.

According to Miss Garland, Miss Shedd and Clendenin met at the wedding of another stewardess a year ago in New York. In September she joined him in New York.

She said Miss Shedd later tried to break off the romance by letter and telephone, and the pair met in Chicago Nov. 14 to talk things over.

She said Clendenin at that time showed Miss Shedd a gun.

Miss Shedd and Miss Garland stayed together Sunday night and both thought Clendenin had gone back to New York.

Clendenin was the son of Beverly Clendenin, a Salt Lake City attorney.

Miss Shedd was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Shedd of San Francisco.

Elizabeth II Signs Own Holiday Cards

LONDON — (UP) — Britain's Queen Elizabeth II prefers personalized Christmas cards. She also likes to sign them herself.

The young queen already has ordered several hundred cards and they are in her desk at Buckingham Palace so she can sign a few at a time between official duties. This year's card which will go to relatives and close friends has a mounted copy of a family photograph.

India Urges Arab Nations Accept Algerian Question Compromise

And Bring France Back Into U. N. General Assembly

Commission Resumes Work On World's Arms Reduction Problems

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—India today urged the Arab nations to accept a compromise which would eliminate U.N. debate on the touchy Algerian question and bring France back into the General Assembly.

Informed sources said that if agreement was reached a resolution proposing that the assembly "will not proceed" with the Algerian item would be put before an afternoon meeting of the main political committee.

The 12-nation U.N. Disarmament Commission resumes work on the world's arms reduction problem, left deadlocked by the Big Four foreign miniters at Geneva.

France requested the meeting for the commission to consider its annual report to the General Assembly. French Delegate Jules Moch was the only speaker scheduled for the Big Four powers.

France, although taking part in disarmament proceedings, walked out of the General Assembly last Sept. 30 when it voted 28-27 to debate Algerian problems, which France considers its own domestic problems.

Indian Delegate V. K. Krishna Menon was reported to have initiated a resolution to be put before the main political committee which would remove the Algerian item from the General Assembly's agenda and open the way for the return of France.

French Ambassador Herve Alphand was reported to have told Krishna Menon that his government would "agree in principle" with the resolution and return to the assembly if it were adopted.

Krishna Menon conferred with Arab delegates Tuesday but full agreement on the measure was not reached.

Governor Craig Stamps His Okay On Plans For Seaport, Toll Bridge

By KEITH L. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Governor Craig stamped his okay today on plans for a multi - million - dollar seaport and a toll bridge at opposite ends of Indiana.

He also expressed faith in his administration's traffic safety program, dismissed Democratic victories in the state' municipal election and promised to keep hands off next year's Republican race for the gubernatorial nomination.

Craig covered a big variety of topics at a news conference late Tuesday, his first in more than a month.

His chief pronouncement was that arrangements have been completed for private interests to finance a final survey to determine the feasibility of a Lake Michigan seaport north of Valparaiso.

Want Port by 1960

A New York engineering firm will start the survey immediately, he said. It will cost $40,000, which will be borne principally by the New York Central Railroad, the Murchison interests and National Steel Co.

If this survey, which unlike a recent one will consider ocean traffic once the St. Lawrence Seaway is opened, shows the project feasible, engineering and financing plans can be prepared from it, Craig said.

He hopes to start construction of the port in 1957 and complete it in 1960. It would cost about 30 million dollars, that amount obtained from revenue bonds issued by the State Board of Public Harbors and Terminals.

Once the bonds were paid off, the port would be state property.

"This will usher in a new era of development for the entire state and will open countless avenues of economic opportunity," Craig

Windows Broken By Rocks Today At Perfect Circle

Windows Shot Out In Non-Strikers Homes

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP) — Ten windows were smashed by rocks at the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry early today and three non-striking employes reported windows were shot out in their homes.

A plant guard said the windows were broken about 3 a.m. EST today. He said he "saw about eight people" throwing rocks and scared them off by firing his gun in the air.

Earlier, non - strikers James Owens and Kenneth Griffin reported windows shot out in their homes. Owens lives in New Castle and Griffin in nearby Hillsboro. A third man whose home was fired upon asked that his name not be publicized for fear of retaliation.

Griffin was waylayed by masked men as he drove home from work last October. The men were scared off when a passenger in Griffin's car pretended he had a weapon.

No attempts were made to prevent non-strikers from entering the plant today but returning workers were jeered at by pickets.

C.B. Juday, plant manager, charged that as many as 11 pickets appeared in violation of a court order limiting them to five.

In the meantime, another non-striker reported to police that shotgun pellets fired through a window of his home lodged in the bed where his son was sleeping.

Plane Careens Out Of Control Killing 6 Men

Fighter Plane Was Making Landing On Her Carrier

WASHINGTON (UP)—A fighter plane careened out of control down the deck of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga Monday night, killing six men and seriously injuring another.

The Navy announced that the accident occurred in the Mediterranean where the Ticonderoga is operating with the 6th Fleet.

The Navy said an F2H Banshee, piloted by Ens. Otis C. Lightner, Altus, Okla., was making a landing on the carrier after a night navigation flight. When its tail hook failed to engage an arresting wire, the plane bounced over a barricade careened down the deck and over the bow.

The pilot was picked out of the water 20 minutes later by a motor whaleboat from the destroyer Goodrich. Lightner suffered only scratches and bruises and was not seriously injured.

Among the killed was Charles E Allen, airman, Dolton, Ill.

Commerce Chamber Suggests Store Shopping Hours

Recommended Christmas shopping hours for stores in Columbia City were announced today by the Retail Division of the Columbia City Chamber of Commerce.

Beginning next week, according to the recommendation, the stores will be open every Thursday afternoon until Christmas. Special evening open hours will be until 9 p.m. on each shopping day beginning December 14. Those dates will be December 14, 15, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22, and 23.

Closing time on Christmas Eve has been recommended for 5:30 p.m. The Retail Division also suggested that stores be closed all day Monday, December 26, a legal holiday because Christmas comes on Sunday.

Columbia City Joint High School Detail Plans Are Being Completed By Architects

"Plans for the Columbia City Joint high school are continuing," reports Superintendent Edward Glenn. "The Scholer architect firms of Lafayette and Tuscon, Arizona are working on final plans for the academic area of the building following the suggestions of community and Ball State, Purdue, and Indiana University consultants.

The types of equipment for each area are being planned so the architect can place water and drainage lines, electrical lights and outlets, chalk (black) boards and storage space.

One major change in the plan, presented to the public and last of August, has been the separation of he industrial arts and agricultural area from the main building. In the original plan this wing extended south toward the gymnasium from the east end of the classroom wing.

Present plans call for locating the industrial and agricultural area in a separate building about 80 feet east of the main classroom area to allow for future expansion. The building will be connected by a covered walkway to the lower floor.

Industrial Arts Shop

The Industrial arts shop area will contain 2410 square feet of space with a storage room and office at the north. It will also contain a finishing room and a planning room. The agricultural shop area will have 1800 square feet, the recitation room 655 square feet. Plans include an office and a storage room.

The physical education department is planned to have the shower area between the dressing rooms so they may be closed to serve as separate dressing rooms at tournament time. The space above the dressing rooms will have roll-away bleachers so it may be used for volley ball, ping-pong and other physical education activities.

The 11,450 foot main gymnasium area (when the bleachers are rolled back) may be divided with a door or curtain running east and west to make north and south courts for two physical education classes at the same time. The library area is at the northwest. A workroom for the librarian and a conference room will be included.

Library storage for school films is planned. A workroom for the film librarian, a listening booth for recording and playing back of tapes and a film viewing area are being considered.

Parking Area

Plans are underway for making the main drive-in entrances and exits from North and Whitley streets. A general parking area will be at the west of the new joint high school. The west side of the

Students Visit County Offices

The Vocation Information class of the Columbia City Joint high school, taught by Miss Bernice Carver, visited the county clerk's office this morning. The class consists of sophomores and a few seniors.

Kenneth Nichols, county clerk, explained to the students the different procedures and records kept by the clerk's office, the importance of voting and how each one desiring to vote must be registered in order to do so.

Last week the class visited the offices of the auditor and treasurer. Miss Carver states "that she feels that after studying this in school and then visiting the different offices and seeing how the work is carried on, the students have a better understanding of what they are studying."

At a later date they will visit the circuit court.

Pentagon Will Unlock Its Files On Junketing

By Members Of Congress

By PAUL SOUTHWICK
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department today ordered closely guarded records of congressional junketing unlocked in preparation for making them public for the first time.

The Pentagon, acting on the urging of a non-junketing member of Congress, said it would disclose haw many congressmen used military transportation for overseas travel and how many took their wives, aides and "guests" along.

The decision became known at the same time the government-ownd Panama Canal Co. clamped a lid of secrecy on how many congressmen are taking 15-day cruises to Panama at taxpayer expense aboard company liners.

W. M. Whitman, company secretary, told a reporter that it was a "long standing" policy of the company's board of directors to keep secret how many congressmen are taking the free cruises.

Record In Storage

The Defense Department said "several thousand" flight manifests must be hauled out of storage in Kansa City, Mo., and examined along with record of "hundreds of changes" in congressional itineraries before full details of congressional junkets are made public. The department said it would take between six and eight weeks to compile the records.

Members of Congress, flocking to all parts of the globe, probably racked up an alltime record for overseas junkets this year. About

Warn Merchants Of Fraudulent Check Passers

This Racket And Short Changing May Flourish During Holiday Rush

A joint reminder by three police agencies was issued today cautioning local people to be on the alert for short change artists and amateur and professional fraudulent check passers during the Christmas shopping season.

This reminder came from Lt. George Everett of the Ligonier barracks of the Indiana State Police, Sheriff Galen Adair and Chief of Police Lee Gross.

They particularly wished to remind merchants that with the coming holiday season and its attendant rush of shoppers, there is a possibility of these petty confidence people successfully operating in the community. Often local stores hire extra help, unfamiliar with the methods these persons employ, and often the regular sales personnel are rushed and forget to be on the alert to spot these criminals' methods.

In the past weeks, local authorities state, there have been a number of "no account" checks passed at local stores and businesses. A man and women have been in operation in this field of fraud in nearby cities. The state, county and city police are asking that all merchants and their clerks be as watchful as possible for persons trying to cash checks without proper identification.

Police advise the following rules be adopted as nearly practicable as possible in cashing of checks:

Eamine presented check and know the bank's name, the check date, note the amount of the check, see whom the money was made payable to, examine for the endorsement if possible. By all means, the police advise, check the bank on which the check is written if there is any doubt as to its authenticity. The endorser should show identification or have a person of integrity to vouch for him.

Authorities warn that persons attempting to cash fraudulent checks often come into the store after banking hours or when the store is having its rush hour. The resourses of the business bureau are available to the merchants if the banks cannot be reached.

Columbia City escaped with little fraudulent check cashing in 1955 but upon several occasions short-change artists succeeded in local establishments.

List Safety Rules Regarding Visibility

One out of eight traffic deaths occur because a driver's vision is obscured, according to Carl A. Miller, Illinois' Safe Driving Day director. He pointed out that in two out of five cases the obstruction was snow, ice or rain on the vehicle's windshield.

Miller, an official of the Chicago Motor Club, reminded citizens that today is S-D Day minus eight. Americans have only eight more days left to practice safety habits before Safe Driving Day. He gave four safety rules regarding visibility that drivers should always observe:

1. Clear all the snow and ice from your windshield and windows. Don't be a peephole driver.
2. Adjust your speed to driving conditions.
3. Make sure you don't overdrive your headlights at night.
4. Keep your windshield wipers and defrosters in good operating condition.

Proclamation

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower, in his annual Thanksgiving Day proclamation, called on the nation to give "prayers of gratitude for the abundance of our endowments."

The President also gave thanks to the Pilgrims through whose "steadfastness and faith the ideals of liberty and justice have become our cherished inheritance."

"May we show our thanks for our own bounty by remembrance of those less fortunate and may the spirit of this Thanksgiving season move us to share with them to alleviate their need," he said.

French Troops Battle Extreme NationalistGroup

Who Sought To Punish Residents Of Two Mountain Villages

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—French troops and planes today battled extreme nationalists who sought to punish residents of two mountain villages for not celebrating the return of Sultan Sidi Mohammed ben Youssef.

Heavy casualties were reported in the fighting. Reports said truck loads of young nationalists descended on the small villages and that the French Air Force sent out Vampire jet fighters from bases at Meknes and Kourrigba to break up the punitive expedition.

Tension was high all over Morocco as the sultan sought to form a representative government to restore order.

In the big port city of Casablanca, a Moroccan's car was overturned outside the municipal cemetery and the owner was burned alive inside the vehicle.

Soldiers Guard Quarter

French soldiers were posted at all entrances to the city's European quarter in a move to prevent a native invasion.

Informed sources in Rabat said some 750 political prisoners with less than two years to serve would be released shortly as an act of clemency by the sultan.

Both the sultan and French Resident General Andre Dubois were working rapidly to keep Morocco from sliding into anarchy.

The major problem was to stop acts of revenge against the sul-

New Council Is Invited To Meet With Old Board

Mayor-elect Garland Stickler and the newly elected city council members Tuesday night were invited by the present councilmen and Mayor Thomas H. Hood to attend the next meeting of the council on December 13.

The newly elected administration also has been asked to meet with the city council on the occasion of its year-end meeting, date of which will be selected at the next council meeting.

The new city officers will assume their duties at a joint meeting of the old and new councilmen on Monday, January 2. At that meeting, the business details held over from the final days of 1955 will be disposed of by the old council after which the mayor and council-elect will sign their certificates of election containing the oaths of office. The new council will then meet to organize with Mayor-elect Stickler. It is probable that most department heads and the councilmanic committees will be named at the Jan. 2 organization meeting.

Other than for the allowing of bills, no further business was undertaken at Tuesday night's council session. Mayor Hood and all councilmen were present with the exception of Samuel Galbreath. Mr. Galbreath was unable to attend due to illness.

Finding Records Gives New Life To Investigation

Of Tax Scandals Of Truman Administration

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Government attorneys said today the finding of a Kansas City, Mo., attorney's discarded records has given new life to a grand jury investigation of tax scandals of the Truman administration.

Wyllys S. Newcomb, special assistant to the attorney general, described the records of the attorney, Harry I. Schwimmer, as the "big break" in the inquiry that has rocked along for a full year.

The grand jury has questioned a number of top officials of the Truman administration but so far has voted only one indictment. That one was against Schwimmer, charging him with lying about a $10,000 check he received in 1949

Schwimmer told the jury the check was a legal retainer from Irving Sachs, a tax evader who pleaded guilty in 1949. The government charged, instead, it was a fund for bribing tax officials.

The government said its evidence was based on Schwimmer's own records, obtained under subpena after the attorney had discarded them as worthless.

The grand jury was in recess today until Monday for the Thanksgiving holiday.

The current inquiry is an outgrowth of the indictment and subsequent conviction of James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis collector of revenue, for misconduct in office. Finnegan went to prison for usig his influence for pay in a case ot related to tax matters.

But Chief Federal Judge George H. Moore of St. Louis charged that the Finnegan inquiry had been stymied and whitewashed in its early stages by high officials in Washington. Moore said such officials should be sought out and punished.

Bill Would Put Brazil Under The Military Control

Committee Takes It Under Consideration

By JUAN DE ONIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP) — The Chamber of Deputies' Judicial Committee took under consideration early today a bill declaring a state of siege which would put Brazil under military control for 30 days.

The bill was introduced at a special session of the house by Acting President Nereu Ramos at suggestion of army leaders who wish to ensure the inauguration of President - Elect Jescelino Kubitschek on Jan. 31 and prevent another presidential crisis.

The state of siege, similar to but less drastic than martial law, permits the government to impose censorship, to control the movement of civilians, revokes the right of assembly and allows homes to be searched and arrests to be made without warrant.

The Brazilian constitution permits Congress to proclaim a state of siege in cases of grave internal commotion or events indicating that such a situation is imminent. The motion before Congress took into consideration allegations that "centers of conspiracy" exist.

The military leaders who back Kubitschek contended it was not possible to eliminate the centers of conspiracy as long as full constitutional guarantees are in effect.

Rio de Janeiro still was outwardly calm today although the army continued to occupy strategic areas and the apartment house of ailing President Joao Cafe Filhos was surrounded by troops.

The state of siege request stemmed from two major crises within the past two weeks.

After Cafe entered a hospital for treatment of a minor heart ailment a military group headed by War Minister Gen. Teixeira Lott deposed Acting President Carlos Luz and made Ramos the acting president.

Cafe left the hospital Monday evening and announced he was taking over again as president. The army moved swiftly to counter what it considered a threat against Kubitschek and placed Cafe under virtual house arrest until Congress could rule him unfit to take office.

Santa Claus Is Coming To Town Saturday; He'll Be Staying With Us For A While

Santa Claus comes to town Saturday.

He'll come in a parade through Columbia City's business district, the Retail Division of the Columbia City Chamber of Commerce said today.

And Santa Clause will be staying a while. Chamber officials announced plans for Santa to be in the city Saturday afternoons and evenings until Christmas.

The "Welcome Santa Claus" parade will be held at 2 p.m., Jack Hancock, parade marshal, has announced. To be formed on North Walnut street, the parade will move east on Van Buren street to Main, south on Main to Market, west on Market to Chauncey and north on Chauncey to Van Buren.

At the courthouse, Santa Claus will leave the parade and go to his Whitley county Headquarters, where he will meet and talk with the children.

The Chamber's Retail Division also announced other plans for the annual Christmas program in the city. City linemen this week will complete putting up decorations and the lights are expected to be turned on by Saturday, Wilbur Steele, city light superintendent, said.

Santa's Hours

Santa Claus will be at his Headquarters on the courthouse lawn from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. each Saturday. Other dates for Santa to be at his headquarters are Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, December 21, 22 and 23, from 7 to 9 p.m. Members of the Columbia City Rotary Club will assist Santa Claus. The Columbia City Kiwanis Club will bring the Headquarters to the courthouse lawn. Members of the Sigma Nu Delta Sorority will decorate the Headquarters.

Meanwhile, the Columbia City Fire Department also announced that its annual Christmas party for children will be held at 7 p.m. Christmas Eve on the steps of the courthouse.

The Columbia Theater will make its annual Christmas gift to the children, a free movie, at 3:30 p.m., Friday, December 23.

Contest

The Retail Division of the Chamber of Commerce also announced plans for a letter writing contest for children up to 12 years of age. The letters are to be delivered to Santa Claus at his headquarters on the courthouse lawn, but cannot be mailed in. The letters must be written on the subject, "What Christmas Means to Me." Members of the Associated Chruches of Columbia City organization will assist Santa Claus in judging the letters. The entry deadline is December 3.

Jazz Musicians Praise Decision To Send Bands Abroad

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — America's greatest jass musicians today praised the U. S. State Department's decision to send Dixieland and progressive jazz bands abroad.

The only sour note came from a band leader who plays "the sweetest music this side of heaven."

Dixieland addicts and bop musicians momentarily stopped quarreling over the differences in their music and hailed the plan to export both hot and cool jazz.

But Guy Lombardo, whose music has been in great demand for more than 20 years, said he thought the State Department had slighted bandleaders such as say, Guy Lombardo, and Percy Faith.

"This is certainly a step in the right direction," Lombardo said. "But it's only a quarter-step instead of a full-length step. They are only giving a part of the picture of American culture by presenting this kind of music. What happens to the kind of dance music of a Guy Lombardo or a Freddy Martin?"

Hot And Cool

The plan to export more hot and cool combos instead of symphony orchestras and ballets was made known by the department to Rep. Adam C. Powell (D-NY) whose wife, Hazel Ccott, is a princess of the piano keyboard.

Powell said the first bands to take America's musical message around the world would be those headed by Louis Armstrong, who was a greater attraction at Geneva than the State Department's own John Foster Dulles; Dizzy Gillespie, the father of bop, and the ever-popular Count Basie.

"I'm throughly in back of the idea," said Hazel Scott. "You can't tell Europe how to do Russian ballet or play Beethoven. Jazz is our secret weapon. Let's use it."

Blues singer Sarah Vaughan said "no interpreters are necessary for jazz" and Eartha Kitt, whose shimmery, sexy tones need no translation, said it was a "wonderful, exciting idea."

Eddie Condon, one of the nation's best-known white jazz musicians, was somewhat wary of sending combos into Russia.

Russians Not So Cool

"I think it's a splendid idea, but I hope there's no reciprocity involved," Condon said. "I'd hate to have to listen to Russian jazz."

Pianist Thelonius Monk, an inventor of progressive music, said he thought modern jazz should be emphasized in overseas conecrts.

"Whenever people used to listen to the old jazz, blues and that sort of stuff, you know, t' dyhwlaeyas be fighting. But with modern jazz you listen," Monk said. "Modern things must be put first — you know, and you should emphasize progressive music like you emphasize the atomic bomb."

Latest In High Finance Is Banker Wearing Bobby Socks

By ALFRED LEECH
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — The latest in high finance is the banker who wears a crewcut or bobby socks.

For example, Judy Redman, 16. She's secretary of the First Commercial Bank's "Teen-Age Loan Fund."

The bank set up the fund a few months ago as an expression of faith in the character and integrity of teen-agers.

"We're convinced that the majority of today's teen-agers are responsible, level-headed youngsters," said Harold H. Stout, bank president.

"And we're backing up this faith in youngsters with cash loans."

The fund consists of $1,000 set aside for loans to high school students, who may borrow up to $50 without co-signers or collateral.

Three Students in Charge

The fund is administered by three high school students—Edward Andurs, 17, chairman of the board; Dick Sjolund, 17, treasurer, and Judy.

An adult bank official sits in on their meetings to advise them on bank procedures.

To get a loan a youngster must submit a written application. If the board feels that he's a good risk and wants the money for a worthwhile purpose, the loan is granted.

The borrower must pay 3 per cent interest, considerably lower than the usual rate. But it teaches him that banks don't give money away.

Howard K. Hurwith, board chairman of First Commercial, said the plan has been "an unqualified success."

"To date, every teen-ager who has received a loan has met his obligations on time, or even ahead of schedule," he said.

Others Follow Example

Hurwith said the plan has created interest elsewhere.

"The Ann Arbor Bank at Ann Arbor, Mich., has adopted a similar plan," he said, "and the Kansas State Bankers Assn. is considering adopting the program on a statewide level."

A 17-year-old boy recently borrowed money from the First Commercial's fund to finance back-to-school expenses. But he forgot to put a nickel in the parking meter while he was in the bank and had to borrow $3 more to pay the ticket.

A Mexican youth sent here to high school thought the dollar was equal to the peso, and spent his dollars on that basis. He got a loan and a lecture on the value of the dollar.

One applicant did not qualify because he was 12 and his birthday was a couple of months away. But the board made an exception and loaned him money to buy clothes for school because he's a good risk.

He has a part-time job which pay $50 a month.

Safe Driving Or Sudden Death Day?

Whether December 1st is a Safe Driving Day or a Sudden Death Day depends entirely on the individual driver, Roy C. Mueller, Chairman of the Indiana Petroleum Industries Committee said today. He pledged all out support for the safety campaign that President Eisenhower and Governor Craig are leading.

"Oil men all over Indiana are behind S-D Day because it is aimed directly at the heart of the safety problem — the individual," he said. "Studies by the petroleum industry's highway safety program show that nine out of every ten deaths from motor accidents are due to individual human error."

"We have tried to scare, cajole, and humiliate the man behind the wheel into driving safely," he said. "Let's now try a positive approach that puts the emphasis on the skill, timing, coordination, and smooth handling that make for expert driving and safe driving," he said.

Mueller pointed out that speed was the number one killer last year. It caused the deaths of 12,380 drivers — more than 45 per cent of all drivers killed. Driving on the wrong side of the road ranked second, accounting for 4,970 driver deaths, he said.

"If more drivers would strive for expert performance behind the wheel, these tragic accident figures would be cut drastically," he too said. Claiming that many people are satisfied with a minimum safety effort instead of trying to become expert drivers, Mueller outlined six "musts" for expert and safe driving: Smooth driving, perfect timing, constant control, good road judgment, respect for traffic laws, and courteousness. Pointing out that most drivers can spot an expert on the open road, he urged motorists to follow the expert's example.

He said that the petroleum industry's highway safety program urges a balanced program of education, enforcement, and engineering to attack the highway accident problem. "But the greatest need today is safety education," Mueller concluded.

Steel Industry Will Boost Its Ingot Capacity

NEW YORK (UP) — The steel industry in the next four years will boost ingot capacity by about 16 million tons in an expansion drive spurred by the current "worst steel shortage since Korea," Iron Age said today.

The metalworking industry publication said the expansion's price tag will run over three billion dollars.

For the present, steel consumers can look forward to "nothing but woe. . . .well into 1956," Iron Age declared, adding that there's "no chance of relief until the third quarter, if then."

Iron Age also said higher steel prices are in the making. It said "at least part of the expansion costs" will be met by higher prices, and reported increasing stress by industry leaders on the need for price hikes. Some smaller producers already have boosted prices of hot rolled sheets, strip, plates and flats, the publication reported.

The steel consumer may face two price boosts next year, Iron Age said, noting that "the industry is likely to adjust prices again after settling with steel labor, 'just as they have in the past."

Meanwhile, many steel users have been forced to cut back production, Iron Age said, with makers of appliances, farm equipment, railroad cars, and earthmoving equipment among the groups feeling the pinch.

Steel costs for many consumers have "skyrocketed" as they are forced to convert, buy from brokers, and obtain emergency supplies from warehouses, the publication declared.

Iron Age pointed out that although steel production this year will reach or pass 116 million ingot tons, producers have been unable to reduce their backlogs and face "heavy tonnages of dammed-up demand going into 1956."

In the third period the Trojans unofficially hit four of seven field goal attempts and seven of ten free throws while the Eagles hit five of sixteen from the field and two of two charity tosses. This improved accuracy contributed largely to the Larwill 40-38 lead at the three quarter stop.

The Trojans maintained and increased their lead in the final period, although they were threatened by the Eagles at one time. With Larwill leading 50-42 and 3:16 remaining in the game, Churubusco scored five consecutive points but were unable to score again. Larwill scored four free throws in the final twenty-four seconds to win 54-47.

Lewellyn of Churubusco and Norman Metzger of Larwill shared scoring honors for the evening, each netting fifteen points. Melvin Geiger was close behind them scoring thirteen points for the Eagles.

Larwill won the preliminary game 45-15. The Trojan "B" squad led at all quarter stops 19-7, 28-9, 28-13, and 45-15.

Reduced to "token strength" will be the famous 7th Cavalry Regiment and the 77th Field Artillery Battalion.

The spokesman said that men within the regiment and the artillery battalion who have served time in the Far East to return home will be sent to the United States.

He said others will be assigned to other units in the Far East to replace rotating soldiers.

EDINBURGH, Scotland (UP)—A safecracker who turned Commando to open Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe headquarters safe during World War II was back in prison today for practing his craft in peacetime.

The skill that brought John Ramsey, 50, the praise of Allied intelligence chiefs 10 years ago brought him a 10-year prison sentence here Tuesday.

Ramsey parachuted behind enemy lines many times to blast open safes and lift enemy war plans. One of his victims was Goering, the German air chief.

But it was a different story when the war hero was arrested for a $45 safe job in Glasgow. He pleaded for leniency but the judge said, "from your conduct and history you can not be trusted to abstain from crime."

LONDON (UP) — The Daily Mail said today Prime Minister Anthony Eden may go to the United States for private talks with President Eisenhower.

The newspaper said plans for the talk were being dicussed in London and Washington but that no decision had been reached. The Daily Mail urged such a meeting to heal what it described as a rift in British and American policy.

PARIS (UP)—Mme. Henri Bonnet, wife of the former French ambassador to Washington, has herself taken a "diplomatic" post as fashion designer Christian Dior's envoy on American women's taste in clothes.

"I spent 10 years in Washington and I have a good notion what American women want from French designers," she said. Showing her diplomacy, she said that American women have "much good taste."

LIMA, Peru (UP)—U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Henry F. Holland arrived Tuesday for a two day visit to Peru.

Holland was accompanied by Samuel Waught, president of the Export-Import Bank, and American government officials. The group has already visited Colombia and Ecuador and will continue on to Boliva, Chile and Argentina before returning to Washington.

BOGOTA, Colombia (UP) — A new morning newspaper, El Mercurio, began publication Tuesday under the direction of Mario Laserna, founder and former rector of Los Andes University, and Pedro Gomez Valderrama, formerly with El Tiempo.

The new daily has drawn many members of its staff from El Tiempo, leading morning newspaper of Colombia which was closed by the government last August.

Calling All Cars

LONDON (UP)—Scotland Yard flashed a "calling all cars" signal Tuesday after an excited young woman telephoned that she saw a car going through the center of London with "a man in back, bound and gagged."

Police stopped the car and found a sailor with a scarf wrapped around his head and shoulder to protect his aching tooth.

Pope Pius Gives Farewell Audience To Village Residents

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (UP)—Pope Pius XII gives a farewell audience to residents of this Alban hills village today in his first pubic appearance since the word heard that he had a vision of Christ.

The general audience is the last before the 79-year-old Pontiff leaves his summer residence here Saturday to return to the Vatican for the winter.

Interest in the audience was heightened by the Vatican statement two days ago that the Pope saw Christ appear at his bedside during his illness last December.

Hundred of Romans and pilgrims were expected to join Castel Gandolfo residents in the courtyard of the 17th century papal villa to pay tribute to the man many of them consider almost certain to be canonized someday.

Pope Welcomes Pilgrims

The Pope was not expected to refer to his vision during the audience. On such occasions he normally only addresses a few words of welcome in various languages to pilgrims.

But Vatican sources said he might mention the event in his Christmas mesage to the world. He has been busily working on the message in the past few days and plans to broadcast it Dec. 24 from his study in the Vatican.

Areference t othe vision in the speech would be an unusual step. The Pontiff never publicly mentioned a 1950 vision reported a year later by Federico Cardinal Tedeschini.

A reference to the vision in the the Pope was disturbed by the fact that reports of the second vision had reached the world through a weekly magazine, Oggi. The Vatican confirmed the reports later.

Vatican quarters also were upset but emphasized there was no significance in failure of Osservatore Romano, the semi - official Vatican organ, to carry any mention of it.

The Pope's return to the Vatican will come a year to the day after the start of his last illness. On Nov. 26, 1954, he suffered a "minor crisi" of gastritis and hiccups. The crisis came Dec. 2. It was then, when he lay near death, the vision occurred, according to reports.

400 Attend Reception Given For Mrs. Karl Weick At Findlay

Mrs. Karl Weick of Findlay, Ohio, was honored last Thursday evening with a reception given by the Order of Eastern Star at the Masonic temple in Findlay, which marked Mrs. Weick's recent election as Grand Warder of the Ohio Grand chapter. She is the daughter of Mrs. James Wallace of this city. She, her mother and Mrs. Verne A. Diffendarfer were among the 400 guests, who attended the colorful affair.

Bradley formerly of this city has served as pastor since leaving here, which has been directed by Mrs. Weick for a number of years, sang "You'll Never Walk Alone," and "Count Your Blessings." A skit titled "Three on a Park Bench" formed part of the program.

main building will be about on a north and south line with the present barn on the property.

The main building entrance, opposite the gymnasium doors, will be about east of Brownwood avenue. This entrance has an adjoining covered walkway large enough for six busses to load or unload at one time. The lunchroom, seating 250 is inside and to the right. The cafeteria kitchen counter is planned so it may be used by the Booster club at games and entertainments. Storage is planned for surplus and bulk foods and a refrigeration area is included.

The auditorium seating approximately 600 extends to the west next to the parking lot. The gymnasium will accomodate extra size crowds as at commencement.

The vocal music and band rooms with practice booths between are located next to the auditorium and have a connecting hall with the stage.

The administrative area is located along the hall connecting the gymnasium and classroom wing and just to the east of the auditorium on the lower floor. Here will be the offices for the principal and assistant principal, the first aid and sick room, and the guidance center with four conference rooms for boys and girls.

Vault For Records

A built-in vault for school records is planned. Mr. Glenn commented of the increasing use of school records for social security and references. The office of the superintendent will be located in the Adams home.

The sewing room will be on the first floor. A built-in fitting room is included. Across the hall will be a six-unit kitchen and a laundry area.

Student lockers will line the south wall of the upper and lower halls in the classroom wing. The lockers will be ventilated with a circulating warm air system to dry clothing. The ventilating system will also extend to the gymnasium lockers for physical education classes.

Mr. Glenn believes the architects will have the plans completed shortly after the first of the year to advertise for the construction bids. The school is to be ready for use by 1957.

Sultan Confers With Leaders

The Sultan, after a series of conferences with Moroccan leaders, appeared ready to hand over the premiership to former French Army Colonel Si Bekkai, who resigned as pasha of Sefron after the sultan's exile.

Another problem facing the sultan is that of American strategic air bases in Morocco. But it was felt the sultan would not raise any difficulties about them.

He has several times proclaimed his friendship for the United States may prove more helpful than the French. French restrictions on the number of American servicemen in Morocco has kept the United States from using one of its multi-million dollar air bases.

Three Persons Tap Till For $56,000 On Quiz Program

NEW YORK (UP)A seed salesman, a girl psychologist and a coal miner tapped the till for $56,000 on "The $64,000 Question" Tuesday night to set the stage for what could be the biggest giveaway night in TV history.

The three will be given the chance next Tuesday of doubling their winnings or bowing out. Their potential total earnings could reach $112,000, by far the largest sum ever offered on a single program.

Steven Frohlich, a seed salesman from Princeton, N.J., ran his stake to $32,000 in the category, American history. Frohlich, a naturalized American citizen, answered a seven-part poser dealing with constitutional amendments.

The second biggest winner, Joyce Brothers of New York, ran her string to $16,000 by answering a boxing query. Stanley Skeens, a miner from Danville, Va., moved to the $8,000 level. Skeens, a Bible expert, earned his pay by reciting three verses of the first Psalm of David.

Rev. Heinbaugh Is Thanksgiving Speaker At School

A Thanksgiving program for the Columbia City Joint high school and West Ward school, grades four to eight, was given this afternoon in Marshall Memorial Hall.

The Rev. Dale Heinbaugh, the pastor of the First Baptist church, was the speaker, using the theme "The Thankful Minority," taken from Luke: 17 verses 11 to 17. This is the story of the ten lepers who were healed and only one came back to thank the Master.

Rev. Heinbaugh was introduced by Ruth Ann Staley. Linda Spence read the scripture. Both girls are seniors.

The chorus sang "We Gather Together to Ask the Lord's Blessing" and "Come Ye Thankful People."

The girls trio, Beverly Hile, Rosemary Lucas and Pat Puckett sang "Bless This House."

All joined in singing "God Bless America."

400 members are believed to have made trips abroad, mostly at tax payers expense. Many went to Russia.

The military services, which supply most of the transportation and some of the meals and lodging, never have diclosed how many congressmen were accommodated. And many members of Congress have been happy to let that information stay bottled up in the Pentagon.

Member Is Critical

But one nonjunketing member, who cannot now be named, has been critical of his colleagues' blogetrotting and has asked the defense department point blank for the full story.

Col. Wade M. Fleischer, Defense Department liaison officer, replied that the information would be supplied.

"I wish to point out, however," Fleischer said, "that due to the numerous last minute changes which occur in the membership of congressional groups traveling abroad plus hundreds of changes in their itineraries while outside the United States, it has been determined that an examination of each flight manifest is the only manner in which this information can be assembled with a reasonable degree of accuracy."

When baked potatoes are on the menu, put a few extra ones in the oven. Peeled, diced and heated in cheese sauce, they will make a quick and hearty dish the next day.

Craig

said.

Selects Bridge Site

The toll bridge would be across the Ohio River between New Albany and Louisville. Craig ended Kentucky-Indiana bickering about a location for the bridge by picking one — on New Albany's east side about four blocks west of the "K & I" bridge.

The bridge and approaches, plus right-of-way, would cost about 11 million dollars. Craig hopes the federal government will contribute half and the two states, $250,000 each. The other 5 million would come from bonds.

Craig said federal officials have "encouraged" the bridge planning. But if they back out, the project must be cancelled, he said.

He figures it would take two years to build.

"No One to Blame"

The governor said his administration is doing all it can to keep the state's highway death toll down and "there is no one to blame" for an increase in deaths over last year.

"We can only continue with the tools we have," he said. "You can't blame traffic safety people because motorists take each other's lives."

Despite testimony to the contrary last week before a legislative investigating commission headed by State Rep. Phillip Johnson, the governor said state police, the motor vehicle bureau and the traffic safety division are "working together.'

He said Johnson "is trying to do a good job but I doubt the wisdom of his methods."

Craig criticized a suggestion by Traffic Safety Director Joe Lingo that a "department of public safety" be created with authority over police policy. He said police should act as a "free and independent" agency.

Predicts GOP Victory

The governor spent a long time talking politics — all about other politicians.

He said the Democratic sweep of Indiana's municipal election was decided on local issues and has no bearing on GOP chances next year. In fact, he predicted Republicans will win in the state and nation in 1956.

"The Republican party has better men on the bench than the Democratic party has on the field," Craig said.

The governor said he will not enter next year's presidential preferential primary but will campaign for GOP candidates anywhere he's asked. He said he will not give his blessing to any candidate for governor.

"I will not now nor in the future make any public annouuncement for any candidate," he said. Heretofore, it was speculated he might boost State Reveue Commissioner Frank Millis for governor.

Skillen for Governor

Craig gave Democrats some advice, saying they should nominate Democratic State Chairman Charles Skillen for governor because he is "typical of the party . . . a great liberal and a strict adherent to the New Deal."

On renewed violence at New Castle, Craig said he does not believe National Guardsmen are needed there again to keep the peace and "I hope local police can handle the situation."

He said if Ohio cancels truck reciprocity agreements with Indiana, this state will not retaliate because "we should make it easy for cargo to get from one state to another."

Finally, Craig said he believes President Eisenhower will seek reelection. That prediction, he said, is not based on any "inside" knowledge.

The Hard Way

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP) — Police said the burglars who broke into the office of a manufacturing firm apparently believed in doing every thing the hard way.

The burglars smashed a window although the front door was unlocked. They wrecked a business machine to get at a cash drawer below although they could have opened the draw by pushing a button. Then they got their only loot, a few nickels, by smashing a soft drinks machine.

Nehru And His Two Eminent Visitors From Moscow Must Be Embarrassed By News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Prime Minister Jawaharhal Nehru and his two eminent visitors from Moscow must be embarrassed by current news developments.

Nehru, Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist Party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev are praising their own and each others' countries as lovers of peace and good will.

Nehru has emphasized that the "great cause of human progress" can not be served by violence and hatred.

"Denial of freedom and racial discrimination are not only improper, but are the seeds from which grow the evils of war," Nehru said in one speech.

Bulganin and Khrushchev are building up their country as a model for all to admire. At the same time, they are neglecting no opportunity to complain of the defects and misdoings of the Western democracies.

And while this is going on, the Indian newspapers report that 10 persons were killed in wild riots in Bombay, India's largest city—caused by what the rioters call racial discrimination.

The same newspapers report that in freedom-living Russia six men were executed, after secret trials, for alleged complicity in the villainies of Lavrenti P. Beria, the secret police chief who was shot two years ago.

At least, the Russians can say

The Huizers Ate Turkey Every Thanksgiving During Forced Stay Behind Bamboo Curtain

WOLCOTT, Ind. (UP) — When Mrs. Pieter Huizer returned from Communist China in time for Thanksgiving, friends thought she would have her first turkey dinner in at least eight years.

But she and her banker husband ate turkey every Thanksgiving during their forced stay behind the Bamboo Curtain, she told them. Chinese turkeys were available to those who had the money.

However, the birds were "small, scrawny and dry, nothing like our American turkeys," she said.

How does it feel to be back in Hoosierland after almost eight long years in Communist China?

"It feels very nice, of course," Mrs. Huizer said softly.

Mrs. Huizer, 39, the daughter of the John Munstermans of Wolcott, and her husband recently returned from Shanghai when the Chinese Communists decided to release them.

When Mrs. Huizer's ship docked at San Francisco, she was overcome with emotion. Then, one of the first things she did was tour the city's stores.

Thought of Indiana

"The shops were quite dazzling after eight years of Communist gloom," she said.

Mrs. Huizer was at a loss for words to describe how Indiana first looked. She said she often thought of it while confined to the city limits of Shanghai and it became exaggerated in her visions. But it looked every bit as good, or better, when she arrived during the peak of fall color.

In Red China, Mrs. Huizer said "there is not a great deal of American business left." She explained that when the Communists assumed power, many Americans learned they just could not trade with them.

Consequently, businesses were liquidated. The Americans could not leave until they paid liabilities, which the Communists often declared higher than the companys could pay. Eventually the Americans' internment became political, she said.

When the Geneva talks came along the Chinese Reds started releasing U.S. citizens.

"But it was not a change of heart," Mrs. Huier firmly insisted, "it was just a wile of the moment."

Time Changes Outlook

The experience changed many phases of Mrs. Huizer's outlook on life. For one, she said:

"I feel its extremely important that we realize what the Communists are trying to do, and it's important that we do something about it."

The Huizers currently are commuting between Wolcott and Chicago to catch up on some dental work — necessarily neglected in Red China. They plan to shove off again soon. But this time it will be a two—month holiday in Europe, Mrs. Huier said.

After that, Huizer, a native of Holland and an American citien, will receive another assignment from the Bank of America. Mrs Huizer said she believed it would not be the East again, "probably Europe for a change."

"Travel? I like it," she said "Settle down? Not until my old age."

Point For Argument

NEW YORK —(UP) —Lady, if you want to learn to drive, go to a professional teacher. Not your husband.

This advice comes from Alfred L. Moseley, consulting phychologist for the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co., who said husbands make lousy driving instructors. Moseley has been studying driver training methods based on tape recordings of acutal driving lessons.

He found that husbands don't show their wives how to drive. They tell them. They are full of advice but do not give specific directions in time for the wife to respond. They let their wives drive too fast while learning. And to top it all, husbands don't know all the things which should be taught to make a safe and skillful driver.

"When a woman wants to learn to drive, she's better off to go to a qualified driving school," Moseley concluded.

Teach Girls Buying Of Men's Wear Too

EAST LANSING, Mich. —(UP)— A Michigan State University home economics professor believes high school girls should be taught how to select men's wear as well as women's.

Dr. Amy Jean Holmblade said teenage girls frequently buy men's and boy's clothing for holiday gifts, and should know the best buys.

Generally, some emphasis is given in high school home economics courses to the selection of girls' clothing, she said, but seldom is any attention given to selection of clothing for men and boys.

She said a study shows the most popular gift items for boys are knit and woven sport shirts, socks, handkerchiefs, gloves and mittens.

For girls the gift items usually are dresses, handbags, pajamas, blouses, anklets and house slippers.

Ike Is Thanksgiving Granddad To His Three Grandchildren

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower puts aside government problems for a while today to play Thanksgiving granddad to his three grandchildren.

Mr. Eisenhower planned to work briefly during the morning in his downtown Gettysburg office and make a five-minute movie for showing at the Nov. 28 White House conference on education.

But the big event of the day was to be the afternoon arrival from Ft. Belvoir, Va., of "my kids," the three children of the President's son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower. The John Eisenhowers, who are expecting a fourth child by Christmas, will have Thanksgiving dinner, featuring a 40-pound turkey, with the President and Mrs. Eisenhower Thursday.

Thorough Physical Checkup

The President was scheduled to start the day with a thorough physical checkup by Col. Thomas W. Mattingly, chief of cardiology services at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, in consultation with Dr. Howard Snyder, the White House physician.

No exact date has been set for another examination of the President by Dr. Paul Dudley White, the famous Boston heart specialist, but White is expected to see Mr. Eisenhower within the next two week.

The Chief Executive was expected to make the movie for the education conference in the office of the president of Gettysburg College under the direction of screen and television star Robert Montgomery, visual communications.

First Formal Meeting

The President returned to Gettysburg Tuesday from the presidential retreat in the nearby Maryland Catoctin Mountains where he met formally with his cabinet for the first time since last summer.

After the cabinet meeting Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty talked with reporters and reaffirmed Mr. Eisenhower's support of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's controversial farm policies. Hagerty did so in denying published reports that Dr. Milton Eienhower, the President's brother, interceded to save Benson his job.

Hagerty aid "such a thing never happened." He said that Milton Eisenhower "has never talked to the President about the activities or the retention or the employment of anyone in government."

He also said the President "has never entertained at any time any suggestion whatsoever that the secretary of agriculture be replaced."

Farm, City Families Have Much In Common, According To Findings Of Recent Survey

By WENDY WARBASSE

Farm and city families today have much in common, according to findings of a recent University of Michigan survey.

Researchers interviewed 178 southeastern Michigan farm families, comparing their answers with those obtained from families in the Detroit area.

The researchers theorize that farm and city families are so much alike in family structure and opinions because mass media such as newspapers and radio, allow both groups to have similar experiences in learning what other people are doing.

Checked Popular Belief

Assistant Professor Robert O. Blood, Jr., of the Department of Sociology, headed the survey. He said the project was undertaken because there has been a great deal of writing on the subject, with a tendency to "idealize" the farm family. Ideas have been prevalent, he said, that it is the most closely knit, and has the happiest children.

Although the Michigan farm families interviewed are on the whole much older, some of their family problems, their patterns of decision-making, and ideas about children are very similar to those of the Detroit families. Wives in both groups expressed a desire of "three or four" children.

Despite popular notions about huge farm families, only six per cent of the farm husbands and wives had as many as six children. Figures for city parents are almost exactly the same.

Area Being Urbanized

The fact that the farm wives were older, Professor Blood said, was a "reflection of the kind of farming area." Much of the area surveyed is slowly but surely being built up and urbanized. Few young people are on the farms. Young men are going into the city to find their forutnes now, rather than staying on Dad's farm as they would be more likely to do in a state such as Kansas.

Apparently farm wives are apt to have a little more power as far as internal structure of the family is concerned. They take an active part in making more decisions than city wives, the studies indicate.

Couples Share Decisions

In both groups, the husbands most typically decide what cars to buy, and what jobs to take. And both groups of wives usually decide how much should be spent on food. Decisions on vacations, doctors, homes to rent or buy, health and life insurance, are generally shared equally by husbands and wives in cities and farm areas alike.

Despite the many home occupations which take up much of the farm wives' time, it was found that they tend to have even more formal outside group memberships that city wives. Professor Blood noted that this may be because the only chance the farm people usually get to see their friends and neighbors is at some type of social or community gathering.

This social participation was also the biggest bone of contention among farm husbands and wives, with more than twice as many farm as city families reporting this their major disagreement.

City Wives 'Blow Up'

One major difference between the two types of wives, Professor Blood said, is that "when the farm wives have had a 'bad day' they tend to do nothing— just forget it, or try to sleep it off, whereas city wives are more easy to blow up."

Another difference concerns the wives' ability (or inabilities) to help their husbands "get ahead." Twenty-seven per cent of the city wives said they could do nothing at all, while only two per cent of the farm wives felt this way.

Rural and urban wives, the survey found, want the same things from marriage: companionship, the chance to have children, understanding from their husbands, and the husbands' expression of love and affection—in that order.

"That order" may prove somewhat of a shock to younger people. But the average wife interviewed had been married about 20 years, and it seems that a more "sedate" or "practical" viewpoint may develop after a relatively long expedition into the adventure of married life.

Reasons For Success Are Hard Work And A Sensible Mother

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Dorothy Gish, one of the few silent screen stars who still is a working actress, pegged her long success today on two reasons: Hard work and a sensible mother.

To veteran movie-goers the Gish sisters bring back memories of heroines with clouds of hair in "Orphans of the Storm," "Birth of a Nation" and other early-day flickers.

Of all those first idols of the celluloid, Dorothy and Lillian Gish lead a bare handful whose names never left the marquees. Mabel Normand and Wallace Reid came to early tragic deaths; others were involved in scandal, some faded, many retired.

But Lillian still is active in films ("Cobweb," "Night of the Hunter"). Dorothy has kept busy on the stag , and both are in demand for live TV dramas that tire many a complaining newcomer. Dorothy, now 57, is currently in the plaster city for her first live TV drama originating here.

What has kept their amazing careers alive?

"We were born in shou business and we worked hard," Dorothy said firmly as she sat, a slender figure at 57 still with long hair and beautiful eyes, in her hotel room.

"And when we first won notice mother explained that agents wrote all that publicity and we must not take it seriously. She explained youth was a commodity and when that went we would need the basic ability. When crowds followed us she said they'd also follow somebody with a ring in her nose."

Most stars of today sport fancy cars and minks. But when the Gish girls were the Grace Kellys of the teens and '20s they held onto their fortune.

"Mother told us we could have a big house and expensive auto mobiles or we could invest our money and live comfortably the rest of our lives, which we do," Miss Gish said. "Someone like Jimmy Dean—his success came too young."

Peter Lind Hayes Is One Of Godfrey's Biggest TV Fans

NEW YORK (UP) — Peter Lind Hayes, the heir-apparent to Arthur Godfrey's throne at CBS - TV, makes no bones about the fact that he is "one of Godfrey's biggest fans."

"I think he's a genius," said Hayes today. "Godfrey's the first one who got the drop on TV. He shows up—and that's all he has to do. He isn't anybody but himself. And his honesty is what makes him great."

"Another thing—I think he's the greatest salesman that ever lived. There isn't anyone who can sell a product the way he does."

Hayes is in a peculiarly qualified position to assess the talents of his boss. It has become increasingly obvious to students of the TV menu that Godfrey has tabbed the likeable night club entertainer as his No. 1 fill-in.

As such, Hayes has found himself carrying an increasing load in his role as pinch-hitter since Godfrey launched his plan to take periodic breathers from his TV chores.

"When he first asked me to take over his show," said Hayes, "he picked me, he said, because 'I think you can talk to people.' In my first year, I worked about 20 of his shows, in my second about 30, and this year, my gosh, I've been on more than the other years put together."

Hayes, born 40 years ago under the handle Joseph Lind, grew up in show biz. At one time, he and his mother, Grace Hayes, were partners in an impersonation act that played the vaudeville circuit.

Hayes has worked a successful nightspot act for many years in tandem with his wife, Mary Healy.

Carving Turkey Is A Science

WASHINGTON (UP)—Carving a turkey is a science which always has been over my head I wind up chasing the bird all over the house. Unless there is a pro around, I generally go down to the corner and have a hot dog.

But if you insist on professional guidance, I give you the world's champion carver, H. Shrader of the Department of Agriculture. He has appeared on television, and if that doesn't make him a pro he can go back to raising pullets.

Shrader subscribes to the stand up, shirts-off school for carvers.

First off, the lady of the house has to help by trussing the wings of the gobbler underneath. This steadies the animal for the job ahead. Shrader then puts the bird on a large platter and sees that his knife is honed. He grabs a drum stick with his left hand and hacks between the leg and the body, using a slightly twisting motion on the leg and separates it from the body.

Shrader doesn't let his hand stray from the drumstick. He cuts between the first and the second joints.

Then comes the main carcass. You hold the bird steady by putting the fork into the breast bone, and cut off a wing. Then you can start working on the white meat, the breast. In this you use a downward stroke.

Shrader has his own ideas about who gets the best of the Thanksgiving bird. In his opinion the "best" is the "oyster," which is located in the spoon-like indentations of the back. This can be removed with the point of the knife.

As the man from agriculture has put it before:

"The carver can be described as a knave or a saint, depending on whether he saves the choice morsel for himself or gives it to the lady of the house."

Checks With Which Driver Pays Are Like Any Checks

By RICHARD A. HILL
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP) — The checks with which a driver pays for highway safety are like any checks, a National Safety Council spokesman said today.

They're all blank to start with. To have value, he has to fill them in himself.

If he uses them, the council says, he has a good chance of being alive for Safe Driving Day Dec. 1, or any given day. And Dec. 1 is a tough date for drivers; it is the first day of what statistics show is the most dangerous driving month on the calendar. An average month may see 3,000 die on the highways; in December with its early darkness and icy roads, the average may jump to 3,750.

But, the council spokesman said, here are the checks the driver—and it means you, behind the wheel of your car—can use to pay for your own safety and that of others

Check:

Your speed: More than 3 out of 10 drivers in fatal accidents were violating speed laws.

Your drinking: In 24 out of 100 fatal accidents a driver or an adult pedestrian had been drinking.

Your car: Six per cent of fatal accidents where the condition of the vehicle was reported were caused by faulty mechanisms.

Yourself: Drivers in 1 of 14 accidents usually were tired or sleepy, which may have contributed to the accident.

The weather: The weather was rainy, snowy or foggy in one out of six fatal accidents.

The time: Night driving in winter is hazardous. Reduce speed.

Your manners: Discourtesy always ranks high among driver violations in fatal accidents.

Traffic experts say if motorists will be conscientious in making all those checks they can do better than equal the 15 per cent dropoff in accidents recorded on S-D Day in 1954.

Letters From Screwball File

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — "Dear sir," the letter began.

"A friend of mine is going to the North Pole to open a barber shop. He wants someone to go with him to paint the North Pole with red and white stripes..."

The missile was addressed to the "National Broadcasting Company." It landed in that network's information department where it was duly read, answered and gingerly banked away in what is called the "86" or screwball file. Unhappily, NBC reported itself unable to provide a suitable nominee for the far-flung tonsorial enterprise.

"We get about 15,000 letters a month," says Mrs. Kathryn Cole, the manager of the department. "Some are 86s, but most are letters of inquiry, criticism or appreciation. We answer all of the inquiries and criticism and much of the appreciative mail."

The letters, many of them postmarked from distant world corners contain many surprises.

For instance:

The woman in Munster, Ind. who asked NBC to send her a broken-down microphone for her kids. The gal in Buffalo, N.Y., who asked if she could buy Arlene Francis' hat. The man in Toledo, Ohio, who wanted to buy films of some shows to show in an Australian theatre. And one postcard from California that went: "Please send me some used snow."

Of course, many of the letters are just ordinary communications of complaint.

"Right now," said Mrs. Cole "Martha Raye is receiving more criticism than anyone else. The letters say she's much too low and coarse.

"In radio, the biggest complaints are about the daytime serials we dropped like 'Just Plain Bill' and 'Life Can Be Beautiful.' Until people got used to it, 'Monitor' also drew a lot of adverse criticism."

"We try to answer all letters," explained Mrs. Cole. "We try to build up a good feeling even when they call us stinkers."

Farm Business Calls For High Level Of Managerial Ability

Farming in Indiana today is a complicated and complex business.

It calls for a high level of managerial ability. It requires a great deal of expensive machinery and buildings. It still takes a lot of hard work and labor.

It is a business that makes the farmer one of the leaders in his community.

These are only a few of the facts interestingly told in an educational folder entitled "The Farm Business" just published by the Indiana Farm Bureau, Inc. The folder is made available in connection with the organizations state-wide program designed to promote better understanding between farm and non-farm people.

The distribution of the folder throughout the state is being done by county Information Councils organized by, and composed of local farmers.

The folder explains to the nonfarm reader some of the problems and risks that face the present day farmer. It discusses the effect weather, insect pests and disease have on the farm business. It tells of the capital and "know-how" necessary to farm today.

The folder goes on to explain that today's farmer has found that proper machinery enables his business enterprise to be more efficient and more profitable. He has gradually replaced man-power and animal-power with machine power.

This increased mechaniation and the application of research to his farm business operations allows today's farmer to produce enough food and fiber for 18 city dwellers in addition to himself.

Total capital invested in an average, family-operated commercial farm in Indiana is in excess of $65,000, including real estate and improvements, machinery, feed, supplies and livestock, the folder points out.

Farming has become an expensive, complicated business operation. As such it calls for a very high level of managerial ability.

This year millions of Americans of all faiths will join in daily Bible reading from Thanksgiving to Christmas in the twelfth annual observance of Worldwide Bible Reading, sponsored by the American Bible Society.

The program, which began when a U. S. marine on Guadalcanal wrote his mother asking that the family join him in reading the same passages of Scripture each day, has spread in scope to the peoples of more than forty nations.

The readings are without note or comment, and one may use whatever version of the Bible he prefers.

Below are the readings for each day, in the theme of personal faith as selected by numerous people from many denominations.

Some Suggestions Are Offered For Selecting, Buying And Caring For Your Christmas Tree

For many families, the selection of the Christmas tree is a delightful and sentimental pilgrimage to find the perfect specimen in a forest of second-bests. All too often, however, the tree that looked perfect at the seller's stand begins to droop and shed its needles before the star is safely ensconced on its tip. And long before the New Year, it has become a mess-producing and hazard-creating nuisance.

A good Christmas tree, it is generally agreed, has these characteristics: 1(Needles that do not drop readily even in a warm, dry room. 2(Attractive green color. 3(Branches stiff and strong enough to support lights and ornaments. 4(Symmetrical shape, full branching, and foliage not excessively prickly. 5(Pleasing fragrance. 6(Springy branches that permit the tree to regain its shape after being tied for shipping.

Selecting a Tree

Reject a tree with withering or yellowing branches. Give it a vigorous shake and brush your hand over the branches. If the needles cascade off, don't buy the tree. Select a fresh-looking specimen with firmly held leaves.

A tree of traditional, conical shape, with full foliage and having a straight leader to display a crowning star or other ornament to advantage, is ideal, but rare. If the tree is to be seen from all sides its branches should, of course, have a minimum of "holes" or places without branches. If it is to stand in a corner, however, defects on one side can be hidden.

Christmas trees have a tendency to look very much larger in the living room than they do out in the open, and many buyers with years of experience come home annually with a monster better suited to a gymnasium than a living room. Take a measuring tape with you when your shop.

Prices of Christmas trees vary according to variety, size, and degree of perfection, as well as supply and demand. Some buyers shop early, on the theory that greater selection is available then. Others hold off the purchase of the tree until Christmas Eve in the hope of getting a last-minute bargain. They find, sometimes that by the time the sale prices take effect, the good trees are gone.

Care Of the Tree

Saw an inch or so off the butt of the tree as soon as you get it home. If you have bought it early stand it in a pail of water in a shady spot outdoors, preferably protected from winds but exposed to rain and snow.

The following recommendations regarding Christmas trees are based mainly on the advice of the United States Department of Agriculture:

1. It is best to use a stand that allows the butt to rest in a container of water. Refill the container daily as the tree absorbs the water.

2. Be sure that the tree is well supported, and that it is well away from sources of heat. The tree should not be so placed that it will block exits.

Lighted candles or other open flames should never be used near Christmas trees. Don't place a tree near a fireplace that may be used. Accumulations of wrapping paper under the tree should also be avoided as fire hazards.

4. Check electric lights and connections before they are strung on the tree. Worn, frayed wires or electric cords are dangerous.

5. Avoid the use of combustible decorations and flammable reflectors for the colored lights. Metal foil "icicles" and tinsel should be kept out of bulb sockets.

Fireproofing

According to researches at the U.S. Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin, the use of so-called fire-retardant chemicals in the tree stand often does more harm than good, hence water alone is recommended. Tests at Connecticut Agriculture Experiment Station support these conclusions.

While no completely satisfactory method of fire-proofing Christmas trees is known, the U.S. Forest Products Laboratory, among others, suggests that they be dipped into or sprayed with a solution of waterglass (available in hardware stores or drugstores) using nine parts of waterglass to one part of water, and adding a teaspoonful of any common household detergent, as a spreader, to each quart. Spraying or dipping trees in this solution causes no significant color change, but does give a shiny appearance to the foliage. Contact with flames causes the waterglass to foam, blanket the branches, and cut off the air supply. The acrylic-base aerosol "snow" sprays which have become popular for decorative effects in recent years also afford limited fire protection.

Advancing Age Does Not Seem To Soften Rhee Of South Korea

Advancing age does not seem to be softening up President Syngman Rhee of South Korea.

Rhee was 80 years old last March. He has been active in politics since he was 19.

It might be thought that by now, he would be getting into a poilosophical state of mind.

On the contrary, he seems to be getting tougher and tougher. Many Allied leaders fear that some day he will start to back up his frequent angry words with deeds. That might mean involving the United States, among other countries, in a big war.

Every now and then Rhee demands that the United Nations cancel the Korean armistice and start the war again.

In fact, he threatens to attack North Korea himself, knowing that he would bring in Communist China against him—and taking it for granted that the United States would have to go to his support.

Now Rhee is involved in an increasingly bitter dispute with Japan.

It was announced last Thursday that South Korean naval vessels would fire on any Japanese fishing craft that violated what is called the Rhee line of territorial waters. If the Japanese boats are accompanied by vessels of the new Japanese navy, so much the worse, it was added.

The Rhee line was set about three years ago to protect Korean fishing "rights." It extends from 60 to 70 miles off the coast of South Korea. It is aimed specifially against Japan, Korea's neighbor across the 100-mile Korea Strait.

The Japanese are both alarmed and angry over the threat. Japanese Foreign Minister Mamoru hig mitsu has announced that he will appeal to the United Nations if the threat is actually carried out.

Rhee is a valuable ally in that he bitterly hates communism. He hardly can be blamed for hating Japan too. He underwent imprisonment and torture in fighting Japan se domination of Korea, and was an exile for 35 years until Korea was freed in 1945.

Martinez Meets Christensen Tonight

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — Vince Martinez, shooting for his 18th straight welterweight victory, and Chris Christensen, seeking to regain fading prestige, meet tonight in a 10-rounder at the St. Louis Arena.

The fight, which will be televised nationally and locally, is a big one for both men.

Christensen, welter champion of Denmark, can boost his 1955 record to the break-even point with a win. For Martinez the match could be another rung on the ladder to a title bout.

Christensen has lost two of his three fights this year, losing to Danny Giovanelli last April and to tough Ralph "Tiger" Jones two months ago. In between, he scored a technical knockout over Gene Poirer.

But the Dane appeared confident on several counts. Christensen will have the edge on Martinez in height and probably in weight also. He and his camp feel that the caliber of his opposition was a cut above Vince's.

Martinez, named boxing's rookie of the year in 1952, is a sharpshooting boxer with a good punch in either fist. He has 23 knockouts to Christensen's nine.

Martinez has won 44 of his 47 bouts and has never been counted out; Christensen has been the winner in 27 of 37 and has been knocked out twice.

Soviet Russia Probably Thinks Of Future In Insisting U. N. Admit Outer Mongolia

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia probably is thinking of the future in insisting that Outer Mongolia be admitted to the United Nations.

There is no good reason why this ill-defined area of grazing lands in Eastern Asia should be given U.N. membership.

But Russia is obviously eager to get the "People's Republic of Mongolia" recognized by the world as a sovereign nation.

One reason is that Outer Mongolia one day may be the cause of a clash of interests between Russia and Communist China.

For Outer Mongolia really is a part of China, even though Chinese rule over it always was loose.

Desire Made Plain

Outer Mongolia is closely tied to the Soviet Union now, as a member of the U.N. it would, of course, vote with the Soviet bloc.

But the Chinese Communists have shown increasing determination to extend their rule, in time, to all the lands once ruled by the old Manchu emperors.

The Chinese Reds invaded Tibet, over which China claimed sovereignty, in 1950.

It has been reported frequently since then that the Peiping government was looking forward to the day when it also would claim Outer Mongolia.

Red China's desire to increase its influence in Outer Mongolia has been made plain.

As soon as the Communists got into power in 1949, they insisted that they be permitted to station an ambassador in Ulan Bator, the Outer Mongolian capital. Russia was compelled to consent, though it had refused previously to admit a Chinese Nationalist diplomatic representative.

Land of Sheep Herders

Now China has been connected with Ulan Bator by a railroad. The line was built, on the Mongolian side, by Russia. But it is unlikely that Russia was enthusiastic in cooperating in the construction of this communication line.

Outer Mongolia has an area of 600,000 square miles. It is so loosely defined that reference books disagree on its exact size. It has a population of about one million almost entirely nomadic herders.

Russia got a foothold in Outer Mongolia in 1921. Troops of the Chinese Republic had occupied it in 1919, in a re-assertion of sovereignty. The Russians aided Mongolian revolutionists in throwing the Chinese out.

Then a so-called people's government was formed. Nominally it was a limited monarchy, ruled by the living budcha of Ulan Bator. In 1924, the "Mongolian People's Republic" was proclaimed. It was the first "people's republic" on the Soviet pattern.

Since then, it has been a Russian satellite—but it may not be always.

to themselves that the Bombay riots could not have happened in their country. Russians take what they get, and praise the Kremlin. At least, when they think out loud.

Nehru can console himself with the thought that in India there are no mass executions for offenders against his regime.

No doubt Nehru, Bulganin and Khrushchev will continue to express their admiration for each other.

The Bombay outbreak, however may well be followed by others even more violent.

The reason is that one of Nehru's vast projects is to consolidate India into 16 states, and a lot of Indians do not like the idea.

The trouble in Bombay was caused by Nehru's decision to cut up the Bombay area into three states.

The idea is to divide the state according to the languages of its peoples.

The same problem exists in other areas, and in some of them the complaints of discrimination also may take violent form.

The 1956 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door Riviera

THIS ONE is the news-maker that's front-page big.

This one is the new Buick SPECIAL for 1956 —the biggest bundle of high-powered energy and high-fashion luxury ever offered in Buick's lowest-priced Series.

Just a quick listing of some certain facts will give you the picture.

First—its engine is a big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with an all-time high in horsepower for this Series—and an engine that hits the record book at a neat 8.9 to 1 compression ratio.

Second—its getaway—with the double-action take-off of the new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—is spectacular even at only part throttle—and comes with a new boost in gas mileage to boot.

Third—on ride, this new SPECIAL is more than great — what with all-coil springing, and torque-tube stability, and a new deep-oil cushioning, and a whole new front-end geometry that adds a wonderful "sense of direction" to the car's travel.

Fourth—on room, luxury, interior finish — there's never been a Buick SPECIAL like this before. From the big, broad seats to the stunning new instrument panel—there's new decorator smartness and quality throughout.

But get the picture on price, and you have the biggest reason why this sizable automobile is so extra special a buy.

For this Buick comes to you at a figure so close to those of the most widely known smaller cars, the difference in price is small change.

So—come in and see and sample this beauty. You'll find it, we firmly believe, the biggest package of automobile at anywhere near its budget price.

New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.*

Vernon Stinebaugh To Direct Concert

The Whitley Choralaires announce that Vernon Stinebaugh of North Manchester who directed them earlier this year in their Spring concert will again direct them in their Christmas concert to be given in the new auditorium of the South Whitley grade school Sunday afternoon, December 11, at 3:15.

The 30-voice adult chorus has been devoting each Tuesday evening to rehearsals for this event which promises to be an inspiring afternoon of Christmas music.

A most versatile person, Mr. Stinebaugh has many titles. He is pastor of the Church of the Brethren in South Whitley; professor of violin and musical theory at Manchester College; conductor of the Manchester Civic Symphony, and director of the Whitley Choralaires.

Professor Stinebaugh had had an interesting musical background. His former home was Lancaster, Indiana, where he and his sisters and brothers at an early age, formed a musical team consisting of three violins and piano. During late years these family concerts have been enhanced by the vocal talents of other members of the family which include the husbands and wives of the members of the family.

Professor Stinebaugh attended Manchester college for two years, then transferred to the Sherwood Music School in Chicago, where he received his Bachelor of Music degree. He received his B.A. at the University of Dayton, and his Masters Degree in Music at Northwestern University, Evanston. He had additional study at Indiana University, Bloomington, during the summer sessions.

Professor Stinebaugh, directed the Choralaires when the group presented their initial concert this year and their concert on Sunday afternoon, December 11 is being looked forward to because of its timely Christmas theme of inspiring music.

Mail Early For A Merrier Christmas Advises Postmaster

Launching his annual "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster Harry G. Bollinger said today that now is the time to prepare and plan the mailing of your Christmas cards and gifts. Get out your Christmas list and be sure you have the full name, street and number, city, zone and state for every one. Remember that first-class friends deserve first-class mail and they get this service when you use three-cent stamps.

Now is the time to lay in a good supply along with plenty of heavy wrapping paper, corrugated cartons and strong cord for your Christmas gift packages.

Right now is not too early to start your gifts to the most distant points and try to have them all mailed by the first week in December.

The postmaster especially requests that you do not mail all of your Christmas cards at the last minute. Those for out-of-state addresses should go by December 10 and all others should be in the mail by at least a week before Christmas.

Most important of all be sure that each Christmas card and parcel is clearly and accurately addressed. Your cooperation wil make it a merrier Christmas for every one.

What's New In Washington

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

Members of the White House staff are hoping that President Eisenhower and Mamie will drop in for a howdy on Christmas Eve, as usual. Year before last the staff received autographed prints of Ike's painting of Abe Lincoln. Last year one of George Washington. Even without gifts it's always a thrill for the help, to get personal Yuletide greetings from the boss.

Phyllis Bernau, secretary to John Foster Dulles, the head man of the State Department, was worried when the boss left for Geneva. She thought he had forgotten a beat-up old brief case he always carries for good luck. It is Phyllis' job to see that he always carries the bag. She couldn't find it. When the little secretary met the big secretary on his return, she cried: "Where is it?" And there it was all the time, in his hand.

The American Automobile Assn. here likes the one about the man who wrote in to an AAA approved hotel and asked if dogs were allowed. The hotel man wrote back and said: "I've been in this business for 30 years. Never have I called on the police to eject a disorderly dog. Never has a dog set fire to a bed with a cigaret. I have never found a hotel towel or blanket in a dog's suitcase. Nor a whisky ring on a dresser from a dog's bottle. Sure the dog is welcome.

"P.S. If he'll vouch for you, come along, too."

The broiler and burners of a gas range come clean easily if immersed in a pan of hot water to which you have added 2 tablespoons of sal soda concentrated. Boil for a few minutes.

Four Senior Members Of 1955 Basketball Champs Stay Close To Home, Four Got Away

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—The four senior members of Indianapolis Attucks' 1955 Indiana high school basketball champs are staying close to home, but four other top hot-shots from other teams last year got away, a survey showed today.

Don Bates, Jasper's all-time scoring champion with 1127 points in three seasons, and New Albany's Trester Medal winner Jim Henry were lured to Vanderbilt.

Rugged Ron Loneski of Hammond Noll is one of the top freshmen at always-tough Kansas. One of his team-mates is the fabulous Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlin of Philadelphia. And Nick Mantis of East Chicago Washington selected Northwestern.

All three Hoosier hot-shots were members of the Indiana "All Stars" in their annual mid-summer series against Kentucky.

14 At Purdue

Willie Merriweather of Attucks and Wilson Eison of Gary Roosevelt, who faced each other in the schoolboy tourney title clash last March, survived the big cut from 81 to 16 players at Purdue last week.

The Boilermaker freshman roster, after the cut, lists 12 other Hoosiers:

Ed Becker and Dick Neel, Lafayette; James Dickens, Royerton; John Eddy, West Lafayette and son of Purdue varsity coach Ray Eddy; Bob Fehrman, Aurora; Bill Greve, Waveland; Leo Helmuth, Northwestern (Howard Co.); Charles Kehrt, Terre Haute Garfield; Bob Kitchell, Galveston; Jim Loer, Indianapolis Shortridge; Charley Lyons, Fort Wayne North; Bob Patchett, Kokomo.

Indiana grabbed at least three choice prospects—Gene Flowers and Jim Hinds of Muncie Central's 1955 powerhouse, and Jerry Schofield of Columbus. Another hopeful is Fred Quance of Auburn.

Mitchell to Butler

Among the state's secondary colleges and universities, Butler, Ball State, Franklin and Indiana Central apparently fared the best in the annual talent distribution.

Sheddrick Mitchell of Attucks and Bob Maier of New Albany are at Butler, Bill Hampton and John Brown of Attucks, along with Steve Lane of Monticello and Jim Wilbur of Columbus at Indiana Central. Franklin picked up Max Perry and Jim Strietelmeier of Columbus, Dan O'Donnell of South Bend Central, Dave Shearer of Fort Wayne Central and Bill Scott of Attucks.

Ball State, finally, enrolled big John Casterlow of Muncie Central, Ronnie Whitehorn of Columbus Leland Yockey of South Bend Central, and Wilbur Davis of Fort Wayne Central.

As usual, hundreds of other fine college cage prospects scattered to all winds, from Harvard to Arizona.

2 Choose Tulane

Bobby Risk of Columbus and Gary Stoll of Princeton picked Tulane. Dick Barnett of Gary Roosevelt is at Tennessee State, and team-mates Charley Ford and Jim Eubanks at Alabama A&M.

Reed Royalty of Muncie Burris is at Harvard and team-mate Tom Warren at Ariona. Jerry Sturm of Terre Haute Gerstmeyer enrolled at Illinois, Gib Blackmun of Hammond at Wisconsin.

The military services attracted a sizeable contingent.

The cross-section survey showed at least five schoolboy hardwood stars chose the Air Force—Walter Henry of Evansville Central, Jim Blevins of Auburn, Bill Weisheit of Jasper, Jim Orndorff of Kokomo, and Paul Hume of Jeffersonville.

Dude Taylor of Lafayette chose the Marine Corps.

Jerry Neal, another Lafayette Bronco, signed a bonus contract with the New York Yankees.

Fraley's Follies And The Weekend Football Winners

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Fraley's follies and the weekend football "winners"—or giving you your "turkeys" a day early.

Game Of The Week

Army over Navy — The Middies are a 6½ point favorite but this is one of those traditionals in which anything can happen and usually does. The factor here is George Welsh's passing and Army's strength in the middle of the line. Our theory is that the tackle-to-tackle Army superiority and plunging power will produce a Cadet triumph.

Thursday's Main Course

Cornell over Penn — Could be real close.

Colgate over Brown — Indian banquet.

Texas Agies over Texas — Climaxing a comeback season.

Also: Miami Ohio, over Cincinnati, Wichita over Tulsa, William and Mary over Richmond, VPI over VMI, Denver over Wyoming and Utah over Utah State.

Saturday's Turkey Hash

Boston College over Holy Cross —The Pilgrims would have been horrified at such lack of brotherly love. The table manners will be on the violent side.

Turkey Hash With Chitlins

Georgia Tech over Georgia — Form here means little but what there is calls for an engineering triumph.

Miami over Florida — Gator steaks, with gravy.

Auburn over Alabama — Plain and fancy.

Tennessee over Vanderbilt — Looking for the big bounce.

West Virginia over North Carolina State — Non-skid platter.

LSU over Tulane — Just one of those things.

Clemson over Furman — Trying to match Army's 1-0 win.

South Carolina over Virginia—Which would be an upset of sorts.

Turkey Hash With Steak

TCU over SMU — The Christians are going to feed on the erstwhile Lions. TCU is heading for the Cotton Bowl and knows it has to be up for a threatening SMU team. The Mustangs haven't been winning the big ones but they'll be no push over.

Baylor over Rice — An even ball game. To coin a phrase, it depends on how the ball bounces.

Texas Tech over Hardin-Simmons — Raiding the ice box for a snack.

Turkey Hash With Pork Chops

Colorado over Colorado Aggies—Tough dish to handle.

New Mexico over Brigham Young — The blueplate special.

Turkey Hash and Mulligan Stew

Notre Dame over Southern California — This could be the one which saves a lot of prestige for the West Coast. USC will have to work like a Trojan but it figures in vain. The Fighting Irish should take that golden shillelagh and wrap it right around the opposition's neck.

Round-Robin Plan

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UP) — Brown will drop Rutgers from its football schedule in 1956 and replace it with Pennsylvania in line with the Ivy League round-robin plan being adopted by the eight teams which form the traditional group.

Weight Lifters

CALCUTTA, India (UP)—American weight-lifting Coach Robert Hoffman predicted today that 123-pound Charles Vinci of Cleveland will "stage a battle royal" with Russia's V. Stogov when they meet again. Vinci lifted 230 pounds in the two-hand clean and press and 290 in the clean and jerk Tuesday night during an exhibition before a crowd that included Premier Nicolai Bulganin of Russia.

They Say There's No Favorite In Army-Navy Classic

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

They say there's no such thing as a favorite in the annual football classic between Army and Navy, but the cold-blooded men who do the figuring today named Navy a 6½ point favorite for this Saturday's star-spangled battle at Philadelphia.

It could be the odds-men are riding along with the record, which shows that the Sailors have won four of the last five clashes with the Cadets — and that they have a superior record this season of six wins, one loss, and one tie to Army's five wins and three losses.

Then, too, Navy has a recognized star quarterback in George Welsh. And an All-America end in Ron Beagle. But Army Coach Earl Blaik insists he has a better defense than Navy, and is high on quarterback Don Holleder, the converted All-America end.

Army leads in the long, colorful series with 28 wins to Navy's 23, with four ties. This year's game will be nationally-televised.

Before Saturday's final program of the 1955 season, the nation's gridiron fans will be treated to a tasty holiday show on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday. In the nationally-televised feature tussle of the day, the Texas Aggies are rated 12 points favorites to beat Texas and thus clinch the Southwest Conference championship.

Ordinarily that title also means a berth in the Cotton Bowl, but the Aggies are under league probation and are ineligible for the bowl bid, which has been clinched by Texas Christian.

With the emphasis heavy on traditional games both on Thursday and on Saturday, here's how the odds-makers figure some of the big battles:

Thanksgiving Day:

Cornell 12 point choice to hand Pennsylvania its 18th straight loss; Wichita a 13-point favorite to beat Tulsa and thus finish in a tie with Detroit for the Missouri Denver a four-point choice to beat Wyoming and thus prevent the Cowboys from tieing Colorado A & M for the Skyline Conference champions; Miami of Ohio a 13-point pick to keep its perfect record and Gator Bowl hopes alive by finishing with a victory over Cincinnati; Colgate eight over Brown; Richmond three over William & Mary; Virginia Tech 14 over VMI; and Utah 14 over Utah State.

Friday night:

West Virginia 13 points to rebound from two straight losses by beating North Carolina State.

Saturday:

Mississippi seven-point pick to clinch the Southeastern Conference championship by beating Mississippi State; Boston College 13 over Holy Cross; Auburn 21 over Alabama; Clemson 28 over Furman; Louisiana St. 7 over Tulane; Miami (Fla.) 13 over Florida; Vanderbilt 1 over Tennessee; Virginia 6 over South Carolina; Baylor and Rice, even; Texas Tech 14 over Hardin - Simmons; Colorado 12 over Colorado A & M; New Mexico 8 over Brigham Young; and Texas Christian 14 over SMU.

Two NFL Coaches Aware Of Problem Obsession Creates

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

Jim Trimble of the Philadelphia Eagles and Jim Lee Howell of the New York Giants are two National Football League coaches who believe a team is asking for trouble if it points for any particular opponent.

Trimble and Howell are particularly aware of this problem because the Eagles and Giants have been chasing the Cleveland Browns for the past five years in the Eastern Division.

Beating the Browns has become almost an obsession with other Eastern Division clubs. As a result, they frequently play poorly before or after brilliant efforts against Cleveland.

The Eagles pulled one of the top rallies in league history to beat the Browns two weeks ago, 33-17, and then played poorly while losing to New York last Sunday, 31-17.

Letdown After Browns

"The only way I can explain our poor showing against the Giants was that our boys had a letdown after beating the Browns," Trimble said. "But that's no excuse.

The Giants have taken delight in defeating Cleveland and boast the only shutout ever scored against the midwestern team. But while New York has made some good showings against the Browns, it also has been whipped regularly by the Pittsburgh Steelers in recent years.

The Giants appeared to have a long drill and skull session Tuesday but Howell denied his club was making any special preparations for Sunday's visit by Cleveland.

"The movies of our last game were just late in arriving so it took us longer to get finished," Howell said.

Steelers The Best

"We've already lost two games to the Steelers this season. As far as our players are concerned, the Steelers are the best club we've played."

The Detroit Lions and Green Bay Packers, who meet in their traditional Thanksgiving Day game, have less time to prepare for their game than the other teams have this week.

The Lions (2-7) are picked to defeat the Packers (5-4) at Detroit.

Sunday's selections with won-lost-tied records in parentheses:

Bears (6-3) over Cardinals (3-5-1) at Chicago; Browns (7-2) over Giants (5) at New York; Rams (5-3-1) over Eagles (3-5-1) at Philadelphia; Forty-Niners (36) over Colts (44-1) at Baltimore; Steelers (45) over Redskins (6-3) at Pittsburgh.

One single roll of wallpaper covers about 36 square feet of wall. Do-it-yourself hanging time: 15 to 20 minutes.

In new models of mobile homes (house trailers) the problem of making rooms smaller or larger is simple. Movable separating walls can be locked in place wherever desired.

Dutch Football Played With Feet

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written for UNITED PRESS

AMSTERDAM (UP) — Dutch football is about as much like our American football as ping pong is like tennis. Personally, I think the Dutch football has more reason and right to be called by this name than our game has.

Their game is played almost entirely with their feet, a player being disqualified if he uses his hands or pushes with his body. The use of the head, however, is allowed in the game. Bouncing the ball from one head to another makes them look like sea lions.

Why they don't all have a perpetual headache I couldn't understand until I was informed that the upper part of the forehead has a very hard bone. But even so the head has to recoil against the top vertebra as it makes a solid contact with the ball. If they would only wear headgear. They not only go bareheaded but have no padding whatsoever anywhere. Shorts, bare knees and generally short sleeved sweaters are the costumes.

ome 60,000 persons witnessed the game between Norway and Holland. Holland won 3-0.

There are no secret huddles. Everything is out in the open. One never loses sight of the ball. It is extremely fast, players constantly running from one end of the field to the other—no inch by inch plays. The game takes no brute strength, just a pair of very lively feet and a hard head.

Benson Asks Everyone To Help Solve Problems

Of Farms Of Nation; Asks For Suggestions

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson today appealed to "everyone" for help in solving the nation's farm problems.

Benson made his broad appeal in a speech prepared for the 89th annual convention of the National Grange.

"I ask everyone of you — both here at this National Grange meeting and home by your radios — to send me your ideas about solutions to the problems we face," Benson said. "Every suggestion will be considered and every letter will receive a personal answer.

"We will listen to any suggestions — from any source — except the suggestion that would turn back to the programs that helped create our present difficult problems."

To Avoid Rigid Supports

Thus he turned down in advance any suggestions that the government return to a system of rigid 90 per cent price supports for farm commodities. He also said the present system of flexible price supports is not sufficient to meet farm problems of surplus, over-production, and declining farm income.

"Rigid supports were useful in wartime," Benson said. "They have failed in peacetime. Flexible supports wisely used can be helpful in peacetime and should be used. But in view of present surpluses, they are not and never will be enough.

"The prime reason why farm families are not sharing fully in our unprecedented prosperity is the accumulation of surplus stocks of major farm commodities — surpluses so big that they drive down the prices farmers get for their current production," Benson said. "These surpluses have accumulated under rigid supports."

To Seek Improvement

Benson said he is "going to do everything I can — everything which is sound — to improve the economic position of our farmers."

He quoted President Eisenhower as saying that "what has been done in the past three years is sound."

The farm problem, Benson said, "is too important to be used as a political football."

Benson said the department is making progress "but much more must be done."

He said situations had been solved involving beef, dairy products, and eggs. But impending is what to do about surplus commodities costing about seven billion dollars. More than $3,500,000,000 of that is tied up in wheat and cotton.

Dialogue Of Man Doing His Christmas Shopping Easy Way

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—"My wife is size 14 and I'd like to get her one of those imported hand knit sweater and skirt sets you're featuring for Christmas."

That, with variations, is the dialogue of a man doing his Christmas shopping the easy way —by calling upon the professional shopping services available at most larger stores during the Christmas season.

Mrs. Selma Ireland, a professional shopper at an Indianapolis department store, says she gets a wide variety of requests during this rush season.

Some persons call, offer her a blank check and put the entire problem of selecting a gift in her hands. When the choice is made, the gift is Crhistmas wrapped and delivered.

Old Story: Shop Early

Other callers have a general idea of what they want, but leave the selection up to her, while still others ask her to get together a collection of possible gifts and then make the final choice in person.

That's one of the easiest ways to avoid frayed Christmas shopping nerves, Mrs. Ireland said. It's particularly popular with men who would prefer not to be caught prowling about women's wear or lingerie counters.

Nearly every store official had one common suggestion for everyone who wants to make this Christmas shopping season a joyous one. It's that old familiar bit of advice: Do your Christmas shopping early.

As Sol Blickman, an Indianapolis jeweler, put it:

"No matter how much help we have, if people wait until the last week or 10 days they cannot possibly get the kind of service they want or we like to give."

Other suggestions are:

Plan ahead so you know what you want and where to find it.

If you're looking for ideas, try gift centers which are set up in most stores.

For the hard to please, gift certificates are safe and convenient.

Don't be afraid to ask questions, by telephone or in person at the store.

Merchants are anxious to satisfy their customers and will go to almost any reasonable length to fulfill requests.

For example, one department store shopper said she has delivered bicycles until the late hours on Christmas eve to fulfill last minute requests.

"One woman sends me a blank check each year to buy a gift for her soldier son stationed in Greenland," she said. "This year I'm going to send him a mixed assortment of fruit and sweets."

Professional shoppers also have lists of gift suggestions that would make Santa Claus himself pale.

For instance, to make your favorite lady's eyes sparkle Christmas morning, a diamond rimmed pair of spectacles can be had for $10,000.

For the man "who has everything," an imported cashmere coat with star sapphire buttons would add tone to his wardrobe, at about $800.

Also for the men, a diamond studded wrist watch that does away with the old fashioned watch hands is available at $350.

Large Shipment Of Iowa Cattle Arrives At International

CHICAGO (UP)—A 1½-million-dollar shipment of Iowa cattle arrived today to compete in the International Livestock Exposition.

The Iowa contribution represents more than a fifth of the five-million-dollar value set on all livestock which will be shown in the nine-day event.

The show starts Friday night.

The Chicago and North Western System ran a "Blue Ribbon Special" train for Iowa cattle which were consigned from Schlesing, Odebolt, Arthur, Ida Grove and other points.

By noon Friday, more than 11,500 farm animals were expected to be ready for judging.

The junior livestock feeding contest Saturday kicks off the first full day's program. Young farmers from 13 states have lined up 467 baby beeves and 66 hogs for the competition.

A crumb pie crust will hold together better if it is chilled in the pan for 24 hours before the filling is added.

The word chenille is French for caterpillar. Chenille carpets get their name from the fuzzy stripes of wool in the pile which resemble the furry creatures.

U.N. General Assembly Strikes Algerian Question Off Its Agenda

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly without objection today struck off its agenda the question of Algeria and opened the way for France to end its two-month boycott of the world parliament.

The French walked out of the assembly on Sept. 30 when it decided to put the Algerian issue on its agenda for full debate.

In Paris, sources close to the government predicted that the French delegation would be told to return to the assembly now that the threat of debate on Algeria was ended.

A conference of the powerful Arab-Asian group today brought agreement on a formula to delete the item from the agenda for this session, leaving it open to be raised again in the future.

The assembly's main political committee this morning approved, without taking a formal vote, a resolution to strike off the item and sent it immediately to the full assembly.

President Jose Maza of Chile, after the committee's recommendation was read, said he assumed there was no objection and, again without a vote, the deletion action was approved without dissent.

The proposal said: "The General Assembly decided not to consider further the item titled 'the question of Algeria'."

Last-minute negotiations in the Arab-Asian bloc brought agreement on the formula to remove the item which caused France to walk out of the General Assembly on Sept. 30. The French, who have boycotted the assembly since, although maintaining membership in other U.N. organs, contend that the Algerian issue is a domestic problem in which the U.N. is specifically forbidden by its charter to interfere.

Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay led the French delegation out of the assembly two months ago when it voted by 28 to 27 to put th Algerian question on the agenda for full debate. The French contended that the United Nations had no right to interfere in a domestic issue, holding that Algeria is legally part of France.

A French foreign office spokesman in Paris said that if the U.N. General Assembly "should decide to strike Algeria off its agenda we

Grandstaff Jailed For Driving While Being Intoxicated

Arrested early Thursday on charges of driving while intoxicated and from public intoxication was Peter Philip Grandstaff, aged 23, of 126 East Van Buren street. He is being held in jail here in lieu of $1500 bond.

His arrest was the result of an accident on Main street at 4:05 a.m. Thursday when he ran almost head-on into the car being operated by Ezra Smith, 37, of 6124 Armey Street, Detroit. The accident was investigated by Harry Prumm, city police officer.

According to the accident report, Grandstaff drove west on Van Buren street and turned north onto Main street, swinging into the southbound traffic lane of Main street. The Smith vehicle, a 55 Ford coach, was southbound on Main Street. Damage to Smith's car was estimated at $150 and included the front bumper, grille, and a headlight.

Grandstaff was driving a 1950 Hudson coach. Damage to his vehicle was similar to that on the other car and was estimated at $150.

Parked Car Is Hit

Thursday about 11:50 p.m. Ralph E. Applewhite, 25, of Ewing, reported to Policeman Morris Carlile that his vehicle was forced into a sideswipe collision with the Robert L. Erne '50 Oldsmobile, parked in front of the Erne residence on North Main street when Applewhite swung into the wrong traffic lane to avoid hitting a car which passed him on the right side.

Damage to Erne's car was estimated at $200 while that to Applewhite's '53 Mercury coach was estimated at $150. The right side and front bumper of Erne's car were damaged while the left side of the Applewhites car was involved.

The motorist said he was preparing to make a right turn when a vehicle passed him on the right side, forcing him into the wrong lane of traffic and against the parked car. He gave chase to the driver who passed him on the right but was unable to get his license number. Applewhite then returned to the scene of the accident and gave his report to the police.

Guards Patrol Strike-Disrupted New Castle Today

Picketing At Foundry Sparse, Intermittent

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP) — Armed Indiana National Guardsmen patroled this strike-disrupted city today to enforce an uneasy peace.

No trouble was reported since 92 guardsmen were ordered here in the wake of Perfect Circle Corp. violence. Troops and four halftracks from Connersville, Marion an dShelbyville rolled into New Caste after windows of non-strikers' homes and the Perfect Circle foundry were shattered.

The guardsmen spent a "very peaceful" Thanksgiving, including a turkey dinner with the trimmings, Maj. Ray Beck of the Shelbyville battalion staff said.

Picketing at the foundry was sparse and intermittent, authorities reported.

Governor Craig ordered the troops in late Wednesday upon the request of Mayor Paul McCormack. McCormack said the only new restrictions for the time being would be a midnight curfew for persons under 18 years old.

An Oct. 5 gunfight and riot between strikers and non-strikers resulted in full martial law. One-thousand guardsmen were ordered in; the remnants of that force left the area late last week.

McCormack said local authorities could not cope with the renewed violence this week without help because "the people that are perpetrating these things pick their own time and place. We're limited to our force at any one time."

Trying to run down persons who fire or throw rocks at windows is "just like hunting down a needle in a haystack," McCormack said.

Don Ballard, CIO United Auto Workers regional publicity director, said he didn't know who the culprits were. "We have told our members not to perform such acts," he said.

Returned Here

Frank Jones, a patient at the Irvin Nursing Home, was taken in the Hollingsworth ambulance to Fort Wayne for treatment. He was later returned to the Nursing Home for further convalesence.

Record Entry Of Farm Animals Are At International

Exposition Opens At Chicago Tonight

CHICAGO (UP)—The 56th annual International Livestock Exposition opens here tonight with a record entry of the nation's finest farm animals.

However, one important steer, the entry of the defending grand champion, may be missing.

William Ogilvie, show manager said a record total of more than 11,500 head of cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, valued at five million dollars, have been entered in the show.

A "doubtful" starter, however, is Shorty II, an Aberdeen-Angus steer entered by 17-year-old Janice Hullinger of Manly, Iowa, who showed last year's grand champion. Her entry came down with pneumonia earlier this week.

Dr. W.G. Bauman, a veterinarian who examined shorty Thursday night, said only a "remarkable response" would enable the steer to be entered.

He said the sickness would not affect the animal's prime beef but might cause its coat to turn dull and weaken it to a point where it would lose out in competition, scheduled Saturday for its class.

Janice, a pretty farm girl whose Aberdeen - Angus champion last year brought nearly $25,000 in all, maintained a constant vigil in the steer's stall at the International

Meditation

By REV. VAL HENNING
St. John Lutheran Church

In Zechariah 9:9 we read: "Behold, Thy King cometh unto Thee; He is just and having salvation." This prophecy of Christ was the cause of much frustration in Israel. Ever since the first prophecy of the coming of Christ was given to Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, the children of the promise land were anxiously awaiting its fulfillment and for 4000 years their expectation was put to severe tests, until on Palms Sunday they beheld Him triumphantly riding into the Jerusalem among the shouts of the people; "Hosanna to the Son of David. Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord. Hosanna in the highest."

Now almost 2000 years have passed since that notable Palm Sunday, and the same refrain echoes anew in millions of hearts throughout the world. The King that was promised in the Old Testament, now reigns triumphantly in the hearts of His subjects, who acclaim Him their Lord and King. He is just and having salvation.

There is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby they must be saved. The advent season prepares our hearts to receive our King anew at Christmas tide and to make room for His coming.

All hail and power of Jesus' name. Let angels prostrate fall bring forth the royal diadem and crown Him Lord of all. Let every kindred, every tribe, on this terrestrial ball to Him all majesty ascribe and crown Him Lord of all.

Democrats Keep The Dixon-Yates ControversyAlive

Chairman Butler Demands Prosecutions

WASHINGTON (UP) — Democrats today kept alive the Dixon-Yates issue by demanding prosecutions in the controversy and promising additional investigations.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler demanded that the administration prosecute officials responsible for what he called the "now - admitted wrongdoing" involved in the abandoned power contract.

Butler said the Dixon - Yates matter would provide a "real test of Republican promises to deal vigorously with any misconduct in government."

His statement was prompted by the Atomic Energy Commission's announcement Wednesday night that it considers the contract invalid. The AEC said there was a possible violation of the conflict of interest law in negotiating the contract and that it would pay no cancellation costs on it unless ordered to do so by a court.

Kefauver Pledges Probe

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating the Dixon-Yates matter, said, that the AEC's action is "not the end of the fight." He said his group will "continue our investigation of the connection between the Eisenhower administration and the private power lobbies."

The AEC said the possible violation involved the activities of Adolphe H. Wenzell, New York investment banker who acted both as consultant to the government and as an official of the firm which handled Dixon-Yates financial arrangements.

Butler said that in view of the AEC's finding the administration should explain why President Eisenhower and Budget Director Rowland Hughes said they regarded Wenzell's role in the contract negotiations as proper.

Butler Hails Opposition

Butler said "the two-year fight of the Democrats to stop the Dixon Yates deal is a splendid example of how a vigilant opposition can serve the public interest.

"Blocking the deal saved the tax payers more than 100 million dollars in excess power costs, and now there should be another four million or five million dollars saving of cancellation fees because of the investigation which uncovered the conflict of interest violation."

Under the Dixon-Yates contract, the private power combine was to have built a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., and to have supplied power to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace TVA power furnished AEC installations elsewhere.

The project was dropped when the city of Memphis, Tenn., which was to have received much of the Dixon-Yates power, said it would refuse to accept the private power and would build its own municipal power plant to serve its growing needs.

Ramos Signs Bill Putting Brazil Under Military

Suspends Constitutional Guarantees For Month

By JUAN DE ONIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UP)—Acting President Nereu Ramos signed a bill early today putting Brazil under a state of seige for the next 30 days.

Ramos acted quickly to sign the bill which suspends many constitutional guarantees during the time it is in force.

The Senate completed congressional action on the bill shortly before midnight when it passed it by a vote of 35 to 15 after rejecting an appeal to guarantee freedom of the press.

The Brazilian Press Association sent a message to Ramos urging him to preserve the freedom of the press during the state of siege which was suggested by the army to ensure that President - Elect Juscelino Kubitschek takes office as scheduled on Jan. 31.

Press Freedom Needed

The press association expressed "confidence in the preservation of constitutional principles and faith in the victory of the democratic regime" but renewed "its warning of the necessity of the preservation of press freedom."

The warning said Ramos "knows very well that the absence of free criticism is more nefarious than possible excesses of journalism."

However, censorship of radios and newspapers was still in effect for the fifth straight day. Radio Globo and radio Jornal do Brasil, both identified with the opposition National Democratic Union Party, were closely censored. The semi-official Radio National was under constant censorship and an army major was named director.

Two Political Crises

The split over Kubitschek has produced two political crises within the past two weeks. In the first, a group of army officers led by War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott ousted Acting President Carlos Luz to insure that Kubitschek takes office. The second came when ailing President Jaoa Cafe Filhos tried to resume his office this week and Congress declared him physically unfit.

Immediately after that the military led by Lott suggested the state of siege be declared. This gives the government the right of search and seizure without warrant, ends the right of habeas corpus for political prisoners, and curtails the right of citizens to travel from one part of the country to the other.

Motorists, There Are Only Six Days Left Before S-D Day

It's S-D Day minus six and motorists are warned that there are only six days left to practice good winter driving habits before Safe Driving Day. Carl A. Miller, S-D Day director for Illinois and a member of the board of directors of the Chicago Motor Club, urged motorists to adjust their driving habits to winter conditions.

Miller asked motorists to follow the following seven winter driving rules:

1. Adjust your speed to driving conditions.
2. Leave early in order to allow extra time to get to your destination when streets are wet or icy.
3. Don't follow the car ahead too closely.
4. Clear snow and ice from your windshield and windows before driving.
5. Test your brakes several times to check how much distance you need to stop.
6. Pump your brakes rather than applying them suddenly.
7. Keep a shovel and a bucket of sand, cinders or salt in your trunk to help free your car if you get stuck on ice or in snow.

Ike Will Return To White House In Late December

President Gradually Rebuilds His Strength

By NEIL MACNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower will return to the White House about Dec. 20 and remain there—except for some week-end trips—until Congress is well-launched on its 1956 program, it was learned today.

The President, gradually rebuilding his health and his strength, plans to stay in Washington from late December until about mid-April, White House Sources disclosed.

According to Mr. Eisenhower's current plans, he will make week-end visits to his farm home here. He also may make a number of flying visits to "the Little White House" at the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Course.

But his staff members expect him to make the White House in Washington his headquarters and center of operations until at least April 10. His plans after that were not disclosed.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty has announced that Mr. Eisenhower will spend Christmas at the White House with his family.

By operating from the White House until mid-April, Mr. Eisenhower is expected to take a personal hand in the start of the Republican legislative program in the crucial election year. This program is now under study by administration leaders.

In the days ahead the President will be taking on his busiest schedule since he suffered a heart attack on Set. 24.

Next Monday he will hold a political conference with GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall. Then in days following, he will meet with both GOP and Democratic congressional leaders and undergo two medical checks.

High Death Rate Ordinarily Does Not Mar Holiday

144 Traffic Deaths From Wednesday Eve To Midnight Thursday

By UNITED PRESS

Thanksgiving Day, a holiday not ordinarily married by a high traffic death rate, resulted in a "shocking" number of fatalities, a compilation showed today.

The United Press counted 144 traffic deaths across the country between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Thursday.

Heretofore Thanksgiving Day has been more like an ordinary Thursday so far as traffic fatalities were concerned, according to the National Safety Council. The council makes no prediction o nthe number of traffic fatalities expected during Thanksgiving.

However, a council compilation for Thursday Dec. 2, 1954, made in the interest of the first Safe-Driving Day, showed 81 deaths in the United States. This includes delayed deaths.

A council sopkesman informed of the United Press count said it was a "shocking figure."

Fires killed 11 persons and miscellaneous accidents 22 Thursday for a total of 177 violent deaths during the holiday.

In Michigan, which led all states with 20 traffic deaths, five persons died in one two-car crash and four in another. At Mesquite, Tex., a 15-year-old boy was killed when a piano he was helping to move fell on him.

President Eisenhower set the theme for the nation's observance. He spent a quiet day at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm home, concentrating on his three grand-children. He carved a 40-pound turkey.

Rear Admiral Byrd, At The Age Of 67, Sets Out Today On His Fifth Antarctic Expedition

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd at the age of 67 set out today on his fifth Antarctic expedition—a venture he believes will foreshadow the first permanent settlement on the icy continent.

The famous explorer predicted at a news conference on the eve of his departure that Antarctica will become a land of permanent citizens, mostly civilians, living in villages of perhaps 500 persons when the present exploration ends in 1959.

"Eventually, this is the beginning of the opening of a great continent that is going to be of great value to generations to come and to the peace-loving peoples of the world," he said.

Byrd leaves with his chief of staff, Capt. Laurence Matthews, on the first lap of a journey to Antarctica. The two are due at Auckland, New Zealand, Nov. 30.

In New Zealand Byrd and Matthews will join seven U.S. ships and 15 airplanes for the remainder of the trip to the Antarctic area.

Byrd told newsmen at his unusual Thanksgiving Day news conference that Antarctica—a continent larger than the U.S. and Europe combined, holds perhaps the world's richest store of untapped natural resources.

He said he had seen coal seams on his earlier expeditions to the Antarctic plateau and believes that uranium, gold, silver and copper may also be found there.

Byrd suggested anew that the continent at the bottom of the world could serve as a "deep freeze" for agricultural surpluses and hinted it might become a haven for bachelors.

"Women have never set foot on the place we call Little America (base of previous expeditions), and we have found it to be the most peaceful and silent place in the world," he quipped.

When Grandma got Her "Light Bill"

it WAS a Light Bill!

Some people still call their electric service bills "light bills". That's what they were at first. In Grandma's day, the biggest home use of electricity was for illumination – light.

But Today . . .

People put electricity to work in their homes in dozens of ways. Just for fun, count the electrical appliances in your home. You'll probably say you never realized you had so many!

Today most I&M customers are using more than twice the electricity they used just ten short years ago – because they enjoy living electrically.

Naturally, bills are higher. But while use has more than doubled, the average cost per kilowatthour has been reduced about one-third.

What else do you use every day that costs you less than it did ten years ago?

Electricity costs less today. Dark bar shows how the cost of living has gone up since 1937. Light bar shows how the cost of electricity has gone down in the same period. (Graph based on latest published figures of U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

She wore a tiny red velvet halo and red satin slippers, and carried a cascade of scarlet anthuriums with huckleberry foliage tied with scarlet velvet bow.

The bridegroom and his groomsman Charles Lowe, wore maroon carnation boutonnieres. Stanford Loos, the usher, and the two fathers wore white carnations in their lapels. The two mothers wore corsages of white roses.

The bride's mother chose a dress of silver lace over coral and her accessories were in turquoise and the mother of the bridegroom wore white accessories with her black silk dress.

For traveling the bride wore a dress of black and white tweed styled with a bolero with white satin cuffs and collar. Her top coat was black lined with white fur and she wore a small white fur hat with a three-tier satin trim.

Fire Destroys Murphy Store At Franklin

FRANKLIN, Ind. (UP) — Fire destroyed the G. C. Murphy 50-to-$1 store early today and the loss, including Christmas stock which was to go on sale today, was estimated at $500,000.

The fire was discovered about 2 a.m. CDT in the two-story brick building located on the northeast corner of the Johnson County courthouse square. For a time, it threatened a half - block - square area including Lanam's Shoe Co., the Franklin Theatre, Ardinger's Photo Studio, the Henderson Drug Co. and the Union Trust Co.

Firemen said a fire wall prevented the flames from spreading to the shoe store next door and Lord's Dress Shop across an alley. But damage by smoke and water to Lanam's was believed heavy.

Fire, Chicken And Motorist Play Roles On Thanksgiving

LEBANON, Ind. (UP)—A fire, a chicken and an anonymous motorist played key roles in the James Ashley family's Thanksgiving Thursday.

Defective wiring started a fire in the Ashley home here, but firemen saved the house. However, the Ashleys' chicken dinner was ruined in the oven.

While one of the two young Ashley children forlornly watched her meal go up in smoke, a passing motorist heard of her plight and pressed a $10 bill into her hand and drove away.

The 24-year-old father took his family to a restaurant.

Texas Jolts Title Hopes Of Texas A & M In Top Thanksgiving Game; Wichita, Miami Win

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Navy, Notre Dame, Texas Christian, and Mississippi will be the favorites in the biggest games Saturday when the 1955 college football season comes to an end in a blaze of traditional glory and conference championships.

Navy and Army both were slated to move to Philadelphia today to get set for their 56th annual service gridiron classic there Saturday, and the last word was that the Middies remain favored by seven points

In another game, Notre Dame, the nation's highest-ranked independent team will be the choice by 10 points to gain its ninth win in 10 starts at the expense of Southern California.

Texas Christian, the host team for the Cotton Bowl game, is a 14-point favorite over Southern Methodist. TCU now can clinch the Southwest Conference championship by winning this one, thanks to the stunning 21-6 upset handed Texas A & M by Texas Thursday.

The Aggies went into that tussle a 13-point pick, needing only a victory to gain their first league crown since 1940. And they scored first when Jim Wright bucked over from the one in the second quarter.

But the Aggies missed the extra point. Aroused Texas scored 10 seconds before halftime on Joe Clements' 25-yard pass, went ahead on Johnny Elam's conversion, then clinched the game on fourth-period touchdowns by Walt Fondren and Ed Hawkins.

Mississippi, like Texas Christian, can clinch a league title — the Southeastern — by making good as a seven-point pick over Mississippi State Saturday. If Ole Miss stumbles, the title could go to Auburn, Georgia Tech, or Vanderbilt, all of them favored in separate games. Out of this group will come the host team for the Sugar Bowl and possibly Texas Christian's Cotton Bowl rival.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, hopes to finish a perfect season Saturday and is the day's most lopsided choice at 35 points over Oklahoma A & M.

Little Miami of Ohio, which has been mentioned as a Gator Bowl possibility, kept those hopes shining brightly Thursday by winding up a perfect season with a 14-0 triumph over Cincinnati.

The holiday also was a happy one for Wichita, which finished in a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference championship by crushing Tulsa, 54-0.

But it was unhappy for Wyoming, beaten 6-3 by Denver in possibly the wildest finish of any football game this year and thus prevented from tying Colorado A & M for the Skyline Conference title.

Denver Bounces Back

The score was 0-0 with only 10 seconds left when Joe Mastrogiovanni, the "Cowboy from Brooklyn," booted a 17-yard field goal to put underdog Wyoming ahead. That looked like the game, But there was still the tiny matter of one kickoff — which Denver ran back for a touchdown on a 78-yard play that saw Max Willsey lateral to Dick Gupton. Gupton was tackled on the goal line and the signal of a score was held up for 10 minutes because both squads were fighting on the field. Then the crowd was there, too, so they skipped the extra point.

Wyoming Athletic Director Glenn Jacoby said he will protest the game to the conference commissioner on the grounds the referees "didn't see" the play.

In other leading games on Turkey Day: Cornell handed Pennsylvania its 18th straight loss, 39-7, Colgate trounced Browns, 25-0; William and Mary held Richmond to a 6-6 tie; Utah nipped Utah State, 14-13; and Virginia Tech downed VMI, 39-13.

West Virginia, Southern Conference champion, is a 13-point choice to bounce back from two straight losses by beating North Carolina State in the only major game on tonight's schedule.

Detroit Lions Beat Green Bay Packers On Thanksgiving Day

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Lions, last-place defending champions in the Western Division, occupied the role of spoilers in the National Football League again today following their 24-10 win over the Green Bay Packers in their annual Thanksgiving Day battle here.

It was the second time within three weeks that the Lions eliminated a team from the title race which now is a run to the wire between the Chicago Bears and the Los Angeles Rams.

The Lions, who dropped their first six games, wrecked the Baltimore Colts' title hopes Nov. 5 by defeating them, 24-14.

A 21-yard field goal by Fred Cone and a five-yard touchdown pass from Tobin Rote to Gary Knafelc gave Green Bay a short-lived lead.

But then came the disastrous second quarter. A Packer fumble set up Detroit's first touchdown on a three-yard pass from Bobby Layne to Lew Carpenter. Doak Walker's second field goal attempt was successful.

Carpenter broke through the right side for a 49-yard scoring romp that put Detroit ahead in the final quarter. The Lions clinched it a few minutes later on one of the weirdest plays of the season.

Rote, holding for a 50-yard field goal attempt, fumbled the pass from center. He tried to run, but was met by a swarm of defensemen and tossed the ball to Cone. Cone couldn't hold it either. Sherwin (Sonny) Gandee picked it up and ran 48 yards for Detroit's final score.

The Lions and Packers rest Sunday while the Chicago Bears and Cardinals meet in an intra - city battle, Baltimore hosts San Francisco, the Cleveland Browns visit the New York Giants, the Rams play at Philadelphia and the Pittsburgh Steelers entertain the Washington Redskins.

Coesse Indians Defeat Arcola For Fourth Victory 54-51

The Coesse Indians won their fourth victory from the Arcola Aces Wednesday on the loosers home court. They have one loss to Harlan.

The Aces jumped off with a head start but the Indians soon closed the gap but could never quite tie the score and the quarter ended with Arcola ahead by two with a score of 14-16. The Aces remained in the lead for the next two stanzas. Arcola would forge ahead but the determined Indians would cut their lead down to within three points time and again. At the end of the second period the Aces still led by four, the score being 27-31 at half time. At the end of the third quarter Arcola was ahead by six points, the score being 36-42.

During the first part of the fourth quarter it was still a determined Indian team trying to win. The Aces always being ahead by a few points then the Indians cutting down their lead ti within three points.

With a little more than three minutes to go, two of the Aces fouled out. They were Schaefer and Ed Wright, the two tallest men on the Arcola team. Two of the Indians first five fouled out; they were Walker and Maley. After Arcola's two tall men fouled out the Indians forged ahead with a field goal and foul shot by Rock. The final period ended with the Indians ahead 54-51.

The high scorer for the game was Rock, of the Indians, with 15. Close behind was Walker with 14 for the Indians. High scorers for the Aces was Stalhut with 12 and Squires with 10.

The officials were Brackman and Reynolds.

The preliminary game was won by Arcola. At the end of the first period the score was tied up at two all. After that the Aces pulled ahead and continued to gain on the Papooses, winning by a score of 24-33.

By UNTED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors stumbled coming out of the starting gate, but their seven straight victories since that opening loss now have carried them into first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association.

The Warriors took the top spot away from the New York Knickerbockers, 118-97, Thursday night with a second-half surge.

In other Thanksgiving night games, the Syracuse Nationals took over third place in the East by beating Boston, 111-103, as George King outplayed Bob Cousy Lew Hitch led Minneapolis to a 107-99 win over St. Louis; and Fort Wayne turned back Rochester, 104-93.

At Syracuse, King outscored Cousy, 29-23, although sitting out the last six minutes. King personally put Syracuse on the victory path in the second period when he fed Paul Seymour for a goal that broke a 29-29 tie and then added two quick baskets himself.

Hitch kept Minneapolis close in its game at St. Louis with 11 points in the second period and then the Lakers overcame a 47-45 halftime deficit to take charge and wn. However, Bob Pettit of the Hawks took game scoring honors with 20 points.

At Fort Wayne, the Pistons came off a 50-50 halftime tie to lead all through the second half in beating Rochester. George Yardley of the Pistons took individual honors with 28 points.

may not have had the children, but they had the food. Turkey with all the trimmings was the menu. In Korea, some 50,000 GI's spent a happy if homesick day just outside the Bamboo Curtain. Only a handful of troops had to eat in the bunkers.

President Syngman Rhee of Korea told U. S. servicemen "the people of Korea thank you for your sacrifices."

At Columbus, Miss., V. F. King, had something special to be thankful for — his life. Police said King was "sitting on the tracks" when bumped off a freight train. He was not hurt seriously.

Firemen at Engine Co. 120 at Chicago also had food trouble. While answering an alarm, they discovered someone had stolen most of their holiday turkey.

At Anderson, Ind., the Ridley Carmacks gave thanks that their 50-year-old "lovers' spat" was over. The couple was married Wednesday.

The Benjamin Hartleys, both 96, celebrated their 80th wedding anniversary at Sagle, Idaho. They are believed to be the nation's longest-married couple.

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure called today for a National Assembly confidence vote in a make or break attempt to keep his job and push through nationwide elections in January.

The sixth vote of confidence in as many weeks will be taken Tuesday.

Big Cold Air Mass Covers Wide Area

By UNITED PRESS

Freezing temperatures covered a wide area from the Plains states to the East Coast early Friday.

A cold air mass extended from the upper Plains southward to west Texas and eastward across the Midwest, Great Lakes and Appalachians to the mid-Atlantic states and New England.

Bismarck, N.D., recorded 14 below zero during the night.

However, that was mild compared to Canadian conditions in the middle of the cold air. Smith River, B.C., recorded 50 below zero.

Snow fell across Minnesota and the upper Great Lakes and in the Pacific Northwest. Some mountain areas in the Far West have accumulated large snow depths for so early in the season, weathermen said.

Mullen Pass, Idaho, had 5 feet of snow on the ground.

Mild temperatures were the rule in the Southland with Key West, Fla., recording 74.

Israel Accuses Egypt Of New Border Incidents

Tension Mounts Along Gaza Strip

JERUSALEM (UP) —Israel accused Egypt of new border incidents and tension mounted today along the bloody Gaza Strip frontier.

Maj. Dan Gov, Israeli militaryn spokesman, charged that Egyptian troops carried out two separate attacks on Israeli forces in the Negev Desert Thursday. He said signs of increased Egyptian military plane activities in Israeli skies also were noted.

Gov said Egyptian positions subjected an Israeli patrol along the armistice line near Kissufim Thursday to intermittent fire twice within an hour. At the same time, he said another Egyptian force launched a diversionary attack on an Israeli patrol near Beeairy.

Gov said the Israelis spffered no casualties and did not return fire.

The spokesman said that Egyptian anti - aircraft in the Beeairy area opened fire on an Israeli plane over Israeli territory on Wednesday.

The incidents came on the heels of a protest by Israel to the United Nations Security Council against what it termed "Egyptian aggressions." The Israeli government charged that Egyptian troops opened fire 21 times on Israeli border posts and that Egyptian planes invaded Israeli territory 12 times in the past three weeks.

There also was continued scattered attacks on British Prime Minister Anthony Eden for his recent speech calling for a "compromise".

Eden came under fire in the House of Commons also Thursday. He denied that he asked Israel to make substantial territorial concessions. He said both sides would have to make concessions.

The United Nations truce headquarters here said that further negotiations are necessary on the U. N. proposals to restore peace in the El Auja demilitarized zone, scene recently of some of the bloodiest battles since the Palestine war in 1948.

A communique said that Egypt, while not rejecting the proposals, put forward "certain additional point for consideration."

Israel, it added, accepted the proposals in principle but indicated there are points on implementation which require clarification.

shall reconsider our position." Diplomatic sources said there was little doubt that France would return if the issue is dropped.

For weeks, Francisco Urritia of Colombia and India's V. K. Khrishna Menon have worked behind the scenes in search of a formula that would satisfy both France and the Afro - Asian nations.

Last Wednesday, Colombia Cuba, Chile and Ecuador put forward a formal proposal to delete the Algeria debate and bring France back to the General Assembly.

The Arab nations were opposed to eliminating the Algerian question from th agenda. However, Krishna Menon was said to have won agreement from the Arabs to a motion "not to consider" Algeria.

The U.N. Disarmament Commission was also scheduled to meet today, the third time in three days. At Thursday's session, Russia accused the United States of blocking an agreement.

"He doesn't seem to be getting better," she said. "But we haven't given up hope."

The big exposition gets under way tonight with a horse show, livestock, grain and hay, meat and wool exhibits. Serious judging won't begin until Saturday.

This year's grand champion, highlight of the nine-day show, will be picked by Dr. A.D. Weber, dean of agriculture at Kansas State College, on Tuesday. It is his eighth appearance as chief judge.

Weber also will select the junior champion steer Saturday in the livestock feeding contest which has drawn 382 boys and girls who will show 497 calves they have raised as club projects.

Running in conjunction with the exposition is the International Hay and Grain Show which has drawn more than 1,500 entries. The corn king, as in the past, is expected to be named from Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa exhibitors.

Several farm groups are meeting here during the exposition, including the 34th National 4-H Club Congress.

U.N. General Assembly Strikes Algerian Question Off Its Agenda

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly without objection today struck off its agenda the question of Algeria and opened the way for France to end its two-month boycott of the world parliament.

The French walked out of the assembly on Sept. 30 when it decided to put the Algerian issue on its agenda for full debate.

In Paris, sources close to the government predicted that the French delegation would be told to return to the assembly now that the threat of debate on Algeria was ended.

A conference of the powerful Arab-Asian group today brought agreement on a formula to delete the item from the agenda for this session, leaving it open to be raised again in the future.

The assembly's main political committee this morning approved, without taking a formal vote, a resolution to strike off the item and sent it immediately to the full assembly.

President Jose Maza of Chile, after the committee's recommendation was read, said he assumed there was no objection and, again without a vote, the deletion action was approved without dissent.

The proposal said: "The General Assembly decided not to consider further the item titled 'the question of Algeria'."

Last-minute negotiations in the Arab-Asian bloc brought agreement on the formula to remove the item which caused France to walk out of the General Assembly on Sept. 30. The French, who have boycotted the assembly since, although maintaining membership in other U.N. organs, contend that the Algerian issue is a domestic problem in which the U.N. is specifically forbidden by its charter to interfere.

Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay led the French delegation out of the assembly two months ago when it voted by 28 to 27 to put th Algerian question on the agenda for full debate. The French contended that the United Nations had no right to interfere in a domestic issue, holding that Algeria is legally part of France.

A French foreign office spokesman in Paris said that if the U.N. General Assembly "should decide to strike Algeria off its agenda we

Grandstaff Jailed For Driving While Being Intoxicated

Arrested early Thursday on charges of driving while intoxicated and from public intoxication was Peter Philip Grandstaff, aged 23, of 126 East Van Buren street. He is being held in jail here in lieu of $1500 bond.

His arrest was the result of an accident on Main street at 4:05 a.m. Thursday when he ran almost head-on into the car being operated by Ezra Smith, 37, of 6124 Armey Street, Detroit. The accident was investigated by Harry Prumm, city police officer.

According to the accident report, Grandstaff drove west on Van Buren street and turned north onto Main street, swinging into the southbound traffic lane of Main street. The Smith vehicle, a 55 Ford coach, was southbound on Main Street. Damage to Smith's car was estimated at $150 and included the front bumper, grille, and a headlight.

Grandstaff was driving a 1950 Hudson coach. Damage to his vehicle was similar to that on the other car and was estimated at $150.

Parked Car Is Hit

Thursday about 11:50 p.m. Ralph E. Applewhite, 25, of Ewing, reported to Policeman Morris Carlile that his vehicle was forced into a sideswipe collision with the Robert L. Erne '50 Oldsmobile, parked in front of the Erne residence on North Main street when Applewhite swung into the wrong traffic lane to avoid hitting a car which passed him on the right side.

Damage to Erne's car was estimated at $200 while that to Applewhite's '53 Mercury coach was estimated at $150. The right side and front bumper of Erne's car were damaged while the left side of the Applewhites car was involved.

The motorist said he was preparing to make a right turn when a vehicle passed him on the right side, forcing him into the wrong lane of traffic and against the parked car. He gave chase to the driver who passed him on the right but was unable to get his license number. Applewhite then returned to the scene of the accident and gave his report to the police.

Guards Patrol Strike-Disrupted New Castle Today

Picketing At Foundry Sparse, Intermittent

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP) — Armed Indiana National Guardsmen patroled this strike-disrupted city today to enforce an uneasy peace.

No trouble was reported since 92 guardsmen were ordered here in the wake of Perfect Circle Corp. violence. Troops and four halftracks from Connersville, Marion an dShelbyville rolled into New Caste after windows of nonstrikers' homes and the Perfect Circle foundry were shattered.

The guardsmen spent a "very peaceful" Thanksgiving, including a turkey dinner with the trimmings, Maj. Ray Beck of the Shelbyville battalion staff said.

Picketing at the foundry was sparse and intermittent, authorities reported.

Governor Craig ordered the troops in late Wednesday upon the request of Mayor Paul McCormack. McCormack said the only new restrictions for the time being would be a midnight curfew for persons under 18 years old.

An Oct. 5 gunfight and riot between strikers and non-strikers resulted in full martial law. One-thousand guardsmen were ordered in; the remnants of that force left the area late last week.

McCormack said local authorities could not cope with the renewed violence this week without help because "the people that are perpetrating these things pick their own time and place. We're limited to our force at any one time."

Trying to run down persons who fire or throw rocks at windows is "just like hunting down a needle in a haystack," McCormack said.

Don Ballard, CIO United Auto Workers regional publicity director, said he didn't know who the culprits were. "We have told our members not to perform such acts," he said.

Returned Here

Frank Jones, a patient at the Irvin Nursing Home, was taken in the Hollingsworth ambulance to Fort Wayne for treatment. He was later returned to the Nursing Home for further convalesence.

Record Entry Of Farm Animals Are At International

Exposition Opens At Chicago Tonight

CHICAGO (UP)—The 56th annual International Livestock Exposition opens here tonight with a record entry of the nation's finest farm animals.

However, one important steer, the entry of the defending grand champion, may be missing.

William Ogilvie, show manager said a record total of more than 11,500 head of cattle, horses, sheep and hogs, valued at five million dollars, have been entered in the show.

A "doubtful" starter, however, is Shorty II, an Aberdeen-Angus steer entered by 17-year-old Janice Hullinger of Manly, Iowa, who showed last year's grand champion. Her entry came down with pneumonia earlier this week.

Dr. W.G. Bauman, a veterinarian who examined shorty Thursday night, said only a "remarkable response" would enable the steer to be entered.

He said the sickness would not affect the animal's prime beef but might cause its coat to turn dull and weaken it to a point where it would lose out in competition, scheduled Saturday for its class.

Janice, a pretty farm girl whose Aberdeen - Angus champion last year brought nearly $25,000 in all, maintained a constant vigil in the steer's stall at the International

Meditation

By REV. VAL HENNING
St. John Lutheran Church

In Zechariah 9:9 we read: "Behold, Thy King cometh unto Thee; He is just and having salvation." This prophecy of Christ was the cause of much frustration in Israel. Ever since the first prophecy of the coming of Christ was given to Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden, the children of the promise land were anxiously awaiting its fulfillment and for 4000 years their expectation was put to severe tests, until on Palms Sunday they beheld Him triumphantly riding into the Jerusalem among the shouts of the people; "Hosanna to the Son of David. Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord. Hosanna in the highest."

Now almost 2000 years have passed since that notable Palm Sunday, and the same refrain echoes anew in millions of hearts throughout the world. The King that was promised in the Old Testament, now reigns triumphantly in the hearts of His subjects, who acclaim Him their Lord and King. He is just and having salvation.

There is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby they must be saved. The advent season prepares our hearts to receive our King anew at Christmas tide and to make room for His coming.

All hail and power of Jesus' name. Let angels prostrate fall. bring forth the royal diadem and crown Him Lord of all. Let every kindred, every tribe, on this terrestrial ball to Him all majesty ascribe and crown Him Lord of all.

Democrats Keep The Dixon-Yates Controversy Alive

Chairman Butler Demands Prosecutions

WASHNGTON (UP) — Democrats today kept alive the Dixon-Yates issue by demanding prosecutions in the controversy and promising additional investigations.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler demanded that the administration prosecute officials responsible for what he called the "now - admitted wrongdoing" involved in the abandoned power contract.

Butler said the Dixon - Yates matter would provide a "real test of Republican promises to deal vigorously with any misconduct in government."

His statement was prompted by the Atomic Energy Commission's announcement Wednesday night that it considers the contract invalid. The AEC said there was a possible violation of the conflict of interest law in negotiating the contract and that it would pay no cancellation costs on it unless ordered to do so by a court.

Kefauver Pledges Probe

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating the Dixon-Yates matter, said, that the AEC's action is "not the end of the fight." He said his group will "continue our investigation of the connection between the Eisenhower administration and the private power lobbies."

The AEC said the possible violation involved the activities of Adolphe H. Wenzell, New York investment banker who acted both as consultant to the government and as an official of the firm which handled Dixon-Yates financial arrangements.

Butler said that in view of the AEC's finding the administration should explain why President Eisenhower and Budget Director Rowland Hughes said they regarded Wenzell's role in the contract negotiations as proper.

Butler Hails Opposition

Butler said "the two-year fight of the Democrats to stop the Dixon Yates deal is a splendid example of how a vigilant opposition can serve the public interest.

"Blocking the deal saved the tax payers more than 100 million dollars in excess power costs, and now there should be another four million or five million dollars saving of cancellation fees because of the investigation which uncovered the conflict of interest violation."

Under the Dixon-Yates contract, the private power combine was to have built a power plant at West Memphis, Ark., and to have supplied power to the Tennessee Valley Authority to replace TVA power furnished AEC installations elsewhere.

The project was dropped when the city of Memphis, Tenn., which was to have received much of the Dixon-Yates power, said it would refuse to accept the private power and would build its own municipal power plant to serve its growing needs.

Ramos Signs Bill Putting Brazil Under Military

Suspends Constitutional Guarantees For Month

By JUAN DE ONIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (UP)—Acting President Nereu Ramos signed a bill early today putting Brazil under a state of seige for the next 30 days.

Ramos acted quickly to sign the bill which suspends many constitutional guarantees during the time it is in force.

The Senate completed congressional action on the bill shortly before midnight when it passed it by a vote of 35 to 15 after rejecting an appeal to guarantee freedom of the press.

The Brazilian Press Association sent a message to Ramos urging him to preserve the freedom of the press during the state of siege which was suggested by the army to ensure that President - Elect Juscelino Kubitschek takes office as scheduled on Jan. 31.

Press Freedom Needed

The press association expressed "confidence in the preservation of constitutional principles and faith in the victory of the democratic regime" but renewed "its warning of the necessity of the preservation of press freedom."

The warning said Ramos "knows very well that the absence of free criticism is more nefarious than possible excesses of journalism."

However, censorship of radios and newspapers was still in effect for the fifth straight day. Radio Globo and radio Jornal do Brasil, both identified with the opposition National Democratic Union Party, were closely censored. The semi-official Radio National was under constant censorship and an army major was named director.

Two Political Crises

The split over Kubitschek has produced two political crises within the past two weeks. In the first, a group of army officers led by War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott ousted Acting President Carlos Luz to insure that Kubitschek takes office. The second came when ailing President Jaoa Cafe Filhos tried to resume his office this week and Congress declared him physically unfit.

Immediately after that the military led by Lott suggested the state of siege be declared. This gives the government the right of search and seizure without warrant, ends the right of habeas corpus for political prisoners, and curtails the right of citizens to travel from one part of the country to the other.

Motorists, There Are Only Six Days Left Before S-D Day

It's S-D Day minus six and motorists are warned that there are only six days left to practice good winter driving habits before Safe Driving Day. Carl A. Miller, S-D Day director for Illinois and a member of the board of directors of the Chicago Motor Club, urged motorists to adjust their driving habits to winter conditions.

Miller asked motorists to follow the following seven winter driving rules:

1. Adjust your speed to driving conditions.
2. Leave early in order to allow extra time to get to your destination when streets are wet or icy.
3. Don't follow the car ahead too closely.
4. Clear snow and ice from your windshield and windows before driving.
5. Test your brakes several times to check how much distance you need to stop.
6. Pump your brakes rather than applying them suddenly.
7. Keep a shovel and a bucket of sand, cinders or salt in your trunk to help free your car if you get stuck on ice or in snow.

Ike Will Return To White House In Late December

President Gradually Rebuilds His Strength

By NEIL MACNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower will return to the White House about Dec. 20 and remain there—except for some week-end trips—until Congress is well-launched on its 1956 program, it was learned today.

The President, gradually rebuilding his health and his strength, plans to stay in Washington from late December until about mid-April, White House Sources disclosed.

According to Mr. Eisenhower's current plans, he will make weekend visits to his farm home here. He also may make a number of flying visits to "the Little White House" at the Augusta, Ga., National Golf Course.

But his staff members expect him to make the White House in Washington his headquarters and center of operations until at least April 10. His plans after that were not disclosed.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty has announced that Mr. Eisenhower will spend Christmas at the White House with his family.

By operating from the White House until mid-April, Mr. Eisenhower is expected to take a personal hand in the start of the Republican legislative program in the crucial election year. This program is now under study by administration leaders.

In the days ahead the President will be taking on his busiest schedule since he suffered a heart attack on Set. 24.

Next Monday he will hold a political conference with GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall. Then in days following, he will meet with both GOP and Democratic congressional leaders and undergo two medical checks.

High Death Rate Ordinarily Does Not Mar Holiday

144 Traffic Deaths From Wednesday Eve To Midnight Thursday

By UNITED PRESS

Thanksgiving Day, a holiday not ordinarily married by a high traffic death rate, resulted in a "shocking" number of fatalities, a compilation showed today.

The United Press counted 144 traffic deaths across the country between 6 p.m. Wednesday and midnight Thursday.

Heretofore Thanksgiving Day has been more like an ordinary Thursday so far as traffic fatalities were concerned, according to the National Safety Council. The council makes no prediction o nthe number of traffic fatalities expected during Thanksgiving.

However, a council compilation for Thursday Dec. 2, 1954, made in the interest of the first Safe-Driving Day, showed 81 deaths in the United States. This includes delayed deaths.

A council sopkesman informed of the United Press count said it was a "shocking figure."

Fires killed 11 persons and miscellaneous accidents 22 Thursday for a total of 177 violent deaths during the holiday.

In Michigan, which led all states with 20 traffic deaths, five persons died in one two-car crash and four in another. At Mesquite, Tex., a 15-year-old boy was killed when a piano he was helping to move fell on him.

President Eisenhower set the theme for the nation's observance. He spent a quiet day at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm home, concentrating on his three grand-children. He carved a 40-pound turkey.

Rear Admiral Byrd, At The Age Of 67, Sets Out Today On His Fifth Antarctic Expedition

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd at the age of 67 set out today on his fifth Antarctic expedition—a venture he believes will foreshadow the first permanent settlement on the icy continent.

The famous explorer predicted at a news conference on the eve of his departure that Antarctica will become a land of permanent citizens, mostly civilians, living in villages of perhaps 500 persons when the present exploration ends in 1959.

"Eventually, this is the beginning of the opening of a great continent that is going to be of great value to generations to come and to the peace-loving peoples of the world," he said.

Byrd leaves with his chief of staff, Capt. Laurence Matthews, on the first lap of a journey to Antarctica. The two are due at Auckland, New Zealand, Nov. 30.

In New Zealand Byrd and Matthews will join seven U.S. ships and 15 airplanes for the remainder of the trip to the Antarctic area.

Byrd told newsmen at his unusual Thanksgiving Day news conference that Antarctica—a continent larger than the U.S. and Europe combined, holds perhaps the world's richest store of untapped natural resources.

He said he had seen coal seams on his earlier expeditions to the Antarctic plateau and believes that uranium, gold, silver and copper may also be found there.

Byrd suggested anew that the continent at the bottom of the world could serve as a "deep freeze" for agricultural surpluses and hinted it might become a haven for bachelors.

"Women have never set foot on the place we call Little America (base of previous expeditions), and we have found it to be the most peaceful and silent place in the world," he quipped.

When Grandma got Her "Light Bill"

it WAS a Light Bill!

Some people still call their electric service bills "light bills". That's what they were at first. In Grandma's day, the biggest home use of electricity was for illumination – light.

But Today . . .

People put electricity to work in their homes in dozens of ways. Just for fun, count the electrical appliances in your home. You'll probably say you never realized you had so many!

Today most I&M customers are using more than twice the electricity they used just ten short years ago – because they enjoy living electrically.

Naturally, bills are higher. But while use has more than doubled, the average cost per kilowatthour has been reduced about one-third.

What else do you use every day that costs you less than it did ten years ago?

Electricity costs less today
Dark bar shows how the cost of living has gone up since 1937. Light bar shows how the cost of electricity has gone down in the same period. (Graph based on latest published figures of U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.)

Fire, Chicken And Motorist Play Roles On Thanksgiving

LEBANON, nd. (UP)—A fire, a chicken and an anonymous motorist played key roles in the James Ashley family's Thanksgiving Thursday.

Defective wiring started a fire in the Ashley home here, but firemen saved the house. However, the Ashleys' chicken dinner was ruined in the oven.

While one of the two young Ashley children forlornly watched her meal go up in smoke, a passing motorist heard of her plight and pressed a $10 bill into her hand and drove away.

The 24-year-old father took his family to a restaurant.

Fire Destroys Murphy Store At Franklin

FRANKLIN, Ind. (UP) — Fire destroyed the G. C. Murphy 50-to-$1 store early today and the loss, including Christmas stock which was to go on sale today, was estimated at $500,000.

The fire was discovered about 2 a.m. CDT in the two-story brick building located on the northeast corner of the Johnson County courthouse square. For a time, it threatened a half - block - square area including Lanam's Shoe Co., the Franklin Theatre, Ardinger's Photo Studio, the Henderson Drug Co. and the Union Trust Co.

Firemen said a fire wall prevented the flames from spreading to the shoe store next door and Lord's Dress Shop across an alley. But damage by smoke and water to Lanam's was believed heavy.

Texas Jolts Title Hope s Of Texas A & M In Top Thanksgiving Gam e; Wichita, Miami Win

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Navy, Notre Dame, Texas Christian, and Mississippi will be the favorites in the biggest games Saturday when the 1955 college football season comes to an end in a blaze of traditional glory and conference championships.

Navy and Army both were slated to move to Philadelphia today to get set for their 56th annual service gridiron classic there Saturday, and the last word was that the Middies remain favored by seven points n another game, Notre Dame, the nation's highest-ranked independent team will be the choice by 10 points to gain its ninth win in 10 starts at the expense of Southern California.

Texas Christian, the host team for the Cotton Bowl game, is a 14-point favorite over Southern Methodist. TCU now can clinch the Southwest Conference championship by winning this one, thanks to the stunning 21-6 upset handed Texas A & M by Texas Thursday.

The Aggies went into that tussle a 13-point pick, needing only a victory to gain their first league crown since 1940. And they scored first when Jim Wright bucked over from the one in the second quarter.

But the Aggies missed the extra point. Aroused Texas scored 10 seconds before halftime on Joe Clements' 25-yard pass, went ahead on Johnny Elam's conversion, then clinched the game on fourth-period touchdowns by Walt Fondren and Ed Hawkins.

Mississippi, like Texas Christian, can clinch a league title — the Southeastern — by making good as a seven-point pick over Mississippi State Saturday. If Ole Miss stumbles, the title could go to Auburn, Georgia Tech, or Vanderbilt, all of them favored in separate games. Out of this group will come the host team for the Sugar Bowl and possibly Texas Christian's Cotton Bowl rival.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, hopes to finish a perfect season Saturday and is the day's most lopsided choice at 35 points over Oklahoma A & M.

Little Miami of Ohio, which has been mentioned as a Gator Bowl possibility, kept those hopes shining brightly Thursday by winding up a perfect season with a 14-0 triumph over Cincinnati.

The holiday also was a happy one for Wichita, which finished in a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference championship by crushing Tulsa, 54-0.

But it was unhappy for Wyoming, beaten 6-3 by Denver in possibly the wildest finish of any football game this year and thus prevented from tying Colorado A & M for the Skyline Conference title.

Denver Bounces Back

The score was 0-0 with only 10 seconds left when Joe Mastrogiovanni, the "Cowboy from Brooklyn," booted a 17-yard field goal to put underdog Wyoming ahead. That looked like the game, But there was still the tiny matter of one kickoff — which Denver ran back for a touchdown on a 78-yard play that saw Max Willsey lateral to Dick Gupton. Gupton was tackled on the goal line and the signal of a score was held up for 10 minutes because both squads were fighting on the field. Then the crowd was there, too, so they skipped the extra point.

Wyoming Athletic Director Glenn Jacoby said he will protest the game to the conference commissioner on the grounds the referees "didn't see" the play.

In other leading games on Turkey Day: Cornell handed Pennsylvania its 18th straight loss, 39-7, Colgate trounced Browns, 25-0; William and Mary held Richmond to a 6-6 tie; Utah nipped Utah State, 14-13; and Virginia Tech downed VMI, 39-13.

West Virginia, Southern Conference champion, is a 13-point choice to bounce back from two straight losses by beating North Carolina State in the only major game on tonight's schedule.

Detroit Lions Beat Green Bay Packers On Thanksgiving Day

DETROIT (UP)—The Detroit Lions, last-place defending champions in the Western Division, occupied the role of spoilers in the National Football League again today following their 24-10 win over the Green Bay Packers in their annual Thanksgiving Day battle here.

It was the second time within three weeks that the Lions eliminated a team from the title race which now is a run to the wire between the Chicago Bears and the Los Angeles Rams.

The Lions, who dropped their first six games, wrecked the Baltimore Colts' title hopes Nov. 5 by defeating them, 24-14.

A 21-yard field goal by Fred Cone and a five-yard touchdown pass from Tobin Rote to Gary Knafelc gave Green Bay a short-lived lead.

But then came the disastrous second quarter. A Packer fumble set up Detroit's first touchdown on a three-yard pass from Bobby Layne to Lew Carpenter. Doak Walker's second field goal attempt was successful.

Carpenter broke through the right side for a 49-yard scoring romp that put Detroit ahead in the final quarter. The Lions clinched it a few minutes later on one of the weirdest plays of the season.

Rote, holding for a 50-yard field goal attempt, fumbled the pass from center. He tried to run, but was met by a swarm of defensemen and tossed the ball to Cone. Cone couldn't hold it either. Sherwin (Sonny) Gandee picked it up and ran 48 yards for Detroit's final score.

The Lions and Packers rest Sunday while the Chicago Bears and Cardinals meet in an intra-city battle, Baltimore hosts San Francisco, the Cleveland Browns visit the New York Giants, the Rams play at Philadelphia and the Pittsburgh Steelers entertain the Washington Redskins.

Coesse Indians Defeat Arcola For Fourth Victory 54-51

The Coesse Indians won their fourth victory from the Arcola Aces Wednesday on the loosers home court. They have one loss to Harlan.

The Aces jumped off with a head start but the Indians soon closed the gap but could never quite tie the score and the quarter ended with Arcola ahead by two with a score of 14-16. The Aces remained in the lead for the next two stanzas. Arcola would forge ahead but the determined Indians would cut their lead down to within three points time and again. At the end of the second period the Aces still led by four, the score being 27-31 at half time. At the end of the third quarter Arcola was ahead by six points, the score being 36-42.

During the first part of the fourth quarter it was still a determined Indian team trying to win. The Aces always being ahead by a few points then the Indians cutting down their lead ti within three points.

With a little more than three minutes to go, two of the Aces fouled out. They were Schaefer and Ed Wright, the two tallest men on the Arcola team. Two of the Indians first five fouled out; they were Walker and Maley. After Arcola's two tall men fouled out the Indians forged ahead with a field goal and foul shot by Rock. The final period ended with the Indians ahead 54-51.

The high scorer for the game was Rock, of the Indians, with 15. Close behind was Walker with 14 for the Indians. High scorers for the Aces was Stalhut with 12 and Squires with 10.

The officials were Brackman and Reynolds.

The preliminary game was won by Arcola. At the end of the first period the score was tied up at two all. After that the Aces pulled ahead and continued to gain on the Papooses, winning by a score of 24-33.

may not have had the children, but they had the food. Turkey with all the trimmings was the menu. In Korea, some 50,000 GI's spent a happy if homesick day just outside the Bamboo Curtain. Only a handful of troops had to eat in the bunkers.

President Syngman Rhee of Korea told U. S. servicemen "the people of Korea thank you for your sacrifices."

At Columbus, Miss., V. F. King, had something special to be thankful for — his life. Police said King was "sitting on the tracks" when bumped off a freight train. He was not hurt seriously.

Firemen at Engine Co. 120 at Chicago also had food trouble. While answering an alarm, they discovered someone had stolen most of their holiday turkey.

At Anderson, Ind., the Ridley Carmacks gave thanks that their 50-year-old "lovers' spat" was over. The couple was married Wednesday.

The Benjamin Hartleys, both 96, celebrated their 80th wedding anniversary at Sagle, Idaho. They are believed to be the nation's longest-married couple.

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure called today for a National Assembly confidence vote in a make or break attempt to keep his job and push through nationwide elections in January.

Big Cold Air Mass Covers Wide Area

By UNITED PRESS

Freezing temperatures covered a wide area from the Plains states to the East Coast early Friday.

A cold air mass extended from the upper Plains southward to west Texas and eastward across the Midwest, Great Lakes and Appalachians to the mid-Atlantic states and New England.

Bismarck, N.D., recorded 14 below zero during the night.

However, that was mild compared to Canadian conditions in the middle of the cold air. Smith River, B.C., recorded 50 below zero.

Snow fell across Minnesota and the upper Great Lakes and in the Pacific Northwest. Some mountain areas in the Far West have accumulated large snow depths for so early in the season, weathermen said.

Mullen Pass, Idaho, had 5 feet of snow on the ground.

Mild temperatures were the rule in the Southland with Key West, Fla., recording 74.

Israel Accuses Egypt Of New Border Incidents

Tension Mounts Along Gaza Strip

JERUSALEM (UP) —Israel accused Egypt of new border incidents and tension mounted today along the bloody Gaza Strip frontier.

Maj. Dan Gov, Israeli militaryn spokesman, charged that Egyptian troops carried out two separate attacks on Israeli forces in the Negev Desert Thursday. He said signs of increased Egyptian military plane activities in Israeli skies also were noted.

Gov said Egyptian positions subjected an Israeli patrol along the armistice line near Kissufim Thursday to intermittent fire twice within an hour. At the same time, he said another Egyptian force launched a diversionary attack on an Israeli patrol near Beeairy.

Gov said the Israelis spffered no casualties and did not return fire.

The spokesman said that Egyptian anti - aircraft in the Beeairy area opened fire on an Israeli plane over Israeli territory on Wednesday.

The incidents came on the heels of a protest by Israel to the United Nations Security Council against what it termed "Egyptian aggressions." The Israeli government charged that Egyptian troops opened fire 21 times on Israeli border posts and that Egyptian planes invaded Israeli territory 12 times in the past three weeks.

There also was continued scattered attacks on British Prime Minister Anthony Eden for his recent speech calling for a "compromise".

Eden came under fire in the House of Commons also Thursday. He denied that he asked Israel to make substantial territorial concessions. He said both sides would have to make concessions.

The United Nations truce headquarters here said that further negotiations are necessary on the U. N. proposals to restore peace in the El Auja demilitarized zone, scene recently of some of the bloodiest battles since the Palestine war in 1948.

A communique said that Egypt, while not rejecting the proposals, put forward "certain additional point for consideration."

Israel, it added, accepted the proposals in principle but indicated there are points on implementation which require clarification.

shall reconsider our position." Diplomatic sources said there was little doubt that France would return if the issue is dropped.

For weeks, Francisco Urritia of Colombia and India's V. K. Khrishna Menon have worked behind the scenes in search of a formula that would satisfy both France and the Afro - Asian nations.

Last Wednesday, Colombia Cuba, Chile and Ecuador put forward a formal proposal to delete the Algeria debate and bring France back to the General Assembly.

The Arab nations were opposed to eliminating the Algerian question from th agenda. However, Krishna Menon was said to have won agreement from the Arabs to a motion "not to consider" Algeria.

The U.N. Disarmament Commission was also scheduled to meet today, the third time in three days. At Thursday's session, Russia accused the United States of blocking an agreement.

Amphitheatre.

"He doesn't seem to be getting better," she said. "But we haven't given up hope."

The big exposition gets under way tonight with a horse show, livestock, grain and hay, meat and wool exhibits. Serious judging won't begin until Saturday.

This year's grand champion, highlight of the nine-day show, will be picked by Dr. A.D. Weber, dean of agriculture at Kansas State College, on Tuesday. It is his eighth appearance as chief judge.

Weber also will select the junior champion steer Saturday in the livestock feeding contest which has drawn 382 boys and girls who will show 497 calves they have raised as club projects.

Running in conjunction with the exposition is the International Hay and Grain Show which has drawn more than 1,500 entries. The corn king, as in the past, is expected to be named from Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa exhibitors.

Several farm groups are meeting here during the exposition, including the 34th National 4-H Club Congress.

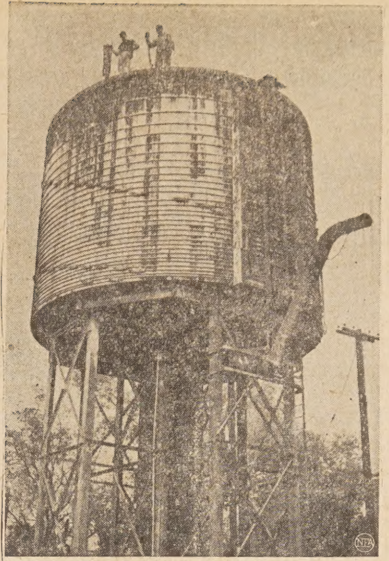
U.N. Command Demands Reds Account For Missing Americans



HEADED FOR THE PICKLE WORKS—From quenching the thirst of locomotives to salting down pickles is the story of a number of obsolete railroad water towers along the Union Pacific line in Kansas. They were bought by the Dreher Pickle Company of Denver, as pickle vats. This tank is being torn down at Sylvan Grove, Kan. All were removed to Ft. Collins, Colo., where they were reassembled.

South Faces Big Problem Created By An Interstate Commerce Order

ATLANTA (UP)—The South today faced a complex problem of freeing Negroes traveling across state lines of their "Jim Crow" status while enforcing local segregation laws for other Negro travelers.

This prospect emerged from the order handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission Friday outlawing racial segregation of interstate passengers on trains and buses, and in waiting rooms.

In the sparse immedite comment by state officials and transportation executives many indicated they would not be able to foresee full implications of the order until after giving it further study.

Georgia's Atty. Gen Eugene Cook declared his state will continue to enforce its segregation laws in all but interstate travel but admitted the job would be a complicated one.

Mississippi officials said, on the other hand, that they felt the order was "not too important" inasmuch as many carriers have already lowered the color line on interstate travelers.

Banned On Trains

The U.S. Supreme Court in 1951 ordered pullman and dining cars integrated and the railroads ended the practice of shunting Negroes into "Jim Crow" coaches as the trains entered the South.

The impact of these developments was slight.

Segregation on most buses remained intact, however, and both rail and bus lines are equipped with dual waiting rooms and toilets in the South, with their segregated use controlled by state and local law.

But under the ICC ruling the Negroes pausing in their interstate travels or those arriving for trips beyond borders of their state cannot be forced to use the facilities set aside for them.

Officials of several of the 13 railroads directly involved in the order were not prepared to say just how they will meet the problem. The order becomes effective Jan. 10.

The Carolina Coach Co., the bus line directly involved, said it had discontinued the practice of segregating interstate travelers several years ago but it must continue segregating other passengers.

R. C. Hoffman Jr., president of Carolina Coach, in a statement

Draws Terms For Burglaries At Hicksville, Ohio

Harold Bryarly, Serving Term For Holdup, Admits Two Burglaries

Harold Bryarly, aged 25, Columbia City, R 7, prisoner at the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus as a result of a holdup at Troy, O., has pleaded guilty in Defiance, O., to two burglaries at Hicksville.

Judge Dan Batt of the Defiance Common Pleas court has sentenced the prisoner to concurrent terms of 1-15 years for breaking and entering the two Hicksville establishments. His sentences are to begin immediately. He admitted being involved in a $6,000 burglary of Ronnie's Department store, Hicksville, a little over a year ago, and the earlier burglary of the Scott Service station, Hicksville, in which $600 was taken.

Another Ohio penitentiary inmate Luther Willams, aged 47, of Dahlgren, Ill., was arraigned at Defiance along with Bryarly on the two burglary charges but Williams maintained he was innocent and asked that he be given lie detector tests to back up his plea.

In the department store burglary at Hicksville, practically the entire stock of men's clothing was carried away from the store which is owned and operated by Ronald Tomlinson.

Bryarly, a resident east of here on U.S. 30, and Van Gardner, operator of a drive-in food establishment in Allen county on U.S. 30 near the Whitley-Allen county line, were involved in the Troy holdup.

Americans Seem To Favor A Tax Cut Next Year

Most People Want Budget Balanced First

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen Henry C. Dworshak (R-Id) said today the American people generally appear to favor a tax reduction next year but most of them want the budget balanced first.

He said also that many of them feel the foreign aid program is one place where major spending cuts can be made.

Dworshak, long a critic of the size of foreign aid spending, told a reporter he has found "a growing tide of resentment" toward that program.

"There is much more opposition to continuing the program than in the past," he said. "The people have reached the conclusion that we have achieved very little in helping the countries of Western Europe to rehabilitate their economics or stabilize their governments."

Dworshak said his opposition is based on the belief that much of the money is wasted and that "it has had the effect of softening these countries instead of making them self-reliant."

"Generally the people are eager for a tax reduction next year," he said. "But in most instances, they point out that it would be unwise without materially cutting federal spending and balancing the budget.

"There is little support for tax reduction from borrowed money. The people generally recognize that the budget should be balanced before tax reduction can be justified."

Planning Body Acts To Halt Trailer Hookup

Columbia City through its Planning Commission has enjoined Clark Cleland, owner of real estate at Chicago and Whitley streets, from hooking up services for a trailer home. Hearing upon the injunction has been set for Dec. 14 by Judge Lowell Pefley in circuit court.

The injunction, granted on a temporary basis by the court, is the first to be filed by the municipality since the creation of the planning commission. The action was taken following the report of the building commissioner, Richard L. Holden.

The petition for injunction charges that Mr. Cleland has violated city ordinances by moving a trailer onto lot 10 in block 5, Swihart's addition, and preparing services to the trailer to make it a permanent home. The hook-up to sewage and other services violates the single family dwelling provision of the ordinance, according to the complaint. Robert E. Gates, city attorney, filed the action.

France Signs Contracts To Sell Planes To Israel

After Agreement To Resume Shipment Of Planes To Egypt

PARIS (UP) — France has signed contracts to sell Mystere II jet fighter planes to Israel and already has shipped 12 slower "Ouragan" models, authoritative sources said today.

The disclosure came after the recent French agreement to resume shipment of jet plans to Egypt also.

The Mystere II, a match for the famous Soviet MIG15, has not been shipped to Israel. It was believed the French government has not yet given the final okay for their export, but authoritative sources said the contracts have been signed.

The Ouragans — French for "Gale"—should be in Israel by now, the sources said. By modern jet standards the planes are obsolescent. They have a top speed of only around 475 miles an hour but are excellent training planes and may also be battle worthy in the Middle East.

The Ouragans were reported spotted en route at Oiampino Airfield in Italy, but deliveries of the Mystere II already are overdue and mass production has moved slowly.

(In Tel Aviv, Israel sources described as "absurd" published reports abroad that 8 to 10 French jet fighters had been shipped to Israel via Rome in the past 48 hours. The London News Chronicle said 10 were already in Israel and 40 more were en route.)

The Mystere II, manufactured by Marcel, has a top speed of 685 miles per hour and can break the sound barrier in diving. It is equipped with two 30-millimeter guns, the Ouragan with four 20-mm guns.

Experts here said the Ouragans —many of which have been sold to India—would be useless against Russian MIGs but that they would enable Israeli pilots to train for the speedier jet fighters.

Mrs. Woodward Found Blameless By Grand Jury

In Shotgun Slaying Of Millionaire Husband

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Ann Woodward, found blameless by a grand jury in the shotgun slaying of her millionaire husband, secluded herself in her Manhattan apartment today and tried to forget the tragedy that struck four weeks ago.

A Nassau County grand jury Friday night refused to indict Mrs. Woodward who said she shot her husband Oct. 30 in a darkened hallway of their Long Island home thinking he was a burglar who had been prowling the estate.

Before beginning its 25 minutes of deliberation, the jury heard nine hours of testimony from witnesses who ranged from a confessed sneak thief to members of society's select "400."

Shuffled Slowly To Car

Mrs. Woodward left the courthouse as soon as the jury finished its deliberation and shuffled slowly to her waiting automobile which took her to the Woodward town house. She was sobbing uncontrollably when she moved slowly through the waiting crowd and seemed oblivious of the glare of flashbulbs and the questions of reporters.

"She prays that she may now be left alone with her children," her attorney told newsmen. The Woodwards had two children.

Mrs. Woodward's relief that she was no longer under official suspicion for her husband's death came when the jury filed out and the foreman announced that the panel had decided on three burglary indictments against Paul Wirths Jr., 23, a German national.

Wirths testified that he was attempting to gain entrance to the Woodward home and had walked noisily across a flat roof on the night that Woodward died. He was indicted for three other burglaries, however, and was not charged in the Woodward case.

After handing up the indictments against Wirths, the foreman's hands were empty and it was obvious that the jury had decided Mrs. Woodward was guilty of no crime. Should evidence be found in the future, she still could be indicted but the investigation is officially closed.

May Mail Letters Inside Of Parcels

Patrons are reminded of a new post office regulation permitting the enclosure of letters and other first-class matter inside second, third and fourth class parcels. This regulation will go into effect Monday, announces Harry G. Bollinger, postmaster.

At the present time regulations require that a letter to be sent with a package be affixed to the outside of the parcel. Under the new rule, the sender may put the letter inside the package providing he states by writing or printing on the outside of the parcel, the notation "First class matter enclosed" and pays the extra postage for the enclosure. Postage on the enclosure is computed at the regular rate for first class mail, three cents an ounce. The enclosure should be placed in an envelope and placed near the top of the contents of the parcel.

An Ambulance Convoy Attacked By Terrorists

17 French Soldiers Killed Or Wounded

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—Moroccan terrorists attacked a French ambulance convoy in the Riff Mountains and killed or wounded 17 French soldiers, French authorities announced here today.

The ambush in the mountains north of Fe and savage acts of violence in major Moroccan cities made it evident Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef had not yet restored order in the protectorate.

Ben Youssef, known as Sultan Mohammed V, today held talks aimed at setting up Morocco's first national government.

While the political talks were going on in the capital French troops were drawing a tight noose around the troubled Ankoul-Tizi Ouzli-Boured triangle in the Riff Mountains along the border of Spanish Morocco.

To Shot On Sight

French officials labelled their operation a "ratissage," a dread word that means the troops were ordered to fire on sight at anything arousing their suspicion.

The reported ambush occurred in this same area Friday as a wounded and accompanied by an Red Cross ambulance carrying escort of troops made a detrout off the much damaged road between Tizi Ouzli and Aknou, about 50 miles northeast of Fez.

Rebels who had taken up vantage points on mountainsides overlooking the road poured automatic weapon fire into the convoy. The reports said 17 French soldiers were "killed or wounded" but did not break down the casualties.

In Casablanca a watchman had his throat slit by an unknown assailant in an outburst of terrorism there and another was wounded.

Terrorists Issue Warning

A nationalist terrorist oragnization, the Black Crescent Secret Society, meanwhile issued pamphlets warning that it knew of some Moroccans who were "traitors to the cause of Moroccan independence."

As of today, the society warned Moroccans must "beware, for they would all get the fate they deserved."

The sultan, who had been expected to end the surge of terrorism when he came home from exile last month, was expected to choose a premier by next week

He is attempting to organize a native government capable of shouldering the responsibility for administering Morocco during the interim period before it receives complete independence from France.

Hospital Receives 10,000th Patient

Less than four years old, the Whitley County Hospital Nov. 17th received its 10,000th patient, Mrs. Roscoe Shinkle, Claypool, R 1 Mrs. Shinkle entered the local institution at 7:00 p.m.

Through the three and a half years of its operation, the hospital's obstetrical department has witnessed the arrival of 1,795 babies. Of the 8,205 patients entered over this period, other than obstetrical, they have either been surgical or medical cases.

The hospital was opened in late April, 1951, following an open-house during which the public toured the institution's grounds and inspected its facilities. Nucleus of the funds for its construction was supplied by the late Dr. V. O. Schuman through a bequest of $50,000. The remainder of the cost was met by a county bond issue. Much of the equipment was supplied by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The institution has 57 beds, but in peak periods of illness or at times of disaster could accommodate quite a few more.

Police Say Body That Of Missing Bank Cashier

Victim Of Slick Holdup-Kidnap Plot

By RICHARD MCFARLAND
United Press Staff Correspondent

CLEAR LAKE, Minn. (UP) — Authorities were certain today that the frozen body of a man shot between the eyes is that of missing bank cashier Kenneth Lindbergh, victim of a slick holdup-kidnap plot.

An autopsy was scheduled to make the identification official. But cards and clothing found on the snow-covered body late Friday removed practically all doubt concerning Lindbergh's fate.

FBI agents joined local authorities in searching the pasture where three brothers, out rabbit-hunting, came upon the body. A relative was also scheduled to arrive from Thief River Falls, Minn., Lindbergh's hometown, to view the body.

Lindbergh, 44, disappeared from the northern Minnesota town exactly two weeks ago on Nov. 12 after huddling with a mysterious stranger for two hours in the back room of the Northern State Bank.

Disappeared With $14,000

With him went $14,000 in negotiable travellers checks and $1,750 in coins. All but $220 of the coins were later found in Lindbergh's abandoned car in Minneapolis. Attempts to cash the travellers' checks have been made in Detroit and Chicago.

The dark, well-dressed stranger had given Lindbergh advance notice on Nov. 12 that he planned to deposit $25,000 in the bank. Authorities believe the stranger hoped to persuade Lindbergh to open the bank vault so that the money could be deposited.

However, a time device apparently foiled the plot and the bandit had to settle for the lesser loot, authorities believe.

450 Missing In Korean War Not Heard From

Includes Son Of General Van Fleet

By ROBERT BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The United Nations command renewed its demand today that the Communuists account for 450 Americans missing in the Korean War, including the son of Gen. James A. Van Fleet.

The American - led command also called for information on 2,224 South Korean soldiers and 45 other Allied prisoners. All of the prisoners incuding the Americans were reported alive when the war ended. Nothing further was ever heard of them.

Rear Adm. Roger E. Moore, the chief U.N. delegate who delivered the demand at a full dress meeting of the Korean Armistice Commission, told newsmen afterwards the missing Americans included 244 soldiers, 190 airmen, 13 macans to discuss specifically the missing allied troops.

Rejected Earlier Demands

The Communist truce commission delegates walked out or ignored earlier demands for an accounting but today they accepted it for study "with reservations." Moore said he was "hopeful" the Communists "might possibly do what they had long refused to do and tell us what happened to these personnel."

However, Moore added that Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rok, the Com-

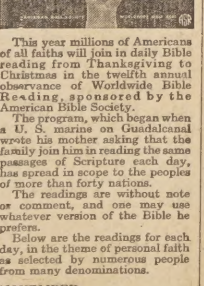
Language Error Gives President Of Brazil Last Name Of Junior

Language student and traveler Franklin Schultz has called to our attention an unusual language error made in our wire copy as well as by radio and TV.

The story and headline concerned the president of Brazil, President Joao Cafe Filho as the name came in. Writing it Joao Cafe, Filho would be better as the explanation shows.

Mr. Shultz tells us that Filho in Portugese means son and as such it is attached to a name to distinguish son from father when both have the same name. In other words the president of Brazil is Joao Cafe II (or John Coffee, Jr.)

Last year's Christmas cards can be used to make gift enclosures this year. Just cut them down to make smaller, unsigned folders.



This year millions of Americans of all faiths will join in daily Bible reading from Thanksgiving to Christmas in the twelfth annual observance of Worldwide Bible Reading, sponsored by the American Bible Society.

The program, which began when a U. S. marine on Guadalcanal wrote his mother asking that the family join him in reading the same passages of Scripture each day, has spread in scope to the peoples of more than forty nations.

The readings are without note or comment, and one may use whatever version of the Bible he prefers.

Below are the readings for each day, in the theme of personal faith as selected by numerous people from many denominations.

The Good News

Lesson for November 27, 1955

THERE is no such thing as the Christian religion, except in human beings. There is no such thing as the growth of Christianity, unless it grows in people. So how does Christianity spread? Only by one way: people who are Christians must win people who are not Christians. People who know Jesus Christ must introduce other people to him. The church has a word for this: it is called Evangelism. Anybody who thinks he doesn't believe in evangelism is really saying that he doesn't care whether there are any new Christians or not. He is saying (though perhaps without realizing it) that what he calls his "faith" is not worth talking about, or recommending to any one else.

Dr. Foreman

Preaching and Bringing—

Our rather technical word "Gospel" means simply "Good News." That is what it is called in the New Testament. Not good advice, or good answers to philosophers' riddles; just good news—about God, about Jesus, about destiny. Luke gives us some interesting and valuable hints about how this Good News was broadcast in Jesus' own time and by his direction. One is in three words (Luke 8:1): Jesus came "preaching and bringing" the good news of the kingdom of God. The Gospel is not something just for talk. A tape-recorder can give out a sermon; but a tape-recorder cannot be a preacher of the Gospel. A minister who preaches on Sunday and disappears the rest of the week (if such there be) may be preaching the Gospel but he is not bringing it. Jesus lived by what he preached. The good news can be told by a clever tongue; but it can be brought only by a consecrated life. What would be thought of a grocery store where, if you went in, you would see only empty shelves, and a flock of clerks who would buttonhole you and tell you all about the wonderful groceries — that aren't there! And what can one think of a church where all you can find out about the love of God is just talk, and nobody brings the Gospel? The Gospel can't be brought in a little parcel you can tuck under your arm like a prayer-book. It has to be brought in a man-sized package, a live sample. After a few months you can buy a "demonstrator" car or tractor cheap; but a "demonstrator" Christian is beyond price.

Seed and Soils

You would think that if we could only get Jesus Christ in person, as he was in Galilee, into our church, we could convert everybody. Well, he didn't. No one ever brought or preached the Gospel better than he; but he did not meet with 100% success. He gave a reason for this that any farmer or gardener can understand. Preaching the Gospel is like sowing seed, he said. Sometimes when you look at two fields you may find it hard to believe that the same seed was sown in both; but so it was. The difference is in the soils. In Hutchinson, Kansas, there is a grain elevator with a capacity of ten million bushels of wheat. Every bushel in the hundreds of bins can be traced back to the area where it grew. On the wall in the testing-laboratory of that elevator there is a map of Kansas, county by county; and the kind of wheat each county is producing, this year, is marked there. The same seed wheat, in different counties or in different parts of the same county, may have different protein content or vary in number of bushels to the acre. So some people are better Gospel-soil than others.

To Preach and to Heal

When Jesus sent out his disciples to preach, he sent them to heal too. Health is the church's business. Whatever affects man's health of body, mind or soul, that is the church's affair. When she preaches and brings the Gospel, she has no right to say, "What we preach is only for your soul." The good news about God has transformed whole communities, it has changed the world for women, for children, for slaves, for downtrodden minorities. A gospel which is only for souls is not the Gospel Jesus preached and brought.

Same Chance, Unofficial Lookers-On At Gettysburg Think Ike Appeared Bit Peaked

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—For what it may be worth, some of the chance and unofficial lookers-on at Gettysburg think President Eisenhower appeared a bit peaked or bushed, after his big mid-week work day.

The medical bulletins report the President to be picking up the burdens of office without evidence of fatigue. There is no intent to challenge the integrity of those bulletins. Never was the illness of a top level U.S. official more faithfully reported in its gains and reverses than Mr. Eisenhower's.

But the fact remains that some individuals who would have no interest in it either way believe they can detect an outward appearance of slow down in Mr. Eisenhower's vigorous recovery.

So, it is reasonable to report these lay observations because the shown a hungry personal and political interest in Mr. Eisenhower's people at home and abroad have well being. The political interest builds up to a question which will be asked with increasing frequency throughout the world until the President gives the answer to it. Will he run again?

Decision Affects Policies

The political fortunes of both major parties are tied to the answer. The political fortunes of numerous office seekers in both parties are tied to it. U.S. foreign and domestic policies depend in large degree on the answer as do the policies of foreign allies and cold war enemies.

It is a large question which Mr. Eisenhower's physicians have given him an opportunity to ignore until February, if he so desires. The implication of their judgments of the President's recovery has been that it will not be late winter that he or they will know whether his heart could take a second term.

The physicians with their machines and knowledge can determine with much accuracy whether Mr. Eisenhower will be fit to go again. But only he can determine whether he would be willing.

If his heart were able, but his mind were not quite made up, it is likely that the recent Democratic attacks on administration foreign policy might persuade Mr. Eisenhower to take the chance on his health and run. There is no doubt that Democrats would prefer some other — almost any other—Republican as a presidential opponent in 1956.

Democrats Blast Policy

But last weekend's Democratic doings in Chicago and some of the follow-up thereof could get under Mr. Eisenhower's skin. Adlai E. Stevenson and others gathered for the Democratic meeting fired a broadside at Eisenhower administration foreign policy.

Gov. Averell Harriman of New York moved on to Seattle in his non-active pursuit of the Democratic presidential nomination. He told his audience that Mr. Eisenhower's foreign policy was "a classic in the history of bungling." Hard words from an old friend.

Organized labor is beginning to join an attack on the way Mr. Eisenhower has conducted foreign affairs. The CIO News, for example, says administration Mid-Eastern policy is bankrupt. And there is complaint from Stevenson that Mr. Eisenhower has permitted national security to lag in the midst of foreign peril.

These charges and those to come as the campaign winds rise, may or may not be justified. Only time can determine that. But, for sure, Mr. Eisenhower will not agree. The fields of foreign policy and national security were the only ones in which he felt self confident when he took office. Criticism of those policies is peculiarly a personal criticism of the President's own judgment.

Could be that enough of it would entice him into another campaign.

Eartha Kitt Will Give Up Cabarets For Different Life

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Sleek, perfumed nightlifers who crowd into swank Mocambo these nights to cheer Eartha Kitt don't know it, but it's probably the last time they'll see the catlike singer in a nightclub.

Eartha's lonely voice and sexy lyrics have made her one of the top nightclub stars in the country. But the tiny singer confesses she's giving up smoke-filled cabarets for a different life.

The girl who croons "C'est si Bon" will forget singing to dance and act in her first "non-racial" role as "Salome" on CBS-TV's "Omnibus" Dec. 18, the first time a Negress has had the part.

Like most show folk, Eartha also is writing a book about her Cinderella life. And she wants to concentrate on doing more dramatic roles on the stage and TV.

"I don't want to become stagnant," she explained today. "It's better not to stand still. You have to make progress.

"My main concern is getting the book out. Then I want to communicate with myself for a while. You can run around for so long, playing many characters, you can lose your true personality. I am tired of being a gypsy—I have bought the legendary house on 92nd Street in New York and will live there.

"The book has taken me three years. I'm a very moody person," she frowned. "I only write when I feel like it. I hope to finish it next year. I write in longhand."

Eartha's book will tell the story of the poor sharecropper's daughter in South Carolina who became a star of the Katherine Dunham dance troupe, the darling of Paris as a singer and a Broadway star in "New Faces" and "Mrs. Patterson."

Followers of Jesus

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

AN interesting exercise for Bible readers, and often a very enlightening one for serious students, is to take a key word and follow all its usages and references in the Old and New Testaments with a good concordance.

Many Bibles contain a concordance in the "helps" section, but these lack the completeness of such larger and well-known concordances as Cruden's and Young's. For instance, the word 'earth', which occupies about five inches in the concordance section of Bagster's Comprehensive Helps, perhaps the best of bound-in Bible helps, has nearly three large three-column PAGES in Young's Concordance.

This Concordance, so far as I know, is the best that has ever been compiled. Dr. Young was a Scotch scholar who compiled it away back in 1870. My copy of the immense book of over eleven hundred pages is the revised edition, published by Dodd, Mead Co., New York, in 1882. I don't know whether it is still available, except in some secondhand bookstore, but I advise anyone who can get hold of a copy not to miss it. I value it next to the Bible itself.

A distinctive feature is that it not only gives every reference for an English word in the Bible, but shows where the word has been translated from the original Hebrew or Greek, and distinguishes between different meanings of the same word.

What set me off on this was that as I began to write on following Jesus I was impressed with the great number of references for the word 'follow'—about a full page—in Young's. About half were in the Old Testament and half in the New.

The meaning was not always the same. Sometimes the word 'follow' was used in the sense of following after, or pursuing. But the meaning that I had particularly in mind was that in the sense of discipleship, following a teacher, leader, or way of life.

When Jesus called for disciples to follow Him, He was speaking in language familiar to Judaism and the Old Testament. The chief reference there is to "following the Lord" (See such passages as Numbers 32:12) There are references to following individuals (See Judges 9:3; I Kings 12:20, etc.); and both in the Old and the New Testament are references to following after righteousness (Isaiah 51:1; Romans 9:30, 31);

But it is in the Gospels that the chief interest and importance lies, in what Jesus said concerning following. The first apostolic discipleship began as Jesus said to two fishermen: "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men." These were Peter and Andrew.

To follow Jesus did not mean the same thing to all. To some it was a call to the inner circle of close companionship.

To others who wanted to share that intimate following, Jesus said in effect, not 'Follow', but 'Go'.

I have often thought that the hardest task that Jesus gave was to the Gadarene maniac who He healed (Mark 5). To this grateful soul, who longed to be with Him, Jesus said, "Go home to thy friends and tell them what great things the Lord hath done for thee."

Even under the most favorable circumstances it is often harder to live the Gospel than it is to be out on some alluring religious adventure. It is often more difficult to be a follower than it is to be a leader.

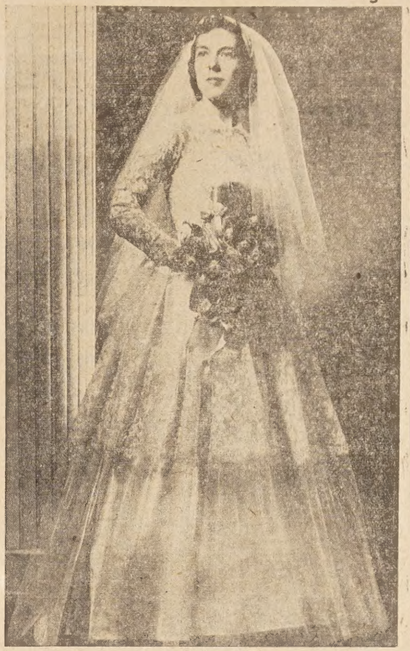
Miss Delma Mae Myers Married In Rites At St. Paul Of The Cross Church This Morning



Mrs. Patrick J. Briede

St. Paul of the Cross Catholic church was the scene today of the wedding of Miss Delma Mae Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Myers, 503 West Ellsworth street, and Partick J. Briede, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Briede of 509 West Jefferson street, Decatur.

The Rev. John J. Frawley officiated at the rites. Mrs. Donald Hogan of Warsaw presided at the organ. The two gold altar vases were filled with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Joan Pickens of Marion attended the bride as maid of honor and Richard Briede of Frankfort attended his brother as groomsman. Ushers were Raymond C. Myers of this city, brother of the bride, and Robert P. Briede of Battlecreek, Mich., brother of the bridegroom.

White and Turquoise

Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over white satin styled the bride's gown. The molded bodice of lace featured a Peter Pan collar and tapering sleeves. Self covered buttons were centered down the back. The bouffant tulle skirt was banded with scalloped lace. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught to a bandeaux of lace bound with satin and French pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white pompons. Mr. Myers gave his daughter in marriage.

The maid of honor was in a gown of turquoise crystalette over taffeta. The halter top bodice was covered with a short sleeve shrug, and the bouffant waltz length skirt was gatherd at the hipline. She wore a matching headband of rhinestone studded velvet leaves with a brow veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons.

The bride's mother was in a dress of beige lace over taffeta with which she wore beige and brown accessories and a corsage of bronze pompons. Mrs. Briede chose a dress of teal blue wool with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of yellow and white pompons.

The wedding breakfast was served at 11 o'clock at the Thirty Club, covers being laid for 21, and a reception was held this afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock in the parish hall of the Precious Blood Catholic church in Fort Wayne. Assistants at the reception were Mrs. Joan Beerman and the Misses Mary Doremire, Jean Manning, Sally Overmeyer and Janie Wilson, all of Fort Wayne.

When the bride leaves for a trip to Winconsin, to spend the weekend, she will be wearing a brown wool suit with a beige top coat and a small brown hat styled of velvet and feathers in shades of brown. The couple will reside near Decatur.

The bride was graduated from the School of Nursing at St. Joseph Hospital last August and the bridegroom, graduated last August from International Business college in Fort Wayne. He is now connected with the General Electric Company.

Guests from a Distance

Guests attended the wedding from Fort Wayne, Decatur, Huntington, Frankfort, and Sturgis, Mich.

Curtailing Income Tax Aid In 1956; Services Detailed

The Internal Revenue Service has announced a program of self-help assistance for all taxpayers during the filing period which will begin on January 1 and run through April 16, 1956. In keeping with the policy adopted by the Service last year, this type of assistance program is designed as an educational program to show taxpayers the correct method of preparing their returns. Gary Campbell, District Director of Internal Revenue, stated this will be a true program for rendering assistance or advice where it is actually needed to clarify or explain points not understood, rather than as an unlimited service to all taxpayers in the preparation of their returns.

In the course o frendering assistance, returns are not going to be prepared except for illiterate, or non-English-reading persons or persons physically unable to prepare their ow nreturns. Mr. Campbell stated that due to limitations of time and personnel the service is necessarily limiting assistance to answering questions and furnishing advice on tax questions. The Internal Revenue Service will provide space in which taxpayers may prepare their own returns with assistance being furnished by employees who will aid in deciding problems when a taxpayer indicates he needs assistance with specific items.

Assistance to taxpayers will be available only on specific days during the coming filing period. The Fort Wayne office will render assistance Monday through Friday during the period of January 23 through February 17, 1956, and April 2 through April 16, 1956. During the other weeks of the filing period assistance will be rendered only on designated 'assistance days" which will be no more than two days a week. The "assistance days" will be announced later. At all other times only counter and telephone service will be provided. Counter service will include the furnishing of forms and instructions and the answering of taxpayer inquiries by a very limited number of personnel.

Mr. Campbell pointed out that the majority of problems on which taxpayers seek assistance are such that they can readily be handled by telephone. Because of this a sufficient number of telephone extensions will be set aside for the exclusive handling of incoming calls relating to tax return filing. All taxpayers are urged to take advantage of this telephone service when the filing period begins on January 1.

In summarizing the "self-help" assistance program Mr. Campbell stated all taxpayers will be given the amount of assistance required short of filling out the forms for them but in the case of illiterate or non-English-reading persons or persons physically unable to prepare their returns additional help may be provided. Further details about this program will be announced later.

To Dual Lane U.S. 30 For 40 Miles; Part Near Larwill

Almost 40 miles of U.S. 30 are soon to be programmed for dual lane, including about 10 miles from just east of Warsaw to State Road 5 at Larwill.

This was announced Thursday at Indianapolis by the Indiana State Highway department.

In addition, the Highway Department plans to let a contract in the spring for resurfacing of U.S. 30 from Etna Green to Warsaw. This area is not included in the dual lane proposal.

Announcement of the commission's plans for improvement of U.S. 30 were made by Virgil Smith, chairman. He said:

"The commission has approved the extension of the dual lane from 421 at Wanatah to within four miles of the Marshall-Kosciusko county line and we are now awaiting the approval of the Bureau of Public roads." Surveys are expected to start in the spring.

The highway department chairman said that engineering designs cannot be drawn until after the survey is completed and that it would be some time before the first contract could be awarded.

Russell Ellis, sub-district superintendent of the Plymouth area, who is responsible for the maintenance of U.S. 30 from Wanatah to Etna-Green, said that repair crews have been working on this route for the past two months in an effort to get the road ready for winter traffic. "We find it difficult to hold the road because of the contour of the land through which this route travels," Ellis said. "We have a terrific drainage problem east of Plymouth that will be corrected when the new road is constructed.

No-Accident Record Aim On Thursday, Dec. 1

It is entirely possible for Columbia City to go through "S-D Day" —Safe Driving Day, Thursday, December 1 — without a single traffic accident, Chief of Police Lee Gross said today.

"We can achieve this goal of no accidents on S-D Day," Chief Gross said, "if we accept the idea that traffic safety is an individual, personal matter.

"If every man, woman, and child in our community will keep in mind that traffic safety is his or her own personal responsibility, we can wipe out the traffic accident problem as effectively as medical science has eliminated some of our dread diseases of the past.

"S-D Day will be observed in every community in the United States. It is a tremendous nationwide effort to prove that traffic accidents can be reduced if all motorists and pedestrians cooperate. The President through his Committee for Traffic Safety is lending the full support of his office to this program. It deserves the full support of all of us."

Chief Gross suggested these specific safety rules to drivers and pedestrians:

1. Observe the letter and spirit of all traffic regulations.
2. Be courteous to every driver and pedestrian—practice sportsmanship.
3. Give full attention to driving and walking.

In short, drive and walk as you would have everyone else drive and walk.

"Let's make every day Safe Driving Day in Columbia City," Chief Gross said.

Columbia City Eagles Win From Kendallville Comets

The Columbia City Eagles made their initial Marshall Memorial Hall appearance of the 1955-56 basketball season Friday night, defeating the Kendallville Comets 57-43. The Eagles grabbed a 4-2 lead with 3:52 in the period and were never headed during the remainder of the game. This was the Eagles first win in three starts, dropping games to Pierceton and Huntington.

Columbia City took the opening tip but was unable to score, and the Comets took the ball downcourt to net a 2-0 lead. Woodham scored the Eagles first basket and with 3:52 remaining in the period they had worked to a 4-2 lead. After the game was tied at 4-4, Columbia City scored seven consecutive points to lead 11-4 at the close of the first quarter.

Bridge and Deutsch each made a basket early in the second stanza to put the Eagles out in front 15-4. In this period, especially, Columbia City played at a very fast tempo and capitalized on bad comet passes to lead at the half 22-11.

In the third quarter, the Eagles continued to play the alert brand of basketball they had exhibited in the second period. Unofficially, the Eagles hit six of fifteen from the field and nine of eleven at the free throw line. Kendallville hit three of thirteen field goal attempts and five of twelve charity efforts. Columbia City led 43-22 at the end of three quarters of play.

The Comets narrowed the gap in the final period, but only after four of the Eagle starters were taken from the line-up in the waning minutes of the game. Despite Kendallvilles' aggressiveness late in the quarter the Eagles went on to win 57-43.

Woodham and Schwartz paced the Eagles with fourteen and thirteen points respectively. Brown tallied twenty-four points for the Comets.

Officials for the game were Deinnelt and McCoy of Fort Wayne.

The Columbia City reserves were defeated 42-34 in the preliminary contest. After leading 11-9 at the end of the first period, the Eagle reserves were tied 19-19 at halftime. Kendallville worked to a 28-23 lead in the third quarter and won by a 42-34 score.

State Department To Let Group Buy Hybrid Seed Corn

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department has decided to let five Russians and three Romanians enter the United States to buy about one million dollars worth of hybrid corn seed.

The group will purchase the seed from a firm headed by Roswell Garst, Coon Rapids, Iowa, and perhaps others. The precise amount they will buy will depend upon quantities and varieties of seed. But it is expected total value will be about one milion dollars.

The Russian group asked that it be permitted to arrive in this country by Friday. But there is some question whether it can make the trip in the short time remaining.

The 5 Russians are among 10 who earlier this month sought permission to come to the United States both to buy hybrid corn seed and visit eight midwestern states.

The State Department temporarily turned down that request. It said that such a large group should come to the United States only under a strictly reciprocal arrangement and that a great deal of time was needed to work out details.

However, the department said it would consider admitting a smaller number for the single purpose of buying corn seed and perhaps processing machinery. Officials said today that arrangement had been worked out.

Garst, who was in Russia and Eastern Europe last summer, invited the Russian and Romanian governments to send the delegations. He and the State Department have been conferring on details of the itinerary.

The two groups will come as officials of their countries and therefore will not have to undergo fingerprinting to be admitted. The Communist countries have objected to such legal American requirements as fingerprinting of all non-officials.

The groups are scheduled to visit Coon Rapids and other neighboring states. Exact details of their itineraries have not been worked out.

ADVERTISING

by selling more goods to more people

MAKES YOUR JOB MORE SECURE

NO matter what your job today, it depends on "good business." And someone has said that in the American business system, nothing can be accomplished until "something is sold."

You know the truth of this. Falling sales mean pay cuts, layoffs, fear. Increased sales mean better pay, promotions, more security in every job for every man.

Advertising is the low-cost, efficient way to sell goods. Advertising is the spark plug of business. So advertising, by selling goods, makes your job, your home, your income more secure!

Other Ways Advertising Helps You:

1. Brings you better goods for less money.
2. Makes shopping more pleasant and easier.
3. Has given us the world's highest standard of living.

Hoosier Farmers Can Take Accurate Soil Samples Easily

Hoosier farmers can take accurate samples with ease, report agronomists at Purdue University.

These soil samples, which can be taken without special tools, represent part of a field and are used in chemical testing to judge the acidity and plant food supply in several acres of farm land.

Purdue specialists say that before taking soil samples the field should be divided into areas not larger than 10 acres in which the soil looks similar. In these divisions the same crops should have been grown and the same fertilizer and liming treatment followed.

In each field division, ten or more equal sized cores or slices of soil should be taken from the surface to the plow depth in cultivated crop land and to a depth of 2 to 3 inches in permanent pasture. A sampling probe, soil auger, or spade can be used to take samples.

As the samples in each of the divisions are taken they should be placed in a clean pail and mixed thoroughly. If the soil is too wet to mix well, the soil mixture should be spread on clean paper to dry but never heated in a stove or oven. The air-dried soil mixture should then be placed in a soil sample box.

Each sample box should be numbered and the location from which it was taken placed on the field map.

When taking soil samples, farmers should stay away from farm lanes and field borders, fertilizer bands in row crops and small grains, feeding areas, areas within 8 to 10 rods of gravel roads, and areas which are not characteristic of the field.

After all the samples have been taken, the boxes should be sent to the soil laboratory at Purdue. Any Indiana farmer can submit soil samples to Purdue for testing. A service charge of 50 cents per sample is required to cover costs.

Sample boxes, application blanks, and instructions for taking accurate samples can be obtained at the county extension office. After the soil has been tested at Purdue, a copy of the test results and recommendations will be sent to the farmer, as well as to the county agent who can give advice or individual farm needs.

Don't worry about a slight mold on the surface of cheese. Slice it off with a knife and the rest of the cheese is ready to eat.

Farmers Asked To Cooperate During Safe Driving Day

LAFAYETTE, — Hoosier farmers and families have been urged by Dick Willsey, Purdue University farm safety specialist, to help make Safe Driving Day, December 1, a success.

Although farmers are considered among the nation's safest drivers, traffic accidents were the greatest single violent killer of farm people in 1954. Last year when traffic deaths decreased on state highways, accidents increased on county roads. Three-fourths of the accidents which resulted in death last year occurred in rural areas.

Willsey says traffic accidents can happen to anyone and when least expected. "Accident victims have no knowledge that tragedy lies ahead," he warns.

Farm residents, like all other vehicle drivers, can do their part to make S-D Day worthwhile by "defensive driving." The safest driver can be even better if he is constantly on the lookout for another driver's miscues. "It's better to yield the light than to lose a life, Willsey declares.

Every driver can heed these tips for safer driving: Be sportsmanlike on every drive, obey all traffic regulations, keep speed reasonable, don't drive when drinking, decrease speed at night, stay in line — don't weave, don't pass unless there's plenty of room, be alert at intersections, always give proper signals, and operate at safe vehicle.

For farmers who often walk along highways, Willsey cautions to be extra careful when crossing busy roads. "Always walk facing traffic and, when walking at night, wear or carry something white."

Safe Driving Day is sponsored by the President's committee for traffic safety in cooperation with other national organizations. The challenge: Not a single accident during the 24-hour period—in daylight or darkness.

Circuit Court News

Hearing of evidence was concluded Wednesday evening in the suit for injunction and damages venued from Allen Superior court by Henry Werling against the New Haven Conservation club.

Final action of the court will not be made until the presiding judge, Lowell Pefley, inspects premises. To this the parties to the suit have agreed.

Werling charged that in constructing a dam to impound water in a gulley, the club caused flat lands on his farm to flood. He charged that in 1942 he lost a sugar beet crop estimated at $975 and in 1943 lost 20 acres of oats valued at $500. He seeks judgment for $2,000.

In the estate of John B. King, final administrator's report has been filed and the court has directed that statutory notice be given by the court clerk.

In the Charles E. Harris estate, the administrator, the Citizens State bank has petitioned for authority to make distribution. This was approved and the administrator asked to file a supplemental report.

The estate of Mrs. Elma Smith, who died Nov. 15, was probated today in circuit court. At the request of the heirs, letters of administration have been issued to Max Gandy, Albion, R 2. The estate includes real property valued at $2,000 and $6,000 personal property.

Suit on account for medical services and medicines has been filed against Omer Rosenogle by the Linvill Memorial Clinic. Judgment for $904.04 plus interest and court costs is asked. Bloom & Bloom are the plaintiff's attorneys.

Word 'News' Comes From Cardinal Points Of Compass

The word "news" it is said, derives from the initial letters of the names of the four cardinal points of the compass: North, East, West, and South. It was said that before the time of newspapers it was customary to post recent events and occurances of general interest in public places under four columns headed N.E.W.S. The happenings from the North being recorded under the N, those from the East under the E and so on.

Good And Bad News On Balance Sheet

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The weeks good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. Delegates of Great Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan, meeting in the Iraqi capital of Baghdad, established a new Middle East Treaty Organization. The "Baghdad Pact," under which the METO was set up, creates a defensive arc of free nations extending from the Black Sea to the Himalaya Mountains along the southwestern borders of the Soviet Union. The United States was represented at the conference only by observers. But it pledged full co operation in the alliance. Later, the United States may join it. Lebanon, Jordan and Libya also are being asked to join.

2. Tough, leathery old Chancellor Konrad Adenauer made a remarkable comeback from his serious illness. The 79-year-old leader of the Federal Republic of West Germany was stricken with pneumonia on Oct. 7. It was announced two weeks ago that he faced a long period of convalescence, at a time when his leadership is vitally needed. But Adenauer disagreed. He won the consent of his physicians to resume work this weekend.

3. Ichiro Hatoyama was reelected premier of Japan as the leader of the newly merged Japan Democratic and Liberal parties. The merger strengthens Japan's political position and is expected to bring a stiffened attitude toward Soviet Russia and Red China.

The Bad

1. Political turmoil increased steadily in Brazil, the largest country in Latin America. President Jose Cafe Filho withdrew "temporarily" on Nov. 8 after a heart attack. Now he wants his job back. Congress, controlled by his opponents, balked. As the result, the Congress at the request of acting President Nereu Ramos voted to put the country under a state of siege, with the army in charge, for 30 days. There were strong indications that the crisis would continue for weeks, with the threat of revolution hanging over the country.

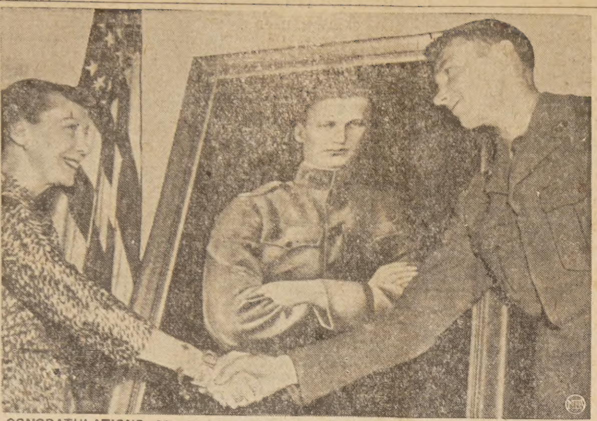
2. The return of Sultan Sidi MohammedBe n Youssef to his throne in Morocco was followed by serious riots. Extreme nationalists, who support Youssef, opened a campaign of retaliation against his enemies. Fourteen persons were killed in one day of the disorders. France, which had hoped to stand aside, was compelled to put troops into action to aid in restoring order.

3. Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev, on a state visit to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India, took the opportunity to attack the United States and its allies as saboteurs of peace efforts. Bulganin, addressing the Indian parliament, said that the latest American proposals, offered at the recent meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva, had set disarmament back 10 years.

Cheap Skates

YONKERS, N.Y. (UP)—Employes of a plastics firm opened their office Friday morning to find $25 missing from a smashed safe and the following note:

"What a bunch of cheap skates. Next time have more money for me and I won't dirty your place so. Thank you. See you soon."



CONGRATULATIONS—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower congratulates PFC Albert Beinar, Worcester, Mass., on his painting of World War I medical officer Lt. William T. Fitzsimons. Interstate Commerce Commission Rules That Segregation Of Passengers Is Unlawful WASHINGTON (UP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission ruled Friday that racial segregation of interstate railroad and bus passengers is unlawful.

The ICC held that segregation of Negro passengers subjects them to "undue and unreasonable prejudice and disadvantage" in violation of the Interstate Commerce Act.

"The disadvantage to a traveler who is assigned accommodations or facilities so designated as to imply his inherent inferiority solely because of his race must be regarded under present conditions as unreasonable," the ICC said.

The ICC's ruling was made in two cases, one brought by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People against a group of southern railroads. The other was brought by Sarah Keys, New York Negro beautician, against the Carolina Coach Co., Raleigh, N.C.

The commission ordered 12 railroads, a rail terminal company, and the bus line to stop segregation by next Jan. 10.

The decision was another in recent ones striking down racial barriers—the most notable of which was the Supreme Court's decision ending segregation in the public schools.

The commission's decisions, in effect, discarded the separate but equal" principle it set forth in former decisions. The first of these was brought before the commission two months after its formation in 1887. In that year the ICC ruled that disposition of the question 'should aim at a result most likely to conduce peace and order and to preserve the self respect and dignity of citizenship of a common country."

The ICC declared today that present circumstances are far different from those in 1887.

"It is hardly open to question that much progress is improved race relations has been made since then and that more can be expected" the commission stated.

In the railroad case the commission also declared that Negro passengers are "entitled to be free of annoyances, some petty and some substantial, which almost inevitably accompany segregation" even though railroads sincerely try to provide both races with equally convenient comfortable cars and waiting rooms.

The decision drew one dissent from Commissioner J. Monroe Johnson, South Carolina Democrat.

"It is my opinion," Johnson said, "that the commission should not undertake to anticipate the court and itself become a pioneer in the sociological field."

Meitzler, Black Wills Are Filed

Two wills, those of Frank Meitzler, 82, retired local druggist, who died Nov. 18, and Mrs. Edna Black, 82, Jefferson street resident who died Oct. 28, were placed in the will record of the Whitley circuit court today. Because of joint ownership of property with their respective spouses, no estates are to be opened.

The Meitzler will, after making provision for payment of indebtedess and funeral expenses, directs that all property become vested in the ownership of his wife, Mrs. Grace B. Meitzler, 506 West Van Buren street. She is to be absoulte owner of the real estate in fee simple, empowered to sell any property to her bequeathed without court order under any terms and conditions she may deem proper. The will was drawn on March 29, 1940, witnessed by Ralph F. Gates and Mrs. Helen Foust. Gates & Gates are the attorneys.

The Black will provides for settlement of any indebtedness of Mrs. Black and for erection of a cemetery monument, if not already purchased. The residue of the estate is bequeathed to the husband, William A. Black, 108 West Jefferson street. The will was drawn up on Feb. 11, 1954, witnessed by Benton W. Bloom and Miss Helen Miller. Bloom & Bloom are the attorneys.

Debate Topics To Be Discussed At Conference

LAFAYETTE.— Shauld there be federal subsidies for higher education? Should Indiana have a Seaway port? What should federal farm policy be? How shall high school athletics be regulated? Should the voting age be lowered?

These are topics with which 1,000 Hoosier high schoolers will come to grips in Purdue University's annual high school debaters' conference and student legislative assembly on the Lafayette campus December 2 and 3.

In committee meetings, in full-dress legislative sessions, in panel forums and in debates, Hoosier youth will consider and present its answers to these compelling issues of today.

The conference, now in its 23rd year, and the student legislative assembly, in its 13th year, are sponsored by the Department of Speech of Purdue. They bring students from well over 100 Indiana high schools together each year for a common experience in government and in "talking up." They also bring the teen-agers face to face with top citizens, this year including Lieut. Gov. Harold A. Handley, Federal Judge W. Lynn Parkinson, and former state legislators Sam J. Bushemi of Crown Point, Hobart Creighton of Warsaw and Fred F. Eichhorn of Gary.

In addition, the conference will present outstanding examples of public speaking, including demonstration debates by teams from the University of Notre Dame and the University of Illinois; and a panel forum including Professor of Education Paul Alexander, Assistant to the President John W. Hicks and Dean of the School of Science William L. Ayres, all of the Purdue staff.

Woman Appears For Hearing On Her Daughter's Death

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Mrs. Gertrude Silver, 49, released from a mental hospital two weeks ago, appears in court today for further hearing on charges of conspiracy and being an accessory in the abortion death of her heiress daughter, Mrs. Doris Ostreicher.

Mrs. Silver, who collapsed with "bereavement shock" and amnesia after she saw her daughter die in a North Philadelphia flat, is expected to waive the hearing before Magistrate Elias Myers and push the case toward the grand jury.

Two Persons Killed In Two-Car Collision

PLYMOUTH, Ind. (UP) — Two persons, one of them a high school basketball player, were killed late Friday in a two-car colision at the intersection of Ind. 10 and 331 south of Tippecanoe.

Mrs. Laura M. Sutherd, 50, Benton Harbor, Mich., was killed outright in the wreck. David Hawkins, 16, Bourbon, driver of the other car and a varsity hardwood player, died a few hours later in Warsaw hospital.

Richard Scott, 16, Bourbon, Hawkins' companion, was severely injured when their car slammed into a utility pole following the crash and the two boys were pinned in the wreckage.

William Sutherd, 8, the woman's son, was less seriously hurt.

munist chief ddlegate, was "not at all responsible to the proposal." Moore said Chung used a reply used by the Reds many times before — that all prisoners were repatriated or accounted for when the war ended more than two years ago.

Moore insisted the Allies had "reason to believe" all of the men on the 128-page list had been alive while in Communist custody. There never has been public disclosure of what basis officials had for their belief that the prisoners, including Air Force Capt. James A. Van Fleet Jr. were alive.

Result Of Geneva Talks

Moore said the U. N. command's renewal of the demand for an accounting resulted from the Geneva ambassadorial talks between the United States and Communist China.

He said U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Communist Ambassador Wang Ping - nan discussed the missing prisoners at Geneva and "Mr. Wang insisted that the proper channel for this discussion was the military armistice commission."

"We concur," the admiral said.

The Communist commission member again raised the issue of leased by Korean guards under 21,000 North Koreans who were reorders of President Syngman Rhee in defiance of Gen. Mark Clark's instructions shortly before the armistice was signed July 27, 1953.

at Raleigh, N.C., pointed to the key words of the problem — "Interstate" (between states) and "Intrastate" (within one state).

Required By State Law

"We are required by state laws in North Carolina and Virginia to segregate passengers in intrastate commerce," he said.

Thus the South, its state segregation laws unaffected by the ICC order, will have two groups of Negro travelers — the inters and the intras — each with its own legal status.

Intrastate travel has become involved in a segregation suit in one state — South Carolina — in a case that is already headed toward a Supreme Court decision.

In that case a Negro woman in a suit against the South Caroiina Electric & Gas Co. several months ago won a decision by the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals outlawing segregation in intrastate buses.

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr., after conferences with company officials and state attorneys, decided to appeal the ruling to the highest court.

Lost

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Mrs. William H. Stimpel, who definitely is not an amnesia victim, asked Allegheny County commissioners today to tell her where she lives.

She said her family built a new home in 1951 on a road which since has been abandoned and stripped of its name.

"Even the milkman and delivery trucks get lost trying to find where we live."

Harriman Gains A Congressional Supporter In Expected Bid For Democratic Nomination

WASHINGTON (UP)—New York Gov. Averell Harriman today gained a congressional supporter in his expected bid for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa), who broke with Adlai E. Stevenson in the 1952 campaign over the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, announced his support for Harriman. Walter said he expects to go to the Democratic National Convention next August as a "harriman delegate."

Walter, chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, said Harriman "is the only candidate" for the Democratic nomination who "has true appreciation of the No. 1 problem confronting the nation today — the threat to our security posed by the Russians who are intent on world domination."

Walter broke with Stevenson in 1952 when the former Illinois governor criticized and called for liberalizing the immigration act which Walter sponsored with the late Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev).

In other political developments Democrats continued their sharp blasts at the administration's farm program and the defunct Dixon-Yates power contract.

Farm advisers to the Democratic National Committee came out for farm price supports at not less than 90 per cent of parity. They accused the administration's flexible farm support policy of bringing farmers to the "verge of bankruptcy."

Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National Committee called on the administration to prosecute any officials responsible for possible law violations in the Dixon-Yates contract.

Butler said in a statement that action to prosecute "now-admitted wrongdoing" in the Dixon - Yates contract will be the "real test" of GOP promises to deal vigorously with any misconduct in government.

New Typewriter Has Simplified Keyboard

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Kjd;d pgld; aod ndglu ktrdh sl a ld, yalupdh ktrd, ogkdoe.

Translated, the above says:

"These lines were typed on a new fangled typewriter."

The contraption soon will be given a four-month test by 24 expert typists picked by the General Services Administration. The government, which operates some 800,000 typewriters, wants to see if the new machine's "simplified keyboard" really will speed up the output of typists by 35 percent as the developer claims.

Mildred Deen, a secretary in the office of Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex), thinks its a fine idea. She can do about 90 words a minute now, and is perfectly willing to try a machine that could step her up to 120 words a minute. "If I can stand the pace," Mildred said.

Mrs. Jane Johnson, a secretary for Murray Snyder, assistnat press secretary at the White House, threw up her hands at the thought.

"Why didn't they think of that business of having all the vowels where they are handy in the first place—83 years ago?" she asked. "We'll have to learn all over again if this new keyboard is accepted. Might even have to go back to school."

But if you think the professional typists are anticipating trouble, consider the plight of the newspaper man who teethed on the "seek - and - ye - shall - find" system.

Most of us old-timers type cross-handed, sometimes reaching way to the left, by radar or instinct or habit to find the "w" which is a neighbor of the letter "q on the standard keyboard. The "w" has been moved to the lower deck on the new keyboard and now keeps company with the "m" on the left and the "v" on the right.

As of now we use the lower case "l" for a one, and the top rack runs from 2 to zero right on to the zero. Most newspaper men can count that high in sequence.

On the new keyboard the numbers run 7, 5, 3, 1, 9, 0, 2 4 6 8. What a mess!

But even worse is the fact that the new board has hidden the letter "x". They must have left it in the alphabet, but I'll swear I can't find it anywhere. And "x is one of the most important letters. We use it to cross out words.

Only Art, Among Professions, Pays Less Than Ministry

NEW YORK (UP)—Only art, among the professions, pays less than the ministry, the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A said today.

Although ministers are making more money in the United States today than they were in 1939, their increases have not kept up with the increase in other fields and in some cases do not provide as much purchasing power as the 1939 salaries, the council said.

Figures for three large denominations for 1939 and 1953 were cited. The council said they are the only ones of its 30 denomination membership which report them.

The Protestant Episcopal Church, traditionally highest-paying Protestant denomination, paid ministers an average of $4,555 annually in 1953 as compared with $2,725 in 1939.

The 1953 figure is actually worth only $2,365 in 1939 buying power, however, the council said, or less than the 1939 salary. The church's figures include the rental value of the home provided for clergymen.

United Presbyterian Church salaries have provided a 3 per cent increase in buying power in growing from an average $1,979 in 1939 to $3,490 in 1953, the council said. These figures also include rental value of the clergyman's home.

The Congregational Christian churches have increased the average salary from $1,769 in 1939 to $3,484 in 1953, a nearly 6 per cent increase in buying power, the council said. These figures do not include value of a residence provided by the church.

The council said that of incomes reported by the Bureau of Census, for 1949, only farmers, barbers, deckhands, waiters and laborers made less than ministers, who were shown to make a median salary of $2,412 without rental value of their homes.

Among the professions, the council said, only artists and art teachers, with a medium of $2,360, made less than ministers. Other professional medians ranged from $4,002 for accountants and auditors to $8,115 for physicians.

Mascot

DENVER (UP) — Air Force Academy cadets have renamed their Falcon mascot "Mach I," a scientific word for the speed of sound.

When Mach Idieshis successor will be dubbed Mach II — twice the speed of sound. The third mascot will be Mach III, and so on.

Mach I formerly held the unscientific name of "Fearless Fred".

Monkey Paints, But Cannot Sign His Name

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP) — Visitors to an art exhibit today voiced mixed reaction to a "primitive" painting signed "A. P. E. Van Troot, Djurgaarden."

Most of the visitors studied the canvas with puzzlement which turned to amusement when they looked more closely at the signature. It was painted by a monkey who resides in Stockholm's Djurgaarden Zoo.

The journalist who promoted the stunt admitted, however, that the signatuure was a forgery. "I couldn't teach the monk to sign his name," he said.

County Agent Urges Seed Testing Be Be Started Early

County Agent B. V. Widney urges all farmers in Whitley county who will have seed to sell or sow next spring to get the seed tested duirng the fall or early winter. Widney offers to help farmers in this testing program by supplying instruc tions for drawing samples and special seed envelopes for sending them to the State Seed Laboratory at Purdue for a free test as well as by furnishing information on other seed matters.

Seed that is advertised for sale by farmers is required to be tested and tagged. Seeds to be lawfully sold must be free of primary noxious weed seeds and must not contain excessive amounts of other weed seeds. Since the test is free, all farmers should take advantage of this service, Widney said.

The tendency of farmers to postpone sending samples to Purdue until just before planting time usually results in a congestion of samples in the laboratory in February and March. Anticipating seed testing requirements and sending samples early is recommended. Care should be exercised in seeing that the sample is representative of the lot and is large enough for test. A teacupful of clover and grass seed and at least a pint of soybeans or cereal seed should be submitted.

Bitter Cold Wave Freezes Nation From Rockies To Appalachians

By UNITED PRESS

A bitter cold wave froze the nation from the Rockies to the Appalachians and from the Canadian border to the Gulf Coast today.

The Arctic air raced across the Midwest and then poured into Eastern and Southern states. Cold wave warnings were posted for Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, New York state and Pennsylvania.

In addition, the U.S. Weather Bureau at Washington issued special cold wave warnings for the area across the Appalachians through the Middle Atlantic states. Temperatures were expected to plunge to between 15 and 20 degrees above zero in the Middle Atlantic coastal area and from zero to 10 above in the central Appalachian and Ohio Valley areas.

The Canadian freeze also dropped temperatures as much as 45 degrees in Nebraska and nudged the temperature to zero levels in much of the nation's North.

Early today, cold wave conditions ruled through most of the Great Lakes, Ohio Valley, and the middle and upper Mississippi valleys. Temperatures were below zero or close to it in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota, and were below 10 above as far south as central Illinois, northern Kansas, and northern Missouri.

Gusty winds and quick - freezing snow accompanied the cold snap in the Midwest, slowing traffic to an agonizing crawl in northern Michigan and causing close to 1,000 auto accidents in Chicago.

Two miles of cars lined up for ferries in three and a half inches of snow at the Straits of Mackinac in Michigan. State police reported that it took from four to five hours to drive the 65 miles from New Buffalo, Mich., to Chicago.

In the Windy City, the snow turned main thoroughfares into icy runways. The accident rate zoomed and commuters reported delayed trains because ice had frozen railroad signals in downstate Illinois.

Farther south, the temperature dropped to 30 at Memphis, Tenn., and to 23 at Dallas, Tex. The weather was mild along the West Coast, but was marred by heavy fog along the southern California shoreline.

Zion Church Holds Special Dedicatory Service On Sunday

A day of thanksgiving was observed by the members of Zion Lutheran Church when special dedicatory services were held.

The service, which combined Sunday School and church, started at 10:30 with the singing of the familiar hymn, "Christ, Thou art the sure Foundation." Other congregational hymns were, "Great is the Lord, Our God." and "Lord of the Worlds Above." The organist was Mrs. Paul Hoover.

The pastor the Rev. J. K. Muhlenbruch used Psalm 100, "Make a Joyful Noise Unto the Lord," as his text. He recalled times of encouragement and disappointment during the course of the remodeling. The decision to work on this project came after the needs of the Sunday school became apparent to the members of the congregation. The parish hall will also serve as a meeting place for the confirmation classes and various other organizations, as well as a social room for the entire congregation. Rev. Muhlenbruch further pointed out that, of course, all to God, who made the whole pro- honor and glory should be given ject possible.

After the close of the service in the church, the group went to the parish hall, where a brief service was held. In the presence of the congregation and friends, and the officers who led the procession, J R. Bauer presented the key to Emil Schaper, who then officially opened the door of the parish hall.

A noon meal was served immediately following the services by the ladies of the congregation.

Parsonage Remodeled

An extensive remodeling of the former parsonage at 201 East Ellsworth was carried out during the past four and one-half months. Two partitions and a stairway were removed to make an "L" shaped room, measuring about 600 square feet. This area, as well as the kitchen, is divided into Sunday school rooms by removeable bookcases and bulletin boards. With the help of the Ladies Aid Society the kitchen was modernized. The house was completely rewired and automatic heating installed.

The planning committee for the remodeling consisted of the three trustees: Emil Schaper, John Ummel and J. R. Bauer, as well as Dr. O. F. Lehmbergh, Rev. Muhlenbruch and A. W. Trier, as president of the congregation. Mesdames Lehmbergh, Muhlenbruch and Ummel also served on the committee.

The Ladies' Aid Society Kitchen committee consisted of Mrs. Carl Auer, Mrs. J. R. Bauer, Mrs. J. K. Muhlenbruch, Mrs. Homer Ummel and Mrs. Emil Schaper, as president of the Ladies' Aid Society.

Union Officials Promise Peaceful Picket Lines

When 200 Employes Attempt To March Past 2,000 Pickets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)— Union officials promised "peaceful" picket lines when 200 back-to-work employes attempt to march past 2,000 pickets at the Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant here today.

The back-to-work movement centered around a group calling itself the "Westinghouse Telephone Committee" whose members were scheduled to return to work this morning.

In New York City, meanwhile, negotiations were scheduled to resume today in an attempt to settle the six-week old strike which has idled some 40,000 workers.

The local group asked protection from the Franklin County sheriff's office and Gov. Frank J. Lausche against possible violence. Some 4,500 are employed here.

An official of Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, (CIO), said a strike "captain" would be on duty at each plant gate to guard against possible violence. Another union official said an attempt would be made to "stall cars entering the plant" without resorting to violence.

Coldest Weather Of Season Moves Into Hoosierland

Chill Winds And Snow Accompany Temperature Drop

By UNITED PRESS

The coldest weather of the season moved into Indiana today, sending temperatures skidding near zero.

Snowfall ranging up to 2 inches at South Bend accompanied the drop.

Indianapolis recorded a temperature drop of 41 degrees, from a high of 48 Sunday to a low of 7 early today.

Lowest temperature today was South Bend with 5, closely followed by Fort Wayne with 6. Lafayette reported 8 and Evansville 11.

The snow came as the cold front moved in from the northwest. It melted, then froze quickly on many highways jammed with motorists homeward bound from Thanksgiving vacations. At least two persons were killed in traffic accidents blamed on icy roads. Mrs. Mary Faust, 64, near Frankfort, and Mrs. Priscilla Myers, 50, Washington, near Owensburg.

Chilly winds and snow accompanied the temperature dip in the north and central portions of the state. South Bend reported .15 of an inch of precipitation, Lafayette .05 and Indianapolis .02.

The weather bureau issued a bleak forecast for Hoosiers the next few days. It predicted the cold would continue at least through Wednesday, with more snow slated for the north and central parts of Indiana today and Tuesday.

Highs today were expected to range no higher than 18 north and 22 south. Lows tonight will drop to 5 in the north and central portions, and 10-15 south.

Highs Sunday ranged from 48 at Indianapolis, to 40 at South Bend and 42 at Lafayette.

Smith Township Neighborhood Farm Group Is Organized

Formation of the Southeast Smith Neighborhood Extension Organization was started at the Lewis Deem home, Friday evening, November 25, when a group of neighbors met to consider the idea. Mrs. Raymond Wappes served as temporary secretary. All farm families of the area were invited to the meeting by Mr. and Mrs. Deem. A house full responded.

"Neighbors can create just the kind of neighborhood that they want," County Agent B. V. Widney told the assembled guests. "Prosperous and understanding neighbors make for better rural living. Promoting the neighborhood improves your own farm and home. It is suprising how effective just a little thoughtful guidance can be," he observed.

The first year's experience with neighborhood development has been very gratifying, the agent explained. A few newly organized neighborhoods can be accepted into the extension program for 1956. The number is limited by the time available for servicing the neighborhood system. Eventually all interested neighborhoods can be accommodated, Widney predicted. The community chairmen largely decided when and where new organizations are formed, he said.

Air Force-Army Feud Is Headed For A Showdown

Over Army's Expanding Aircraft Fleet

By CHARLES CORDDRY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Air-Force - Army feud over the Army's expanding aircraft fleet appeared headed today for a showdown before Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

The battle has erupted because the Army wants to use its air arm more and the Air Force suspects the Army is trying to establish an air force of its own.

The Army, while denying any intent to duplicate the combat jobs of the Air Force, is bent on getting changes made in a 1952 agreement which it regards as gravely restricting its flying rights.

The Air Force suspects that the senior service aims eventually to establish a new air force of its own.

Air Force Concerned

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said last week that his service is interested only in relatively slow-flying and low-flying unarmed aircraft. But that didn't quiet Air Force concern.

The controversy broke into the open last week when Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles disclosed he had overruled an Air Force general and permitted the Army to test a new aviation unit in the Louisiana war games. But in doing so, Quarles stated emphatically that the "underlying issue" of Army and Air Force doctrine remains.

Gen. O. P. Weyland, tactical air commander and Louisiana maneuver director, had ruled that the Army could not send its new "sky cavalry" unit of helicopters and light planes over "enemy" lines in Exercise Sage Brush. The Army regards the 29-aircraft unit as a recommaissance outfit. But Weyland said it intended to engage in assault operations.

Interservice agreements, Weyland said and Quarles agreed, give the Air Force responsibility for carrying the infantry into airborne assault. But after conferences with Brucker, Quarles let the "skycav" operation go on.

Both Cite Pact

Each side produced the 1952 agreement to bolster its case. The pact said Army aircraft would "not duplicate the functions of the U.S. Air Force."

Army planes and helicopters — which now number 4,000 — were to be limited to adjusting artillery fire, studying terrain, liaison and courier missions, aerial wire laying, medical evacuation and limited movement of troops and supplies in the combat zone.

But the agreement had this loophole: "Army organic aircraft will be used by the responsible Army commander as he considers necessary for the discharge of his military mission." That could cover "skycav" and a multitude of other operations, the Army argued. The Army wants bigger loopholes put in the agreement now.

Two Cars Crash On Road 33; 5 Persons Sent To Hospitals

An ice-glazed curve on U.S. Road 33 two miles northwest of Wolf Lake was the scene at 9:00 p.m. Sunday of a two-car crash which resulted in five persons being injured.

State Trooper Sam Patton, who investigated the accident, said that the automobile driven by Carl Lehman of Troy, O., headed southeast on the highway, slipped off the pavement on a curve. In regaining the highway, Lehman's car veered into the path of the car, going northwest, which was operated by Ned McKee, 38, of Mishawaka. McKee's car was hit broadside.

McKee was treated at a physician's office in Ligonier for cuts to his face. The others were taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Fort Wayne. They included: Mrs. Mary Lehman, 52, numerious bruises; Miss Dorothy Lehman, 24, possible pelvic injury; Miss Joyce Lehman, 13, possible back injuries; Carl Lehman, 56, injuries undertermined.

Mrs. James Fulkrod, R 4, Albion was taken to the Whitley County Hospital early Sunday morning in the Smith and Sons ambulance. Mrs. Fulkrod was found in a unconscious condition in the street at the corner of Ellsworth and Oak. She was admitted to the hospital as a medical patient.

Top Executives Of AFL And CIO Are In New York

For Separate Conventions Beginning Thursday

By JACK WOLISTON
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)— Top executives of the AFL and CIO gathered here today to prepare for their separate conventions beginning Thursday and for the inaugural meeting of their merged forces of 15,100,000 members.

The separate conventions prior to the joint meeting a week from today will file the rough spots off a joint AFL-CIO constitution agreed on by a unity committee seven months ago. No amendments of any substance are expected.

Both groups must approve any changes and are expected to do so at their historic joint convention. Leaders of the merger movement hoped for unanimous approval but there was some grumbling, notably from Michael J. Quill, head of the CIO Transport Workers' Union, and Dave Beck, chief of the AFL Teamsters.

Prior to the separate conventions Thursday executive councils of both groups will meet, the CIO Tuesday and Wednesday and the AFL on Wednesday.

Reuther To Decide

From the CIO meeting may come decisions of CIO President Walter Reuther on whether to run for head of the industrial union department of the merged AFL-CIO and whether to support Quill for the AFL-CIO executive council in view of his attitude towards the merger.

The AFL Executive Council is expected to decide whom it will nominate for three positions it still has to fill on the new Executive Council. The council will be made up of 17 representatives from the AFL and 10 from the CIO, all of whom will be AFL-CIO vice presidents.

Reuther's annual report and that of AFL President George Meany will be issued Thursday. Both were expected to be concerned mostly Highways Glaze; Mercury Column Drops 29 Degrees

Indian Summer days came to an abrupt end Sunday evening when the temperatures rapidly dropped and a sleet-like snow glazed roads streets, and walks.

The mercury, which stood above freezing at 34 degrees at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, skidded to an unpredicted 5 degrees above zero during the night. Weather forecasters had indicated a low of 10 to 12 degrees above zero.

The change in weather, which brought a skift of snow to this area, formed a holiday setting for the Christmas lighting of the community, turned on Saturday night for the first time.

City Utility workmen prepared the Christmas lighting displays elaborately decorating the exteriors of the courthouse and the city hall, placing strands of greenery across the streets in the shopping district at intervals. These strands were ornamented with lights and such Christmas symbols as stars and bells.

There has been considerable mutual agreement that the ornamental lighting of the business district is the most beautiful in years.

When the glaze hit the roads and streets Sunday evening, Roy Loe's state highway department truck sanded the principal intersections on state road 9 and U.S. Highway 30 to permit heavy-laden trucks to make grades through town without being stalled and tying up traffic

Super-caution apparently was exercised by motorists for no accidents were reported here.

French Press Predicts Fall Of Government

On Faure's Confidence Vote Tuesday

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure's chances of survival Tuesday in Parliament diminished sharply today despite his plea to "end this merry-go-round of governments" and his hopes of presenting a new disarmament plan to the world.

The French press was almost unanimous in predicting the fall of the Faure cabinet when the National Assembly votes on his sixth vote of confidence in as many weeks.

Behind the wave of near-certainty of Faure's defeat in the National Assembly confidence vote was the announcement of the Communist bloc decision not to support him. In two past confidence votes he scraped through only with Communist support.

Faure journeyed Sunday to Chamblay, in the contituency which he represents, to make a last plea for support in the hostile Assembly.

Premiers Short Lived

He proposed reforms to make it tougher for the assembly to fire premiers. He attacked France's "merry-go-round of governments" as a "luxury which we must renounce" and said his failure would mean his disarmament plan could not go before the United Nations this week.

The plan is the one first unveiled at Geneva. It calls for the big powers to cut arms production by various percentages with savings used for the undeveloped areas of the world.

Tuesday's crucial vote will be on Faure's demand that early elections be debated before the debate on general government policy.

The current crisis began several weeks ago when Faure demanded the assembly dissolve itself now instead of waiting until its tenure expires in June. Then there could be early elections.

Late Elections Demanded

But the Parliament began haggling over whether the elections should be held next month, the month after or any month right up until June. Faure had urged an election before Christmas. His arch-political enemy, Pierre Mendes-France, demands late elections.

The Communist supported Faure's plea for two main reasons. Elections now would be held under a proportional representation system that would greatly increase the number of Red seats in the house. In the second place, the Communists greatly fear Mendes-France.

Although the French Parliament is generally unpredictable, it appeared Faure had 348 votes against him out of a possible 624. This would be enough to bring about his downfall. At least half of his own Radical Socialist Party was expected to vote against him.

Police Launch Search For Three Delinquent Girls

Wanted For Slaying Of Matron Of Home

AKRON, Ohio (UP) — Police launched a sweeping search today for three of five delinquent girls wanted for the slaying of a detention home matron Sunday night.

The five escaped in a freezing snowstorm. Two of the girls gave themselves up several hours later.

Police said the teenage girls bound Eula Bonham, 59, resident matron at the home, with string and stuffed her mouth with washclothes soaked in ammonia. The two recaptured girls said the group had planned the murder and escape for days and had rehearsed it Sunday.

The two, Merle Cain, 16, and Margaret Nicholson, 15, said their boy friends talked them into surrendering.

The three still at large were identified as Ruth Beichler, 16; Zelda de' Cost, 16, and Shirley Shingler, 15.

No charge had been filed against the girls, police said. Two of the girls had sex delinquency backgrounds and one had once been held for trying to knife a man whom she had been drinking.

Police said the matron apparently died instantly after the rags were jammed down her throat. The girls had hoarded the ammonia from supplies used for cleaning floors, police said.

The girls apparently jumped the matron when she entered their locked dormitory on a routine inspection, police said. They escaped through a smashed window and raced into a snowstorm, wearing only short-sleeved prison dresses.

Miss Bonham was to have been married in a few days, officers said.

Ike Does Not Indicate What Decision Will Be

Private Talk Lasts 45 Minutes

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he felt "very much encouraged" about prospects that the President will run for re-election.

"So far as I am concerned, there is no other candidate," Hall told reporters after a 45-minute talk with the President in his temporary White House office here.

Hall made it plain that the President himself did not say or indicate what his decision will be about a second term.

"I can only speak my opinion," Hall said. "I can say I am very much encouraged."

First since Attack

The long private talk with Hall was Mr. Eisenhower's first admittedly political conference since his Sept. 24 heart attack.

It was also the first time the GOP national chairman had seen Mr. Eisenhower since Sept. 10.

Hall said his optimism about Mr. Eisenhower seeking re-election was based not only on the apparent good state of the President's

Governor Asks For Increase For State Department Heads

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Governor Craig asked the State Budget Committee today to increase the salaries of all Indiana department heads $1,000 a year.

Budget Director Don Clark said the committee will consider the request late today after a conference with representatives of a management consultant firm hunting ways of economizing in government expenditures.

Clark said 50 to 75 department heads would be affected by the proposed salary boost. He said their pay last was raised in 1953 and the officials since have "grown with their jobs."

The salaries Indiana pays its department heads are far below what they would receive for comparable jobs in private industry and are less than that paid similar officials in most neighboring states, Clark said.

One member of the committee, who asked that he not be identified, said he will oppose the increase, and Clark said he expects some sort of "compromise."

The committee also will consider routine allotments to state institutions.

Santa Claus Is Welcomed To Columbia City Saturday Afternoon In Parade With Floats

Santa Claus was officially welcomed to Columbia City Saturday afternoon with a colorful parade starting at 2:00.

Santa joined the parade of floats and marchers at the West Ward school where the parade assembled.

Santa rode on a platform atop a giant 28-foot red and white striped candy cane so that all his friends could see him. The cane was decorated by the Sigma Nu Delta girls and the Standard Tank and Fabricating company.

Santa was assisted to and from his cane by the fire department ladders and the city firemen.

The parade was led by the local police department followed by the Columbia City Joint high school marching uniformed band. The band was led by drum major Don Briggs and the twirlers.

The Columbia City fire department gave a load of boys and girls a ride on the fire truck.

Scouts

Three troops of Brownies and five troops of Girl Scouts came to march in the parade welcoming in the Christmas season. Also present were members of Cub Scout pack 3082 and Boy Scouts of troop 80. Some of the scouts assisted Santa in distributing candy to boys and girls along the line of march from the West Ward school down Van Buren to Main street and around the courthouse to Santa's house on the northeast corner.

Santa's Workshop float by the Columbia City Rotary club was decorated with toys and books and his helpers gave away balloons.

Included in the parade were a number of new cars from local dealers.

Let's Curb This Killer

In the age when medical science is striving to overcome those diseases which kill and maim mankind, should we not pause to consider another killer—the traffic accident—and what can be done by every one of us to curb its threat?

The sponsors og "S-D DAY" or "Safe Driving Day" are asking for contributions of common sense—not money—in the fight against traffic deaths and injuries. They realize that only with the wholehearted support of the driving and walking public can safe-driving campaign be successful. And they are asking for that support in terms of individual awareness, by each person, of his own responsibility in curbing traffic accidents.

"S-D Day" is Thursday, December 1. On that date, the President's Committee for Traffic Safety and the many organizations cooperating in the observance of "S-D Day" are hoping for a 24-hour traffic-accident "holiday." But this year's observance of "S-D Day" will go beyond that 24-hour period in an attempt to educate the public to a year-around reconsideration of driving and walking habits.

The President has asked all Americans to join in this job of accident elimination. The program has also been endorsed by Governor Craig and by nearly 200 national, state, and local organizations who are banding together in a concerted effort to rid our streets and highways of the traffic-accident menace.

Their success, the success of "S-D Day," depends entirely upon how well the program is brought to the attention of the individual driver and pedestrian, who, after all, is the one that must change his attitudes.

Common, everyday courtesy and an extension of the Golden Rule—and the will to use them—will go a long way. It would be well to keep in mind that over 5,000 Americans would still be alive today if we had driven every day during the past year as we did on "S-D Day" last year.

Pope Pius Meditates On Life Of Christ

VATICAN CITY (UP)—Pope Pius XII prayed and meditated on the life of Christ today in this anniversary week of his reported vision and his near fatal collapse.

The week began with an account Sunday in the unofficial Vatican City newspaper Osservatore della Domenica of further details of the Pope's vision.

The article did not contradict any details of the original story published in the Italian magazine Oggi but added new information, answered certain questions asked by the Italian press and attacked cynics.

The newspaper said a mysterious voice told the Pope on Dec. 1 he would have a vision and that the vision appeared the following day at dawn—12 hours before his collapse.

The newspaper, in clearing up the confusion over the time of the vision, answered the doubts of Italian newspapers which had said the Pope was in critical condition at the time of the vision.

Osservatore della Domenica said the Pope was alert of mind and said no one was in the room with the Pope at the time because his collapse and crisis did not come until the next day.

It also said the Pope was "grieved" by the disclosure of the vision almost a year later in an Italian magazine.

The version in Osservatore della Domenica was presumed to have been approved by the Pope himself. It appears in the Dec. 4 edition but was published textually in Il Quotidiano, the Rome daily organ of the Italian Catholic Action organization.

The Pope Sunday appeared before a cheering crowd of 15,000 pilgrams and Romans in St. Peters Square while an overflow crowd of 5,000 jammed the Hall of Benedictions and adjoining rooms in the Vatican Palace for a general audience, the Pope's last before Christmas.

Excuse

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UP)—Walter J. Chapman, 38, got a sentence of 100 days in jail on his seventh charge of driving without a license despite his excuse.

Chapman told the judge that when he was able to scrape up the money for the license, he never had a car and that whe nhe had a car, he never could afford the license.

He Who Hesitates

When she hesitated, Arnold said, the men pulled guns and ordered her to empty the cash register as well. They got away with a hamperful of beer and $300.

"Heaven to Earth" at Big Lake Church

How they sang! Pioneer workers of the church in 1890 are shown gathered around the organ in a scene from "Heaven to Earth," a new religious motion picture to be shown Wednesday, 7:30 p.m. at the Big Lake Church of God. The film portrays the work and spirit of pioneers in the early days.

It was produced to highlight an International Diamond Jubilee in the Church of God, according to the Rev. Frederick Wraight, pastor of the Big Lake church.

Glimpses are given of Daniel S. Warner and other early leaders between 1880 and 1910.

The film was made in the vicinity of Anderson, where general offices of the church are located. More than 500 people are in the cast.

"Heaven to Earth" is being shown across the country as a part of the Church of God's observance of seventy-five years of service. This emphasis is also being carried out by other historical observances in local, area, and national meetings of the church.

This religious group has developed from the handful of pioneers into a body of people numbering 125,000 constituents in more than 2,000 congregations. Church school enrollment has reached 216,032.

Election To Follow

Election of officers, in most cases already agreed upon, will follow adoption of the constitution at the convention next Monday. Meany will head the combined labor organization.

It was reported Reuther can have the post of head of the industrial union department if he wants it, and there were indications he does. He also will serve as a vice president, as a member of the AFL-CIO Executive Council and probably as a member of the Executive Committee.

Undoubtedly the labor leaders will have something to say about remarks of several of the speakers to address the five-day convention.

They include Adlai Stevenson, announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination; Gov. Averell Harriman of New York; Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, and Marion Folsom, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. President Eisenhower will send a message to the convention.

Only 4 Persons Killed In Traffic Accidents In State

By UNITED PRESS

In a prelude to "Safe Driving Day," Indiana motorists compiled one of their best weekend records of the year as only four persons were killed in traffic accidents.

The light toll was all the more impressive in view of the heavy post-Thanksgiving holiday traffic and poor driving conditions due to freezing snow late Sunday.

The ice-galzed roads were blamed for two deaths.

Mary E. Faust, 64, near Frankfort, who was killed when a car driven by her husband skidded out of control on Ind. 39 south of Frankfort. State Police said the car swerved off the highway and rammed into a tree. The victim's husband, Homer, 66, was injured seriously.

Mrs. Priscilla Myers, 50, Washington, was killed Sunday when a car in which she was riding skidded on ice and slammed into another car on Ind. 45 near Owensburg in Greene County. Her husband, daughter, and the driver of the second car suffered minor injuries.

Harvey Warren, 33, Summitville, drowned Saturday when a car in which he was riding veered off Ind. 109 near New Columbus and overturned in Fall Creek. Two other persons in the car, including Warren's brother, William, 42, escaped, but Warren was pinned in the rear seat.

Charles McGuire, 56, Montgomery, was killed Friday night when he was struck by a car while crossing U.S. 50 near his home.

The weekend deaths brought the toll since Thanksgiving eve to 11.

Youth Confesses Starting 50 Fires

CHICAGO (UP)—An 18-year-old boy has confessed starting about 50 fires and committing 125 burglaries in the Chicago area since last July.

Charles H. Johnson, a tall, husky youth, said he set the fires for the "fun" of watching them burn. He said he committed the burglaries to support himself and averaged up to $500 on each robbery.

The robberies and fires all occurred since he was released from reform school last July, he told police.

Indiana Youths Win Scholarships

CHICAGO (UP)—Two Indiana youths Sunday were among the winners of $300 scholarships at the opening session of the 34th annual 4-H Club Congress.

The congress, held in conjunction with the International Livestock Exposition, will present 180 awards during its five-day meeting to national winners in 30 programs.

The Hoosier winners were Marion L. Holsapple, 20, Orleans, in the agricultural program designed to develop leadership in rural communities, and Leo S. Mann, 18, Otterbein, in the safety program.

In competition at the exposition, Purdue took third place in the intercollegiate livestock judging contest with 4,325 out of a possible 5,000 points. Iowa State College was the winner and Oklahoma A&M placed second.

An Indiana team won the judging title in a 4-H poultry judging contest.

Earlier, Sue Lenderman, 17, of near Terre Haute, won the reserve championship for the Angus breed with her 1,200-pound steer, Black Magic, which previously had won the Angus junior yearling title.

Statewide Alert For Young Cab Driver

CANTON, Ill. (UP)—A statewide alert was sent out today for a young cab driver wanted for questioning in the rape-slaying of 8-year-old Janice May.

The driver's cab was found in nearby Pekin, Ill., Sunday about 12 hours after the mutilated, auburn-haired little girl was found in a Canton railroad yard.

Police Chief Kenneth Lindzey said the search for the unmarried cab driver was the "hottest lead" so far in the search for the killer.

It was believed that the 25-year-old driver might have gone from Pekin to Champaign, Ill., after abandoning his car.

About 30 persons have been questioned in the case and bloodhounds from the Vandalia, Ill., prison farm tried to pick up a trail. But police admitted early today that they had turned up no fresh clues in the manhunt.

The killer tore the clothes from his small victim and beat her with a 30-pound piece of concrete, police said. A medical examination showed she had been raped.

Janice was last seen Saturday afternoon when she left her home to play with her older brothers in a nearby school yard. An hour and a half later her brother, Jimmy, 12, and his dog found the little girl, clad only in a blouse.

The child died two and a half hours later without recovering consciousness. Her dress and blue coat had been torn off and her underclothing was found hidden under a stack of empty coal cans.

Franklin Woman Killed By Train

FRANKLIN, Ind. (UP)—An 80-year-old Franklin woman carrying her damaged hearing aid for mailing was killed late Saturday when she failed to hear a warning whistle and stepped into the path of a train.

Authorities said Mrs. Grace Harter was apparently almost totally deaf without the hearing aid. Louis Kistler, Logansport, engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train, said he sounded his warning whistle repeatedly as he approached the crossing.

Arraignment Of John Graham Again Delayed

Second Continuance Until December 9

By JOHN B. MOREHEAD
United Press Staff Correspondent

DENVER (UP)—A state court today granted a second continuance, until Dec. 9, in the scheduled arraignment of confessed plane saboteur John Gilbert Graham.

Graham, 23, appeared with his three court-appointed attorneys at 10 a.m. CST today before District Judge Edward J. Keating to enter a plea to a charge of murdering his mother, one of 44 persons killed in the United Air Lines DC6B air lines bomb plot crash Nov. 1.

The arraignment had been delayed once before because permanent counsel had not been appointed for Graham. Today, his three attorneys told the court they had not had time for sufficient preparation of their case.

District Attorney Bert Keating said he had no serious objection and Judge Keating then ordered the continuance until Dec. 9. He specified that any defense motions filed as answer to the charges would be heard and disposed of on the arraignment date.

The courtroom itself was packed.

Graham is charged specifically with murdering his 54-year old mother, Mrs. Daisey King, by planting a time-bomb in her luggage before she boarded a United Air Line DC6B on Nov. 1.

District Attorney Bert M. Keating made a trip to the scene of the airliner crash near Longmont, Colo., Sunday to map plans for prosecution of Graham. The fuselage has been reassembled and removed to Denver, but the remainder of the wreckage is still at the scene.

Investigators still are looking for the person or persons who sold the 6-volt dry cell battery believed to have triggered the dynamite bomb that expoded and killed all 44 persons aboard the plane.

Graham spent a "pretty cheerful" day in his cell Sunday, according to county jail guards.

Britain Gives Troops In Cyprus Wartime Status

NICOSIA, Cyprus (UP)—Britain today gave wartime status to 12,000 troops in this Mediterranean island colony to crush savage terrorism which has killed six British soldiers in recent days.

The orders put the seven battalions now stationed in Cyprus on "active service." It is a measure which Britain has never taken in the Middle East in peacetime before now.

The order was yet another indication of the gravity with which the British view the mounting terrosim and followed imposition of a state of emergency.

Troops stood guard at main intersections in downtown Nicosia and other towns to check possible further outbreaks of rioting. The terrorist organization Eoka warned that "the big battle is coming soon."

Wednesday To Be The Golden Wedding Day Of Mr. And Mrs. Norman Stoner

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stoner

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stoner, for a number of years residents of Tunker, will have been married 50 years on Wednesday. On Thanksgiving Day the couple observed the event with a dinner when their son and only child, Theodore, an instructor in the Detroit schools and his wife were home to assist in the Golden Wedding observance.

Married at Tunker by Rev. Rudolph Bollinger, minister of the Church of the Brethren, the couple began housekeeping near Lake Everett in Allen county. Nine years later they moved to Tunker, where Mrs. Stoner operated the well-known Stoner Flower gardens.

Twelve years ago they moved to their present home on the north shore of Big Lake. Mrs. Stoner is still growing beautiful flowers and Mr. Stoner is growing corn and potatoes. Mr. Stoner says he will grow potatoes one more year and then quit. He worked as a carpenter for 30 years.

Mrs. Stoner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hummell and Mr. Stoner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Stoner, both families well-known residents of Washington township.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoner met at the old fountain on the north side of the courthouse, Mrs. Stoner says when the water ran out of the lion's mouth and you drank out of a tin cup. She was waiting on the tin cup. When asked if Mr. Stoner told her his name that day when he handed her the tincup, she said no, but he gave her a nice big smile.

Mr. and Mrs. Stoner state Wednesday will be a quiet day, maybe a small dinner party if someone drops in.

Revised Regulations Controlling Egg Sales Goes Into Effect Feb. 1

Revised regulations controlling the sale of eggs in Indiana go into effect February 1, reminds Purdue University poultrymen. This law will have far-reaching effects on Hoosier egg marketing practices.

After February 1 all eggs offered for sale in Indiana, (except those sold to consumers on the farm), must be graded if a price is quoted in advertising. The grade A, B, or C—must also be stated, and in addition, each package, carton, or other container must list both the grade and size. These labeling laws have been in effect for some time on grade A eggs, but now are being extended to grades B and C.

Many poultrymen in Indiana have found selling direct to local retailers to be a profitable practice. If these outlets are to be continued, it will be necessary for either the producer or retailer to assume the responsibility for grading the eggs to comform to Indiana standards. Normally when eggs are sold to wholesalers for distribution, the wholesaler performs the grading function.

Dave Jackson, extension poultryman at Purdue, says that the agriculture extension service in cooperation with the Indiana State Egg Board is planning egg grading and candling schools throughout the state to train producers, wholesalers, and retailers.

Interested persons should contact the local county agricultural agent for the date and time of the training school in their area. The schedule for schools has not been announced at this time.

Hoosier Gold Medal Livestock Clubs

It is time to start nominating [illegible] for the different Gold Medal Clubs. Cards may be picked up at the county agent's office.

The Gold Medal calf club is started and nominations must be in by February 1st, 1956. Junior calves may nominate as late as May 1st. Last year we had 14 different people nominate calves. Whitley County should have at least twice that many farmers interested in Gold Medal work.

Pork Producers pick up your nominating cards now. Remember you record all litters born in the months of January, February, March and April. All enrollment cards must be returned to our office by May 1, 1956. This is a good practical way to improve our market hogs and help the pork market.

Lamb club entries are due the same time as pork producers entries are May 1.

It is important that you have your nominations in on time.

Los Angeles Rams, Cleveland Browns Cling To Half-Game Leads In NFL Division Races

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Rams and Cleveland Browns cling to half-game leads in the National Football League's division races today because of inspired "spoiler" efforts by the Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants, two teams with no hope of playing in the Dec. 26 championship game.

The Cardinals, 16½ point underdogs, knocked the Chicago Bears out of first place in the Western Division Sunday with a thumping, 53-14 triumph in the 66th game of their bitter, intra-city series. Los Angeles, which had been a half-game behind the Bears, took first-place by edging the Philadelphia Eagles, 23-21 on Les Richter's 26-yard field goal with only seven seconds to go.

New York played its finest 1955 game to hold the champion Browns to a 35-35 tie at the Polo Grounds. The second-place Washington Redskins took advantage of New York's effort and cut Cleveland's Eastern lead to a half-game by downing the Pittsburgh Steelers, 23-14.

Kept Hopes Alive

The Baltimore Colts kept their hopes alive by defeating the San Francisco Forty-Niners in Sunday's other game, 26-14. Baltimore trails Los Angeles by one game. The Green Bay Packers, who lost to the Detroit Lions Thursday, 24-10, are 1½ games behind the Rams.

All teams have two more regular season games. Cleveland visits Pittsburgh and winds up at home against the Cardinals. Washington ends up at home against New York and Pittsburgh. Los Angeles finishes at home against Baltimore and Green Bay. The Bears wind up at home against Detroit and Philadelphia.

Ollie Matson, Dave Mann and Don Stonesifer each scored twice in a snowstorm as the Cardinals snapped the Bears' six-game winning streak.

Stan Jones of the Bears and Tom Bieneman of the Cards were thrown out for fighting and the game ended with some of the 47,314 fans trying to slug Doug Atkins of the Bears.

Blocked Kick Attempt

Cleveland appeared set for one of its patented finishes when Otto Graham ran 27 yards to sea up a 21-yard field goal try by Lou Groza. But Ray Krause, Pat Knight and other New York defensive stars who had blocked a 26-yard Groza field goal attempt in the first half, broke through to block the boot with only 17 seconds to go.

But it was a different story at Philadelphia where Richter booted his third field goal of the game in the final seconds to put the Rams in first place. Norm Van Brocklin threw scoring passes to Elroy Hirsch and Tom Fears to help Los Angeles beat Philadelphia for the first time in seven tries.

Washington didn't complete a pass at Pittsburgh but won on two touchdowns by Leo Elter and a 49-ard punt return TD by Joe Scudero.

At Baltimore, George Shaw threw a touchdown pass to Jim Mutscheller, scored on a 21-yard run and set up a two-yard TD lunge by Alan Ameche to lead the Colts to victory over the Forty-Niners.

Babe Begins Third Bout With Cancer

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, known around the world as perhaps the greatest woman athlete of all time, began her third bout with cancer today. She was "awfully tired" and the sparkle in her eyes was dimmed.

This time she had a friend in her room. Betty Dodd, who probably knows the babe better than any of the many companions she had on the women's golfing circuit, was at her bedside constantly.

Babe checked into John Sealy Hospital Sunday afternoon and went immediately to a room she has rented for 19 days. She had a smile for the receptionist but was reported having severe pains in her hip, leg and foot.

She was given a sedative and Dr. Robert Moore, who has been her physician through the other two bouts she had with the killer cancer, indicated she will be given x-ray and other examinations today.

Pistons Defeat St. Louis 114-106; Nats Pound Knicks

By UNITED PRESS

The Syracuse Nationals and Fort Wayne Pistons, defending division champs who got off to a bad start in the National Basketball Assn. this season, inched forward a little today in their battle to get back into contention.

The Nationals pounded the New York Knicks, 85-74, at Syracuse Sunday to bounce back from a 100-99 loss to the same club Saturday in New York, the victory keeping the Nats in third place in the East.

Fort Wayne was forced into overtime Sunday but went on a 16-point rampage in the short session to beat St. Louis, 114-106, and gain a tie with idle Rochester for third place in the West. In the only other game played Sunday, Minneapolis beat Philadelphia, 99-94, to snap the league-leading Warriors' eight-game winning streak.

Syracuse led all the way over New York in a sloppily-played game as Adolph Schayes led the scoring with 19 points.

Fort Wayne and St. Louis deadlocked, 98-98, in regulation time before the Pistons ran away in the overtime. George Yardley led Fort Wayne with 29 points, while Bob Pettit had 27 for St. Louis.

Philadelphia held a 64-63 lead going into the fourth qquarter at Minneapolis but the Lakers came on to win. Clyde Lovellette had 25 points and 15 rebounds and Ed Kalafat 19 points and 15 rebounds for the Lakers while Paul Arizin had 24 points for the Warriors.

Bruins Becoming Patsies Of NHL

By UNITED PRESS

The Boston Bruins rapidly are becoming the "patsies" of the National Hockey League.

For the fifth straight time, the Bruins went down to defeat Sunday night, bowing to the once "hapless" Chicago Black Hawks, 6-0.

The Bruins now have gone winless in the last eight games and have scored but five goals during the stretch. Sunday's loss dropped Boston into the league cellar.

While the Bruins were having their troubles, the New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens battled to their third tie, 3-3, the Canadiens rallying for a pair of goals in the last period in a game which almost erupted into a free-for-all.

After the Rangers had gone in front 3-1 early in the second period, New York defenseman Lou Fontinato rammed rookie Henri Richard into the boards. Big brother Maurice Richard became so incensed that he took a five-foot flying leap at Fontinato, but the officials quickly stepped in to prevent further jostling.

The tie enabled the Canadiens to maintain their six point leaguue lead over the second-place New Yorkers.

Tod Sloan scored twice in the last five minutes of the opening period as the Toronto Maple Leafs downed the Detroit Red Wings, 2-1, and moved into a four-place tie with the defending Stanley Cup champions.

McNeece Favore d To Beat Johnson

NEW YORK (UP)—Light heavyweight Billy McNeece of Central Islip, N.Y., is favored at 7½ to 5 to beat Tony Johnson of New York tonight in their return TV 10-rounder at St. Nicholas arena.

They fought to a draw at Eastern Parkway Arena on May 9.

Each is a willing "club fighter" who appeared to be moving ahead until he ran into hard luck this year, in which both were comparatively inactive and neither won a fight.

McNeece, an aggressive hooker of 24, had but two bouts in 1955. He drew with Johnson and lost a decision to Paddy Young on June 3. His 13-3-1 record includes five knockouts. He was never stopped.

Johnson, a long-range mauler of 25, fought thee times this year. He was stopped in the 4th round by Paddy Young. He was outpointed by Willie Pastrano, and he drew with McNeece. That was his eighth draw in 36 fights. His 22-6-8 record includes seven kayoes.

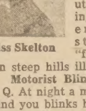
Can You Solve These Driving Problems?

By Betty Skelton, Dodge Test Driver

Here's a parlor quiz you can test yourself on, then try on your friends and relatives.

If you know the answer to these tricky problems, you undoubtedly are a good, intelligent driver. If you don't know the answers now—you will when you finish this quiz.

1. Q. Will a car be less likely to skid on ice if the air pressure of the tires is lowered? (A. No. The National Safety Council discovered in tests last winter that tire pressure reduced below manufacturers' recommendations actually makes a car more prone to skid.)



Miss Skelton

2. Q. Is it wise to put a car in neutral and coast down a hill? (A. No. Always keep the car in gear and your foot off the clutch, to utilize the braking effect of your engine. Some states make "free - wheeling" down steep hills illegal.)

Motorist Blinks Lights

3. Q. At night a motorist directly behind you blinks his lights. What is he signalling? (A. He wants to pass you. Get as far over to the right as possible and dim your lights.)

4. Q. Even though such practices as weaving from lane to lane are dangerous, will they save a motorist a lot of time in city driving? (A. No. Tests conducted in a number of cities prove this. In Los Angeles, two cars started a six-mile trip through the city from the same point. One driver traveled the safe way, observing all traffic regulations. The other driver used every trick in the book to make better time, regardless of the laws. He reached the destination only three minutes ahead of the safe driver.)

5. Q. You see a diamond-shaped sign ahead as you are driving on a highway. You are still too far away to read the sign's wording. What should you do? (A. Slow down. Diamond-shaped signs mean a curve or some obstruction is ahead.)

6. Q. At night, an oncoming motorist refuses to dim his lights for you. What should you do? (A. Dim your own headlights, slow down, and watch the right side of the road while passing.)

What About Gas Mileage?

7. Q. Will you use more gas if you travel at high speeds? (A. Yes. Even with modern high-compression engines providing more gas economy, you can save one gallon or more in four by driving 50 instead of 70.)

8. Q. Exactly what is the safe following distance behind another car? (A. One car-length for every ten miles of speed.)

9. Q. You are driving on a highway with a solid line down the middle and a broken line alongside it on the other side of the road. Is it safe to pass the car ahead? (A. No. Only pass when the broken line is on your side.)

If you knew all the answers, congratulations! If you didn't know them, hope you'll remember these points next time you drive. You'll be safer that way.

Overjoyed Army Closes Books On 55 Season Made Glorious By Inspired Win Over Navy

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Overjoyed Army closed the books today on a 1955 college football season made glorious for the Cadets by their inspired upset victory over Navy, but there will be still another chapter for bowl-bound Georgia Tech and Mississippi.

The Cadets, triumphant by 14-6 over Navy in Saturday's dramatic gridiron classic at Philadelphia, returned to the Military Academy at West Point Sunday for a tumultuous celebration.

Coach Earl Blaik, whose team came from behind to win on second-half touchdowns by hard-slashing Pat Uebel and Pete Lash, hailed his team at the victory rally for "beating one of the best Navy teams in many, many years." Earlier Blaik had cast a personal vote against any bowls for Army by saying, "I have had enough football for one season."

But Georgia Tech quickly accepted a bid to the Sugar Bowl and Mississippi accepted a berth in the Cotton Bowl after each wound up its regular season with an impressive victory on Saturday. That completed the following lineup for the major bowls on Jan. 2:

Lineup In Bowls

Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.—UCLA vs. Michigan State.

Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla. — Oklahoma vs. Maryland.

Sugar Bowl at New Orleans — Georgia Tech vs. Pittsburgh.

Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Tex. — Texas Christian vs. Mississippi.

The Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., was scheduled to hold a meeting today at which the two teams would be selected. It was believed that three Southeastern Conference teams were the ones from which the choice would be made—Auburn, Tennessee, and Vanderbilt.

The Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., filled one berth with Texas Tech, but did not expect to announce the other for "several days."

But, bowl or not, Army stole the show on the final Saturday of the regular season by its courageous come-from-behind victory over seven-point favorite Navy. The Middies had taken the opening kickoff and driven 76 yards for a touch down on a quarterback sneak by little George Welsh. And the Cadets were thwarted again when time ran out in the first half when they had the ball on the Navy one-yard-line.

Army tied the score in the third period on a 41-yard drive capped by a four-yard smash by Uebel and went ahead on Ralph Chesnauskas' extra point. Lash's 23-yard sprint for a TD in the final period wrapped it up.

Mississippi clinched its second straight Southeastern Conference championship with a 26-0 rout of Mississippi State and finished with a 9-1 record. Texas Christian which already had clinched the other Cotton Bowl berth, made it a battle of champions by taking the Southwest Conference crown with a 20-13 victory over Southern Methodist, also finishing with a 9-1 mark.

Georgia Tech landed the Sugar Bowl berth by ripping Georgia, 21-3, although missing out on the Southeastern Conference title. It will be the fifth straight bowl appearance for the Engineers.

Texas Tech got the Sun Bowl berth along with the Border Conference championship when Arizona State of Tempe, which had been leading the league, lost to Arizona, 7-6.

Southern California didn't get any bowl bid, but it gained sweet revenge when it walloped Notre Dame, 42-20, at Los Angeles.

Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, completed a perfect season with the expected 53-0 victory over Oklahoma A&M.

Oklahoma, Maryland Head Final List Of Unbeaten-Untied

Oklahoma wound up its regular season Saturday with a 53-0 win over Oklahoma A&M to keep the number of perfect record teams at 21. The other 20 schools completed their season's earlier.

Northern (SD) Teachers went undefeated in nine regular - season games but bowed to Kearney (Neb) Teachers, 34-13, Thanksgiving Day in the Botony Bowl game at Shenandoah, Iowa.

Jim Sooy Receives Varsity Letter In Football At Hanover

Jim Sooy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sooy, R 4, received a varsity letter from Hanover College for being on the football team this fall.

Ted Pucher, center and Clyde Severs, tackle, have been named co-captains of the 1956 Hanover College varsity football squad. Both will be seniors next year. Pucher is from Rochester, N.Y., and Severs from LaPorte.

Both players were named as members of the all-Hoosier Conference squad of 1955.

Danny Kile, Batesville, retiring captain, was selected as the Most Valuable player.

Three Notre Dame Players In Shrine Football Game Dec. 31

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Notre Dame, overwhelmed by Southern California Saturday, 42-20, to close the season with an 8-2 record, will have three representatives in the annual East-West Shrine football game in San Francisco Dec. 31.

Irish coach Terry Brennan announced Saturday night fullback Don Schaefer, tackle Ray Lemek and center Jim Mense were selected for the East team.

Brennan also paid tribute to C.R. Roberts and Jon Arnett, who sparked USC to victory. Irish athletic director Ed (Moose) Krause said Notre Dame's defeat was "hardly believable," and added, "we'll be back."

Hog Prices Drop In First Month Of Buying Program

WASHINGTON (UP)— Live hog prices dropped $2.75 a 100 pounds in the first month of the government's program for buying pork products and lard to bolster sagging prices to farmers.

The program was announced Oct. 24. The average price paid farmers that day for barrows and gilts (butcher hogs) on the Chicago market was $13.90. The average for the same kind of hogs on Nov. 23 was $11.15. The previous day the average price was $11.11, the lowest in 14 years.

The government has purchased 10,111,650 pounds of pork products and lard for distribution through the school lunch program and to relief and welfare outlets. The total included 6,871,200 pounds of lard, 1,526,850 pounds of canned pork and gravy, 1425600 pounds of lunch meat and 288,000 pounds of canned ham.

This is just the beginning of the government program to spend about $85,000,000 for about 170,000,000 pounds of pork products and 30,000,000 pounds of lard through next August.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson announced the buying program "to help encourage additional domestic consumption of pork and to assist farmers in adjusting their production to market demand."

The Agricuulture Department on Oct. 28 asked packers and other processors to submit first offers to sell pork products and lard to the government. The Chicago market price jumped to $14.27 a 100 pounds.

The first offers were submitted Nov. 7. The live hog price at Chicago dropped to $13.36.

On Nov. 9, the department announced purchase of 1,915,200 pounds of lard. Benson said at a news conference that day the buying program "already has had some effect on the live hog market situation—both psychologically and pricewise." The Chicago price dropped to $13.01.

The department bought 642,000 pounds of canned pork on Nov. 18, and hogs at Chicago closed at $11.65. The purchase of 4,956,000 pounds of lard on Nov. 22 coincided with a Chicago market price of $11.11 for live animals. They rose to an average og $11.25 at Chicago on Nov. 23, the same day the department purchased 2,598,450 pounds of canned pork.

Reds Bury Cleveland Barons 9-2 Sunday

By UNITED PRESS

The Providence Reds, racking up the goals in precision-like fashion, moved six points in front today in the American Hockey League race.

Paced by Jimmy Barlett, who scored four points on a three-goal "hat trick" and an assist, the Reds buried the Cleveland Barons, 9-2, Sunday to gain their 14th win of the season, only seven less victories than they scored during the entire 1954-55 season.

Ken Davies, Paul Larivee and Zellio Toppazzini also got in on the carnage, scoring three goals and five assists between them. The Barons were out of the game almost from the start. Fred Glover scored their first goal after Providence had taken a 1-0 lead in the opening period and they didn't get their second until Jackie Gordon tallied in the second when the Barons were behind, 4-1.

In the only other game played, the third-place Buffalo Bisons beat the last-place Hershey Bears, 3-1. The win moved the Bisons to within two points of the second-place Pittsburgh Hornets.

Bruce Bosley Is Voted Southern Conference Player Of The Year

RICHMOND, Va. (UP) — The Southern Conference Sportswriters Assn. has voted Bruce Bosley, West Virginia's tremendous 220-pound tackle, as Southern Conference player of the year.

Bosley, a three-time selection on the all-conference team, is the first tackle to win the award since it was set up in 1948. His teammate, quarterback Freddy Wyant, received the honor last year.

Wyant won nomination for the award again this year, as did West Virginia halfback Bobby Moss. Others getting strong support were Virginia Tech co-captains Jack Prater, center, and Dickie Beard halfback and George Washington halfback Mike Sommer.

Bosley's brawn and belligerence were equally effective against running or passing attacks. The 22-year-old senior from Greenbank W. Va., proved mightiest of the Mountaineers in his ability to smash interference and drag down opposing runners.

Early in the season, his rushing of Wake Forest passers made a shambles of the Deacons' potent passing game.

Bosley turned in his top performance in setting up West Virginia's winning touchdown against Penn State. With the score tied 7-7, State had possession on its own 17. Bosley crushed two running plays and a pass attempt. After State punted, he led the interference as the Mountaineers drove to their victory score.

E. E. Glenn Says Don't Let It Happen In Columbia City

Appealing for unanimous support for "S-D Day" —Safe Driving Day, Thursday, December 1— Superintendent of Schools E. E. Glenn declared today:

"If S-D Day can impress upon every citizen of Columbia City the necessity for driving and walking safely 365 days every year, it will be one of the finest things that ever happened to this community."

Superintendent Glenn reminded that children and young people are among the most frequent victims in traffic. He noted:

"Last year in the United States, these accidents killed 1,750 children under 5 years of age, 2,350 between 5 and 14 years, and 7,800 between the ages of 15 and 24. School years are dangerous years.

"Here in Columbia City, there were no deaths last year, and none so far this year among children in our schools.

"So, our own record in protecting our children is good, but we must maintain constant vigilance to make certain that it stays good."

"We in the schools have the duty to instill the essentials of safety in the minds of our elementary school children, and within the limitations of funds and facilities available to us to make it possible for our high school students to have driving lessons, so they'll know how to protect their own lives, and the lives of others. We intend to carry out this duty."

"Like all of us in the schools, parents have a double duty: to teach young people to drive and walk safely; and to drive and walk safely ourselves.

"By all means, let's make S-D Day completely accident free in Columbia City. But, let's not stop with S-D Day. In fact, let's not wait for S-D Day. Let's make a pledge right now that we'll fulfill driving and safe walking every day our personal responsibility for safe driving and safe walking every day and night as long as we live. 'As long as we live' will be longer if we do."

Purebred Breeders Have An Obligation To The Swine Industry

Purebred swine breeders have a duty and an obligation to the swine industry. It is up to them to improve the existing breeds of swine so that the commercial producer can market the type of hog the consumer wants. Litter weight at weaning time can tell us many things about a sow's productivity. Our Gold Medal Swine Testing Project helps to keep a record of these weights. There is an increasing demand on the part of the commercial swine producer for production tested animals. The good progressive breeder will have litter weight information available for his customers. The easiest way to obtain this information and have it official is to join the Gold Medal Swine Testing Project.

If you are a Purebred Swine Breeder and you want to stay in business and fulfill your obligation to the swine industry and your customers, join the Hoosier Gold Medal Swine Testing Project. Enrollment cards are available at the county agent's office.

Truman Denies He Called Nixon Name

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Former President Harry S. Truman disputed today newsmen's reports that he referred to Vice President Richard M. Nixon as "that — –

The 72-year-old former Democratic President issued a flat denial that he called Nixon a vulgar name.

The Los Angeles Examiner said its reporter got the response from Mr. Truman when he arrived here on oilman Edwin W. Pauley's private plane Sunday night.

The Los Angeles Times also carried the same report of the incident and said it would "back the quote" attributed to the ex-President.

Mut Mr. Truman later stated at Pauley's home here that he had stated only that he did not want to discuss the vice president. Pauley, who brought Mr. Truman here in his private plane, backed the fiery ex-President's denial.

health, but also "from his attitude and his interests in what is going on—interest that goes beyond today or tomorrow."

"I am happy to say that all reports about his condition have been confirmed," Hall told newsmen.

"He looks a million per cent. I've never seen him look better."

Predicts Nixon Too

Hall predicted the President will run in 1955 "if he feels able" and that he will defeat the Democratic candidate by a bigger margin than in 1952, when Adlai E. Stevenson carried only nine states.

Hall said he also expects Vice President Richard M. Nixon to be Mr. Eisenhower's running mate again in 1956. He emphasized that this was only his personal opinion.

Hall, who always has been optimistic about prospects for the President's full recovery and his candidacy for a second term, was asked specifically if he felt better about these prospects after today's talk than he did before.

"I feel better about it after the conference then before," he replied.

Hall flew back to Washington after his news conference.

For the record, the meeting was on plans for the Republican National Convention, to open in San Francisco next Aug. 20. But convention plans actually don't mean much until the President discloses whether he will consent to nomination for a second term.

At best Hall was expected to get no more than a hint of how the President feels about that—if in fact he has made up his mind.

Second On List

Hall was second on the President's list of callers. First the President was seeing Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell to talk about "routine business" of the Labor Department.

The President's conference with Hall marked another milestone in his recovery. Mr. Eisenhower — in his own words — has been easing his way back into harness, assuming more and more of the arduous duties of his office. But his work so far has been official, not political.

Politics may be the big news here most of the week.

The President's scheduled callers include both House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr., (Mass) and Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif) who will be here Saturday for separate conferences on the approaching legislative struggle in Congress.

Second Term Question

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he did not expect Hall to discuss with the President whether he now feels able to run for another term.

However, Assistant Press Secretary Murray Snyder, in discussing the conference Sunday, left this question open. He said he did not know if the second term question would be raised.

Some observers speculated that Hall would not ask the question and that the President would not volunteer an answer. It was considered possible, however, that the two party leaders might discuss the timing of whatever announcement the President may want to make.

If Hall were able to draw any inferences about the probable decision from this he wasn't believed likely to pass them along.

Bull Facing Angry Woman Is Coward

LONDON (UP) — Mrs. Jane Boyce found out Sunday that an enraged bull is just a coward at heart when faced by an angry woman.

Mrs. Boyce, 39, rushed to the rescue when she heard the screams of farmer Charles Oliver and saw him losing a battle with the bull. She smashed a walking stick over the animal's head but it broke, so she did the next best thing.

She stared the bull in the eye and firmly told it to leave. The animal pawed the ground uncertainly, and then trotted off. Oliver was not seriously hurt.

Labor Delegates Want Conference To Issue Statement Favoring Federal Aid To Schools

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Labor delegates served notice today they will fight to have the White House Conference on Education issue a strong statement in favor of federal aid to schools.

Their opening gun will be an attempt to change the procedure of the four-day conference to permit floor debate on the federal aid question. Rules for the conference, which opens tonight, now provide for no overall debates or voting.

The conference — the first of its kind — was called by President Eisenhower to cope with problems facing the nation's schools.

About 100 delegates from the CIO, AFL and railroad brotherhoods decided at a strategy session Sunday night to push for a full-fledged debate on federal aid —the hottest issue before the meeting. Some labor delegates charged the session is stacked against federal aid.

Protest Labor Voice

The group also protested labor is inadequately represented.

Conference Chairman Neil McElroy said he does not see how the procedure for the meeting can be changed at this late date.

Under the rules, all discussions will be carried on through 180 round tables of about 10 delegates each. Round table chairmen will meet in a series of progressively smaller panels to distill the views of the 1,800 delegates into a final report to the President.

McElroy said: "We are not gathered here to listen to a series of speeches, to pass resolutions, or to add up votes for or against the various possible solutions of our school problems."

Defends Round Tables

He defended the round tables system as giving every delegate a chance to express his views.

McElroy also warned against overemphasizing the problem of school financing. He said many other important problems face the schools. Finding enough teachers is "perhaps the most stubborn of all," he said.

The labor group voted to hold another strategy session Wednesday night, after the first round table discussion.

The conference will be opened with a filmed message from Mr. Eisenhower and speeches by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and McElroy.

Alpha Iota Chapter of Tri Kappa's float used the theme "Mrs. Santa Claus' Candy Kitchen." Mrs. Santa and her helpers, dressed as elves in red, gave out candy along the line of march. A sign at the back of the truck announced the Holiday Ball of the organization.

Three sets of twins, entrants in the Whitley county contest to find the set of twins most nearly resembling the pictures on this years Tuberculosis Seals rode with their posters in a station wagon driven by Whitley County Tuberculosis Association treasurer Dave Spence. Twins were Charles and Colleen Prowant, Larwill; Samuel and Sandra Brown, South Whitley and Sarah and Billy Wickliffe, Thorncreek school.

The parade was accompanied by the dogs barking a welcome to Santa.

A long line of children extending out into the street and surrounding the house on the courthouse yard were waiting to talk with Santa and make their wants known. Among the first to see Santa were Douglas and Delbert Earl Johnson and Danny Eugene Love who had been waiting with their mothers at the door for over an hour. Other early visitors to Santa were Vicki Lynn Mote, Lewis Walker, Terry Barnes and Kim Burns.

Priest Discloses That His Life Was Threatened

After Bishop Had Excommunicated Two Women From Church

ERATH, La. (UP)—A Roman Catholic priest disclosed today that his life was threatened after a bishop excommunicated two women accused of beating a teacher of an integrated catechism class.

Father A.J. Labbe, pastor of the 2,500-member parish which includes Our Lady of Lourdes Church where the beating incident was reported, said a college student is acting as his bodyguard.

Two women were excommunicated from the Catholic Church—harshest and most feared disciplinary measure imposed on a member—and other parishioners were threatened with similar treatment by Bishop Jules B. Jeanmard of Lafayette.

The orders were nailed to the door of Our Lady of Lourdes Church and read to all Masses Sunday. They threatened other church members with "automatic excommunication if there are any more signs of violence."

Father Labbe said the decree stated that if there are any more signs of violence the church also will be closed.

The order by Jeanmard, for 25 years a bishop who has been cited by Negro parishioners in the past for his "historic, priestly leadership and service," will remain up until ordered down himself. Anyone else removing the decree was threatened with "immediate excommunication."

Guards Ordered To Shoot If Necessary

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—National Guardsmen patrolling riot-torn New Castle were under orders today to protect themselves with gunfire if necessary.

Battalion Commander Maj. John Anderson issued the order Sunday after a car smashed through a roadblock and tried to run down several guardsmen.

Anderson ordered the 90 troopers to fire upon persons who shoot at them, endanger their lives, or fire at their homes. Road barricades were also bolstered and the number of vehicles patrolling the area was increased.

The guardsmen have been a fixture of New Castle life since nine persons were wounded Oct. 5 in a gun-battle at the strikebound Perfect Circle Corp. foundry. The troopers were withdrawn for a while, but were ordered back into the city after a few flareups of violence.

In Chicago, meanwhile, federal mediators reported no progress in talks between representatives of the company and of the striking CIO United Auto Workers. The UAW members walked out at the plant last July and negotiations have stalled over demands for a union shop.

Dulles Appeals For Bipartisan Cooperation On Foreign Policy

By DONALD J.J GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles appealed to both Republicans and Democrats today to keep foreign policy out of the 1956 election campaign because of the aid "a domestic political battle" would give to America's enemies.

"Those hostile to the United States and its ideals are not going to take a vacation so that we can here safely concentrate on a domestic political battle," Dulles told a news conference.

Dulles said only "peril" could flow from "careless or uninformed indulgence in partisan excesses" during the coming campaign. He which could provide Russia and the Communist world with unusual opportunities for gain.

Welcomes Constructive Debate

Dulles said there undoubtedly will be debate on foreign policy. He said this debate is wecome so long as it is constructive and conducted in a way that will not endanger the nation.

Dulles thus added his voice to that of President Eisenhower, who appealed Saturday for bipartisanship in foreign policy.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Monday that Democrats would be happy to join in a "truce" but said the Republicans should first stop "exploiting" foreign policy by making a major political issue out of the claim that the Eisenhower administration has achieved peace.

Dulles appealed for "the same bipartisan unity which in the past has given authority, vitality and much success to our foreign policies."

Dulles refused to criticize any democrat for foreign policy attacks. He insisted he will not be drawn into political wrangling during the campaign. But he left the

Santa Claus Hears Youngsters' Wishes

"Do your Christmas shopping early," was Santa's advice to three of the small fry who "ordered" baby brothers or sisters when they visited St. Nicholas' headquarters late Saturday following the welcoming parade for the jolly old gentleman.

Santa explained to the children (believing there were some put-up jobs by certain parents whom he knew well) that to fill a Christmas order for little brothers or sisters, the order should be placed earlier.

That Certain Doll

Santa discovered the favorite on little girls' wish-lists. This is the "Tiny Tears" doll. Some 40-odd Little Misses made particular requests for "Tiny Tears."

The small boys, even those who have somewhat recently graduated from the creeping and crawling stage to walking, seem to want to get on wheels as soon as possible. They were voting quite unanimously for bicycles — if possible, the two-wheel kind.

Politeness Personified

But the one child who will always be remembered by Santa was through his courtesy and politeness.

This little boy, about six years old, is of obvious Latin descent, and has two smaller sisters. He entered Santa's headquarters to introduce himself to St. Nick, then formally presented each of his smaller sisters to Santa.

Each explained his Christmas wishes, and the little boy added, "These girls have been GOOD little girls, Santa."

The politeness of the little Latins was a sharp contrast to the boisterous greeting Santa received from some of the other local children.

The trooping children who visited the Santa headquarters were not timid in meeting St. Nick, except for two or three.

Santa gave this advice to fathers:

"If you wish to spend an enjoyable afternoon or evening, officiate as Santa Claus."

Russia Offers To Stop Testing Nuclear Weapons

If Other Powers Agree To Do Same

LONDON (UP)—Russia offered today to discontinue testing nuclear weapons "right here and now if the other powers possessing such weapons agree to do the same."

The offer was made in an English language broadcast by Radio Moscow beamed to North America It followed the recent explosion in the Soviet Union of its "biggest ever" nuclear device.

"We can not discontinue the production and testing of nuclear weapons so long as both the U.S.A. and Britain manufacture such weapons and test them," the broadcast said.

The proposals which the Soviets have put before the United Nations call for a total ban on nuclear weapons and their removal from national arms stockpiles.

WASHINGTON (UP)—American officias today dismissed as "more propaganda" Russia's offer to stop testing A-bombs and H-bombs if other atomic powers quit too.

Officials here said the Soviet offer is undoubtedly designed to counteract the bad world reaction which has followed Russia's recent explosion of its biggest H-bomb.

Scientists in Japan and Europe reported today that radioactivity in the atmosphere had been increased—although not dangerously —by atomic explosions presumably originating in the Soviet Union.

Egypt And Syria Ready To Launch War Of Liberation

Against Israel When' Public Opinion Demands

DAMASCUS, Syria (UP) — The commander of the joint Egyptian and Syrian military forces said today that both nations are ready to "launch a war of liberation against Israel whenever public opinion of both countries demands it."

Egyptian Gen. Abdul Hakim Amer, commander in chief of Syrian and Egyptian forces joined together in a recent military agreement, said at a press conference that the forces of both nations are ufficient "to strike down any full scale Israeli aggression on either country."

He said that the combined armies would retaliate with force if Israel should make a "violent attempt" to challenge Egypt's blockade on the Jewish port of Eilat on the Gulf of Aquaba.

Meanwhile, 10,000 demonstrators swarmed through the streets of Damascus shouting anti - Western and anti-Israel slogans.

Police threw up heavy guards outside the American, British, French and Turkish embassies.

Other police dispersed the mob without incident but similar demonstrations broke out elsewhere in Syria.

The demonstrations were called against the partition of Palestine and the creation of the Jewish state of Israel eight years ago

The demonstrations also marked the 17th anniversary of Syria's loss of the province of Alexandretta to Turkey.

More than 75,000 students poured out of schools and paraded in the main streets of Syria's biggest cities according to reports reaching the ministry of interior.

In Damascus itself, mobs raced through the streets shouting "Down with Western colonialism" and carrying the signs blaming the United States and Britain for "forcing" the establishment of Israel in the middle of the Arab world.

Conference Gets Down To Work On Education

Mindful Of Advice Of President Eisenhower

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House conference on education began work on the nation's school problems today mindful of President Eisenhower's advice against leaning too heavily on the federal government.

The President told the 1,800 delegates Monday night that local communities bear the primary responsibility for building much-needed schools but the federal government should help where necessary.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon added that some additional federal assistance is "inevitable and necessary." But he warned that any government aid program which would reduce local and state contributions "would be a tragic mistake." Any federal aid should encourage more, not less, state and local responsibility, he said.

Nixon declared that, with few exceptions, teachers' salaries are "nothing short of a national disgrace" and could "lead to a national disaster" unless raises are provided.

The President's filmed message and Nixon's speech were presented at the opeinng session of the four-day meeting on urgent problems facing the nation's schools.

Delegates, serving as "advisers to the President," divide into 180 round tables today to tackle three of the six topics on their agenda.

Mrs. Edmunud D. Campbell, an Arlington, Va., housewife moved Monday night to put resolutions before the entire conference for a vote. But action was postponed on the motion.

Officials from Mr. Eisenhower down have defended the round table method of recording the delegates' views.

The President expressed confidence that the conference will come up with specific solutions "good for the nation as a whole" and will reject "crackpot ideas."

Today's agenda deals with what schools should accomplish, how to organize school systems more efficiently, and school building needs.

The crucial questions of how to get enough teachers and how to pay for schools come up Wednesday.

Chosen To Manage Bicycle Race At I.U.

Miss Margaret Jenkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Jenkinson of Round Lake, has been chosen along with other Indiana University students to manage the sixth annual "Little 500" Bicycle Race in May at Indiana University.

There were 109 scholarships, each valued at $100, given from the race last spring. Since the event was inaugurated, $43,900 has been earned in gate receipts and concession profits to "Help Those Who Help Themselves."

Miss Jenkinson will graduate from I.U. in the spring getting her degree in English and Journalism Education. She is at the present time doing her practice teaching at South Side high school in Fort Wayne.

First Child Born To The LeRoy Hawns

Premier Faure Faces His Most Crucial Test

Since He Took Office Feb. 23

By WILBUR LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure faced his most crucial test in the chamber of deputies today since he took office last Feb. 23. Politicians and newspapers predicted his government would be voted out of office before nightfall.

A political miracle appeared necessary to save him in his sixth confidence vote in seven weeks. The Communists, who enabled him to scrape through his last two votes, turned their backs on Faure

Faure demanded that the assembly approve nationwide elections months before its term runs out in June. All indications were it would refuse and that President Rene Coty would face the difficult task of selecting France's 22nd premier since the end of World War II.

Confidence Vote Demanded

The National Assembly hoped to cause Faure's downfall on a general debate on government policies. But he damanded the vote of confidence on the election issue to embarrass the politicians.

Faure tried at first to have general elections in December but in the face of strong opposition called for elections on March 4 and 11.

Faure openly hinted that he ex-

Big Cold Wave Of Season Covers Most Of Nation

Shoves Icebox Weather Deep Into Southland

By UNITED PRESS

The biggest cold wave of the season sprawled across three quarters of the nation today and shoved icebox weather deep into the Southland.

There was no stopping the Arctic front as it moved into the Gulf and Atlantic states. Temperatures were below 20 degrees along the Middle Atlantic coast and were in the frigid 20's in some Gulf states.

It was much colder in the Midlands and West. Temperatures were expected to hit zero in northern Michigan today and were under the 10-degree mark in much of Ohio. At Glasgow, Mont., it was 25 below zero early today and the mercury didn't get above eight below at Minot, N.D., Monday.

Northern Michigan's copper county measured nine inches of snow since Sunday. Every available piece of snow plow equipment was called out and hundreds of cars were stalled and temporarily abandoned.

Winds Cause Trouble

The winds, meanwhile, gave airline passengers a scare in Rockford, Ill., and robbed a Detroit thief of a good portion of his loot.

At Rockford, a 20-mile-per-hour wind gust toppled an Ozark Airlines DC3 onto its nose moments after it landed on a flight from Milwaukee, Wis., to St. Louis Monday night. Both propellors were badly bent, but the three crew members and three passengers escaped injury.

Another wind gust spelled trouble or a knife-wielding Detroit bandit as he sped from a grocery store with $256 clutched in his first. The wind whisked the money away and the bandit had to compete with a store clerk and a passerby in a wild scramble to pick it up. He finally got away with only $178.

New Furnaces Needed

The weather caused more troubles at Columbus, Ohio, where zoo Director Earl Davis said he needs $5,200 worth of new furnaces or the lives of $55,000 worth of animals will be endangered. He feared particularly that the cold weather would be too much for two baby elephants and that the zoo's ostriches would catch pneumonia.

In the Pittsburgh, Pa., area, meanwhile, the icy weather was blamed for three fatal heart attacks. Chicago authorities reported that two more persons had died of heart attacks because of the weather.

A freak pocket of warm air spared the Chicago area from more near-zero temperatures. In southern New Mexico, however, temperatures were expected to drop five to 15 degrees more.

Local Insurance Agents Receive Trophy At State Meet

Fire Destroys Ed Miller Home; Save Barn, Sheds

Overfiring Believed Cause; Owner At Barn When Fire Started

Fire destroyed the two-story frame farmhouse owned by Ed Miller late Monday afternoon though valiant efforts were made by the Larwill fire department to save the structure.

The only household article saved from the flaming home was a 20 cubic foot deepfreeze.

Loss is believed upwards of $8,000 to $10,000.

Mr. Miller, who had been working in his barn about 80 feet northwest of the house, discovered the home in flames about 5 p.m. Due to the headway which the blaze had gained while he was in the other building, cause of the fire could not be determined, but overfiring of wood and coal burning stoves was suspected. This or defective chimney might have started the blaze.

The firemen, who were summoned immediately, could do little except to protect the other farm buildings from sparks which might ignite them. A strong southeast wind fanned the blaze in the bitter cold. Temperatures were just a few degrees above zero.

The barn, northwest of the house, also a tool shed, 30 feet straight north of the home, and a chicken house, about 30 feet away, were kept from burning. Firemen remained at the Miller farm until 7:45 p.m. to assure themselves and the owner that the buildings would remain safe.

The Larwill fire department used both its trucks. These alternated in carrying tanks of water from Larwill to the Miller farm. Each truck is equipped with a pumper.

The Miller place is one mile east and 3 miles north of Larwill.

Ends Violence Which Brought National Guard

No Indication Now When Strikers Will Return To Their Jobs

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)CIO United Auto Workers at the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry voted by a narrow margin today to end their bloody four-month strike which brought National Guard troops and tanks to this city twice in seven weeks.

The vote was 86 to 72. It came on a secret ballot after a closed door meeting lasting nearly two and one-half hours.

There was no indication immediately when the strikers would go back to their jobs.

Emil Mazey, UAW international secretary, told newsmen after the meeting, which was called to ratify a two-year agreement reached in Chicago Monday, that the union would "do all we can to put the community back together again."

He referred to violence and bloodshed which occurred since the strike started last July 25 and brought a declaratioin of martial law after an Oct. 5 gun battle between strikers and non-strikers who kept the foundry operating during the walkout.

Leaders of the striking CIO United Auto Workers urged acceptance of the settlement, which grants a 10-cent hourly wage increase but does not include the strikers' demand for a union shop.

The negotiators "compromised" the issue of the reinstatement of 35 strikers discharged for alleged acts of violence. The company agreed to take back 20 of the men immediately, reinstate 8 others after 30-day suspensions, and submit the cases of the remaining 7 to arbitration.

Another Hike in 1956

Other company concessions included the granting of an additional 7-cent hourly raise on July 1, 1956. The 10-cent boost already had been in effect for non-strikers.

Bitterness in the strike against the piston ring plant had mounted steadily until it erupted into a two-hour pitched gun battle Oct. 5 between strikers and non-strikers.

Nine persons were wounded and

Drive Defensively And You Can Promote Accident-Free Driving

The first day of December will be observed throughout the nation as S-D Day. That's the "Safe-Driving" Day when every community in the United States, including our own will do its best to go 24 hours without a serious traffic accident.

The Whitley County Insurance Agents Association suggests, "Every driver should drive defensively. The average car owner may never have heard of defensive driving, but it's a well-known term to those professional drivers who rack up thousands of miles of accident-free driving each year.

"The defensive driver acts as though he is always under attack. His enemies are careless motorists, careless pedestrians and unsafe traffic conditions. The defensive driver makes allowance for these highway culprits. He avoids accidents by anticipating and allowing for the hazards created by the unsafe acts of others and by adverse traffic and weather conditions."

Every driver should check himself to see whether he is driving defensively. A defensive driver can answer "yes" to all of the following questions:

Do you drive so that you are never surprised by the actions of other motorists or pedestrians?

At intersections do you look for approaching traffic even though you have the right-of-way?

Do you frequently check your rear-view mirror to see what is happening behind you?

Do you watch out for pedestrians even though they may fail to heed sane safety rules?

Do you keep a sharp eye out for oncoming cars that might suddenly make left turns in front of you?

On slippery pavement do you check your breaking to see how much traction you have in case you must make an emergency stop?

When driving in rural areas, are you on the lookout for slow-moving farm tractors or machinery on the highway?

Are you aware that a farmer's livestock may be crossing the highway or a stray cow may be on the road?

In short, you are a defensive driver, insurance men say, when you drive for the other fellow as well as for yourself. On S-D Day and every other day of the year, be your brother's keeper by driving safely and doing your part to stop accidents, they ask.

Police Seek Thieves With Itching Hands

PONTIAC, Mich. (UP)— Police looked today for a truck with greenish-gray spots and a gang of thieves with itching hands.

Do We Deck Halls So Early Mistletoe Gets Mixed With Thanksgiving Cranberry Sauce

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Do Americans deck their halls with boughs of holly so early their Christmas mistletoe gets mixed up with their Thanksgiving cranberry sauce?

Some critics of early Christmas "commercialism" fear Santa Claus may win the costume prize at the next Halloween masquerade party. But others say advertisers who spring the Yuletide season weeks ahead of time are simply giving the public what it wants.

The Rev. Robert B. Pierce, pastor of the Broadway Methodist Church here, said Dec. 25 becomes "a kind of anti-climax" after long weeks of advertising and store displays.

"In our time we've gotten to the place where Christmas has become a burden rather than a glad affair," he said. "There are a lot of people who are glad when Christmas is over."

"I resent the fact all the emphasis is on Christmas and I haven't gotten through Thanksgiving yet," Pierce said. He complained of a "Christmas jingle' on the radio "ever since the end of summer."

But a sales promotion manager for one of Indiana's largest department stores, who asked to remain anonymous, said it's all up to the public.

Wholesalers Get Blame

"Your wish is our command," he said. "If the public says they want this Christmas stuff in November we've got to give it to them. If we don't they'll find somebody who will."

This businessman also pointed out stores must buy goods at the time wholesalers offer them, and if stores waited until later in the season all the good merchandise would be gone.

"You can't present leftovers to the public," he said.

The Rev. J.M. Horton, former executive secretary of the Indiana Baptist Convention, has "always been opposed to commercializing Christmas and Easter."

"I think we weaken ourselves and our nation when we put it on any other basis than a spiritual basis," Horton said. "I've always tried to avoid an anti-climax. I think the buildup should be to the point where we get the most joy out of it."

"It's just like in athletics," Horton said. "You get a team to the peak, and if they pass the peak you lose."

Delay on Advertising

George Diener, who runs an advertising and public relations agency when he isn't speaker of the Indiana House, said it was his firm's "policy" to put off Christmas advertising "until at least after Thanksgiving.'

"That's what we attempt to encourage our clients to approve," Diener said. "Of course we have to abide by our clients' final decision.

Diener admitted there is "a heck of a long time" between Thanksgiving and Dec. 25, but "with the advent of layaway sales a lot of people do their Christmas shopping early."

Neither of the ministers suggested doing away with Christmas "commercialism" entirely, but they said it should wait until after the cranberry sauce. Diener agreed. The department store official said "as far as I can recall it always started just about Thanksgiving."

"It all boils down to what the public wants to do," he said. "We can push it 'til our ears fall off but if the public doesn't want it they won't buy it.

Grandstaff Fined And Sentenced

Pleading guilty in circuit court Tuesday to a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor, Peter B. Grandstaff, 23, local service station attendant, was fined $50 and costs by Judge Lowell Pefley and sentenced to a 6-month penal farm term.

All but 20 days of the term was suspended, however, during his good behavior. This is to be served at the county jail.

Grandstaff's license to drive was ordered suspended for a period of one year.

Going, Going, Gone

NEWMARKET, England (UP)— Horse trainer Dick Peacock heard the auctioneer at the New Market bloodstock sales announce:

"Mrs. Peacock at 10 guineas. Any advance?"

Peacock looked around frantically for his wife but it was too late. Mrs. Peacock was "going, going, gone" for 84 pounds (about $235).

Peacock calmed down when he learned "Mrs. Peacock" was a three-year-old horse owned by Miss Dorothy Paget.

LONDON (UP)—The Kremlin is grooming Czechoslovakia as a spearhead of its new infiltration offensive in the Middle East and Southeast Asia, Soviet policy experts said here today.

Czechoslovakia, which was used to cover up the Communist arms deal with Egypt last month, has been selected to make it possible for Russia to approach under-developed nations ranging from Afghanistan to Assam on the Red Chinese border.

A Czech trade mission is now in Cairo. Another headed by a deputy minister has arrived in Assam. An Afghan mission has been invited to Prague, preceding the visit next month to Kabul by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party chief Nikita Khrushchev.

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UP) —The U.S. Army plans to spend $420,000 to build eight golf courses for American personnel in France and Germany but without using the taxpayers' money.

An Army spokesman said the financing will be done "entirely" from non-appropriated funds, principally profits made by the Army post exchange system in Europe.

TUNIS, Tunisia (UP)—A British naval squadron steamed out of Tunisian waters early today after a short good will visit which misfired.

The ships had been in Bizerta since Saturday. But Tunisian authorities held no celebrations in their honor because of Britain's vote in Rome last week against Tuunisian admission to the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

SANTIAGO, Chile (UP)—President Carlos Ibanez and Assistant U.S. Secretary of State Henry F. Holland conferred privately Monday. They were believed to have reviewed Chile's most pressing economic problems.

QUITO, Ecuador (UP)—A teenage student was killed and four others were wounded Monday when police fired on striking youths who had taken over the Juan Montalvo normal school.

Police dispersed the students with rifle fire and tear gas bombs. The government ordered the normal school and two other struck schools closed temporarily. The trouble started last week over the resignation of a rector and removal of several teachers.

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — Gen. Eduardo Lonardi, head of the revolution that overthrew dictator Juan D. Peron, was scheduled to leave today for the United States for medical treatment.

Lonardi proclaimed himself "provisional president" on Sept. 20. On Nov. 13, he was ousted by an army coup and replaced by Gen. Pedro E. Aramburu, the present provisional president.

His Demands

Lesson for December 4, 1955

CHRISTIAN living is not a matter of vague general good will. A character in a movie remarked: "I'm not a mean man. If I heard that my neighbor's children had been eaten by wolves, I would feel some regret." Well, of course that didn't make him a Christian. (He turned out to be the villain, by the way.) But there seems to be a number of church members and others who think that being a Christian calls for nothing more than being generally at peace with the world . . . like a turnip. Being a Christian is a far more demanding thing. And the demands are Christ's demands. He is not a trademark, a portrait of a Founder beaming on us benevolently from the wall. He is the living Christ, Son of Man and Son of God. He makes demands on his disciples, and he has a right to make them.

Dr. Foreman

Discipleship

Those who were closest to Jesus in Galilee, those with whom he took the greatest pains, were called Disciples. Now the least that "disciple" can mean is "learner." The first demand that Christ makes on us who would call ourselves Christians, the demand preliminary to all others, is that we learn of him. We never should assume that we know all about Jesus—his character, his teaching, his purpose. It is a sobering question: How much of our behavior, our attitudes, our thinking in various fields, our relationships with other people — how much of this did we learn from Jesus, and how much did we copy from other persons, and how much is our own invention?

Decision

Another demand Christ makes of us is decision. This in three ways: decision for him, decision about him, decision with him. It is specially these last two that are highlighted in this week's passages from Luke. The decision for Christ is the point at which one begins to be a disciple. But besides learning, the Christian disciple has to decide, and act accordingly, about some questions that affect him vitally. One is the decision about Christ which Jesus pushed on his disciples. "Who do you say that I am?" Jesus put this question only after they had been disciples for some time. (Why?) But it can be answered at any time, and it must be answered some time, if we have any title to the name "Christian." How seriously do we take Jesus Christ? That depends on what answer we give to his question: What do we think of him? Who and what is he? The more fully we know his importance, the more seriously we shall take him. Is he a dreamer, a poet, an impractical idealist? Is he a child of his age, important then, but now such a man as we can safely neglect? Is he a noble thinker, a stirring leader of men? Or is he, as Peter dared to believe, the Son of the living God? Does he come to us with the authority of one man's opinion, or does he speak as an ancient sage, or does he speak with the wisdom of the Almighty? He demands a decision.

Denial of Self

Now if we have answered the first two demands, for discipleship and for decision, we may be ready for the third demand. (This is the decision with him, spoken of just now.) We shall pay very little attention to this if we have not rightly met the other two. If we are not true learners we shall not even hear this, or we shall misunderstand it. If we think less of Christ than we ought to think, then this demand will seem egotistic, unreasonable, suicidal. It is only the Son of God who has the right to make such a demand. It is for nothing less than denial of self. There is a cheap substitute for this which is sometimes mistaken for it. It is called "self-denial" and may mean no more than going without ice cream for a while, doing without some luxury or other. Denial of self is something different entirely. Jesus puts it in terms of a crucifixion. To take up a cross was to be already on the last mile. To deny the self means to cease being one's own center-of-the-universe. It means "love thyself last." It means dying to oneself, as Paul put it, and living to God. It means "Not I, but Christ, liveth in me."

Hottest TV Battle Of Season Between Berle, Phil Silvers

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Television's hottest battle of the season is the Tuesday night competition between Milton Berle and Phil Silvers. The rivalry already has landed Uncle Miltie in the hospital.

Last year CBS' Ed Sullivan and NBC's Comedy Hour fought to the death for Sunday night top rating. Sullivan emerged victorious. The Comedy Hour has given up the ghost and expires Dec. 25.

Now the Berle-Silvers war is the new fracas on TV row. Silvers will win by default tonight becausue Berle was rushed to the hospital Monday suffering from "extreme exhaustion" from the strain of trying to oust his rival in the rating this week.

Before Miltie collapsed I looked in on his rehearsal to see how the old master of TV was plotting his attack, or defense, depending upon how you looked at it. At the time he looked tired, but he insisted he wasn't worried.

"I don't have to prove anything to the audience," Berle declared then.

"I've done 397 live shows. I have a lifetime contract with NBC."

Been Working Harder

His co-workers, however, said he had been rehearsing harder than usual in an effort to nose out Silvers' "You'll Never Get Rich" on rival CBS. In Berle's place tonight viewers will see guest stars Gale Storm, Vic Damone, Dick Contino and a fim of an old Berle show with Tallulah Bankhead and Frank Sinatra.

What's New In Washington

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — What's new in Washington:

The Smithsonian Institution has received a collection of mementoes of the administration of President James K. Polk. It came from the Polk Memorial Assn. of Nashville, Tenn. Among the items are a white lace fan owned and used by Mrs. Polk and a pair of eye-glasses with pewter frames once worn by the 11th President of the United States.

The Pentagon is happy to report that at The Presidio in San Francisco, Calif., it has a WAC on the payroll who is a great-grandma. She is Sgt 1.C. Phoebe Rumley of Comers, Mont., who is still unuder 60. The sergeant was a grandmother when she was only 37.

In the Capitol, the electric indicators over the elevators were marked: "SB" for subway, "MF" for main floor, "F" for the floor of the chamber; and "G" for gallery. That has been changed while Congress has been prowling. The new signs read: "B" for basement, "G" for ground floor, "F" for the chambers and "P for the gallery floor, but dont ask me why.

The time came this week to go through the desk of the late Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators. The likeable old fellow who died recently collected souveniers. Among the things he left behind was a rabbit's foot attached to a tiny gold chain. It contained a St. Christopher's medal. Mrs. John Doud, mother-in-law of President Eisenhower, had given it to him.

Icy Highways And Blinding Snowstorms Soar Death Toll

By UNITED PRESS

Icy highways and blinding snowstorms helped send Indiana's 1955 traffic death toll soaring to about 1,020 today.

But the weather didn't increase the pace of highway deaths beyond the toll which could be expected under normal conditions.

The weekend toll was relatively light. Only four deaths were reported.

Four more occurred Monday, however, as weather worsened and created new driving hazards.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schluttenhoefer and their 3-year-old daughter figured in an accident not far from their home at Kentland. The couple was killed in U.S. 52 near Fowler when their car collided with a truck during a snowstorm. The child was injured.

Bernard Heckle, 19, Tell City, was killed when his automobile was hit by a Southern Railroad freight train near his home.

Embia Samuels, 61, Chicago, was injured fatally in U.S. 12 near Michigan City when two cars collided.

pected the confidence vote to end his regime. When one of his constituents praised his work thus far, Faure replied: "It isn't customary for the corpse to reply to a funeral oration."

Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, a member of the same Radical Socialist Party but an implacable enemy, was leaving for the United States for a lecture tour and probably would not have time to cast his ballot against Faure.

Former Premier In Line

Even before the vote there was speculation that Coty would nominate a country doctor, Henri Queille, a former premier, to try to form a new government.

Faure demanded early elections because he could not get the present divided assembly to make needed decisions on the major problems facing France at home and abroad. He also wanted the elections held before his arch-rival, Mendes-France, could get is own campaign rolling for a left-of-center government coalition.

Mendes-France wanted to wait until June. He also wanted a change in the complicated election laws that would favor his own campaign.

The question over when the elections should be held then bogged down in an equally bitter dispute over how they should be held. Everyone agreed that the electoral system must be changed, but each of the score of parties in France wanted a different electoral system.

Burns Fatal To 6-Year-Old Boy

ANGOLA, Ind. (UP) — Gregory Powell, 6, son of the Glenn Powells of near Angola, died late Monday of third degree burns suffered when he set fire to his clothes while his parents were at work.

Police said the youngster was playing with two brothers and sisters, aged 4 to 11, when he struck a match and ignited his clothes. His father, a truck driver, and his mother, a waitress, were away at the time.

When the mother arrived home, she found Gregory with his clothing nearly burned off. Authorities said the children had been playing with kerosene also, and some of the kerosene had spilled on their clothes.

Dr. Norman A. Rausch, Steuben County coroner, indicated he would rule the death accidental.

Benches Reserved In Mennonite Church For Those At A Distance At Kreider Open House

Seven benches were reserved in the little Mennonite Church near Sterling, Ill., for those who had come from a distance to attend the open house held Sunday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. John Kreider of Sterling, worshipers in that church for many years.

Mrs. Kreider is the former Jennie Keiser of Whitley county, who was married to Mr. Kreider, at the Methodist parsonage in this city, November 27, 50 years ago. Mrs. Fannie Dowell, sister of the bride and her husband, the late Elmer Dowell, were the only witnesses to the ceremony.

The relatives from here were supper guests at the Kreider home on Saturday evening and had breakfast Sunday morning, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kauger, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kreider who live next door to the Kreiders. On Sunday they were guests at dinner when 60 people were entertained at the Kreider home, after the morning service of the church. The open house was held in the afternoon at the YMCA at Sterling.

Two hundred and five people were registered at the open house. Among the guests were those from Indiana, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Canada.

Those attending the affair from this city were Mr. and Mrs. John Keiser, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keiser, Miss Marjorie Keiser, Mr. and Mrs. Talbert Parkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Smith.

Oklahoma Is Chosen 1955 National Football Champion By United Press Board Of Coaches

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Oklahoma's slick Sooners, who exploited speed, savy and spirit for a perfect record and a berth in the Orange Bowl, were chosen the 1955 national college football champion today by the United Press Board of Coaches.

In the final balloting of the season, 24 of the 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board picked Oklahoma best in the land. On a point basis, the Sooners received 323 out of a possible 350 for a 14-point margin over Rose Bowl-bound Michigan State.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's split-T powerhouse, which averaged 36.5 points in 10 games for the highest scoring record among major college teams, was voted the nation's No. 1 team for the second time in the past six seasons.

The coaches — the men who know the game the best — ranked Michigan State, Maryland, UCLA and Texas Christian in order behind Oklahoma. Ohio State, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, Mississippi and Auburn rounded out the top 10 teams.

Seven For Michigan State

Michigan State was the No. 1 choice of seven coaches, while Maryland and UCLA each was picked by two. Of the 11 coaches who did not vote Oklahoma tops, six picked the Sooners second, one third, two fourth, one seventh and one eighth.

The Orange and the Rose bowls thus corraled the nation's top four teams. Oklahoma and Maryland, the only undefeated and untied teams in the major college ranks, collide in the Orange Bowl, while Michigan State and UCLA meet in the Rose Bowl.

The Cotton Bowl also will present an attraction between two teams in the top 10, with fifth-ranked Texas Christian pitted against ninth-ranked Mississippi. Georgia Tech (rated seventh) meets Pittsburgh (rated 11th) in the Sugar Bowl.

With points distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to 10th place, here is how the top 10 was aligned: Oklahoma, 323; Michigan State, 309; Maryland, 270; UCLA, 253; Texas Christian, 165; Ohio State, 148; Georgia Tech, 144; Notre Dame, 67; Mississippi, 62; Auburn, 57.

Eighth Year For Crown

Oklahoma was not a heavy weight team by big-time football standards, but it more than made up for that by its overall speed and the sound football and tremendous desire perenially instilled by popular Wilkinson. During thier perfect - record campaign, the Sooners won the Big Seven crown for the eighth year in a row under Wilkinson, extended their victory string to 29 games, and brought to 105 the number of consecutive games in which they have scored.

The Sooners started the season slowly, with a 13-6 victory over North Carolina. But they gathered momentum the following week with a 26-14 triumph over Pitt, and then successively trounced Texas, Kansas, Colorado, Kansas State, Missouri, Iowa State, Nebraska and Oklahoma A & M.

Pitt topped the second 10 group followed in order by Southern California, Michigan and Texas A & M. Army and Duke were tied for 15th, trailed by West Virginia, Miami (Fla.) and Iowa. Navy was tied with Stanford and Miami (Ohio) for 20th place. Tennessee and Kentucky tied for 23rd.

Johnson Scores TKO Over McNeece

NEW YORK (UP)—Tony Johnson, back on the victory trail at last with a technical knockout over Wildcat Billy McNeece, found himself today in the happy position of being able to consider a couple of offers for his future services.

Johnson, appearing for only the fourth time in a year that has seen him dogged by hard luck and defeat, stopped McNeece at 2:06 of the eighth round of their widely-televised clash Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena.

Joey Reade, manager of the New York battler, said that Johnson immediately received an offer from the International Boxing Club for a bout with either Joey Rowan or Chuck Speiser. But Reade said, "the London Sporting Club has first call on Tony."

The London club promoted Monday night's bout.

McNeece, who weighed 171½ pounds to Johnson's 174, entered the ring a 7½ to 5 favorite for their return bout. And he opened a gash alongside Johnson's right eye in the second round. The wound trickled blood for the remainder of the fight.

But Johnson sent McNeece reeling in the fourth round and Wildcat Billy's left eye started to close. McNeece rallied and won the fifth, but Johnson came on to win the sixth and seventh.

At the one-minute mark of the eighth, Johnson staggered McNeece with a hard right to the chin. McNeece sagged against the ropes and Johnson belted him freely until Referee Barney Felix stopped the bout.

Before the announcer could get to the microphone to announce the outcome, a happy Johnson fan leaped into the ring and, attempting to hug Tony, knocked him on his back.

It was Johnson's 23rd victory in 37 professional fights and McNeece's fourth loss in 18 bouts.

Safe-Driving Day Comes to Utopia

By Betty Skelton, Dodge Test Driver

Think what a pleasant day it would be if every American seriously observed Safe Driving Day on December 1! It's a day President Eisenhower has called upon all of us to observe.

Let's imagine an ideal community where each citizen determines that no accidents will occur on S-D Day.

It's 6 a.m. on S-D morning, and already there are signs of activity in this Utopia, although at this hour on ordinary days, most residents are still sleeping.

But the conscientious citizens of Utopia are rising early today because they plan driving to work the safe way — without mishap or hurry.

Miss Skelton

After relaxing over a second Utopian cup of coffee, workers move leisurely to their cars. They still have plenty of time for getting to work, so they take a moment to use extra caution as they back out of their driveways.

Drivers Feel Calm

They proceed down thoroughfares leading to factories and offices, calm and composed after hearty, unhurried breakfasts.

They drive courteously, observing posted speed limits and staying within their traffic lanes.

About midway in their easy trip to work this morning, Utopians make a discovery. They are making better time than ever before!

Searching for a solution to this paradoxical situation, S-D-Day motorists realize that traffic is flowing along without stops for red lights. Utopia's traffic lights are synchronized with speed limits, and green lights greet the law-observing motorists as they reach busy intersections.

With no weaving in and out of lanes, Utopians aren't jamming on brakes to avoid crazy drivers today. No rear-end collisions are holding up lines of automobiles and creating traffic jams.

Hundreds of citizens drive their cars into dealerships for safety checks.

Housewives Find Time to Shop

Housewives do extra shopping after finding the trip to the store takes less time than usual, permitting more time to do a little bargain-hunting.

Later on, as school is letting out, a little boy thoughtlessly runs into the street from between parked cars as a car is approaching. But the safety-conscious motorist is watching for kids as he drives slowly down the residential street. He stops and reminds the child to cross at the corner in the future.

Crime takes a holiday, for on S-D Day no crook wants to pull a job. He could never drive safely while making a fast get-away.

There is little intemperance on this ideal day, because citizens know the dangers of drunk driving.

And on the day following, Utopian motorists feel a sense of pride and personal worth. For they learn that their courteous and safe driving practices accomplished an important goal. There were no accidents on S-D Day.

America's most famous woman driver, Miss Skelton holds the woman's automotive speed record of 143.44 mph, and is the only woman test driver in the automotive industry. Address any questions or suggestions about cars, safety, and driving problems to her in care of this newspaper.

Bob Pettit Bids To Take Over As NBA Top Player

NEW YORK (UP)—Lanky Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, playing only his second year in the pro ranks, is bidding to take over as the National Basketball Association's dominant player as the top scorer and rebounder.

Pettit is firing points through the hoop at the rate of 23.6 per game, weekly NBA statistics disclosed today.

And Big Bob took over as the top rebound ace with a total of 167 rebounds to 163 for huge Clyde Lovellette of the Minneapolis Lakers, although Lovelette has played in three more games.

Lovellette remains the leading scorer for the third straight week with a total of 246 points. He's followed by Paul Arizin of Philadelphia with 233, defending scoring champ Neil Johnston of Philadelphia with 219, Pettit with 212, and George Yardley of Fort Wayne with 203.

On a basis of average points per game Pettit leads with his 23.6 average, followed in order by Arizin with 23.3, Johnston with 21.9 Ed Macauley of Boston with 21.0, Lovellette with 20.5, Frank Selvy of St. Louis with 20.4, and Yardley with 20.3.

Arizin remains the league's top basket marksman, sinking .468 of his shots from the floor to .458 for New York's Harry Gallatin. Adolph Schayes of Syracuse remains the top free throw marksman with an .881 average to.857 for Max Zaslofsky of Fort Wayne.

Andy Phillip of Fort Wayne opened a commanding lead in the play-making race with 91 assists, followed by Paul Seymour of Syracuse with 75 and Jack George of Philadelphia with 74.

Vern Mikkelsen of Minneapolis has committed the most personal fouls, 57.

For the first time in history two teams are averaging over 100 points per game — Boston with 102.1 and Philadelphia with 100.4 — and two are averaging more than 100 points allowed per game — Minneapolis with 103.3 and New York with 101.7.

Strike

Go. George N. Craig ordered 1,000 National Guardsmen into the strike zone. Five days later, full martial law was imposed on a three-city strike area to guard against rumored outbreaks of violence when the company announced it would re-open its plants.

Tension gradually relaxed and two weeks ago the last of the troops were withdrawn. But sporadic violence broke out again almost immediately and 90 guardsmen were ordered back into New Castle last Wednesday to enforce limited martial law.

Car Smashes Blockade

The last act of violence in the long strike came Saturday, when a car smashed through a roadblock and tried to run down some troopers.

Meanwhile, negotiations were resumed Oct. 31 in Chicago under the auspices of the Federal Mediation Service. Union officials had refused to negotiate in New Castle so long as the troops were present.

UAW officials said they would recommend the resulting agreement as a "basis for settlement" of the walkout. They had hoped to meet with the strikers Monday night, but were prevented by snow and icy roads.

The strike was called against four Perfect Circle plants here and at Hagerstown and Richmond on July 25 when negotiations for a new contract broke down on the union's demand for a union shop, a guaranteed pay plan, and a 10-cent hourly pay increase.

The company refused the union shop demand on grounds the union did not have a majority in the two plants at Richmond and the main plant at Hagerstown. The four plants employ about 2,000 persons.

Oust UAW Union

The workers petitioned the National Labor Relations Board for a decertification election and on Nov. 10 employes voted to oust the UAW as bargaining agent at Richmond and Hagerstown.

Picket lines were removed from all but the New Castle foundry the following day and the strike lost much of its impetus.

Emil Mazey, UAW international secretary, said in Chicago that the union would move immediately to regain bargaining rights at the Richmond and Hagerstown plants.

He also indicated he would be willing to settle the marathon strike against the Kohler Corp. of Kohler, Wis., along the same lines as the New Castle dispute. The UAW's strike against Kohler has lasted 20 months and is the nation's longest major walkout.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for Craig said no decision had been made on whether the guardsmen will be pulled out of New Castle. "We'll wait a day or two and make sure everything is settled and peaceful,' he said.

Atomic Nautilius Is Back In Port

GROTON, Conn. (UP) — The atomic submarine Nautilus was back in port today—the first vessel ever to travel 25,000 miles without refueling.

The Nautilus, commissioned here seven months ago, reached its milestone over the weekend with Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas and top officials of the Atomic Energy Commission aboard on a "familiarization cruise."

Thomas said the Nautilus "has far exceeded the navy's most optimistic expectations," and added its performance "has proved the feasibility of nuclear power for other ships."

Blue Chief Gives Purdue The Grand Champ Lamb Honors

CHICAGO (UP) — A 100-pound Southdown named "Blue Chief" has given Purdue University the grand championship lamb honors for the second year in a row at the International Livestock Exposition.

Pennsylvania State University took runner-up honors in the judging late Monday with a Hampshire named Penn's Ike.

Tom Means, animal husbandry instructor at Purdue, accepted the blue ribbon with the remark that he was "tickled pink" to win twice in a row. Means said he hoped to make it three straight next year.

Purdue also garnered the grand championship for the pen of three lambs with Southdowns, with Penn State again the runnerup.

In the swine judging, Purdue exhibited the champion pen of three and captured second place with five Chester White barrows. The university also got a first and sixth place with its Duroc barrows of 190-210 pounds, and took another first with a pen of three Durocs.

Glenn Cox & Sons of Wabash, Ind., placed second in the 190-210-pound barrows division, and Parkison and Rodibaugh, Francesville, Id., placed third with a pen of three Chester Whites.

Among the finalists in today's grand champion steer judging, highlight of the exposition, is Sue Lenderman, West Terre Haute, Ind., with an Angus.

Death Comes Today To J. J. Sheekley, Retired Painter

Memorial Rites To Be Held Thursday

John Joseph Sheekley, 83, died at 9:40 a.m. today at the Bakle Convalescent Home, where he had been a patient for the past five weeks. He had been ill since May 1, 1949 and had been bedfast most of that time.

Mr. Sheekley was born March 22, 1872 near Cleveland, Ohio. His parents were the late John and Elizabeth Sheekley, also natives of Ohio. As a young man, he went to Mansfield, Ohio, where he worked several years before coming to Arcola in 1917. September 30, 1922 he married the former Della Mae Stayer of North Manchester in the parsonage of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church, Columbia City. They established their home in Columbia City and for more than twenty years resided in a home on South Walnut street. Ten years ago, following Mr. Sheelkey's retirement as a painter and carpenter, they moved to the appartment at 128½ W. Van Buren street.

Mr. Sheekley was an only child. His wife survives also a step-son, Glen Stayer of Fort Wayne.

Friends may call after 7:30 p.m. today at the J. A. DeMoney and Son Funeral home. The Rev. Marion R. Shroyer will officiate at the memorial service at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home. Committal services and interment will be in Riverview cemetery, south of Churubusco.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Smith and Sons funeral home for Mrs. Winona L. Elder. Foster Jones, pastor of the Troy Presbyterian church, officiated at the final rites and sang one song as the musical portion of the service. His accompaniment and the prelude and postlude were played by Mrs. Helen Slagle Aker on the organ. Relatives and friends who served as pallbearers were Perry Johnson, Marcus White, Albert VanVoorst, Homer Kistler, Carl Noble, and Ralph Kile. Interment followed in the South Park cemetery.

Cardinal Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, conducted a twilight service at the funeral home on Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boggs served as Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron; Mrs. Alvin Sweeney as the chaplain; Mrs. Marcus White as the organist and Mrs. Calvin Watkins as soloist.

Proposed Salary Increase Delayed By Committee

Chairman Takes A Dim View Of Craig's Proposal

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—A proposal to increase the salaries of about 60 Indiana department heads by $1,000 a year bogged down late Monday in the State Budget Committee.

Action was deferred until a Dec. 15-16 meeting, partially because Chairman Laurence Baker (R-Kendallvile) took a somewhat dim view of Governor Craig's proposal.

Budget Director Don Clark, who said the officials have earned the money because they have "grown with their jobs," said action was delayed so the committee would "have more time to discuss it."

Baker jokingly told newsmen it would not be proper for a potential candidate for lieutenant governor to favor such a proposal. They wondered if he really was joking.

Some Salary Changes

The committee did make some salary changes in individual cases. Biggest was an increase in the salary of the State Highway Department's chief enginner from $10,000 to $12,500 a year, which gives him $1,000 more than some elected state officials make.

A new salary schedule also was approved for guards at the State Prison and Reformatory in an effort to halt a turnover of men. Since July 1, 50 of 68 guards hired at the prison have quit for better jobs.

The starting salary for guards was upped from $245 to $265 monthly with accelerated increases so they can reach the $325 maximum faster.

Maximums also were changed for some State Police technicians and instructors in penal institutions so they can earn more if their superiors feel they deserve it. The directors of civil defense and the historical bureau were increased in pay from $6,300 to $6,900 a year.

$600,000 in Allotments

As with department heads, proposals to boost salaries of some mental hospital superintendents also were postponed until mid-December.

The committee handed out more than $700,000 in its routine allotments. One was for $36,000—to the State Highway Department to purchase an airplane for use in surveying right-of-way for new highways.

The mental health division received $120,000 to buy equipment for a new psychiatric research institute. The committee previously allotted a million dollars for the research building in Indianapolis.

National Guard officials were authorized to spend $3,900 for a new boiler at the Portland armory, $1,450 for fencing at the Evansville armory, and $1,200 for tiling at the Danville armory.

Other major allotments: Logansport State Hospital, $250,000, completion of new personnel building; Richmond State Hospital, $195,000, tunnels and heating equipment; Indiana Reformatory, $40,000, electrical distribution system.

An increasing number of other Republicans were joining in with statements that foreign policy should be kept out of partisan politics.

Sens. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis), ranking GOP member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, and Frederick G. Payne (R-Me) were the latest to make such a plea.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles planned to add his voice to the appeal later today at a news conference, his first since returning from the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Geneva.

But the man who took the lead last week in urging that foreign policy not be made a political football in 1956 — Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga) — said he did not mean the administration should be exempt from "constructive criticism" of its policy.

George is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Approves Constructive Criticism

"So long as this criticism of our foreign policy is healthy and constructive, I have no fault to find with it," George told Washington Post and Times Herald by telephone from Vienna, Ga.

"My concern is that no substantial issue be taken with our basic foreign policy course, which was begun under Democratic auspices and which Mr. Eisenhower's administration has largely followed. I hope that no issue is taken that could lead our next president to depart from the course we are presently pursuing."

George said that "thus far" he has "heard nothing" in preliminary speeches by presidential possibilities that conflicts with his idea of constructive criticism.

Republicans have charged that Democrats are weakening U.S. influence abroad by making what GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall Monday called "pretty dangerous" attacks on the administration's handling of foreign affairs. Such attacks have been made recently by New York Gov. Averell Harriman, former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said the matter of keeping foreign policy out of political debate is largely up to the Republicans. He said Hall himself made foreign policy an issue by declaring that "peace" would be the GOP's chief boast during next year's election campaign.

Butler invited Mr. Eisenhower to call "a truce on exploiting foreign policy as a political campaign issue" and promised that Democrats would meet him "more than halfway."

Wiley urged both parties to adopt voluntarily a "code of self restraint" in discussing foreign policy.

But he conceded that "if we expect the Democrats to refrain from using foreign policy as a political football, we have got to make sure that we Republicans don't kick it around ourselves.

Payne said upon his return from a week's visit in London that "the mounting chorus of partisan debate" in this country on foreign policy is weakening U.S. world leadership.

President Mixes Routine Work, Rest, Recreation

Has No Callers Scheduled Today

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower today began four days of routine work mixed with rest and recreation.

The President, after a busy Monday that marked another milestone on his road to recovery, planned short stint of paper work at his downtown Gettysburg office. He had no scheduled callers. For most of the day he hoped to take it easy around his farm home.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty indicated Mr. Eisenhower will follow pretty much that same routine through Friday. Official business will pick up again Saturday when the President confers separately with Republican leaders of the House and Senate, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., (Mass) and Sen. William F. Knowland (Calif).

Question Etill Unanswered

Monday the President talked for 45 minutes with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall but failed to answer the question uppermost in Republican minds: Will he consent to be nominated or another term in the White House?

It was the President's first frankly political activity since his heart attack in Denver on Sept. 24. Hall came away with no information on the President's plans but with fresh optimism that Mr. Eisenhower will run.

The President also conferred with Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell and later in the day issued an order imposing tighter conflict-of-interest rules on some of the government's unpaid officials.

High Standards Required

The order applies only to officials who take unpaid government posts under the Defense Production Act. It forbids them from advising the government when their own firms are involved. It also requires them to function under greater public security and to "abide by the same high standards of conduct" demanded of other federal officials.

The conference with Hall was arranged last week, apparently with a go-ahead from Mr. Eisenhower's physicians. Hall said he found all reports about the President's condition to be correct. "I've never seen him look better."

Hall said he [illegible] not expect Mr. Eisenhower's official announcement on whether he will be a candidate until after the President receives a final report from his doctors. The doctors have said this will be in late January or early February.

Health Officials Act To Stamp Out Threat Of Diptheria

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind. (UP)—A program of booster shots for all grade school children was completed today as health officials acted to stamp out a threat of diphtheria here.

The all-out preventive program was undertaken when an autopsy last week showed David Barnett, 6, had died of the highly contagious disease. He was the second Wayne County youth to die of diphtheria within a year.

Dr. W. R. Taylor, Richmond, county health officer, said physicians also will inspect the throats of children this week as an added safeguard.

Taylor said the preventive measures were begun last week on advice of Dr. J. W. Jackson, Indianapolis, head of the State Board of Health's department on control of contagious diseases.

Wilson Hopes Progress Will Result From Geneva Meeting

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said today the "lack of concrete results" at the Geneva foreign ministers' meeting does not mean necessarily that the cold war will be stepped up.

Wilson expressed hope that progress ultimately will result from the meeting. He said "the peoples of all nations, including those back of the Iron Curtain, want peace and not war."

But, Wilson cautioned in a speech before some 1,000 mayors and city officials at the 82nd annual congress of the American Municipal Assn. the nation should not let its guard down and must "maintain military strength into the indefinite future."

France Returns To U.N. General Assembly Today

Decision Ends Two-Month Boycott

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—France returns to the United Nations General Assembly today, ending a two-month boycott because of a decision to debate French policy in Algeria.

Ambassador Herve Alphand planned to lead his French delegation back into a plenary meeting of the assembly this afternoon.

The French return to the assembly virtually on their own terms. They walked out Sept. 30 when the world parliament voted, 28-27, to put the problem of Algeria on its agenda for full debate. France contended that the Algerian question is an internal matter in which the United States has no right to inerfere.

Last Friday, without a dissenting vote, the assembly struck the Algerian question from its agenda for this session and opened the way for France's return.

One obstacle remained: The debate on French relations with the North African protectorate of Morocco. France was not as indignant about this as about the Algeria issue. It had been put on the agenda last year — and quietly dropped without debate—and the French simply refused to attend sessions in which Morocco was discussed.

Monday, by a 49-0 vote with 5 abstentions, the main political committee decided again not to debate the Moroccan question and the French had gained their point and grounds for returning to the assembly with no loss of face.

Thunderjet Crashes Into 8-Family Apartment; Death Toll May Be 15

EIELSON AIR FORCE BASE, Alaska (UP) — Authorities feared today that as many as 15 persons were killed in an eight-family apartment which was sliced by a crashing F84F Thunderjet.

Ten bodies were taken from the ice-coated, charred ruins of the dwelling which eight enlisted airmen and their families occupied, and three other tenants of the buildings were unaccounted for.

Searchers who plodded through the rubble in 26-degrees-below-zero weather believed the three missing tenants and possibly more might be found in the ruins.

The death told could go as high as 15,' Major John Orr, public information officer for Eielson AFB, Alaska's only Strategic Air Command base, said.

Six of the seven persons injured in Tuesday's tragedy were in critical condition.

A terrified young woman, Pamela Harris, 21, sobbed as she described the force of the plane's impact.

"I saw one woman with her arm torn off," Miss Harris, daughter of an enlisted couple, aid. "It was horrible."

The only identified victim of the tragedy was the pilot of the jet plane, Lt. Alfred F. Pounders, 28, of Monticello, Miss. His body was recovered.

Giant Bowling Ball

Eyewitnesses said Pounders' plane, which had just taken off from Eielson AFB, skimmed over base headquarters and struck the housing project like a giant bowling ball. It ripped the apartment building from one end to the other before exploding and bursting into flames.

The plane, after cutting through the enlisted men's quarters, stopped only four inches from an officers' dwelling, as though conscious of rank.

"The plane came over very low, right over the headquarters building where I was working," one enlisted man said. "We knew it

County Council Tags $3,000 For 1955 Expenditure

The Whitley County Council, meeting Tuesday at the auditor's office in the courthouse, tagged for expenditure to meeting 1955 budget emergencies a total of $3,000.

This was to prevent over-expenditure of certain funds, chiefly the operations of the county highway department which is maintained from the gravel road fund.

Recent return of fugitives from Texas made necessary the appropriation of extra funds into the fugitive return fund annually set up by the county sheriff's office.

Other funds, as set up in the 1955 budget, were reduced. A reduction of $1600 was possible in the general fund since no primary elections were required this year. Five thousand dollars was cut from the gravel road fund's budget for gravel, road oils, etc., but the councilmen had to appropriate an additional $3000 for wages for county highway department workers and $5000 for expenses of the highway garage in repairs and maintenance of equipment.

A $1600 appropriation was made to the county general fund. This was divided as follows: $700 for county treasurer's 6 per cent fees, $30 for county clerk's per diem, change of venue; $50 for the county recorder's 25 per cent fees; $30 for county commissioner's bonds; $50 for county agent's properties; $60 for heat and light at the courthouse; $150 for janitorial supplies at the courthouse due principally to the rehabilitation of the marble block floors; $30 for jail expense; $400 for circuit court law books, and $100 for the sheriff's return of fugitives fund.

Faure Decides To Dissolve French National Group

Move Would Provoke Political Crisis

By WILBUR LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure decided tentatively today to dissolve the French National Assembly — a move that would provoke France's worst political crisis since 1877.

The assembly voted no confidence in Faure Tuesday by a vote of 318 to 218. But instead of resigning automatically the stubborn premier dumfounded Parliament by announcing he would send it home instead and call for new elections.

He can do this under a seldom-invoked clause in the constitution providing new elections if two governments are voted out of office within 18 months. Faure took office only last February.

The final decision was expected sometime today when Faure meets with his cabinet and president Rene Coty. Coty was reported dead-set against dissolving the assembly. But in a stormy cabinet session early today the government decided to go ahead and "fire" Parliament.

The vote was 19 to five with two abstentions. Postal Minister Edouard Bonnefous stalked out of the meeting in protest against dissolution.

Assembly Outfoxes Itself

The capricious National Assembly which has voted 21 premiers out of office since World War II outfoxed itself in Tuesday's vote. Ironically it was ousting Faure because he wanted early elections. The vote was so overwhelming that it enabled him to invoke the dissolution clause, and

Educator Asks Government Quit 'Marking Time'

And Give Substantial Aid To Our Schools

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—An educator said today that the federal government should quit "marking time" and give substantial aid to schools.

Dr. John K. Norton, head of the Education Administration Department at Columbia University's teachers college, told reporters the government "has been discriminating against education" by giving federal aid to "practically every kind of public service except it."

Norton, a delegate to the White House conference on education said that while states and local communities have increased their school funds in recent years, the national government has marked time.

Norton gave his views as the 1,800 conference delegates prepared to consider the touchy federal aid question this afternoon

Another thorny item on today's agenda was how to overcome the pressing shortage of school teachers.

May Increase Aid

It appeared that the administration may be ready to recommend more money for school construction than its current aid bill provides.

President Eisenhower summoned Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare, and Budget Director Rowland Hughes for a conference at his Gettysburg, Pa., headquarters Thursday. One of Folsom's aides said, in response to questions, it would be "only natural" for them to discuss the health, education

25 Fresh Guard Troops Moving Into New Castle

To Insure Peaceful Transition At Foundry

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP)—Twenty-five fresh National Guard troops moved into town today to insure a peaceful transition from strike-and-violence to back-to-work at the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry.

They relieved almost 100 guardsmen who patrolled this area the past week to halt sporadic vandalism while company and union leaders pounded out an agreement ending a four-month CIO United Auto Workers strike.

Adj. Gen. Harold Doherty said the reduced force, from Greensburg, will remain on duty "at least" through next Monday, when UAW leaders have indicated the strikers will go back to work under terms of a new contract.

Foundry officials urged the strikers to apply for reinstatement as soon as possible.

Alan J. Fromuth, personnel manager at the plant, said the returning workers will be assigned to two shifts as the firm prepares gradually to resume full production, probably by the end of next week.

William F. Caldwell, CIO United Auto Workers international representative, said the strikers would be ready to return to work Monday.

Meanwhile, National Guard troops kept a vigil in view of the hostility in some union quarters over the terms of the strike-ending settlement which was ratified by a narrow 86 to 72 margin Tuesday.

Fear More Unrest

Sam Selke, financial secretary of Local 370, said he did not know whether the close vote would mean continued unrest. He said the chief objection to the new two-year pact was that not all strikers fired for alleged misconduct would be reinstated immediately.

Selke and Carl Batchfield, president of the UAW Local 370, are among seven fired strikers whose cases will be submitted to arbitration. The company agreed to re-

Mercury Climbs In Hoosierland

By UNITED PRESS

Temperatures climbed slightly throughout Indiana today as Hoosiers in several northern counties dug out from the season's first big snowfall and schools reopened in St. Joseph and LaPorte counties.

Hardest hit during Tuesday's storm were areas in northeast Indiana on the fringe of a cold wave which dumped 15 inches of snow in Michigan.

Waterloo reported six inches of snow on the ground, Goshen four and South Bend four.

The freezing wind, sleet and snow closed schools at Lydick, New Carlisle and Crumstown in St. Joseph County and at Rolling Prairie Twp., Springfield Twp. and Hudson Lake in LaPorte County.

Other weather stations throughout the state reported only traces of snow.

Temperatures today were slated to range from 28 north to 32 south. Lows tonight will range from 12 to 18.

3-Year No Fatality Traffic Record Set

At midnight Tuesday, Nov. 29, Columbia City rang up a record in safety not set here since 1940.

Last midnight the city marked three full years without a single traffic fatality.

Records on traffic accidents are kept by Chief of Police Lee Gross, establishing this fact. Accordig to Mr. Gross, Columbia City will be eligible to a safety citation from the Chicago Motor club for setting the record of no traffic fatalities for three consecutive years.

Of course none wishes to see the city's no-fatality record spoiled and all would like to see a reduction in injury cases and property damage claims resulting from traffic movement. Thus the city's residents have an extra reason to exercise all precaution possible on S-D Day Thursday, and the days following.

Chiang To Block Admission Of Outer Mongolia

To United Nations; Will Use Council Veto If Necessary

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek is determined to block the admission of Outer Mongolia to the United Nations and will use the Nationalists' Security Council veto if necessary, Taipei dispatches said today.

U.N. diplomats expressed hope that a second appeal by President Eisenhower to Chiang would bring a reversal of the Natiionalist decision to veto but the Taipei dispatches said there were "no indications" Chiang would relent.

Nationalist government sources expressed hope a "proper attitude by the Western powers" on the admission of Outer Mongolia would make a veto unnecessary. But the Nationalists were reported adamant.

The Taipei position was that Outer Mongolia was carved out of China proper and that it is not a sovereign state. This was similar to the U. S. view although recent reports said the United States had relented to permit the entry of 17 other nations.

United Press Correspondent William Miller reported from Taipei that the U.S. embassy had made repeated representations to the Nationalists through the for-

Christmas Club Members Receive Total Of $87,000

Members of the Christmas Savings Clubs in Columbia City have received their checks totaling $87,097.

The 1956 Christmas Savings Clubs are being started this week at the two local banks.

The Christmas club idea over a quarter-century old, has annually provided the savings members with that extra money needed to make the holidays bright and ease the strain on the family's December budget brought about by a review of the Christmas shopping list.

The clubs offer savings plans in the Christmas clubs at almost any price the individual wishes to lay aside weekly. These range from $10 a week downward to fifty cents a week.

The clubs are available at both local banks, the Citizens State bank and the Farmers Loan & Trust Co.

This year local merchants are trying especially to aid the gift shopper in stretching his gift dollar. From the most inexpensive to the costly in gift items are available in the Columbia City stores in varieties not seen here in many years. This is cheering to the local gift shopper whether he has a Christmas savings club check in his pocket or has to have it charged to his January bill.

Car Crashes Into Pole; 3 Injured At South Whitley

Eligo Luna, Wolf Lake, Hospitalized; Police Car Gets "Tangled"

Three Wolf Lake residents were hurt in South Whitley early Wednesday morning when the car in which they were riding went out of the driver's control on State Road 5 south of the Eel river bridge, crashed against a utility pole and stopped on a lawn after felling a cherry tree.

The injured were brought to the Whitley County Hospital in the Miller Funeral Home ambulance from South Whitley and the J. A. DeMoney and Son ambulance from Columbia City.

Most seriously injured was Eligo Luna 48, who suffered head and face injuries. He remained today as a hospital patient.

Dismissed from the institution after being treated for shock was Mrs. Phillip Howe, 25. Her husband, aged 32, suffered facial lacerations but was able to leave the hospital after emergency room treatment.

Marshall Gives Chase

The accident was investigated by State Policeman Wayne Reese. The crash happened shortly after 2:35 a.m. The state officer was aided in the investigation by William Bauman, South Whitley marshal, who was giving chase in his police car to the speeding Wolf Lake man's vehicle. Bauman's auto became tangled in the wreckage wrought by the felling of street lighting wires and telephone wires when the Wolf Lake car snapped off the utility pole. The falling wires clipped off the siren and red light mounted on top of the police car.

The driver of the Wolf Lake car was Philip Dean Howe Box 72, Wolf Lake, according to statements made to the police. Howe was southbound on State Road 5, being followed by Bauman. When Howe reached a point about 150 feet north of Kenny's Drive-In he lost control of his car, a 1954 Ford coach, and it went off the road on the west side, first snapping off the utility pole carrying the telephone and street lighting wires, then felling a cherry tree on the Roy Brower lawn.

It was indicated today that reckless driving charges would be filed against Howe.

Farmers From 3 States Give Tractor To Ike

Gift Of Farm Bureau Members

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Farmers from three states figured out today what to give the man who has everything. They rolled out a bright new tractor for President Eisenhower.

It wasn't as if the President really needed a tractor, although he no doubt can find a use for it. Four tractors already are in operation on the approximately 500 acres Mr. Eisenhower owns or controls.

None of them however, actually belongs to the President. Like most of the equipment in use on his tracts, they are owned by Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Fevins, who supervises the Eisenhower farm, and others who actualy till the President's soil.

The newest addition to the Eisenhower tractor line was the gift of Farm Bureau Cooperative Assn. members in Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania.

Officials of the three groups were on hand for the presentation as were representatives of the manufacturers, photographers, and newspapermen.

The equipment was the latest in a continuing flow of gifts received by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower since they bought their farm home here in 1950.

The gifts include a growing herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle and a couple of milk cows. Also the motorized "surrey with a fringe on top" in which the President likes to tour his rolling acres.

Somebody gave him a flag pole with golden eagle on top. It is mounted near his formal garden — also a gift — and supports the U. S. flag and presidential ensign.

Spruce trees and flowering quince line the President's half mile-long driveway — gifts, respectively of the 48 state Republican chairmen and members of the President's cabinet.

There have been many other gifts, most of them keyed to farm life.

Vicious Weather Blamed For Death Of 39 Persons

Parts Of Michigan, New York Covered By 6 Feet Of Snow

By UNITED PRESS

Heavy snows joined forces today with the worst cold wave of the season.

Northern Michigan and western New York state were covered by up to 6 feet of snow, sub-freezing temperatures drove as far south as Florida, and vicious weather was blamed for at least 39 deaths across the nation.

Heart attacks or traffic accidents caused by the wintry blasts accounted for 14 deaths, and 19 persons died in fires, most of them caused by overheated stoves. In addition, six junior college students were killed when their car smashed into the side of a speeding train during a dense fog near Hanford, Calif.

There were at least five dead at Buffalo, N.Y., where the biggest one-day November snowstorm in the city's history brought the community's life practically to a halt Tuesday.

Schools were closed and practically all factories had to shut down. The snow was officially measured at 19.9 inches, but some suburbs reported 4 feet and hundreds of motorists were marooned in drift-stalled cars.

Drifts 6 feet deep were reported in Michigan's upper peniinsula and

Judge Said He Was Thinking Like Housewife When He Picked Teen-Ager's Angus Champ

By TERESA REESE
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—Dr. A.D. (Dad) Weber revealed today he was thinking like a housewife when he picked a teen-age girl's streamlined Angus as the grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition.

Weber, dean of agriculture at Kansas State College, said the housewife is laying down the rules for cattle judging these days and he kept that in mind when he picked 16-year-old Nancy Turner's jet black steer as king of the big farm show Tuesday.

"The housewife doesn't like fat—she trims it off," Weber said. For that reason, he said, the current trend is away from "too fat" animals.

Weber's comment on beef finish —the amount of fat an animal carries—was regarded by some feeders as another step in one of the most significant changes in the industry in the last 50 years.

Julius is Lean

They pointed out that Julius, Miss Turner's 986-pound champion, is only the sixth steer under 1,000 pounds to win the exposition's top award since the show began in 1900.

The red-haired Champaign, Ill., farm girl burst into tears and then leaned over Julius' back to kiss

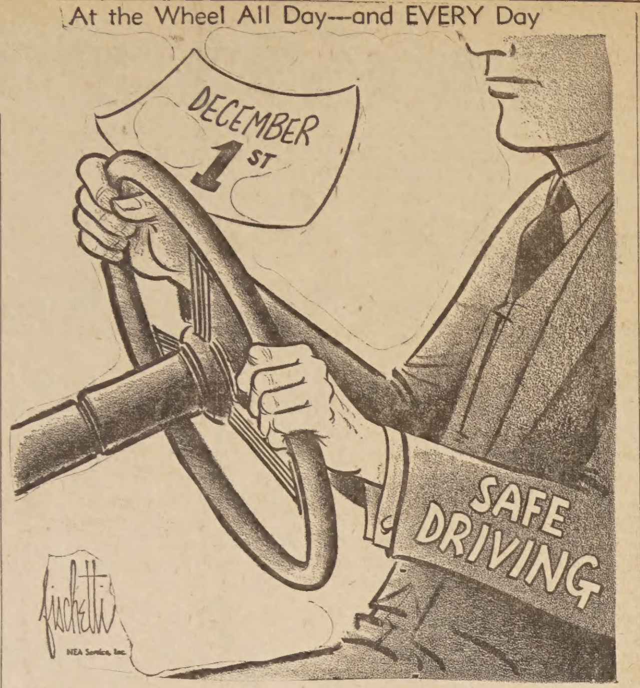
At the Wheel All Day---and EVERY Day



24 Hours To Stay Alive

One year ago, a group of troubled people set out to prove that through very simple precautions we can reduce our high traffic fatality rate. They proved it.

A year ago this country had its first Safe-Driving Day, which resulted in a 15 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities. Mororists and pedestrians listened to the advice for only one day, however, and then went back to their old dangerous habits.

In 1954, 36,000 men, women and children suddenly ended their hopes and dreams and objectives because they died in traffic accidents. More than 20,000 of them died in nighttime accidents.

If that 15 per cent reduction in accidents for one 24-hour period of daylight and darkness — Safe Driving Day — had been carried through the entire year, 5,400 of those people would still be working out their own private lives.

We have another chance this year. President Eisenhower has proclaimed Wednesday as S-D Day.

There are numerous areas in which to work toward greater traffic safety, all of them important. Inherent in the statistics, however, is one of the most obvious.

Nights Most Dangerous

Teach people the dangers of the night.

Last year, 15,800 people died in the daylight hours while 20,200 died at night. Adding significance to these figures is the fact that the majority of our cars are not in use at night. Studies show that, from a mileage standpoint, three times as many persons die in traffic accidents at night as during the day. And more than half of the pedestrian accidents occur between six p.m. and midnight.

There are many explanations for these nighttime accidents but the basic cause is inadequate visibility.

"Regardless of what may be assigned as the ultimate cause of most night accidents, the immediate cause is not seeing the hazard in time," says Dr. A. R. Lauer, director of the Iowa State College Driving Laboratory and one of the country's foremost scientists in the field of traffic accident research.

It is time for Americans to take action that will stop the nightly slaughter that occurs on our highways and streets. We now have sufficient knowledge to sharply reduce the abnormally high number of nighttime accidents, and it is foolhardy to continue ignoring the means by which thousands of lives can be saved each year.

Nighttime "Don'ts"

Don't "drive beyond your headlights." Be sure you can see ahead at least as far as the distance it would take you to stop.

Don't forget the many hazards that can appear suddenly on the roads and streets ahead, obscured until the last second by the lowered visibility.

Don't forget the basic rules that anyone walking at night should practice. Remember, that in dark winter clothing we blend into the night to the point where it is sometimes impossible for a motorist to see us until it is too late.

Don't drive cars with inadequate headlights or rear lights and reflectors.

Safe-Driving Day, an American idea intended to dramatize the results that can be accomplished through attention to the rules of safe driving and walking, presents an unprecedented opportunity for the reduction of traffic accidents 24 hours a day and, let us hope, 365 days a year.

———o———

S-D Day continues after nightfall — in relation to miles driven there are three times as many fatal automobile accidents after dark. Darkness calls for extra care in driving.

It's not too soon to begin practicing safer driving — you may be saving your own life.

Court Quashes Death Sentence Of Truck Driver

SINGAPORE (UP)—A Singapore appeals court today quashed the death sentence imposed on Chinese truck driver Ong Ah Too for the mob murder of United Press Correspondent Gene Symonds. Ong walked out of court a free man.

Chief Justice John Whyatt read the judgment which said Ong's defense plea was not adequately put to the jury and that there was no independent corroboration of evidence presented to the court.

Symonds, 29, of Dayton, Ohio, was beaten to death by Chinese hoodlums last May 12 while covering Communist - inspired strikes and riots. Two witnesses testified at the trial of Ong they saw him in the mob. One said he saw Ong beat Symonds unmercifully as he lay unconscious on the ground.

Ong was convicted on Aug. 16 and sentenced to death. An Indian, S. Suppiah, was acquitted of charges he was a member of the "unlawful assembly" which resulted in the death of Symonds. Ong appealed the sentence.

1956 License Plate Applications In Mail

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Indiana's motor vehicles bureau with thousands of license plate applications already in the mail, hoped today to complete the mailing to about 1,850,000 Hoosiers by mid-December.

The 1956 plates—one full-sized one for the rear of the vehicle, gold on blue and with a "Drive Safely" slogan—will go on sale Jan. 3 and may be purchased anytime through Feb. 29.

As usual the fee i $7 to $12, depending on weight and horsepower, but the service charge branch managers make was boosted by the 1955 Legislature from 25 to 50 cents.

Around The World! Around The Clock:

By UNITED PRESS

BERN, Switzerland (UP)—President Max Petitpierre said Tuesday night his tiny country is willing to act as mediator in an effort to end the East - West split that two Geneva conferences failed to heal.

He said the Geneva spirit turned out to be "artificial" but that the latest Big Four conference at least was able to "re-establish reality before the eyes of the world."

"Thus," the Swiss president said "it was not a pure failure."

Petitpierre said Switzerland was willing to try to bring East and West together "because if a small country should try to stay out of quarrels which divide the big powers, it still bears its part of the responsibility" for the state of international relations.

Highway Department Plans To Widen Bridge In 45-Minute Test

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Indiana's Highway Department plans to widen a narrow bridge in 45 minutes Thursday in a demonstration of a new pre-fabricated building material.

At 11 a.m. CDT, the pre-fab concrete slabs will be moved into place on both sides of the Ind. 235 bridge in Jackson County about a mile north of Medora. By 11:45 a.m., Highway Chairman Virgil Smith expects the job to be completed.

This will be the department's contribution to Safe-Driving Day.

Smith asked all district highway engineers to be on hand to watch the bridge widening so they can plan similar revamping of about 600 narrow bridges throughout the state.

The slabs, which will be hoisted onto pilings previously driven into the ground, have been used in six other states. This will be their first use in Indiana.

instate 20 others immediately and eight more after 30-day suspensions.

State Adj. Gen. Harold Doherty, with the approval of Governor Craig, ordered 90 troopers from Connersville relieved at noon. They were replaced by 25 guardsmen and two officers from Greensburg. Their armaments include four half-tracks and an armored troop carrier.

"The governor," Doherty said, "wants to lean over backward to make sure those persons who voted against the agreement won't do anything about it."

Doherty said if the situation remains quiet, the troopers will be withdrawn late this week.

Sent Last Wednesday

The guardsmen were sent here last Wednesday for the second time in the lengthy labor dispute that turned into one of the bitterest in the state's history.

A two-hour gun battle on Oct. 5 left nine persons wounded or injured and prompted the governor to rush 1,000 troops to the scene and place the strike area under martial law. The last of the troops were withdrawn about two weeks ago, but more were ordered when scattered incidents continued.

The agreement, reached Monday night with the aid of federal mediators in Chicago, grants a 10-cent hourly increase, which had been in effect since July, and another 7 cents next July.

The union failed in its demand for a union shop, one of the chief issues in the strike, and in its demand for a guaranteed wage plan.

Selke said the latter two demands were not important in the heavy vote against ratification.

Batchfield said he had little hope of getting his job back at the plant.

Britain Ready To Discuss Cessation Of H-Bomb Explosions

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden said today Brittain is "ready to discuss" cessation the United States and Russia.

But certain conditions would have to be met, Eden said. He indicated one of these might be of hydrogen bomb explosions with consideration for the fact that Britain has not yet tested her H-bomb. The United States and Russia already have made H-bomb explosion tests.

At any rate, Eden said, the Soviet government has not yet communicated with Britain about any such agreement to ban test blasts as a Moscow radio commentator spoke of Tuesday.

The Moscow Radio announcement suggested that Russia was prepared to agree with the United States and Britain to cease H-bomb test blasts.

Labor Party Leader Clement Attlee asked Eden in the House of Commons for a government statement on this announcement.

Four Contestants Win $80, 512 On TV

NEW YORK (UP) — Four contestants took an $80,512 bite out of a TV giveaway shop Tuesday night, the biggest haul in video history.

The biggest chunk on CBS' "The $64,000 Question" went to Steven Frohlich of Princeton, N.J., who quit after running his string to $32,000 in the category, "American History."

Another contestant, psychologist Joyce Brothers of New York, reached the $32,000 level by answering a multiple part query in the category, "boxing."

A third guest, coal miner Stanley Skeens of Danville, W.Va., piled up a $16,000 deposit. Skeens' specialty is the Bible.

The fourth wininer was Roscoe Wright of Jamaica, N.Y., who won $512. Wright, a postal employee, reached that plateau by answering four questions on poetry.

Faure

that means elections must be held within 20 to 30 days.

Faure was not out of the woods. If he dissolves Parliament he would remain as premier. But Parliament could first pass a vote of censure against him and he, too, would be out. In that case Pierre Schneiter, the president of the assembly, would become acting premier.

The last time such a constitutional crisis arose was in 1877, when the deputies adopted a motion blaming the government for being "anti - republican." Monarchist President Marshal Marie-Edme - Patrick de Mac - Mahon kicked out the deputies and decreed new elections.

The move backfired. The elections returned 327 Republicans and only 28 monarchists. De MacMahon's appointed cabinet was forced to resign and the president himself was deprived of political powers. Since then French presidents have held only token power.

Battle For Supremacy

The sudden new crisis pitted Faure even more fiercely against his former friend Pierre Mendes-France in the battle for political supremacy. It was Mendes-France who engineered Faure's assembly defeat. It was Mendes' defeat ten months ago that made dissolution of the assembly possible.

One of the principal specters arising was the possibility o a popular front with the Communists. Some observers believed it would drive the Socialists into election alliances with the Reds and perhaps even with Mendes - France's own Radical Socialists.

Dissolution of the National Assembly meant new elections under the hated 1951 election laws. These laws were rigged to hold down the strength of the Communists and the right - wing Gaullists.

Under these laws small parties can group into "alliances" and outvote stronger parties. Voters hate the system because it means they are voting for parties instead of individual candidates.

and welfare budget, including federal aid for school construction.

A department official said it would be a "reasonable assumption" that the administration will revise upward its proposal for school construction grants. The three-year aid program recommended by the administration last spring called for 200 million dollars in grants to needy school districts, plus loans to others to help them build schools. The program was criticized in Congress for not providing enough outright federal funds.

Segregation Issue Raised

The federal aid question threatened to produce a conference controversy involving the segregation problem.

Clarence Mitchell of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said no federal school aid should be given to any state that refuses to desegregate schools. Mitchell, Washington director of the NAACP, told reporters that if the conference recommends federal aid without such strings, he will challenge its report.

Mitchell Tuesday made an unsuccessful effort to have the conference deny travel expenses to delegates from four Southern states opposing integration—south Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana.

was in trouble. You could tell by the way it sounded.

"We saw a big puff of smoke and flame. Then the whole headquarters building shook, following a tremendous explosion. Flames and smoke poured out of the windows and doors of the buildings. Wreckage was scattered all around."

Human Icicles

The crash occurred when children were home from school shortly before 1 p.m. (AST). Firemen turned into human icicles as water from their hoses drenched them and froze. Air Force men and Army troops relieved regular firefighters who became encased in a coating of ice.

Fred A. Sorri, a civilian plumber, had just finished an installation in one of the buildings shattered by the plane.

"It bounced off the roofs of two buildings, setting them afire, and then plunged right through the dwelling," he said.

Orr said the pilot apparently had control failure.

"He tried to avoid hitting the houses, but he couldn't get mucn altitude,' Orr said.

Orr said no official statement on the final death tol woud be on the final death toll would be released for 48 hours and names of the victims would not be released until then.

have moved to other communities. Eighteen of the original members are still living around South Whitley, seven still active in business and the balance have retired.

Charter Members

The charter members were: Glen Maston, Omer Metz, F. E. Snyder, Harvey Kreider, Eldon Kreig, Artley Cullum, James Matson, O. A. Bollinger, Claude Herr, Everett E. Smith, Louis Pook, Claude Stoner, Ralph Fox, Otis Plattner, Ralph R. Thompson, George F. Peabody, R. D. Keppler, R. L. Glassley, Ward Crist, L. R. Rumsyre, Rudy Ross, L. M. Ludwig, B. F. Bean, William Kinsel. G. A. Harley, Harrison Snyder, Lawrence White, Lee L. Eve, Dr. Paul Garber, Fred Norris, D. C. Scott, Lee Evans, Carl Thompson, Noel Geyer, Fred O. Carey, Walter Martin, Vance Green and Dan Croy.

The first project the club worked on was to form a committee to work in conjunction with the churches and other organizations for relief. The president placed the following on this committee: Walter Martin, Victor F. Stoner, Rev. B. F. Bean and Vance Green. Food and clothing was collected and given to those in need.

During the twenty-five years of existence of the Lions Club at South Whitley they have responded to all community needs. South Whitley is proud of the many new homes, two new school houses, five active churches, four new factories, a new town hall and theatre. Hundreds of projects have been completed by the Lions Club and some are now under way.

The twenty acres of land that was purchased through the efforts of the club lies west of the new school houses and it is expected that this plot of ground will some day be the show place of Whitley county. The need of the community now is more houses for many of the people who work in the factories.

Twenty-five years ago South Whitley was an overgrown village and on a warm Saturday night friends and neighbors used the streets as a gathering place and everyone living within a large radius was personally known to each other.

In 1955 times are different. One can walk down main street and not meet a person he is acquainted with. It is the aim of the Lions Club to start project of an attitude of "Know Thy Neighbor," Love Thy Neighbor" and practice friendliness.

Being a worker in a Lions Club broadens acquaintances, develops friendship, produces good fellowship. Friendship is based on unselfish service.

This history would not be complete without a tribute to those who have served the club in so many wonderful ways. As a tribute to them the Lions Club wishes to print the following verse:

We were three busy tired men,
Tired of playing a man's busy game,
Tired of trying to make a name.
Tomorrow I say I'll call on Jim,
Just to show that I am thinking of him.
But tomorrow comes and tomorrow goes,
and the distance between us grows and grows.
Around the corner yet miles and miles away,
Here's a telegram sir, Jim dies today.
And that's what we get and deserve in the end,
Around the corner, A departed friend.

Hoosier To Join Admiral Byrd On Antarctic Expedition

LAWRENCEBURG, Ind. (UP)— A Hoosier who likes his weather "not too hot and not too cold" leaves Thursday to join Admiral Richard E. Byrd in his expedition to the frigid regions of the Antarctic.

Eddie Roush, 26-year-old Lawrenceburg welder, said "as far as I know" only two other civilians will join the task force to establish a permanent base at the bottom of the earth.

Roush, an employe of a Chicago firm, will supervise Navy Seabees in building three fuel oil storage tanks.

But the polar regions are old stuff to Eddie. He has made three trips abroad as a welder with the same contractor, including a stint on an island near Greenland in the Arctic Circle.

Roush, married and the father of two children, also has been to Puerto Rico and Haiti—much warmer climates—while travelling with the company.

He conceded his trip south is "going to be a new experience," and "much colder" than anything he's known before. Roush said he had "no way of knowing" how cold it will be, but Seabees have been practicing construction work in cold vaults where it's 65 below zero.

"I'm pretty much a middle-of-the-roader," Roush said. "I don't like it too hot or too cold." As for cold weather, "I can stand it if I have to.'

Roush said his wife didn't mind his other trips, but "on this one she doesn't like it," despite the fact there will be no women along.

"Maybe it's the severe cold or the danger involved" that she objects to, he said.

Cold Wave

the city of Kalamazoo was buried under a 14-inch snowfall. The storm gave 75,000 school children in southwest Michigan a vacation and was blamed for at least three deaths.

In such wintry cities as International Falls, Minn., and Ironwood, Mich., meanwhile, the snow had long ceased to be a novelty. International Falls has had snowfalls for 32 straight days, while there was 66 inches of snow on the ground at Ironwood.

The immense arctic air mass was centered over the Dakotas and Nebraska, driving the temperature to 17 below zero at Bismarck, N.D., and stretching from the Rockies to the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf coast.

Meanwhile, a University of Chicago geologist predicted a really severe cold wave coming up. Dr. Cesare Emilani figured that another ice age will be due by about 11955 a.d.

Communist Chinese To Release Turncoat Richard R. Tenneson

HONG KONG (UP) — The British Embassy in Peiping has informed the United States government that turncoat war prisoner Richard R. Tenneson, 22, of Alden, Minn., will be released by the Communist Chinese, it was disclosed today.

The message from Peiping said Tenneson would cross the border from Red China to Hong Kong today. He did not appear, but observers said he may show up Thursday.

The U. S. consul general here had no other information about Tenneson's reported plans other than that relayed by the Hong Kong government and the British Red Cross. The latter also received information from Peiping concerning Tenneson.

Tenneson was understood to have wanted to leave Red China ever since three other turncoat war prisoners returned last July. They were Cpl. William A. Cowart, of Monticello, Ark.; Cpl. Otho G. Bell of Hillsboro, Miss. whose wife lived in Olympia, Wash.; and Cpl. Lewis W. Griggs, of Jacksonville, Tex.

Tenneson wrote several letters which indicated strongly that he no longer wanted to stay in Red China. The most recent one said he expected to leave soon.

Professional Football Shocks Sports World By Selecting Glick Top Man In Player Draft

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Professional football shocked the sports world again, more or less as usual, by selecting nationally - unknown Gary Glick of the Colorado Aggies as the number one man in its player draft and the "Pro All-America" team also is a surprise.

As example, in addition to giving Glick the startling rating of number one back in the nation, the pros virtually named Texas everybody's All American center Bob Pellegrini of Maryland.

The "Pro All-Amerca," on the basis of the first men picked for their position in the pro draft, includes:

Ends — Schriewer and Leon Clarke of Southern California.

Middle linesmen (tackles and guards) — Bruce Bosley, West Virginia: Frank D'Agostino, Auburn; Joe Krupa, Purdue, and Norm Masters, Michigan State.

Center —Pellegrini.

Glick And Cassady

Backs — Glick, Earl Morrall of Michigan State, Howard (Hopalong) Cassady of Ohio State, and Art Davis of Mississippi State.

Only Bosley, Pelligrini, and Cassady were what might be considered everybody's All-Americans.

Your second team under the pro draft would include:

Ends: Dick Donlin of Hamline and John Paluck of Pitt: Midlde linesmen: Forest Gregg, SMU; M. L. Brackett, Auburn; Bill Herschman, Texas Tech, and R. L. (Sam) Huff, West Virginia, and center, High Pitts, TCU.

The "all-pro" backs on a second team-second choice basis are and all of these are in order of selection: Joe Marcone of West Virginia, Joe Childress of Auburn, Jack Losch of Miami and Lenny Moore of Penn State.

College guards are, on the whole, ignored by the pros. They are too light and are selected for their ability to pull out of the line. So the concentration on collegiate tackles is understandable.

Good And Big

This factor was pointed out in this corner recently by Jim Lee Howell, coach of the pro New York Giants. College linemen selected must not only be good but must be gigantic to stand the pro gaff.

This line fills the bill. It averages better than 223 pounds and more than six feet, two inches. Understand, too, that these are only growing boys who still have room to grow. Only three of them are "old men" of 22.

Schriewer is 6-4 and 205 pounds while Clarke, the other end, is 6-4 and 213. The tackles, in order of selection, are Bosley, 6-2 and 225; D'Agostino 6-1 and 233; Krupa six feet and 237, and Masters 6-2 and 225. Pellegrini at center is 6-3 and 225.

The backs, too, have to be big and rugged as proved by the draft choices. Cassady at 5-10 and 17 is one of those rare exceptions. But Glick is 6-1 and 191; Morrall is 6-1 and 185, while Davis goes six feet and 190 pounds.

Pro ball demands size and speed. But talent has to go with them. So the first team chosen in the pro draft must be recognized as one of the finest All - America teams of the year.

Basilio-DeMarco Title Fight Tonight

BOSTON (UP)—Handlers of welterweight champion Carmen Basilio were suspicious of a betting coup today as "even money" was surprisingly quoted for his first title defense against ex-champ Tony De Marco in their return bout tonight at Boston Garden.

Co-managers Johnny De John and Joe Netro asked the Massachusetts Boxing Commission for reassurances of a square deal for 28-year-old Carmen.

"I simply can't understand it," said De John. "Last June, Carmen was favored at 9-5 for their first fight at Syracuse (N.Y.). And he took the title from De Marco on a technical knockout in the 12th round. Yesterday morning he was favored at 8-5. Now it's even money. What gives?"

Commissioner Henry Lamar told De John, "No news about the referee or judges could have leaked out of the commission because we haven't yet made up our minds about who will officate tonight."

Bookies said the swing to the 23-year-old De Marco was caused by rumors that rangy, raw-boned Basilio had weakened himself paring down toward the 147-pound limit. Also because stocky young Tony should be in much better condition than for their first fight on June 10.

The champion, seeking his 12th straight victory, had been favored because his savage hooking attack wilted De Marco after the seventh round. Tony was on the floor twice in the 10th.

The dynamic, black-haired son of a former Boston shoemaker had one bout since he lost his crown in June. On Sept. 14 he knocked out Chico Vejar in the first round. That victory brought his record to 41-5-1, including 26 knockouts. He was stopped three times.

Basilio fought twice since he won the title, outpointing Italo Scortichini and Gil Turner. His career list of 47-11-7 includes 21 kayoes. He was never stopped.

Promoter Offers $80,000 To Winner Of Tonight's Bout

SPOKANE, Wash. Pistons Defeat New York 104-99

By UNITED PRESS

Big Bob Pettit took over the National Basketball Assn. scoring lead today as the result of the season's biggest single-game performance—40 points.

Pettit's brilliant work in leading the St. Louis Hawks to a 108-95 victory over Philadelphia Tuesday night gave him a grand total of 252 points, five more than Paul Arizin of Philadelphia.

It also bettered by three points the best single-game effort previously this season, 37 by Neil Johnston of Philadelphia on Nov. 19 against Syracuse. Tuesday night both Philly stars were overshadowed by the six-foot, nine-inch Pettit, Arizin scoring only 14 points and Johnston 12. Pettit also leads the league in average points per game and rebounds.

Pettit notched 14 baskets and 17 free throws as the Hawks seized a 54-36 halftime lead and breezed home.

In other games Tuesday night, a doubleheader at New York, Fort Wayne defeated New York, 104-99, and Boston downed Syracuse, 105-97.

Mel Hutchins spearheaded a Fort Wayne rally that came from a 93-91 deficit with 3½ minutes to play to win. Larry Foust had 28 points and Hutchins 23 for the Pistons, while Ken Sears and Jim Baechtold had 18 each for New York.

George King of Syracuse tallied 31 points, but Boston won easily after holding a 53-6 halftime lead as Ed Macauley scored 27 and Bill Sharman 22.

Columbia City Eighth Wins From New Haven

The Columbia City eighth grade played the New Haven eighth grade Monday night at Columbia City. At the end of the first quarter the score was New Haven 9, Columbia City 6. At the half New Haven had 19 points, Columbia City 21. At the end of the third quarter New Haven had scored 27 and Columbia City 30.

Fifteen seconds left to go in the game Bill Schwarz made two foul shots, making the score at the end of the game Columbia City 43, New Haven 41.

The officials for last night's game were Harold Heater and Leonard Barnum.

The starting five for Columbia City are Ed O'Connor, Roger Johnson, Bill Schwarz, Bob Sutton and Stanley Shively.

The substitutes for the team are Bud Weeks, Donnie Goldwood, Jack Hyndman, Richard Waugh and Roger Clark.

The next game to be played will be with Warsaw at Columbia City, Thursday at 4:00 p.m.

Hartack Boots Home 2 Winners

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UP)—Willie Hartack, who is bidding to become only the second jockey ever to score 400 or more winners in a year, booted home two more winners at Tropical Park Tuesday to run his 1955 total to 392. Willie Shoemaker had 485 winners in 1953.

Circuit Court News

Suit for rent collection, venued from the Noble circuit court at Albion, has been brought to the Whitley circuit court for trial. This is brought by Forrest B. Beyer, Sr. and others, against the G. C. Murphy Co. The Beyers, trustees under an estate, charge rents are owed from Jan. 1 to Sept. 1, 1955 by the defendant company for a building in Kendallville and that $250 monthly is a reasonable rental for the premises. Judgment for $2500 is asked.

A petition has been received from Mrs. Doris V. Bowles, Toledo, O. adopted daughter of the late Frank and Milda M. Rideout, to collect $2500 from Granville O. Miller. She states that her adoptive mother was the daughter of Willis A. and Minerva Schuman Miller who predeceased her father. The petition is for settlement of an estate claim from Mr. Miller. Mrs. Bowles states that claims in a similar amount have already been paid her by Willis E. and Julia H. Miller and Mrs. Lydia N. M. Crabill, other heirs. Her attorney is Frank W Cubbon, Jr., Toledo.

Mrs. Lenna Collins' divorce suit against Keith Collins has been dismissed upon oral motion of the plaintiff at her costs.

A judgment for $791.01 brought by the Aircraft Gear Employes' Federal Credit Union against Jerry Fry, has been entered by the court the plaintiff consenting and the judgment is to be satisfied by payments of $20 weekly beginning Dec. 2.

In the matter of Henry Hinen, guardian for Arthur Hinen, a minor, settlement in the amount of $325 less $65 attorneys fees for personal injuries received May 19, 1945 in Roanoke when the minor was struck by the auto operated by George K. Morton, has been approved by the court. The $260 for the minor is to be invested in government bonds for his use until he reaches the age of 21.

The Whitley circuit court has granted a divorce to Robert Eugene Wright from Mary Louise Wright, recognizing a personal property settlement of the parties to the suit.

Bloom and Bloom are Wright's attorneys. The defendant did not appear in court, being represented by the prosecuting attorney, Edward J. Meyers.

In the estate of Mrs. Avis McClain, final report by the administrator has been filed. Dec. 23 has been set for the hearing on the final report.

Judge

Weber when the award was announced.

It was the third straight year that a teen-age girl has exhibited the grand champion steer and the second time in a row that the junior grand champion has gone on to win the top prize.

Nancy will probably get about $20,000 when Julius is sold at auction Thursday. She said she plans to use the money to "go to college."

Kentucky Wins Reserve

A sleek Shorthorn shown by the University of Kentucky got Weber's nod as reserve grand champion.

Weber, who has picked the grand champion for eight straight years, said a certain amount of fat is necessary on a top steer to provide flavor.

However, he added "an animal with a sagging waist-line can't get by a cattle judge any more than a gal with a 'spare tire' around her waist would stand a chance with Atlantic City beauty contest judges."

Basically, cattle judges look for the same qualities as when he started picking winners 34 years ago, Weber said. However, today's top animals are more evenly fleshed, or fattened.

Weber looks for a wide-deep, evenly fleshed animal with straight lines—a straight top, straight side-lines, and straight bottom lines.

"You can be sure that if you can feel what might seem, to the amateur, to be flesh on the ribs, that the something you feel is fat," he said.

At the companion International Hay and Grain Show, Willard C. Kirk of Jeffersonville, Ohio, was named "corn king" for the third time.

Chiang

eign office during the past two weeks and that Ambassador Karl Rankin and Charge d'Affaires William Cochran had conferred with Foreign Minister George Yeh.

Chinese sources said two appeals from Mr. Eisenhower had been forwarded to the generalissimo — one in the form of a letter and the other as a vocal plea made through Rankin. Both failed to sway Chiang, the sources said.

Tingfu F. Tsiang, Chinese Ambassador at the United Nations, said through a spokesman Tuesday China would use the veto "if necessary" to block Outer Mongolia's membership on the ground that this would be the first step toward recognition of Communist China.

Threatens To Wreck Deal

This threatened to wreck the 18 country membership deal — five Communist and 13 Western-backed nations — since Russia accepted the proposition on an "all-or-nothing" basis.

The feeling within the U. S. delegation was that China's announcement tended to destroy whatever bargaining power the Americans had with the Russians on the membership issue. An American source said the United States would not "ask anyone to vote against Outer Mongolia" and that they will not "ask anyone to abstain."

Some Western diplomatic sources talked of the Chinese veto intention as a step toward "suicide" for the Nationalists in the United Nations, but sources close to the Formosa delegation held that the decision was one of high national principle, and one involving the possible admission of Red China itself.

President Sends Party Message To GOP Meeting

Two-Day National Committee Meeting

CHICAGO (UP)—President Eisenhower sent a message to a meeting of the Republican National Committee here today and GOP leaders hoped it would contain some hint that he may run for a second term.

Mr. Eisenhower gave his message for top GOP brass to Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall during a 45-minute conference at the President's Gettysburg headquarters Monday.

Hall said after the Gettysburg conference that he feels Mr. Eisenhower will seek re-election in 1956 despite his recent heart attack "if he feels he is able." Republicans hailed Hall's statement Monday as a sign that the President may be a candidate again.

The two-day national committee meeting here shaped up as a possible preview of the Republicans' 1956 campaign strategy.

The theme of the conference was "administration Achievements towards Peace and Prosperity" and three Cabinet members were scheduled to defend the GOP's record against recent Democratic attacks.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations will start the Republican counterattack tonight with a speech outlining administration achievements in foreign policy.

Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson will take over Thursday with a defense of his controversial farm policies.

He will be followed with praise for the nation's general prosperity from Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks and Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell will speak on the nation's economic state.

Meanwhile, three committees worked out plans to streamline the party's national convention in San Francisco next year.

The committee on call of the convention was expected to add almost 100 delegates to the 1,206 who attended the 1952 convention.

Winston Churchill Has 81st Birthday

LONDON (UP)—The grand old man of Great Britain turned 81 quietly today in the afterglow of bright and hectic bygone years.

Gray and nearly bald now, Sir Winston Churchill gathered his wife and children around him for a private family lunch. That was all he had in the way of formal plans.

He felt it fitting to observe his birthday without fuss now that the noise of the combat that called him to greatness is past.

He told family and friends that he felt such a "minor milestone" as his 81st birthday deserved only quiet observance. He felt this especially in view of the honors heaped on him on his 80th birthday and the subsequent homage paid to him on his retirement as prime minister in April of this year.

Long Grilling Fails To Get Confession From Cab Driver

By JAMES KLOCKENKEMPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — A marathon police grilling failed today to wring a confession from cab driver Lloyd Miller that he raped and killed an 8-year-old girl.

Miller was questioned for eight hours and given two lie detector tests before police allowed him to go to a jail cell at 2 a.m. CST.

Authorities reported that the lie tests were inconclusive and that he stoutly denied any connection with the vicious murder of little Janice May at Canton, Ill., last Saturday.

The investigation turned today to Canton, where authorities planned to check a number of alibis given by the handsome, 29-year-old cab driver.

Sheriff Virgil Ball said that Miller maintained at one point that a man with a knife forced him to pack his belongings and drive from Canton to Pekin, Ill., early Sunday.

At another point, Miller said he fled from Canton because he was afraid he would be arrested and accused of the murder, Ball reported.

Ball also told newsmen that Miller talked of the killing to a woman companion Saturday night and related details that "only the killer could know."

The woman said that Miller told her "he was sorry he did it." Ball said. However, Miller denied making any such statement.

Janice was killed in a Canton rail yard as she walked to a playground near her home. The murderer tore the clothes from her body, attacked her, and then battered her head in. Her two brothers, who had been waiting for Janice at the playground, found the dying girl.

Hoosier Youth Reigns As World Corn Prince

CHICAGO (UP)—Thomas Halterman 16, Rushville, Ind., a member of a famous corn-growing family, reigned as world corn prince today as he basked in the glory of an International Livestock Exposition title.

Tom won with a 10-ear sample of a hybrid variety known as WF9X38-11.

His father Newt, was world corn king in 1946 and 1948, and his brother Lair was world prince in 1948.

Only six per cent of the cars in fatal accidents last year had mechanical defects; in all the others the driver or driving conditions were at fault. Extra care will prevent most drivers errors.

Decree Would Restore La Prensa To Rightful Owners

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — Government spokesmen said a decree woud be published at noon today restoring the newspaper La Prensa to its legitimate owners, the Paz family.

Interior Minister Eduardo Busso said another decree would annul the $2,700,000 fine levied by the ousted regime of Juan D. Peron against the world famous newspaper for alleged violations of custom duties on newsprints.

La Prensa, implacable foe of Peronism, was seized by the deposed dictator in 1951 and turned over to the General Confederation of Labor (CGT). Seizure of the newspaper, the most influential in Latin America, touched off world-wide protests.

With the fall of Peron came appeals for the return of La Prensa to its former owners. Monday, provisional President Pedro E. Aramburu announced that his government would correct the "outrage" perpetrated by Peron "against this great newspaper."

The decree was expected to be published Tuesday. However, Busso told a news conference Tuesday night that Aramburu had not yet affixed his signature and publication would come today at noon.

Undersecretary of Interior Carlos Muniz told newsmen standing by for the announcement to come back "at midday when I will have happy news for you."

Dr. Albert Gainza Paz, former editor and publisher of La Prensa, was scheduled to arrive here on Thursday from New York. It will be Gainza Paz' first visit since he was forced into exile after seizure of the newspaper.

El Intransigente of Salta, another independent newspaper seized by Peron, will reappear Dec. 15, according to its former publisher.

David Michel Torino made the announcement after visiting Aramburu at government house. Publisher of the newspaper before it was taken over, Michel Torino spent several years in jail during the Peron regime. He has been awarded the inter - American Press Assn. "Hero of Freedom of the Press" medal.

Search For Bodies Of Couple Missing From Bloody Home

LEBANON, Ill. (UP) — Authorities here launched an area-wide search for the bodies of a young couple missing from their bloody, bullet-riddled home since Sunday.

"This is the crime of a maniac," said Chief Deputy Clifford Ford of St. Clair County.

Every room in the neat white house was blood-spattered, and there were at least five bullet holes in the front door and windows.

Police theorized Harold Smith, 30, was shot in the living room. His wife, Arlene, 35, apparently had been mending a pair of overalls at a table in the kitchen. A piece of a partial denture was found on the floor.

The Smith home, a one-story, five-room house, is located a mile east of here, some 25 miles east of St. Louis, Mo. It is in an area frequented by hunters.

Law Enforcement, Education Credited With Effectiveness

CHICAGO (UP)—Men concerned with traffic safety in the nation's eight "safest cities" today credited the effectiveness of their life-saving programs primarily on law enforcement and education.

From little Wausau, Wis., which holds the National Safety Council's grand award for the second consecutive year, to Chicago with its million-plus population, the credit for effective safety programs was basically the same.

Washington, D.C., credited a point system for suspending and revoking driving licenses as the "single most effective factor."

The threat of suspension and revocation also helped build Chicago's safety record.

Patrolman Robert Sherwood, 49, was described as the guiding force in the program which most years brings national recognition to Cincinnati. He visits two or three schools a day, conducting a safety quiz or just discussing safe play, walking and driving.

"Get 'em while they're young, that's half the battle," he said.

Wausau's Police Chief Everett Gleason agrees. The 8 and 10-year-olds who attended compulsory safety classes 10 years or more ago now drive automobiles, he said "and they are safety conscious."

At Denver and Oklahoma City, Phoenix, Ariz., and St. Joseph, Mo., spokesmen for safety organizations credited hard working volunteers plus good law enforcement and public education for their safety program awards.

The Big Three Will Reject Soviet's Attempt To End Four-Power Rule

BULLETIN

LONDON (UP)—The United States, Britain and France instructed their ambassadors in West Germany to deliver a hands-off Berlin warning to the Soviet representative in East Berlin tonight.

By CAY BROCKDORFF
United Press Staff Corresondent

BERLIN (UP)The United States Britain and France prepared today to reject vigorously the Soiet Union's attempt to end four-power rule of East Berlin.

The East German Communists have laid formal claim to Berlin as their capital, and said that from now on the Western powers must follow Communist orders in East Berlin.

In Washington diplomatic sources said the West would deliver a sharp rejection of East Germany's claim. The sources said the West will spell out its position in a vigorous protest to Russia.

That position is that the Western powers are in Berlin by four-power accord, and that they have no intention of surrendering their rights in the face of East German Bluster.

A Foreign Office spokesman in London said the three Western powers are preparing a hands-off-Berlin warning to Soviet authorities here.

Won't Permit Grab

Inormed London sources made it clear that the West would not stand for any Communist grab.

Foreign Office officials in Paris said, "The Western powers agreed that the Berlin status should remain untouched and there is no question of altering it."

The Western Big Three preiously affirmed in a joint statement issued in New York Sept 28, that they intend to keep four-power control of Berlin.

Discussions were being carried on in Washington, London and Paris to prepare a new reaffirmation of Western views. It will be handed to Gregori Pushkin, the Soiet representative in East Germany.

The three Western ambassadors in Bonn also were holding talks with West German government officials before the note of protest was drafted.

West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano in a speech before the Bonn parliament today pledged continued support for the Western stand.

Indiana Reports Nation's First S-D Day Fatality

Only One Reported In State By Noon

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Indiana chalked up the nation's first reported Safe Driving Day fatality today as a car rammed a truck 27 minutes past midnight.

The crash near Richmond killed Robert Johnston, 44 Centerville, former Wayne County Democratic chairman. At noon, his was the only S-D Day death reported in the state.

But weathermen warned snow will start falling tonight, which could make highways treacherous.

State Police, who compiled an hourly tabulation in this nationwide traffic safety campaign, reported one major personal injury accident, on Ind. 9 near Anderson.

Four men were injured when a car and truck collided head-on. Most seriously hurt were Gene Shuck, 18, and Charles Dolenski, 46, both of Anderson, who were riding in a truck driven by William McGuire Jr., 29, Anderson.

It was struck by a car driven by Robert Owens, 20, Alexandria. Police said the accident occurred as Owens tried to pass another auto. Owens and McGuire were hurt less seriously than the others.

The Richmond crash shattered Indiana's hopes for a death-free day.

Grand Champion Steer Brings Bid Of $15 A Pound

Restaurant Owner Gives Nancy A Bonus

CHICAGO (UP)—Julius, grand champion steer of the 1955 International Livestock Exposition, sold today for $15 a pound.

At Julius' unofficial weight of 980 pounds, the sale would have brought his 16-year-old owner, Nancy Turner of Champaign, Ill., about $14,700.

But Howard Johnson, owner of the national restaurant chain which bears his name, and who bought the Aberdeen Angus, gave Nancy a bonus. He weighed her 12-year-old sister Jane on the scales with Julius, and their combined weight of 1,075 pounds added to a sales price of $16,125.

Nancy, who was speechless with excitement before the bidding got uybrwuc, ane oldyw omaenhlt id pleasure when the final gavel sounded.

The $15-a-pound bid was the same as last year's bid for the grand champion shown by Janice Hullinger of Manly, Iowa. The record price of $20 a pound, paid to Sue White of Big Spring, Tex., in 1953, still stands.

Ellard Pfaelzer, president of the Pfaeler Meat Packing Co. of Chicago, bid for Johnson. It was the 26th consecutive time he has bid for the grand champion of the International, and the 13th time he's walked away with the beef.

The reserve champion, U. K. Spotlight, the University of Kentucky's 1,150-pound shorthorn, was next on the auction block.

Then the remainder of the 7,000 head of fat cattle, hogs and sheep were to be sold, before the big show closes Saturday.

Nancy said she's earmarked the money for a college education.

Thumb Lacerated, Broken In Picker

Donald Studebaker, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Studebaker of South Whitley, received an injured left thumb Wednesday afternoon when it became caught in the cleaning rolls of his cornpicker while he was picking corn near Tunker at the farm of Mrs. Mable Shank.

Studebaker was attempting to unplug the picker when the accident happened. He is left-handed.

Clarence Coble was hauling the corn and luckily he was in the field at the time of the accident. Hearing Studebaker's call for help, Coble rushed to the cornpicker and found the injured man almost helpless. Coble removed the bolts, letting the rolls apart, and freed the young man.

Studebaker then was rushed to the Whitley County Hospital where he was given emergency treatment. X-rays showed his thumb to be broken in four places. Numerous stitches were required to close the cuts to the injured thumb.

U.N. Opens Full Debate On Plan For NewMembers

Despite Nationalist China's Veto Threat

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations opens a full debate on a package plan for new members today despite Nationalist China's determination to veto Outer Mongolia's application in a move that could wreck the whole deal.

Canada was scheduled to introduce, on behalf of 26 other sponsors, a resolution calling for the admission of 18 countries—five Communist and 13 sponsored by the West.

Under U.N. procedure, the General Assembly can elect new members—by a two-thirds vote—only after their admission has been recommended by the Security Council, of which Nationalist China is a member.

Canadian delegate Pau Martin hoped to roll up a commanding vote for the admission of all 18 countries in order to influence the Security Council against vetoing any of them.

However, no reply had been received to a personal appeal from President Eisenhower to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to reverse China's announced intention of using its veto, for the first time against Outer Mongolia.

Russia showed no sign of relenting from its position that it would veto all the applicants if Outer Mongolia—or any of the other four Communist satelites under consideration—is not accepted.

Widney to meet with the group and answer their questions about neighborhood work.

Anyone living the Southwest area of Etna-Troy township who wants to be in the neighborhood group should see Burnau at once. The roll of charter members is about complete and Burnau plans to close soon the opportunity for charter membership. Details will be explained to anyone who wants them.

The Etna-Troy Community now has two organized neighborhoods. The Northwest area was organized a year ago. Byron Miller is its chairman and Mrs. Edison Witmer its secretary. Neighbors report they are discovering a new sense of satisfaction in working together to promote sound farming and sound farm family living in their own area.

Ike Will Hold Conference With His Top Advisers

Has Go-Ahead From Doctors

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower, with a fresh go-ahead from his doctors, plunged into a busy schedule today climaxed by a two-hour conference with his top advisers on military, atomic and foreign policy.

Although the White House emphasized that no emergency was involved, it appeared from the star studded roster of those called to the conference that critical decisions might be in the making.

After a 45-minute examination Wednesday the President's physicians told him his recovery from a heart attack last Sept. 24 is continuing satisfactorily. They added that his activities still must be restricted.

Restrictions Being Relaxed

However, today's schedule pointed up that the doctors' restrictions are being relaxed steadily.

After a morning's work on budget and other government matters at his downtown Gettysburg office the President planned to drive to Camp David, MD., for a full-dress meeting of the National Security council this afternoon.

About 25 top oficials — including all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff — were summoned from Washington for the session. It was the second of its kind to be held at the mountain-top presidential retreat since Mr. Eisenhower came here for a work-and-rest recuperative period on No. 14.

Current problems presumed up for an airing included Russia's latest explosion of a hydrogen bomb: Nationalist China's threat to block a proposed package admission of 18 new nations to the United Nations, and agreement on budget figures for military and foreign air spending next year.

Seven Strikers Return To Work At Perfect Circle

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (UP) — Seven erstwhile strikers went back to work at the Perfect Circle Corp. foundry today, the first of about 200 who may seek reinstatement after a long and violent walkout.

They went back to the production line under a new contract laboriously written by company and CIO United Auto Workers officials while Indiana National Guard troops stood watch to halt vandalism.

A small force of troops remained on duty and will stay in the city at least through Monday, when a large force of strikers is expected to return. Many of them planned to ask reinstatement Friday.

So far, 15 have asked to return, company officials said, and Perfect Circle plans to double its shifts to put the strikers to work.

There was still some unrest as a result of the four-month strike which erupted into a shotgun riot Oct. 5. The company refused to rehire seven New Castle workers accused of "improper conduct" but agreed to arbitrate their cases.

Delinquency Plea Ends In 6-Month Suspended Term

Noble County Man Arraigned; Taxi Driver Lacks Bond

A 6-month penal farm term, suspended for two years conditioned upon his good behavior, was the result o James Bolen's plea of guilty before Judge Lowell Pefley Wednesday in answer to a charge of contributing to a minor girl's delinquency filed by Richard V. Payne, Churubusco police officer.

Bolen, aged 23, also was fined $25 and costs. The local court has placed him under the supervision of the Noble county probation officer and ordered him not to associate with girls under the age of 18. He has been instructed not to visit Churubusco unless on lawful business nor is he to frequent any taverns in Whitley county.

His arrest followed an alleged immoral act committed in Churubusco Nov. 27. The juvenile involved is a Noble county resident.

Cab Driver Held

Held in the county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond is Robert F. Berry, local cab driver. He is charged with petit larceny, apparel valued at $17 which was left in his cab Nov. 17 by Mrs. Rhua Vanderford

Dec. 5 has been set for hearing of triple charges against Jack A Pentecost, arrested at South Whitley Nov. 19 for improper parking of a truck, improper turning, and improper starting of a parked vehicle. He has retained Eldon Rush, North Manchester attorney, to represent him.

Pentecost was charged by State Policemen Norman Pierce and Keith Clevenger with stopping his truck on State street in South Whitley, route of State Road 5, too far from the curb, with turning right from the parked position onto Market street, his approach not being as close as practical to the curb, and starting his vehicle at a time its movement could not be made with reasonable safety.

Did You Miss Your Newspaper?

The Goss Press at the Post and Mail Publishing Company broke down about 4:45 p.m. Wednesday with Posts for six Columbia City mail routes and seven carriers still to be printed.

Examination revealed a bushing in the main drive shaft had broken. Yet to be run were the Posts on routes two through seven for the Columbia City post office and papers for carrier routes of Jack Hyndman, Ronnie Eberhard, Bill and Becky Snodgrass, Phil Fisher, Douglas Mundt, Bill Moyer and Steve Hile.

A call to the factory in Chicago gave the information that the piece would have to be cast. This was completed during the night and came by air this morning and was installed by Carl Beeson, and J. Harold Snyder of the Vetco Corportion.

Many calls were received by carriers and their parents as well as at the newspaper office. One mother said "I never knew before how much people depended on the paper."

By the time the trouble was determined it was getting pretty late to attempt taking the forms off the press and calling our closest neighbors with the same size press at LaGrange or Manchester to see if they could finish the run.

The new part (its only about six inches high and six inches across) was installed and the press run completed by 2:30 p.m. Thursday.

The fine spirit in which the news of the delay was taken by those who called in is much appreciated.

Mendes-France Opens Angriest Political Battle

Bitter Condemnation Of Premier Faure

By WILBUR J. LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP) —Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France today opened France's angriest political campaign in a century with a bitter condemnation of Premier Edgar Faure for leading the nation toward "castastrophe."

Mendes-France, once a close friend of Faure's, said he pitied the premier for his historic decision to dissolve Parliament since history must blame him for "the disastrous consequences for the governmental system and for the civil peace."

Mendes called a meeting of the executive committee of the Radical Socialist Party and it was reported he may read Faure out of the part.

The crisis broke Tuesday when the National Assembly heavily defeated Faure on a vote of confidence. Instead of resigning, Faure invoked and obscure clause of the constitution and announced he would "fire" Parliament.

Five Ministers Resign

The constitutional clause —not used since 1877 — stunned the Chamber of Deputies. It touched off a bitter battle between the left and right and so divided Faure's own cabinet that five ministers resigned.

The powerful Socialist Party also issued a blast at the Faure government and called a meeting of its assembly steering committee.

Constitutional lawyers also were studying to see whether the assembly could rush through a new electoral law before it is dissolved. Most wish to return to the pre-war system which resembled that of the United States.

Hopes Of Perfect Day Vanish Soon After Midnight

11 Persons Die By 11 a.m. Today

By UNITED PRESS

Death came to the nation's highways early on this Safe Driving Day.

It was the second annual observance of S-D Day, a day set by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety to bring to citizens' attention the toll that highway accidents take. But any faint hopes of a perfect day free of traffic deaths, vanished soon after midnight.

The national Safety Council, compiling and adjusting the death toll at its Chicago office from figures furnished by the United Press and other news services, showed 11 deaths by 10 A.M. CST. At that hour, Ohio led with four deaths, Louisiana had two, and Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and New York had one each.

In the early hours, the nation's Metropolis, New York City had no deaths, although it had 20 accidents including four which injured nine persons. The nation's capital city, Washington, had no traffic deaths in the first nine hours.

Can Name Recount Board After Dec. 3

The recount board to review the ballots cast in the town election at Churubusco Nov. 8 can be named after Dec. 3 by Judge Lowell Pefley.

Appointment of a recount board necessarily has been delayed due to the provision of the Indiana election laws which give elected candidates until Dec. 3 to file cross petitions.

In the Churubusco election two Democratic candidates for town trustees are contesting the election of the Republicans. These are William C. Veazey and Nile Egolf. Veazey received four less votes than his Republican opponent Cecil F. Allman. Egolf, by the election board's count, was defeated by Abraham D. Nestel by a majority of nine votes.

As the election Nov. 8 in Churubusco resulted in two Republicans and one Democrat being elected, upon the recount hinges which party will control the town's administration during the next four years.

75 Persons Attend Dairy Tour In County Wednesday, Sponsored By Dairy Council

"Labor represents one fourth of the total cost of producing milk on the farm" Lester Arnold, Purdue farm economist, told dairymen and their wives on a tour of dairy farms held Wednesday to study ways for reducing chore time. Six farms were visited by approximately 75 persons. John Foley, Purdue building specialist, pointed out the advantages and disadantages of the stable arrangements in use. The tour was sponsored by the County Dairy Council and directed, jointly, by B. V. Widney county agent, and Hubert Reinhold, assistant agent.

"Remember the first means for reducing labor is to get the cull cows out of the herd," Arnold advised. "Cows producing less than 8000 lbs. of milk a year won't pay regardless of how handily you have the dairy chores arranged. It's good business to know the pounds of milk each cow is producing. The good ones will pay wages in a well organized dairy," the economist declared. Five of the six herds visited were being tested by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Loose housing was practiced in part or in full on all but one of the farms. "Loose housing reduces labor load provided it is correctly managed," John Foley, the building expert, told the group. Little is gained if cows are fed and watered where they sleep. Increased labor in cleaning the cows and in managing the bedding offsets the other savings made. The cows should eat their hay away from the sleeping or loafing quarters, eat silage at another place, and drink water at a third distant point. They they will keep as clean as when stanchioned," he said. "Requirements of straw for bedding become moderate."

Who Are The Courteous Drivers?

This is S-D Day. It is the day on which the efforts of the entire nation are concentrated in an effort to have a 24-hour period free of traffic accidents; to save money, broken bones, suffering, anguish - and lives.

"It can be done," says Carl A. Miller, a Chicago Motor Club director, if we all drive courteously."

They are those who will:

Who are courteous drivers?

Pull to the right to let another car pass

Give ample warning when making a left turn;

Not follow the car in front too closely;

Never cut-in in front of another car;

Allow cars from side streets to enter moving traffic;

Slow down to prevent splashing folks at the curb;

Wait for pedestrians to pass before making a right turn;

Never rely on the "other fellow" to avoid an accident.

Follow these "courtesy of the road" rules and you'll find that not only December 1, but also every other day will be Safe Driving Day.

———o———

Stop signs, speed limit and warning signs are there for your protection. Watch for them and obey them — on S-D Day and every day.

Taxicab Driver Confesses Killing 8-Year-Old Girl

In Railroad Yard Last Saturday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) — A handome, curly-haired cab driver confessed today that he raped and killed 8-year-old Janice May in a Canton, Ill., railroad yard last Saturday.

The cabbie, 29-year-old Lloyde E. Miller Jr., broke down after eight hours of intensive questioning shortly after midnight.

He signed a statement confessing he tore the clothes from the little girl's body, molested her, and then killed her.

Miler told authorities that he came upon the little girl, whom he knew, as she was walking from her home to join her two older brothers at a playground.

"She said hello and was joyful," Miller said. "She walked with me to the railroad tracks."

The husky taxi driver admitted he molested the child and "she started screaming and crying. She said she was going to tell her mother."

"I went hysterical," Miller said in his statement. "I struck her with my hand and she fell and hit her head on a cement block."

Miller tried to hide the dying girl under a railroad car. Then he fled to an abandoned house, where he got rid of some of his blood-stained clothing.

Janice's brothers, led by their dog, found her a short time later. The attractive little girl, her head battered in, died in a few hours without recovering consciousness.

Rangers Defeat Black Hawks 6-1

By UNITED PRESS

It's easy to see that the New York Rangers' sudden emergence as a power in the National Hockey League resulted from a new-found scoring ability, but it's difficult to pin-point where the credit's due.

The Rangers stretched their unbeaten string to five games Wednesday night when they routed the Chicago Black Hawks, 6-1, and replaced the Montreal Canadiens as the highest scoring team in the circuit.

In the dressing room after the game, Coach Phil Watson explained the Rangers' scoring punch was a natural consequence of their new, hard-hitting offense. Patrick, who coached the team last season, said the reason was that the NHL is a low-scoring league this year.

In any event, the Rangers had little difficulty in sweeping aside the third-place Black Hawks for the fourth straight time this season. Andy Bathgate, 23-year old wing, scored one goal and assisted on three others while Dave Creighton tallied twice in the assault on Al Rollins.

Ranger goalie Lorne Worsley lost his bid for his fourth shutout of the season and third in four games when Jim McIntyre tallied at 14:51 of the final session. The victory moved the Rangers to within four points of the first-place Canadiens who play the Boston Bruins in tonight's only NHL activity.

In the other game Wednesday night, Dutch Reibel tallied at 10:49 of the third period to earn the Detroit Red Wings a 3-3 tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Aparicio May Replace Carrasquel

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (UP) —Manager Marty Marion has designated 21-year-old Louis Aparicio as Chicago White Sox' No. 1 candidate to replace Chico Carrasquel at shortstop.

Aparicio, a native of Venezuela, was brought up Wednesday from the White Sox' Southern Association Memphis farm club with which he hit .273 this year. Aparicio also led the circuit in stolen bases and was its all-star shortstop.

Story Of Susan's Christmas

(As told by Santa with the assistance of his magic crystal ball.)

"This story hasn't really happened yet, but by looking into my crystal ball, I can tell you what a happy Christmas Susan will have this year. So that this story will have a happy ending it had to have a happy beginning. One day when Susan and her mother were shopping they stopped at Blumenthals TOTS & TEENS Shop. Susan no more than got inside the door and she started oohing! and ahing! At all the beautiful clothes and wonderful toys she saw. Susan thought surely she must be in Santa's Headquarters at th eNorth Pole. With considerable persuasion her mother finally succeeded in getting Susan to leave and go home for lunch.

A few days later Susan was at my headquarters just bubbling with excitement and telling me about the wonderful things she wanted from Blumenthals TOTS AND TEENS. I'm sure she had everything in the store on her list. I won't be able to give her everything she wants because I've had a lot of orders for gifts from Blumenthal's TOTS AND TEENS but I am going to give her something I know she will like. I can't tell you what she is getting because I want to keep it a secret from Susan, but I can say I'm always sure of satisfaction when I deliver a gift from ----

Reuther Sees New Opportunities For Labor To Express Itself In Forthcoming Merger

NEW YORK (UP)—CIO President Walter Reuther today foresaw in the forthcoming merger of his organization and the AFL "great new opportunities" for labor to express itself effectively in almost every facet of American life.

In his annual report to the 17th CIO convention, which opens here Thursday, the CIO chieftain painted a rosey future for the new "American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations." The merger is scheduled to be approved Monday when the new AFL-CIO begins its inaugural convention.

Reuthers report took occasion to lambast the Republican administration and the 84th Congress, which, he said, "to date has not yet measured up to the mandate of the 1954 elections." But he added that the Congress "was handicapped by the absence of real leadership from the White House and by actual obstacles created by administration forces."

Reuther warned, however, that the steps taken toward merging 16,100,000 union members into one organization "do not provide in themselves guarantees of future success."

"If we make of unity only the convenience and comfort of the status quo, unity will do little to advance the cause of labor and to build a better America for our people," Reuther said. "But, if we meet the challenges, if our new organization is based on the dynamics of growth, we will be able to make real and tangible progress."

He said the merged organization would "set the stage" for a great organizing campaign and would be "more effective" in Congress and the state legislatures.

"As citizens, we will be better able to elect the best possible candidates for public office," Reuther said. "We will be devoted and effective in working for a rising standard of living and an economy of abundance...we can work for the strengthening of civil liberties and of civil rights; we can fight corruption, intolerance, discrimination and totalitarianism far more effectively than at any point in the past."

The CIO, at its convention, and the AFL, which also is holding a two-day convention here prior to the merger meeting Monday, are expected to approve the proposed AFL-CIO constitution with only minor changes. The changes are expected to be agreed on by both groups when they meet Monday.

Last year S-D Day reduced traffic fatalities 15 per cent and cut injuries 46 per cent. This year it is up to you — will you do your part?

Death Rides

was that of Robert Johnston, 44 Centerville, Ind., killed at 12:27 a.m. CST on U. S. 40 near Richmond, Ind. His car hit the rear of a semi-trailer truck driven by Charles Senig, 25, Terre Hill, Pa. State police said they believed Johnston was driving without lights.

The death count started quickly and there were at least three fatalities before S-D day was three hours old.

The first report came from Michigan, where L.T. Bell of Plymouth died when his car smashed into a Wayne County culvert at 2:15 a.m. EST. Shortly before 3 a.m. EST, Bruce Donald Mosher, 23, Glen Falls, N.Y., died when his car smashed into a tree on a curve. In the Chicago area, a 27-year-old sailor, Gerald Lagro, was struck and killed by a truck at 2:25 a.m. CST.

President Leads Appeals

President Eisenhower led the appeals for sanity and caution on S-D Day. He pleaded with all Americans "to help demonstrate that we can reduce accidents on our streets and highways.

"Last year, an American man woman or child was killed in traffic every 15 minutes," Mr. Eisenhower pointed out. "Someone was injured every 25 seconds. And, this year, the record is worse; more people are dying; more are injured and crippled."

On the first S-D last year, on Dec. 15, the safety council counted 51 traffic deaths. This was a reduction of only nine from the Dec. 15, 1953, total of 60.

The key figure today, however, was the total of 81 persons who were killed in auto accidents on Thursday, Dec. 2, last year. It was this toll which, safety experts hoped, would be cut dramatically before midnight tonight.

Traffic Record Worsening

Americans approached this year's S-D Day with a steadily worsening traffic record already on the books. There have been 60,980 traffic deaths in the nation during the first 10 months of 1955, a jump of 7 per cent over last year. In addition, the October, 1955 toll of 3,920 deaths was the worst for any October since 1937 and the highest death rate for any month since December, 1951.

The highway massacre continued in November, with 150 persons dying in car crashes during the 30-hour Thanksgiving holiday last week.

Cities and communities across the nation planned special measures to dramatize S-D Day and hold down the traffic rate.

Purdue Coach Ray Eddy Says His Basketball Boilermakers Are Potentially A Good Club

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UP)—Purdue coach Ray Eddy said today his basketbal Boilermakers are "potentially" a good club although "we don't have that big man."

Eddy, in his sixth year here, has six returning major lettermen from last year's 12-10 club which tied for sixth place in the Big Ten.

Heading the returning veterans are 6-4 senior Joe Sexson, who led team scoring with 373 points last year and was the best pay-maker on the squad; Dan Thornburg, 6-1 senior guard, and 6-5 forward-center Ron Jecha, another senior.

Eddy was confident 6-6 junior Lamar Lundy, a star football end, will be ready at least for part-time duty in Saturday's home opener against Missouri and will eventually be his No. 1 center.

He also banks on sophomore halfback Erich Barnes and such holdovers as 6-5 Joe Zimmerman, guard Maurice Lorenz, 6-3 forward Bob Bonhomme, and little Joe Campbell, the NCAA golf champion.

Those missing from last year's squad include center Don Beck center-forward Ted Dunn and little Dennis Blind, the Boilermakers' sparkplug who twice was named to the United Press "Small All-America" and scored 1,011 points in four years and 916 in three for school records.

"Offensively," said Eddy "we've got a pretty fair basketball team, as good as last season. But we'll miss the defensive rebounding of Beck and Dunn.

"I think we'll move the ball better and have the potential of being in the Big Ten's upper bracket . . . if we play ball."

Like his downstate rival Branch McCracken at Indiana, Eddy predicted Illinois and Iowa are the top Big Ten title contenders.

Eddy indicated he will experiment with various starting combinations during the first few games, which includes a two-game junket to the West Coast against Southern California and UCLA. But mainly he will depend on a starting combination composed of seniors — Sexson, Bonhomme, Jecha, Thornburg and Lorenz.

County Basketball Teams All To Be Busy Friday Night

County teams will be busy Friday night.

The Coesse Indians will host the Lancaster team. The Indians are seeking their fifth victory, having lost only to Harlan.

The Eagles of Churubusco will journey to Huntertown to try for their first win. Busco has lost to Coesse, Roanoke a close one to Wolf Lake and a close one to Larwill.

The Wolf Lake Wolves will go to Ligonier to play against Cromwell. Among their victims this season is Churubusco.

Carmen Basilio Retains His World Welterweight Title

ByJACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (UP)—Carmen Basilio, the "Iron Man" from Chittenango, N.Y', who again stopped ex-champion Tony DeMarco in Wednesday night's thundering return battle at jamed Boston Garden will make his second defense of the welterweight crown in February against another ex-champion Johnny Saxton.

Dr. Charles Heck of Syracuse N.Y. — personal physician to the courageous armor — plated welter king — said today he doubted that Carmen's injured left hand would prevent a February defense.

Real Iron Man

Only a real iron man of the ring could have survived the terrific battering Basilio took in the early rounds, before he came on to floor De Marco twice and win another 12th round technical knock out over slugger Tony, from whom he had wrested the 147-pound at Syracuse, N.Y. June 10.

Referee Mel Manning stopped the fight at 1:54 of the 12th.

He had taken such a battering before his body attack again began to wilt De Marco that all three ring officials had young Tony ahead on their score sheets at the end of the 11th round.

Christmas Cards More Colorful, More Varied Than Before

By MARGARET RICHARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (UP) — Take a measure of stardust, add equal portions of sunset and midnight sky, blend thoroughly and sprinkle the mixture liberally in an infinite variety of designs.

That's the story of this year's Christmas cards.

Whatever the sender's perference — whether brilliant hues or subdued tints — it can be fulfilled easily from the assortment of Yuletide greetings now in stores throughout the land.

Sharing the variegated spotlight is art-work styling that goes hand-in-hand with the latest in contemporary design and more than a hatful of fresh ideas. The use of glitter and sparkle, embossing and a new process that produces a realistic gem attachment have contributed additional glamour to the designs.

Slenderized

One of the most striking new trends is the "slim Jim" proportion that permits the presentation of mural-like designs in sweeping panorama fashion, according to a leading manufacturer (Hallmark Cards). A large percentage of the firm's 1955 Christmas card designs are in the slender styling, in keeping with the streamlined approach to modern living, he said.

Among the most popular card motifs, Santa Claus, glittering Christmas trees, boughs of holly and crisp snow scenes still rank as favorites.

The public's increased interest in religious Christmas cards is reflected in an expanded offering of such greetings this year, the Hallmark spokesman reported. Madonnas, the Wise Men, the Nativity and such revered subjects are among the leading designs in the religious card field.

(In New York, the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers, said that 10 years ago, the first post-war Christmas, less than five per cent of the cards were devotional in nature. This year, 20 per cent of the cards will have a religious motif).

New Ideas

Additional interest has been focused on the religious significance of the Christmas season by the new Advent cards—large, colorful greetings that tell traditional and legendary stories of Christmas.

There is a host of new ideas among the Christmas cards for youngsters. One features a complete magic kit — six easy-to-do tricks, a magician's wand, glasses and mustache and other paraphernalia essential for those who practice the occult arts. Others embody games and toys in their greetings. One card encloses two attractive barrettes to hold the young miss' hair in place.

The range of cards with special greetings has been enlarged this year. There are specific cards for every relative and in-law, as well as acquaintances and service personnel with whom one has had business during the year. Newest additions to the assortment include special cards for the baby sitter, the newspaper carrier and the milkman.

Conference Asks Higher Pay Scale For Our Teachers

To Compete With Other Fields Bidding For Quality Manpower

By BETTY PRYOR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — The White House Conference on Education today urged that teaching pay scales be set high enough "to compete effectivey with other fields bidding for quality manpower."

It also said "the prestige and status of teaching" must be made comparable to that of other professions.

The recommendations were carried in the conference's fourth general report, dealing with the question, "How can we get enough good teachers and keep them?"

The conference of 1,800 delegates from across the nation meantime moved toward a strong stand faoring federal aid for building much-needed new public schools. A formal report on the controversial federal aid issue is due at the concluding session of the four-day meeting tonight.

At round table discussions Wednesday, an overwhelming majority of the delegates appeared to be in favor of federal aid. But many of the placed conditions on their support, the chief one being that there should be no federal control over school programs and policies.

Would "Re-awaken" Public

The report on teachers said, "The American public must be re-awakened to the fact that teachers work with our most precious resource—our children."

The report reflected grave concern about the present "shortage of teachers"—a shortage that is expected to grow much more acute in the next decade as school enrollments continue to climb.

Conference officials estimated that the nation needs at least 165,000 more elementary school teachers and 40,000 more high school teachers right now.

The report took note of—but did not endorse—one widely-publicized proposal for combatting the shortage by hiring non - professional "teacher's aides" to take some o the routine work off the hands of trained teachers in the classroom.

The delegates said that more study and experimentation should be given to this plan before it can be definitely recommended.

tanks for milk in use on half the farms visited. Owners liked the tanks, found them easy to keep clean and were better pleased with their weights and tests. The cost of installation was the main criticism upon which all agreed. Well planned milking parlors save backaches and speed milking the four owners using them said. They would not do without them.

Gates which are frequently used should be replaced with cattle guards it was pointed out. One farmer replaced a front gate to the barnyard with a cattle guard several years ago. It has given excellent satisfaction and saved a lot of time for opening and closing. The tourists saw a silage unloader, a home made silage conveyor, a mechanical barn cleaner and a silo with no spoilage. All were giving satisfactory service. A newly constructed pole type loafing barn was inspected on the tour. The hay storage, silage feeding and watering areas were separate and apart from the loafing area. This idea works, the operator told the visiting tourists.

Farms visited were those of Monroe Kitson, Llew Myer, Robert Pontzius, Holden and Henry, Robert Lawrence and Lowell Yohe. The day was sponsored by the Dairy Council whose directors are Merle Kyler, Tom Western, Monroe Kitson, Gale Harris, John Mathias, Charles Wilsoxson, and Eugene Kitson.

Conference Tells President U. S. Must Spend More On Its Schools

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House conference on education advised President Eisenhower today that the nation must "spend more of our wealth" on schools.

The advice was contained in a formal report telling the President that the 1,800 delegates favored more federal money for public schools by a better than two-to-one margin.

The pro-aid stand, indicated by the delegates earlier, was confirmed Thursday night at the final session of the historic four-day conference.

Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education, and welfare responded to the conference's more aid plea with a "confident" prediction that the administration will submit to Congress next year a "broadened and improved" program of federal help for building schools.

Aid Most Controversial

Federal aid was the most controversial issue before the conference in its discussion of how to meet a current shortage of 203,450 class rooms and 141,000 qualified teachers and other school problems.

The delegates' answer made it clear that the states and local communities, too, must do more for the schools.

The nation has enough money to provide good schools, their report declared, but the problem is whether it will spend enough.

Specifically the conference recommended:

Federal aid for building public schools. It opposed aid for private or parochial schools. Delegates split about evenly on whether federal aid should be provided for school operating expenses.

More state aid, especially for poorer school districts.

Meditation

By Rev. Frederich Wraight
Big Lake Church of God

The Psalmist said, "Teach me, O Lord, the way of Thy statutes: and I shall keep it unto the end." Psalm 19:33.

In the days we are living now and the days that lay ahead, we need what the Psalmist was praying for. St. John said, "And the light shineth in darkness: and the darkness comprehended it not."

Therefore in our meditation for today, let us think and consider the way of peace — the way of light — and the way of hope.

Today Christ is crowded out of too many lives. No room for His word or His presence in our lives. We must make room for Him in our business and in our pleasures include Him in our conversations, and make room for Him in our homes. There is little or no time for Him in our hearts and precious little room for Him in our churches.

This little story might have a lesson for us. —It seems one dark night a young soldier, posted as a sentry before the barracks, heard the hoofbeats of His captian's horse. He went out and quickly offered his salute and then stood like a stone statue until the captain called out, "What good is a statue on a dark night? Open the gate so I can ride in."

Christ within is the answer to the world's problems and our own individual problems. Let His presence come into our life. Let His word guide us day by day, and let us say, "Teach me, O Lord, the way of thy statutes: and I shall keep it unto the end."

Truck Driver Crushed In Wreck Of 3 Large Semis

On Slippery Highway Near Fort Wayne

By UNITED PRESS

A truck driver was crushed today in the wreckage of three large semis which piled up on a slippery highway near Fort Wayne.

The traffic death occurred two hours after Safe Driving Day, during which Indiana chalked up two deaths slightly below its daily average. At last report, eight states reported from three to eight fatalities each.

The truck pile-up was on snow-covered U.S. 30 four miles east of New Haven. Thomas L. Hartley, 28, Wellston, Ohio, was killed, while Carlie Clark, Hamersville, Ohio, and Edmond Bopes, Rock-Island, Ill., escaped injury.

State Police said Clark's westbound truck skidded across the highway broadside, sliding to a stop with the tractor in one lane and the trailer in the other.

Nation's First Death

The approaching Hartley truck also westbound, had no place to go. It smashed into the Clark trailer. Then the Bopes truck came upon the wreckage in the darkness, slid getween the two wrecked semis, overturned and tore down a utility pole.

Indiana's traffic deaths on S-D Day were hours apart. Robert Johnston, 44, Centerville, was killed when his car rammed the rear of a truck near Richmond just 27 minutes after the safety campaign started. This was the nation's first Safe Driving Day death.

At 4:30 p.m. Harold Weir 55 Sullivan was killed in a two-car collision near his hometown. Poice said a car driven by Ray Hendricks 44 Dugger, went out of control on the snow-covered road and skidded head-on into Weir's auto. Hendricks was injured.

No Reason to "Crow"

Authorities were not satisfied with the S-D Day toll, hoping as they were that the day might be death-free.

It was an improvement over S-D Day a year ago, when five died on Indiana highways. Said one trooper: "It was an improvement over the five, but it still wasn't anything to crow about."

Ike Resumes His Weekly Defense Confabs Today

Appointment With Wilson And Radford

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower today resumed the weekly defense conferences he held before his heart attack.

The Chief Executive made a mid morning appointment to see Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

There was no announcement as to what they would discuss. Some talk was likely on the new military budget, although a separate conference on that subject with Wilson and Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes is on the President's schedule for next Tuesday.

Today's talks followed a top-level strategy meeting on defense and foreign policy matters between the President and his National Security Council Thursday at nearby Camp David, Md.

Top Officials Present

About 25 administration officials, including Wilson and Radford, attended that meeting, which was held at the presidential retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

Details of the council session were top secret, but it presumably dealt with such issues as Rus-

2 Minor Crashes Mar S-Day Goal; None Is Injured

County's Traffic Deaths Stand At 6 With 29 Days Yet To Go In 1955

Two minor accidents in Columbia City in which none was injured, marred Whitley county's goal in a no-accident Safe Driving Day.

Thus far in 1955 six lives have been lost on Whitley county highways and yet to reckon with are 29 more winter driving days before the books will be closed on the year's accident records. Heavy snows were attributed as partial cause of three of the six traffic deaths in 1955.

The most heavily traveled highway through Whitley county — U.S. 30, and the major highways such as U.S. 33, state roads 9 and 14, were relatively the most safe during the past 11 months.

The traffic fatalities resulted on state road 205 between Churubusco and Columbia City when two died in a snowstorm accident last Feb. 10 and a third died Feb. 13 of injuries received in the same accident; on Old U.S. 30 a mile and a half west of Columbia City last March 27, on state road 5 on July 6, and one mile east of Jefferson Center on July 25.

Seven lives were lost in traffic accidents during 1954. If the remainder of 1955 elapses without adding to the total of six, Whitley county will have improved its annual record by more than 14 per cent.

First Crash at 4:19 P.M.

S-Day's accidentless record was broken at 4:19 p.m. Thursday when local police were notified by Mrs. Carl Killian and Mrs. Gertrude Quinn that their cars collided at Swihart and Ohio streets. None was injured.

Mrs. Quinn, leaving her parking position on Swihart street to drive westward, struck the side of Mrs. Killian's car as she made a left turn at the Ohio-Swihart street intersection. Mrs. Killian was southbound on Ohio, turning east onto Swihart. Damage was believed to be under 50.

The property damage was much more at 11:25 p.m. Wednesday when Ralph B. Rodgers, R 3, skidded on South Main street as he approached the bride. His car slid around on the icy street, damaging all four fenders and both doors. He was driving a 1948 Plymouth coupe. Damage to the car was estimated at $400. City police investigated.

Rodgers told them that the skid resulted when he applied his brakes. A city-owned sign along the west side of Main street at the municipal plant drive was damaged when hit by Rodgers' car.

Faure Disbands French National Assembly Today

Abruptly Ends Threat To Unseat Him

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure disbanded the French National Assembly today in a controversial political stroke that abruptly ended its threat to unseat him as premier.

The assembly ceased to exist at 7 a.m. (1 a.m. EST) with publication of the decree in the "Journal Officiel." France immediately prepared for elections on New Year's Day.

Faure called a press conference for today to explain his move which was condemned by his political enemies as a "coup de force" —riding roughshod over the will of Paliament.

The Council of State, France's supreme constitutional court, called a hurried session to try to find a loophole to prevent the elections falling on such an unpopular date — the morning after for 40 million Frenchmen. The council hoped to set the elections for a week later.

French voters have been perplexed for a week by the rapid fire political moves that exploded into one of the gravest crisis since 1877 when last a Parliament was dissolved by such a decree. And their reaction to possibilities of a Present employment is approximately 425. Following the dinner, the club members were taken on a tour of the plant facilities by Paul Hawkings, chief engineer. New additions to the manufacturing company were included in the inspection and the Shrine members were told of the company's plans for an auditorium for company and community use.

Diver Trapped For Eight Hours In Frigid Waters

Is Rescued By Fellow Divers

By BRYCE BURKE
United Press Staff Correspondent

SOLOMONS, Md. (UP)—A Navy diver recuperated today from the ordeal of being trapped for eight hours in frigid, pitch-black waters 130 feet below the surface of Chesapeake Bay.

Fellow divers succeeded after frequent setbacks in freeing Joseph R. Tallarico, 35, early Thursday night as he was about to collapse because of cold and pressure.

Tallarico had become trapped at 11:15 a.m. EST when swift underwater currents tangled his lines around a dummy mine he was trying to recover. The mine contained scientific instruments and photographic equipment used in underwater research by the Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Washington.

Hampered By Tides

The 20 divers who took part in the rescue were hampered by strong tides, and by the darkness at the depth where Tallarico was trapped.

When freed, Tallarico was brought slowly to the surface to prevent him from suffering an attack of the dread divers' disease known as "the bends," which results from a too-sudden change in pressure.

The diver emerged from the chilled water smiling despite his benumbed arms and legs and told rescuers he was "glad to be out."

During the early hours of the ordeal he maintained good spirits. But later he complained of cold and soreness and suffered sharply during the slow and painful ascent to the surface.

Chief Warrant Officer Gerald Church said that several times during the rise to the surface Tallarico said: "I can't stand any more of this."

Did Not Blackout

But Church said Tallarico, who remained conscious during the entire operation, "never got panicky."

At the surface he was examined by doctors and rushed into a decompression chamber for four hours so that he could gradually adjust to the lighter pressure above ground.

His wife watched through a window in the chamber, smiling encouragement. When Tallarico emerged, she ran into his arms for an embrace and long kiss. Both were smiling through tears.

Tallarico, who holds a chief metalsmith rate, was put to bed for the night in the infirmary at the Naval Ordnance Laboratory at Solomons. His condition was satisfactory.

Strike Leaves Detroit Without Daily Newspaper

For First Time In Its History

DETROIT (UP)—Suspension of publication of the Detroit Free Press forced by a strike of stereotype workers left Detroit without daily newspaper service today for the first time in its history.

The strike entering its second day had forced the Detroit News and the Detroit Times to cease publication Thursday.

The Free Press the city's only morning paper which got out its Thursday editions before the strike began posted lay-off notices for all but supervisory personnel. The lay-offs became effective at the end of the Friday shifts.

Many employes of the Times also were told not to report to work because of the strike. Staff reporters of both the Tomes and the Free Press are represented by the CIO American Newspaper Guild.

The News staff which is not represented by the Guild was ordered to report to work today at usual times.

The Guild reporters had reported to work Thursday. The Guild Thursday adopted a resolution supporting the striking stereotypers "to the fullest extent possible."

Conant Reaffirms 4-Power Control Of Entire City

Says United States Will Stay In Berlin

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN (UP) — U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant said today the United States will stay in Berlin and hold the Russians responsible for their sector of the city despite East German defiance of occupation regulations.

Conant told a news conference in the divided city that the United States will "continue to hold the Soviets responsible for the proper treatment of U.S. national."

He said he traveled to Berlin from Bonn Thursday "to give visible proof of the continuing interest of the United States government in the welfare of this brave and important city."

The ambassador said his presence in Berlin "further underlines" United States determination to remain in the city a stand which was set forth in a stiff note Conant presented to Soviet Ambassador G.M. Puskinh Thursday.

The note similar in tone to notes presented by Britain and France reaffirmed four-power occupation of the entire city. It denied East German claims to control of the city by virtue of their "sovereignty" by insisting that Russia still is responsible for control of the eastern sector.

Conant referred to the East Germans' regime which the West

Safety Experts Show Frank Disappointment Over Poor Showing Of Nation On S-D Day

By UNITED PRESS

Safety experts expressed frank disappointment today over the nation's poor showing on safe Driving Day.

The 24-hour period ending at midnight Thursday night had been expected to show a drastic drop in fatal traffic accidents.

But a United Pdess count showed that 60 persons had died on the streets and highways.

The figure represented a sharp drop from the 81 persons killed on the comparable Thursday last year, Dec. 2. But it was well above the 51 persons killed in the first S-D Day on Dec. 15 last year.

In addition, it was feared that late fatality reports might push the final toll close to the 69 killed in traffic accidents two weeks ago on Nov. 17, when no special effort was made to cut down the death rate.

President Eisenhower's Committee on Traffic Safety had tried to demonstrate for the second year in a row that the nation's motorists could make a dramatic cut in traffic accidents if they wanted to.

Results Disheartening

Adm. H. B. Miller, the committee director, admitted the final results were disheartening.

"The fact that the S-D Day toll has exceeded the one last year naturally is a disappointment to the thousands of people and scores of organizations who worked so hard to make this day a demonstration that team work on the highway could bring about a drastic saving in human life," he said.

California reported the worst record of 9, with Ohio reporting eight traffic fatalities. There were six in Tennessee and three each in Missouri, Michigan and Washington and four in New York and Pennsylvania.

Across the nation there were fatal traffic accidents in 25 states while death took a holiday in the 23 others and the District of Columbia.

Nighttime Hazards

The hazards of nighttime driving coupled with bad weather which hit much of the nation produced a late rash of S-D Day accidents.

Snowy weather swept the Midwest and the accident rate nosed

The council meeting broke up at 4:25 p.m. EST and the President left on the trip back to Gettysburg five minutes later. He was accompanied by Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., who briefed Mr. Eisenhower on Justice Department matters.

Second Council Meeting

The President's conference at Camp David was his second meeting there with the National Security Council in two weeks. As before, some council members flew up from Washington by helicopter. But others chose to go by auto.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was one of those who flew but did not appear to be too enthusiastic about helicopter travel. He said the trip was "all right" and "not as bad as last time" when high winds made it troublesome for the pilots.

Mr. Eisenhower covered the 44-mile trip to Camp David and back to Gettysburg by auto, his chauffeur never driving more than 50 miles an hour. This was the President's way of observing "Safe Driving Day" which he proclaimed Thursday in an effort to reduce traffic accidents.

More pay for school teachers and better fringe benefits for them.

Consolidation of poor and inefficient school districts.

The conference recommended— and Folsom agreed—that federal aid should bring no federal control over the schools, should be based on need, and should not decrease state and local funds for schools.

Federal aid backers immediately interpreted the conference's position as providing powerful support for pushing legislation through Congress next year.

does not recognize as the "so-called German democratic republic."

"We insist we have the right of free circulation Berlin he said

"We shall continue to exercise these rights according to four-powe agreements and if new incidents which I do not expect happen we will protest again."

The official Communist Party newspaper Neues Deutschland mouthpiece of the Red regime said flatly in an editorial that Berlin no longer has four-power laws and East Germany is sovereign.

U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant who sternly warned the Soviets they would be held responsible for the safety of U.S. citizens in Russian-occupied areas arrived in Berlin by train for a report on possible tightening of the Red ring around the free section of the city. He was met by Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr. the American commandant.

West Berliners feared a repetition of the 1948 Communist blockade of the city designed to squeeze out the Western powers which was broken only by a massive airlift of supplies.

The Neus Deutschland editorial was the first East German answer to Western demands that the Soviets keep hands off the status of Berlin.

Allies deliver Notes

The American British and French ambassadors to Germany delivered similar notes to Soviet Ambassador to East Germany G. M. Pushkin warning the Soviets the West would oppose any Russian attempts to surrender four-power control of the city to the German Communists.

American officials in Washington doubted that the Russians and East Germans will throw any outright physical challenge to the West although all threatening possibilities are under constant study.

Instead the West expects a long line of "nasty incidents" designed to force some kind of recognition of the East German Communist regime.

"There is no question about our standing firm in Berlin" one official in Washington said. "We are going to meet these Red maneuvers calmly but with an ice cold determination to maintain our rights."

upward.

The nation's two major cities New York and Chicago reported no traffic deaths. But there were plenty of accidents. In New York there were 173 smashups and 80 persons injured while Chicago mired in snow and slush reported 171 accidents and 45 injuries.

Detroit another snowbound city had 231 accidents and Houston Tex. counted 103.

Four Western cities held their second annual "crumpled fender" contest to see which would get the booby prize for the most traffic accidents. Phoenix Ariz. won the dubious honor with 20 while Austin, Tex., and Sacramento, Calif., both had 18. The El Paso Tex., total of 13 accidents was the lowest, but a man was killed in one of the smashups.

union and the Detroit Newspaper Publishers' Assn. which represents the three papers were broken off.

Other mechanical union workers refused to cross the picket lines.

The Free Press in its final Thursday edition said two demands not dealing with wages caused the strike.

It said the stereotypers demanded that an extra crew be provided to process color plates and that they be given a full day's pay regardless of how long they work. It said the union also sought overtime pay for handling any material not used on the same day. The newspaper said this would prevent advance work readying for big editions such as Sunday's except on an overtime basis. All three papers publish Sunday editions.

George Robinson president of the stereotypers local said the union wasn't demanding a special crew for color plate work.

"We are requesting that the work be performed outside regular shift hours at a minimum amount of overtime pay to relieve the excessive work load" he said.

Detroit Dumps Notre Dame, Butler Defeats Wisconsin, While St. Joseph DrubsFordham

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

A round basketball can take bounces just as funny as an egg-shaped football, and so the college basketball season started with Notre Dame, Wisconsin, and Fordham suffering upsets that should be a warning to national champion San Francisco.

These were the "shockers" as the Dec. 1. curtain went up on the court season Thursday night: Detroit dumping Notre Dame, 77-71; Butler nipping Wisconsin, 67-63; and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia drubbing Fordham, 89-71.

San Francisco, NCAA champ which lost only one game last year opens its title defense tonight with what figures to be an "easy" game against Ohio State. But it's obiously as dangerous as playing with a loaded gun to call games "easy" because:

Detroit, which hadn't beaten Notre Dame in 24 straight meetings, led almost all the way as forward Bill Ebben poured in 13 baskets and six free throws for 32 points. Notre Dame, trailing by 15 points, 48-33, at halftime pulled within six points with four minutes left but then couldn't get nearer. Lloyd Aubrey had 22 for the Irish.

Last Minute Play

Butler tallied five points in the last minute to beat Wisconsin on the losers' court. Bob Plump, high scorer with 18 points, made the key play with a minute left when he stole the ball for an easy layup that put Butler ahead and in charge, 64-61.

Fordham, ranked 13th nationally in pre-season ratings by the United Press Board of Coaches found its soph-loaded lineup collapsed, under pressure. Trailing by 41-37 early in the second half, the green Rams got rattled as Mike Lynch led a St. Joseph splurge that blew the game open. Lynch led all scorers with 25 points.

North Carolina State (No. 4 nationally) and Dayton (No. 6) scored easy wins as their giant All-America candidates tested out the new rule that widened the free throw lanes to 12 feet this season.

N.C. State cruised to an 88-63 decision over Florida State. Wolfpack star Ronnie Shavlik, six-eight seemed bothered by the wide lanes on offense and tallied only 10 points, half his usual total. Dayton was held to a 28-23 halftime edge by Pepperdine but ran wild in the second half for a 75-35 win

Other Top Games

In other leading games on opening night: Alabama, ranked No. 15 nationally, tuned up with a 95-55 rout of Jacksonville State; Southern Methodist, No. 18 nationally also breezed in an 82-67 win over North Texas State; Ron Sobieszczyk scored 29 points to lead De Paul to its 107th straight home court win, 84-66 over Illinois Wesleyan; La Salle hipped Millersille State, 88-70; Temple downed Albright, 87-56; North Carolina took a 91-72 win over the McCrary Eagles; Missouri downed South Dakota, 71-46; Niagara trounced Buffalo State, 77-51; Seton Hall crushed Toronto, 93-60; South Carolina drubbed Citadel, 80-50; and Tulsa downed Texas A&M, 48-43.

Besides San Francisco, five other high-ranked teams will open their season tonight. UCLA (No. 7) plays Brigham Young, George Washington (No. 10) faces Wake Forest, Marquette (No. 12) plays St. Norbert, and Washington (No. 14) plays a Pacific Coast Conference game against Stanford.

Warriors Defeat St. Louis Hawks

By UNITED PRESS

The Philadelphia Warriors may be much stronger four years from now when they get Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, but right now they're so strong they're running away with the National Basketball Assn. race.

The Warriors' 115-98 rout of the St. Louis Hawks at Philadelphia Thursday night, in which they led by 10 points after the first five minutes and rambled home, was their ninth win in 12 starts and gave them a two-game lead in the Eastern Division.

In the only other game played, also at Philadelphia, Minneapolis helped boost the Warriors' division lead by beating second-place New York, 97-90.

Knicks' Coach Joe Lapchick recently protested against the Warriors being allowed to draft Chamberlain, the sensational seven-foot Kansas freshman, four years in advance. But the Warriors didn't need Wilt as they ripped off an 18-8 lead in five minutes, made it 34-17 at the quarter and 68-45 at the half. Neil Johnson led the way with 31 points and 25 rebounds and Jack George added 22 points. Bob Pettit of St. Louis, the league-leading scorer, notched 22.

Minneapolis, trailing 47-42 at halftime, overwhelmed the Knicks in the second half when Dick Schnittker scored 12 of his 18 points. Clyde Lovellette had 21 for the Lakers and Ray Felix 22 for New York.

Logart Favored Over Virgil Akins

NEW YORK (UP) — Speedy ambitious Isaac Logart of Cuba is a 6½ to 5 favorite to avenge his only setback this year when he clashes tonight with hard-hitting Virgil Akins in a battle of welterweight contenders at Madison Square Garden.

Logart is ranked sixth in the welter class and Akins third, so tonight's bout could produce a spring challenger for the winner of the February title fight between champ Carmen Basilio and Johnny Saxton.

Akins, 26-year-old St. Louis, Mo., battler who is unbeaten in nine straight fights, scored a narrow split decision over Logart when they met for the first time on Aug. 8 this year at St. Nicholas Arena. Logart had been leading after six rounds carried the decision.

Since then, 22-year-old Logart has come back to score impressive victories over Al Wilson and Gil Turner. Akins has since scored a victory over Harold Jones.

The victor tonight could very well become the No. 1 contender for the welterweight championship in very short order. The only fighters presently ranked above Akins are former champs Tony De Marco and Johnny Saxton. Champ Carmen Basilio stopped De Marco at Boston on Wednesday and will meet Saxton in a title fight in February. Thus, tonight's winner might be moved along to make a spring challenge for the crown.

Logart has had 49 professional fights. He's won 39, 18 by knockout, lost five and drawn five. Akins has had 45 pro bouts, winning 31, 15 by knockout, losing 13, and drawing one.

Freeze Batter Now

URBANA, Ill. — (UP) — Busy housewives can save time during the busy holidays by making their cake batters now and freezing them, University of Illinois foods instructor Mary McAuley advises.

Prepare the same recipe for freezing that you would use for baking a cake today.

But use double-acting baking powder, because it reacts at a much higher temperature than other types and has a good leavening action. Also use a pure vanilla.

Then just package the batter and freeze it.

When you're ready to bake, defrost the batter in a refrigerator overnight or at room temperature for five hours. Pour the batter into a greased loaf or layer pan lined with waxed paper, and let it stand at room temperature for 15 to 20 minutes before baking.

Frozen batter can be kept a long time, but after about three months your cakes are likely to be coarse-grained and heavy.

Faure

New Year's election was varied.

French Woman Above All

"Above all I'm a French woman," said Marcelle Joubert, 45, a blonde tradeswoman. "I'll vote."

"To hell with it," said taxi driver Henri Terrine, 65. "Im not going to spend the best day of the year voting."

Dissoution of Parliament was the second time in two days Faure had left the hostile deputies gasping. They voted no confidence in his government Tuesday and went home to bed, confidet he would resign.

But Faure looked up a constitutional provision which said he could fire Parliament if two premiers were voted out of office in 18 months. So he announced his decision.

The angry assembly members held a series of meetings Thursday and the powerful Socialist Party began a move to recall the chamber and pass a vote of censure—which would mean Faure would have to resign.

And although he realized how unpopular a New Year's Day election would be he ordered President Rene Coty to prepare the decree abolishing Parliament.

Bitter Enemies Agree

Faure and Pierre Mendes France, his most bitter political enemy, agreed for once that the decree is issued by the president "but it is the preimer who decides."

That was probably the last area of agreement for the two men, once the best of friends, now mortal enemies. Mendes-France called a meeting of the Radical Socialist Party and its leaders decided by a vote of 19 to 8 to expel Faure from the party. That action is not final until the entire party membership votes on it.

Faure's abrupt move—which he had hoped to postpone for a week—also ended Parliament's chances of revising the unpopular 1951 election law by which small parties can team up in alliances against the big parties.

Faure was angry at the assembly for its failure to take strong and resolute action on any decision before it. But his political enemies said he would defeat his own purpose — that elections under the 1951 law would return the same assembly members.

Under the French constitution Faure would remain in office until after the elections and the new assembly meets the third Thursday after elections — probably Jan. 19 — and chooses a new premier.

Plan the Christmas dinner so that the turkey is out of the oven 20 to 30 minutes before serving. This makes the meat juicer, the carving easier.

Students Of Georgia Tech Storm State Capitol, Defying Troopers

United Press Staff Correspondent

ATLANTA (UP)—Georgia Tech students defied troopers armed with tear gas today in a riot protesting Gov. Marvin Griffin's ban on Tech's Sugar Bowl football engagement with Pittsburgh, which has a Negro player.

State highway patrolmen reinforced by detachments from throughtout North Georgia moved in on some 2,000 shouting students who marched upon the governor's mansion after storming the state capitol.

The capitol was left a shambles of overturned waste baskets, desks and sand boxes.

Four agents of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation were engulfed by one group of hundreds of students who scuffled with building guards on the capitol steps. One GBI agent received a punch on the head.

The students then marched to the executive mansion, leaving burned effigies of Griffin and overturned sidewalk trash baskets strewn along miles of their path up famed Peachtree St.

A growing body of Atlanta and Fulton County police retreated

Dairy Members Elect Officers At Annual Meet

Holden Speaks On Production Records

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association of Whitley county held its annual meeting at the REMC home Monday evenng. Members brought their families and enjoyed together a carry-in supper. Gale Harris the president, was in charge of the arrangements. Richard Holden gave a talk on the value of records. The Nix sisters, daughters of Kenneth Nix, entertained with accordion and piano numbers.

"Running a dairy without production records is like taking an automobile trip without a map," Richard Holden, owner of the Collinwood Dairy, told the group. "Records guide the dairyman in feeding, in breeding and in culling. One must know about how much money each cow is making him in order to spot the boarders. Without production records, you have to guess and we know from years of experience that you can be badly fooled. Those cows in the herd that are producing less than 10,000 lbs. of milk a year, all conditions being normal, are not payng their way. Get rid of them," he advised.

It was announced that Don Beard would succeed Roger Schuman as Supervisor of testing in the ensuing year. Officers for 1956 were elected as follows: Gale Harris, president; Don Gerdes, vice-president; Tom Western, secretary; Monroe Kitson, director; and Richard Holden, second director.

The president stated that more herds could be accepted into the association. Interested dairymen should see the supervisor or any officers for detailed information.

Second Chicago Area Woman Is Found Strangled

Check Similarities Between Two Slayings

CHICAGO (UP)—Police today checked similarities between the slayings of two middle-aged women whose strangled, bound bodies have been found in the Chicago area within the last 10 days.

The latest victim was Mrs. Ruth Beal, 50-year-old mother of two, whose nude body was discovered under a pile of rugs in her suburban Harvey home Friday. She had been criminally assaulted, beaten, and strangled by a silk stocking knotted around her neck. Her hands were tied behind her.

On Nov. 23, the body of Mrs. Edith Jamieson, 48, was found strangled and trussed up "like a steer" in a dirty alley on Chicago's South Side. A piece of cloth was knotted around her neck so tightly that it was deeply imbedded in her flesh.

Police have not found the killer of Mrs. Jamieson, a divorced mother of six children. However, it was reported that they were searching for a former convict in the Beal killing.

The ex-convict had roomed at the Beal home, but was evicted when obscene literature was found in his room, it was reported.

Mrs. Beal's husband, Larry, 53, found his wife's body when he returned from his Chicago job late Friday.

Police Chief Matt Romer said Mrs. Beal had apparently been assaulted on a blood-covered bed in a front bedroom. The killer then dragged his victim to the rear room and hid her, Romer said. The house was ransacked.

Mrs. Beal's two children were absent from the home at the time of the murder. Her 16-year-old son, Frank, was at high school, while her daughter, Mrs. Barbara Homan, 21 is a Tempe, Ariz. resident.

Postmaster Harry Bollinger Gives Tips And Rules For Mailing Christmas Packages

Postmaster, Harry G. Bollinger, announces that there has been a steady increase in the flow of Christmas cards and packages through the post office the past few days. In November, 1954 the post office handled 123,600 pieces of mail and 343,490 pieces of mail in December. He is anticipating that the post office will be handling approximately the same amount of mail this Christmas season. There will be six to eight extra employes to help handle the mail.

Bollinger says he is glad to see that many people are getting their Christmas gifts for distant points into the mail this week pointing out that packages addressed to folks living in other states should all be mailed before December 5 and those for nearby points before December 10.

He also stresses the need for everyone to cooperate on his 1955 "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign. That by following these three simple rules. "Wrap them securely, address them correctly, and mail them early," you are certain to have your gifts delivered before Christmas Day.

If you have any articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the post office before attempting to mail them. The limits on size and weight of packages varies.

It is always better to use corrugated cartons for shipping your gifts especially where there are a number of various sized objects. Use plenty of wadded tissue or newspaper in the cartons for extra protection against shock. Complete each package by wrapping in heavy paper and tying it with strong cord.

As an extra precaution against loss, Bollinger advises placing both your return address and the recipient's address inside the carton or package before it is wrapped.

Don't seal your parcel unless you include a notice reading "Contents merchandise—may be opened for postal inspection" along with your return address and the recipient's address on the mailing label.

If you use Christmas stckers or seals put them on the back of your Christmas cards and packages so that they will not conflict with the address on the front.

Before you release your packages be sure that proper postage is firmly affixed to each and it's a good idea to place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the address portion of the label to prevent defacing it in transit. Make sure to include the recipient's full name, street address, city, zone and state.

The postoffice has available red and white stickers to place on packages which designate whether they are for local delivery or out-of-town delivery. By placing them on the packages it will expedite delivery.

Ike Calls Top Congressional Leaders Today

First Legislative Conference Since His Heart Attack

By FRANK ELEAZER
United Press Staff Correspondent

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower called his top congressional leaders today to the first legislative conference he has held with them since his heart attack Sept. 24.

At separate meetings with House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass) and Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (alif.), Mr. Eisenhower was expected to outline in rough form the legislative program he will lay before the Democratic - controlled Congress in January.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty pictured the talks as a "preliminary discussion" to presidential conferences in Washington Dec. 12 with all Republican congressional leaders and on Dec. 13 with key congressional figures of both parties.

Martin said in Washington he did not know what Mr. Eisenhower planned to discuss but assumed the talks would concern next year's legislative program. He said the meeting was "nothing special."

Asked whether the discussion might touch on the President's political future, Martin said, "I wouldn't expect that, but you can tell." Martin said he himself would not bring up the subject.

Knowland has indicated he wants the President to announce his 1956 plans by early January. Knowland is expected to seek the Republican nomination if Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate.

The Senate leader has said that if Mr. Eisenhower is not a candidate, the GOP should be allowed sufficient time to appraise other candidates and be given a chance to choose between them at state primaries and conventions.

The deadline for the first state residential primaries falls early in February.

Veteran Gunman Captured In FBI Trap In Chicago

One Of Nation's 10 Most Wanted Criminals

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UP)—John Allen Kendrick, 58, a hardened, veteran gunman and one of the nations 10 most wanted criminals, was captured in an FBI trap at a Loop hotel late Friday night.

Kendrick, who had made his living with a gun for more than 32 years, was unarmed and offered no resistance when FBI agents broke into the hotel room where he was visiting a friend shortly before midnight.

But he refused to say where he had been living in Chicago or to even admit his identity.

He snarled that his name was "Mr. No Name."

Kendrick, the most recent man placed on the FBI's "most wanted" list, was sought for the shooting of George A. Clainos in Washington, D. C., last Dec. 14.

He had a long police record which included an alliance with the notorious Tri - State Gang in the East and escapes from prisons in New Jersey and Washington, D.C.

Active In Chicago

David Hostetter, chief FBI agent here, said authorities learned recently that Kendrick was active in the Chicago area.

Hostetter would not reveal the details of the capture, except to say that agents expected Kendrick to turn up at the Loop hotel and were waiting for him. He was not a guest at the hotel, Hostetter said.

Kendricks police record began in Baltimore, Md., in 1923, when he was convicted on larceny and assault charges and did time in prison until 1928.

In 1930 he went to the New Jersey State Prison on charges of carrying a concealed weapon, but he escaped the next year. In 1933 he was sentenced for shooting a Washington police officer and escaped two months later from the District of Columbia Reformatory.

Kendrick then joined up with the Tri - State Gang, which specialized in hijacking, burglary and mail robbery in Pennsylvania, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Virginia, and North Carolina.

Free One Year

But his freedom lasted only one year. He was arrested in Johnston City, Tenn., in 1934, and was sent to Alcatraz to prevent any further escapes.

While at Alcatraz, he was a close friend of Thomas Holden who, ironically, was the first man ever to be placed on the 10 most wanted list. Holden had been convicted for a triple murder on Chicago's South Side.

Kendrick's prison career continued through Leavenworth and New Jersey, where he served out his unexpired term. A free man once again, he was arrested in Washington in 1947 for shooting an underworld associate and went back to Leavenworth. He served there until March 3, 1954, when he was conditionally released.

Hostetter said agents are still not sure what Kendrick was up to in the Chicago area before his arrest.

Shoppers Again To Enjoy Holiday Lighting

Shoppers again tonight will enjoy the holiday lighting erected by the City Utility workers and first turned on a week ago today following Santa's arrival in the afternoon.

The Christmas lighting, declared by many to be the most beautiful of any past season, includes the community Christmas tree on the courthouse square, the decorations on the front of the city hall which include two window trees, the strands of lights and ornaments across the streets at frequent intervals, and the decorative lights around the courthouse clock tower like a jeweled crown with strands of lights reaching to each corner of the square. Reason no lights were thrown over the top of the building's dome was so as not to endanger the safety or life of any of the linemen.

The Whitley County REMC building has been put in holiday dress this week by the REMC electricians and staff. Its flood-lighted front is a "must" on the citizen's lighting inspection tour.

Soviet Summons Parliament Into A Third Session

Stirs Speculation On Molotov's Retirement

LONDON (UP)—The Kremlin's summoning of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) into an extraordinary third session this year stirred speculation here today that the retirement of Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov may be imminent.

An official announcement in Mosocw Friday night said the Supreme Soviet would convene there on Dec. 23. Covening of a third session in one year was regarded as highly unusual — the parliament usually meets only once a year to rubber-stamp aproval of the policies of the government and Communist Party leaders.

A United Press dispatch from Moscow said foreign observers in the Soviet capital expected significant developments to come out of the meeting.

Informed circles here said that one such development may be the "retirement" of Molotov, whose star in the Communist skies appeared to be waning of late under the growing influence of pudgy party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Molotov, one of the last of the "Old Bolsheviks" in the presidium of the Soviet — the Red cabinet —has appeared less sure of himself in recent months, observers said. His obvious fumblings at recent big power conferences has caused speculation that Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin may be getting ready to replace him.

Molotov himself was annoyed when Western correspondents asked him at a Moscow reception Oct. 22 if there was any truth in reports he is about to retire.

"That question is exhausted," he snapped, turning on his heels and walking away.

Local Auto Dealer Receives Chrysler Service Award

C. W. Schrader and Sons, of 119 W. Market street, has again been singled out for a special training award from the Chrysler Corporation. This award, in the form of a plaque with bronze inserts, was presented in recognition of six years continuous participation in the Master Technicians Service Conference dedicated to the advancement of technical automotive service knowledge.

Nile Schrader, who received the award, stated that it marked another milestone in their efforts to keep up-to-date on all car owners' service needs. He said, "We continually take an active interest in keeping our mechanics up-to-date on the latest service techniques because it eliminates guesswork and helps us serve our customers better."

Ask Auto Makers To Revise Their Franchise Deals

Are Threatened With Federal Legislation

By DAYTON MOORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The threat of federal legislation today confronted auto makers if they don't voluntarily revise franchise contracts in favor of dealers.

Despite the threat, the top officials of General Motors Corp., the largest auto manufacturer, indicated they would not take such action voluntarily.

Chairman Joseph C. O'Mahoney of the Senate monopoly subcommittee implied strongly that he would sponsor such legislation after Harlow H. Curtice, GM president, refused the senator's suggestion that GM officials discuss franchise revisions with its dealers.

Curtice and Alfred P. Sloan Jr., GM chairman of the board, appeared as witnesses before the subcommittee Friday. Earlier, a parade of GM dealers, most of them disfranchised, had testified GM had used its one-year franchise as a club to force them into financially unsound sales practices.

Fourth Week Ended

The subcommittee Friday ended its fourth week of a so-called "case study" of the impact of General Motors operations on the nation's economy.

O'Mahoney charged that the present franchise contract is one-sided in favor of the manufacturer with the dealer having virtually no rights under it.

"I think our contract is not as you interpret it," Curtice replied. "General Motors is the servant of the dealers providing our dealers with the kind of product that must be acceptable to the dealers' customers.

"I think the relationship between General Motors and the majority of its dealers is on a very high level."

He promised to answer in detail later the charges of which GM dealers, both present and past, made before the Senate investiga-

Legion To Have Social Night; East Africa To Be Shown By Film

A dramatic and vivid account of the havoc wrought by the dread Mau Mau terrorist organization in Kenya, East Africa will be shown by film at the American Legion meeting Monday night. The picture covers a large number of important issues and also explains the efforts to stamp it out. It briefly recalls the history of Kenya over the last century and explains the origins and development of Mau Mau. The vile methods of the terrorists are described and a striking sequence shows the famous Mau Mau initiation rites, which the Kikuyu at first believed bound him irrevocably.

The film describes the grim struggle of government, settlers and loyal Kikuyu and the success it has achieved. It also makes clear that while Kenya's people have suffered severe strain during the emergency it has been the government's policy to insure that all development plans continue as rapidly as finance, manpower and the operational situation permit.

The picture, on loan from an agency of the British Government, was procured by the Legion's Entertainment Committee, Louis Schalk, chairman. In keeping with the American Legion's policy of informing its members what happens in other parts of the World which might have a bearing on our own security, the committee requests all veterans, members (or eligible) to attend.

In addition to the above, there will be a second euchre elgibility contest paving the way for the proposed tournament with the Warsaw American Legion post to be held later. The euchre contest next Monday evening will be in charge of a committee member, Adrian Scott.

Post Commander Ed Pugh stresses the importance of these social night meetings which are held the first Monday of each month.

French Cabinet Sets January 2 Election Day

Struggle For Political Power Between Faure And Mendes-France

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
United Press Staff Correspondent

PARIS (UP) — Premier Edgar Faure and his "lame duck" cabinet today set Jan. 2 as the day France will elect a new National Assembly and the 12 polilitical parties in the outgoing chamber immediately began preparations for the contest.

The elections shaped up as a struggle for political power between Faure and former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, once the best of friends. It threatened to split wide open the venerable Radical Socialist Party from which Mendes-France had Faure expelled.

Faure, who dissolved the assembly Friday to forestall any attempt to unseat him, met with his cabinet until the early hours of this morning to decide on the election date.

Special Paid Holiday

Jan. 2 was declared a special paid holiday to permit voters in France and Algeria to cast their ballots.

The cabinet also set Dec. 13 for the official opening of the electoral campaign, which in reality was already underway.

Faure will remain as premier until the new assembly meets and elects a successor.

The Socialists called a national party council Tuesday to decide if and with whom they will ally themselves. The Democratic and Socialist Resistance Union (UDSR) scheduled a similar meeting. Mendes-France's Radical Socialists are meeting Friday.

Ministers Straggled Home

Only a few voters heard of the Jan. 2 date when Faure and his ministers straggled home from the Elysee Palace in the pre-dawn hours.

"Bien, it is better that way than New Year's," admitted bistro owner Paul George, "but I still think 40 to 50 per cent of the people won't vote, especially if it is cold —and it's always cold on Jan. 2."

"Only the Communists will vote," snapped Georges Lefry, a wood dealer. "Who else would stir on a holiday?"

Refuse To Renew Yearly Barge Shipping Permits

Bringing Supplies To Western Sector

BERLIN (UP)—A West German government spokesman announced today the East German Communists have threatened free Berlin's lifelines by refusing to renew yearly shipping permits for barges bringing supplies to the Western sector.

The Communist refusal could halt all waterways traffic to West Berlin from West Germany Jan. 1.

It was a direct outgrowth of the Soviet grant of sovereignty to East Germany and the transfer of control over German traffic to Berlin from Soviet authorities to German Communists.

In an open bid for recognition by the West, the Communists informed West German authorities in Bonn that the East and West German traffic ministries must negotiate on the future of canal traffic through the Soviet zone to West Berlin.

Contend East Germany Sovereign

The Communist act underlined the Soviet and East German contention that East Germany now is sovereign and four-power agreements on Germany no longer are in force.

Western right of free access to Berlin and the right of free movement within all of Berlin is based on such four-power agreements.

The official mouthpiece of the East German Communist regime claimed a treaty the Reds signed with the Soviets gave them "un-

Fiery Crash Of Commuter And Freight Train

LONDON (UP)—A commuter train loaded with Friday night fun seekers plowed into the rear of a halted freight train early today, killing 12 persons in a "hell" of fire and blazing electricity.

At least 50 injured persons were pulled from the burning heap of wreckage at tiny Barnes Station 10 miles southwest of London.

The freight train had stopped for a signal just outside the station. The four coach electric commuter train, carryng about 150 persons from a night on the town in London, smashed into the freight and turned on its side.

Flames and blue flashes of electricity shot 100 feet into the air.

Police believed all the bodies had been recovered. They said all the dead had either burned to death or been electrocuted.

Cries of agony from trapped passengers could be heard above the roaring of the flames.

Police Constable Thomas Oliver said he had to "hack my way nto hell" to get to the victims. "There was electricity sizzling all around us and great blue flames shooting up the line in all directions."

Indiana Taxpayers Are Donating $61,866 To Special Interest Groups For 2-Year Period

By SAM NEWLUND
United Press Staff Correspondent

INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—Indiana taxpayers are "donating" at least $61,866 to "special interest" groups for the two years from July 1, 1955, to June 30, 1957.

A glance at the Indiana Acts of 1955 shows at least 15 veterans and agricultural groups were alloted from $1 to $14,500 by the 1955 General Assembly for each of the two years of the current biennium.

Critics of such appropriations say the Indiana Squadron Navy Club, for instance, is no more entitled to state funds than the Elks Lodge or the YMCA. But others, like State Rep. Merrett Monks (R-Winchester), say "money wasted in other ways could be better spent for some of these organizations."

At any rate, legislators cut drastically many such appropriations in the last legislative session. In the previous biennium, six agricultural groups and five veterans organizations were given funds amounting to hundreds or thousands of dollars each, but the current appropriation is only $1 a year as "token" gifts.

Those groups are the State Dairymen's Assn., Corn Growers Assn., State Horticulture Assn., State Livestock Breeders Assn., State Poultry Assn., State Vegetable Growers Assn., United Mexican Border Veterans, American Veterans of World War II, Indiana Squadron Navy Club, Indiana Marine Corps League, and the Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Larger appropriations for the two years went to the State Academy of Science, $8,000; United Spanish War Veterans, $2,002; Disabled American Veterans of

Discoverers Of New Viruses Rarely Ever Can Produce Pictures Or Evidence One Can See

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Discoverers of new viruses rarely can produce pictures or any other evidence you can hold in your hands. So Drs. Warren L. Bostick and Lavlele Hanna are at pains to make no flat assertions in revealing their capture of a virus which seems new and also seems to have a hand in mysterious, incurable, and always fatal Hodgkins' disease.

The evidence was impressive enough to cause a well - known medical specialist consulted by the writer to study it and then pronounce it the most hopeful "avenue" for the eventual conquest of an incurable disease he had ever seen. But if there is a "cure" at the end of the "avenue," it will take a long time to reach it.

Hodgkins' disease causes an unstoppable and progressive enlargement of the nodes of the body's lymphatic system. It is cancer-like and some authorities consider it a form of cancer. But it has always suggested, too, the sickening processes of an "infectious agent," that is, a bacterium or a viruus.

Science knows definitely that the "infectious agent" — if there is one—can not be bacteria. That leaves the possibility of a virus, but if a virus, it would have to be one which is invisible under even the most powerful microscope and also one possessed of unusual chemical properties. There is not the slightest evidence of Hodgkins' disease ever having been transmitted from one human being to another.

At the University of California School of Medicine in San Francisco, Drs. Bostick and Hanna took lymph nodes from patients with the disease, ground them up, injected the material into fertile chicken eggs. After a few days, they took material from those eggs and injected it into more eggs. This they did as many as ten times, because chick embryos nurture viruses and presumably viruses are multiplied by this "serial passage."

From the last eggs in the series, they took material and injected it into the brains of new born mice. After repeating this through virus-incubation, they ground up the brains and injected the material in the brains of more new-born mice. After repeatig this through five to seven sets of mice, the material developed the power to sicken and kill mice.

Keep in mind that the egg embryos and the mouse brains showed no detectable sign of harboring virus until the last mouse brains developed the power to kill. in mind that the scien-tists repata Also keep in mind that the scientists repeated the whole procedure starting with lymph node material taken from healthy human beings, and failed to produce any disease.

Also they took every precaution to eliminate the possibility of "picking up" some latent virus of mice. So it seemed clear they had a new virus which causes in mice a fatal disease with some resemblance to Hodgkins' disease. But whether it is the "causative agent" of Hodgkins' disease in human beings remains to be proven and it is going to be difficult to do, they said in the technical journal, "Cancer Research."

Christ's Definition of 'Neighbor'

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

THE Parable of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10:25-37) is the greatest of all sermons on the law of brotherhood. It's also a practical exposition of that law, long established in the age-old Jewish heritage. This Jesus emphasized when He asked the inquiring lawyer, "What is written in the law? How readest thou?"

But the Parable is remarkable, also, for a rather rare definition of the word "neighbor," one which is not always recognized.

The lawyer, probably conscious of an unneighborly spirit, asked Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?" He was probably willing to think of his neighbor, as many are today, as only those of his own community, or his own nation, or his own religion, or his own color, or his own race.

Jesus centered the Parable about a Samaritan, with whom the Jews traditionally had no dealings (See John 4). He made the contrast all the more significant by setting above the unorthodox "good Samaritan" the priest and the Levite who, despite the high injunction of their law and religion recognized no obligation to help a fellow man in need.

And Jesus gave a new definition and emphasis to the word "neighbor." He did not say to the lawyer in effect, "That man in distress was a neighbor to the priest and the Levite, and they ought to have helped him." Rather, He said: "Which now, of these three, thinkest thou was neighbor unto him that fell among the thieves?"

The lawyer couldn't do anything but reply: "He that showed mercy on him." Note the significance of that. The neighbor in the Parable is not primarily the man stricken and in need, but the Samaritan who helped him.

That puts the emphasis on the law of neighborliness where it rightfully belongs. The neighbor, whom you are under obligation to love, is not just someone apart from yourself; YOU are the neighbor, or you may be. Neighborliness is a matter of the heart. It consists in what you are toward others.

Another thing to note is how definite is the portrayal of the Samaritan, in contrast with the indefiniteness concerning the wounded man. The latter was only "a certain man." He may have been a Samaritan or a Jew; he may have been a Gentile; he was only "a certain man."

But how boldly and nobly the Samaritan stands out as the neighbor!

It is not in terms of human need that neighborliness is defined, but in terms of willingness to help. It is we who decide who are our neighbors by our willingness to be neighbors. The lesson of the Parable still stands for us all after the passage of nearly two thousand years: "Go, thou and do likewise."

SPEND FEW DAYS IN CHICAGO

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mansdorfer of Dunfee, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Enz of Tunker have returned from Chicago where they were guests on Monday of the Prudential Life Insurance company at the the new building of the company.

While in Chicago, they saw Cinerama and while in the windy city they did Christmas shopping.

Story Of Hoosier Highways Told

Perhaps the most valuable contribution ever made to Indiana by an English possession - and one that cost us nothing - was the fine-grained soil deposited in this State a few million years ago by a glacier that visited us from Canada.

In fact, Indiana was host to three glacial movements, and what those glaciers deposited, how they scooped out our valleys and heaped up our hills are prime factors in road construction. Sometimes a difference of just a few hundred feet of the location of a highway can mean many thousands of dollars in construction and maintenance costs.

The most southerly glacier wore itself out somewhere in line with Seymour, and beyond that we can truly say is "native land."

North of Seymour, and on a line in the vicinity of Muncie, we find the heavier clay soils and boulders dropped by the glacial drift, and still farther north are the "alluvial" or finer grained soils sumped by glacial action when it first entered what is now the State of Indiana.

While the contour of the land, as well as our great variety of soil make-up, make a very beautiful and interesting State, each poses many problems in road construction. The sand dunes in Northern Indiana, known to our engineers as "wind blown" sands, shift and move, thus requiring considerable stabilazation measures before a road can be constructed.

Just to the south of the sand dunes we find the muck deposits. Muck, a decayed vegetation without mineral, won't pack; it's just like a sponge. Needless to say, our engineers try to avoid muck areas whenever possible, for they create expensive preparatory problems. In muck areas, piling trestles must be constructed underground to support the road, or a trench must be excavated to the depth of the muck and filled with more stable material. This latter method we call "backfilling with borrowed soil."

At State Road 67, just east of its junction with State Road 9 at the south edge of Anderson, is located one of the State's largest "eskers" or gravel hills. These gravel hills were formed when the glacial ice began to melt and rivers started to flow from it. The rivers carried the heavier articles away as the flow increased and the gravel was deposited in a heap. Here, the Highway Department is benefited by that glacial movement of a million years ago, for this gravel is an important factor in road construction and maintenance.

Shale, found in the southern part of the State, poses an engineering problem, too. Much of the shale is covered with clay. The rains cause the shale to get slick and the clay slips off, causing the slides that occur so frequently in Southern Indiana.

In the limestone regions we have the "sinkhole" problem. Underground rivers are formed from these sinkholes and durng heavy rains these rivers overflow and do considerable damage to our highways.

Shifting sands, spongy muck, slipping shale and hidden rivers—all pose problems in the selection of a location, and the proper location can save millions of dollars. However, it isn't infrequent that traffic needs overshadow increased costs and engineers find it expedient to select a "second-best" route, engineering-wise, to take care of the public needs.

conditional" control of vital supply lines to free West Berlin.

The official Communist Party newspaper Neues Deutschand said the treaty gave the Red regime full control over traffic between Berlin and West Germany. It failed to mention a Soviet promise to maintain Soviet control over Allied traffic.

The Neues Deutschland editorial was East Germany's reply to U.S. Ambassador James B. Conant's pledge that the West will stick in Berlin against all Communist pressure until Germany is reunified.

Drives into Soviet Zone

Conant, dramatizing his pledge, drove into the Soviet zone of the city Friday with the American flag flying on the fender of his car. There was no trouble.

Barges bring some 1½ million tons of supplies to West Berlin yearly. This includes about 140,000 tons of grain and 180,000 tons of coal.

A spokesman for the West German Traffic Ministry and All-German Affairs Ministry in Bonn said the East German Waterways Administration rejected 60 applications for renewal of barge permits with the demand that negotiations must take place on the ministerial level.

The spokesman said this was an attempt to force recognition of the East German government.

Might Save Work

O'Mahoney said auto manufacturers "might save the committee and the Senate a lot of work" if the franchises were liberalized. He added he would take up the matter again with Curtice next week.

The 80-year-old Sloan, his hearing aid plugged into the public address system, for about three hours answered questions of O'Mahoney and subcommittee chief counsel Joseph W. Byrnes

He said that bigness of an industrial corporation has no relation with efficiency.

General Motors has "no policy to expand just for the sake of expanding," he said. Past expansions have been made because they would strengthen General Motors, he added.

Sloan ridiculed as "an impossible concept" a suggestion that General Motors might sometime take over its dealer agences. He siad he couldn't conceive of it.

ahead of the marchers until the [illegible] students thronged upon Griffin's official residence, waving [illegible] and placcards, and blowing auto horns.

Refused To Back Down

Griffin, talking with newsmen by telephone while the crowd swirled outside, said he would not retract his request that the state Board of Regents call off Tech's participation in the Sugar Bowl game.

By that time police were getting reinforcements from adjacent counties and carloads of troopers arrived from north Georgia cities as far as 100 miles away. They formed a cordon around the mansion.

Troopers were armed with tear gas grenades but did not use them. Some three hours after the demonstration began on the Tech campus the students began dispersing.

The students burned four effigies of Griffin on the Tech campus, one at the downtown "Five Points" intersection, and one on the capitol grounds.

They carried signs reading, "We want to go the Sugar Bowl" and "Grow up, Griffin."

Griffin, in asking the regents to call off the Sugar Bowl game, said the South "stands at Armegeddon — we cannot make the slightest concession to the enemy.'

Chairman Robert O. Arnold of the Georgia Board of Regents said he would call a special meeting which Griffin requested and added, "I respect the governor of Georgia's wishes as the supreme authority over all state agencies."

Arnold had commented earlier that he had no intention of making an issue of a protest against the game by the influential, pro-segregation States' Rights Council of Georgia, Inc., which has one executive committeeman on the Board of Regents.

No Earlier Objections

Arnold pointed out that both Georgia Tech and its sister institution, the University of Georgia, had met teams using Negro players in the past, and also that neither Tech nor the Sugar Bowl officials at New Orleans raised any objections to this game.

Pitt said its Negro fullback, Bobby Grier, would travel, eat, live, practice and play with the team in the bowl game slated for Jan. 2.

The National Broadcasting Co. quoted Col. Blake Van Leer president of Georgia Tech, as saying in a telephone interview that "I'm 0 years old and have never broken a contract and I'm not going to break one now."

The only other regent who was willing to comment was David Rice who said Griffin's action was "ridiculous and assinine."

Rice said that injecting the race issue into the football program would harm the chances of both Georgia and Georgia Tech to receive bowl bids in the future.

Bulldogs Nip Eagles

The Columbia City Eagles traveled through fog to Napanee last night where they dropped third basketball game of the young season 56-49. The aggressive Nappanee Bulldogs, who now sport a 3-2 record for the season, jumped into a first quarter lead and were not headed during the game.

The Bulldogs were able to find weak spots in the Eagle zone defense early in the game and drove in for lay-up shots. Nappanee threw a pressing defense against the Eagles from the start, but despite that dogged play Columbia City trailed only by three points, 15-12, at the end of the opening period.

However, in the second period, the Bulldogs became more deadly on their shots from the field, and the halftime score was 26-19. Likens, a 6-5½ Bulldog center, proved a decisive factor in favor of Nappanee in the early stages of the game. He pumped in 11 points during the first quarter.

Eagle Starters

Coach Ralph Johnson started the same Eagle lineup as he used against Kendallville. Eagle starters were: Woodham, Carpenter, Schwarz, Deutsch, and Bridge. Carpenter and Schwarz, two of the Eagle tall boys, were limited to a total of 10 points. Woodham came through with 12, but Deutsch led the Eagles on offense with 14. Deutsch became effective in the last quarter, as he jerked the C.C. nets for eight points, but the rally came too late.

Dan Martin was substituted into the Eagle lineup late in the game and notched seven quick points.

Other victims of the Bulldogs this season have been Warsaw and Wakarusa.

The C.C. reserves lost a heartbreaker in the preliminary as Nappanee pulled the game out of the fire in the closing seconds to win 26-24.
